AMERICAN INTERVENTION IN MEXICO AGREED UPON.

Paris Report Declares President Promised Lloyd George and Clemenceau to Clean up Border Republic.

BY HENRY WALES.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, July 12.—Rumors reaching Paris this morning re- President Wilson's alleged statement in Washington that United States must now intervene in the cleaning up of Mexico no surprise among members of the American commission.

Before the President left Paris, I understand, he promised George and Clemenceau to intervene in Mexico to set up a government which would protect the interests of foreigners maintain order.

This was the price of French and British direct recognition the Monroe Doctrine and their tacit promise to keep hands off the Western Hemisphere.

Enormous British capitalistic influence representing concessions in insisted that Lloyd George exact a promise from Wilson that he establish order in Mexico and maintain it, as it was necessary for to do the job and the Monroe Doctrine prohibited European from attempting it.

Gen. Bliss is fully aware of the President's plans regarding Mexi- intervention and it is reported all military plans for any campaign have long been prepared. Attention is to the Sonora State measure under article XXVII of the new Mexican Constitution, which it is declared is an attempt to appropriate without compensation the properties of foreigners under the sanction of the so-called agrarian law.

"The government of the State of Sonora has heretofore attempted," the petition reads, "but without effect, to confiscate American owned lands through a process of taxation and is now endeavoring to accomplish the same end under the more specious guise of agrarian reform. A careful study of the measure now before the State Legislature in relation to various other decrees and laws affecting the interest of foreigners and the often alleged purpose of freeing the State of foreign ownership, leads to the inevitable conclusion that the underlying purpose is confiscation of the larger holdings in the State, which were acquired in compliance with all legal requirements in force at the time and under the guarantees secured bp the constitutions of the State and Federal governments."

TOWNLEY IS CONVICTED.

Taught Disloyalty, is Charge.

Gilbert, His Associate in Nonpartisan League, is Also Found Guilty.

Court Refuses to Permit Him to Argue His Case Before the Jury.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JACKSON (Minn.) July 12.—The jury in the trial of President A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert of the Nonpartisan League late tonight found the defendants guilty of the charge of conspiracy to teach disloyalty, in violation of the Minnesota law.

The jury announced at 11:32 p.m. that it had reached a verdict. Judge Dean, the defendants and attorneys in the case, most of whom were in a near-by hotel, were summoned.

The verdict was received by the clerk of the court at 11:53 p.m. Neither Townley nor Gilbert showed any emotion.

The defense asserted that speeches by Townley and Gilbert at a mass meeting in Minnesota early in 1918 were not disloyal in their references to the government and prosecution of the war. These speeches were made the basis of the indictment together with circulation of the Nonpartisan League's so-called war programme, over Townley's signature.

POLITICS CHARGED.

During the three weeks of the trial the defense has made repeated charges that the case is an outgrowth of efforts to injure the Nonpartisan League. Testimony along this line and also the testimony by Representative James M. Baer and North Dakota State officials concerning the loyalty of Townley and the league was excluded by Judge E. C. Dean.

When Prosecutor E. H. Nicholas completed his argument tonight, Townley made a personal plea to the court that he be permitted to argue his own case to the jury.

Townley told the judge he had dismissed his attorneys and that the co-defendant, Gilbert, had waived the right of further representation by counsel, and Townley asked privilege of speaking on the ground that he felt the Nonpartisan League was on trial.

Judge Dean denied Townley's request to address the jury.

RESTS WITHOUT ARGUMENT.

Townley, after conferring with his attorneys, announced he had decided to rest his case without argument. Judge Dean began his charge to the jury at 8:55 p.m.

Prosecutor Nicholas, in his address to the jury, charged that the State had proved its conspiracy charge against the two Nonpartisan League leaders through the testimony of witnesses who had heard various speeches made by the defendants, through evidence in the form of league literature and through the testimony of the State's leading witnesses, one of whom was F. A. Teigen, a former member of the league, who declared that Townley told him in 1917 "we are against this war, but can't afford to advertise it."

After Nicholas closed his argument, Townley stepped before the court.

"Your Honor," he said, "I have discharged my counsel, I feel that I and the organization are on trial and that I can handle this defense better than my attorneys. I do not know what Mr. Gilbert is going to do about it."

REQUEST IS DENIED.

At this point George Hoke, who has been chief counsel for the defendants, announced that Gilbert had waived his right to be represented by counsel.

"I ask your honor that I may be permitted to make my own plea to the jury. The attitude of more than 250,000 farmers and a million of people throughout this Northwest will depend upon the decision of the jury."

Judge Dean questioned whether the law would permit one of the defendants to try his own case in an action of this kind without legally

FOOD LACK UNIVERSAL.

State Must Supply Big Export Trade.

Lifting of Blockade Against Germany will Vastly Benefit Pacific Coast.

Expected Direct Shipments may be Made from West Coast to Hamburg.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—California and the Pacific Coast will have great markets opened up for food products by the lifting of the blockade in Germany. Until formal ratification of the treaty by the United States, export trade to Germany will be covered by blanket licenses. Imports, with the exception of potash fertilizers, dyestuffs and chemicals, will be permitted.

With an empty granary and a still emptier pantry, Germany's demand for foods will be great and California and the entire West can sell all dried fruits and dehydrated vegetables that can be produced. Dried beans and similar food products should have a wide market.

With the great demand from foreign countries, experts here look for increasing prices in not only foodstuffs but fabrics and raw materials of all kinds, the demand for which will be greatly intensified by the demand for the rebuilding of the world. If the demand is great enough and the shippers of the Pacific are able to supply the products in demand, it is expected that direct shippings by shipload may be made to Hamburg and other German ports.

The Shipping Board has announced that direct steamship service from eastern ports will be established at once. United States shipping will be relied on for much of the carrying for these markets.

As revealed by Acting Secretary of State Polk movement of American goods will begin as soon as licenses can be issued. The American merchant marine will figure largely in the revived trade with Germany. The Shipping Board already has announced that direct ship lines to Hamburg will be established from the large eastern ports, notably New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore. Ships also will operate from the South Atlantic and ports along the Gulf of Mexico. Some loaded vessels are all ready to sail.

Germany looks to this country for a great portion of those raw materials absolutely essential to the resumption of business. Germany realizes the physical difficulties which beset other European countries from which she received large stores of raw materials in years previous to the outbreak of the war and as a consequence will seek her desired materials largely in North and South America.

In addition to the physical hardships in securing necessary raw materials, Germany also is confronted with deep-seated antipathy in all countries of Europe and deep-seated prejudices undoubtedly will militate against favored trade agreements there, though Great Britain, with vast colonial possessions furnishing many of the raw products so essential to the resumption of business and industrial life in Germany, undoubtedly will resume trade relations on a large scale.

Notwithstanding the antipathies which exist against Germany it is generally recognized among statesmen of Allied powers that the salvation of practically all countries engaged in the war with the possible exception of those on this side of the Atlantic depends on normal readjustment of business conditions. Normal business means a degree of prosperity which is absolutely essential to the prevention of social and financial chaos throughout Europe, and in the eyes of American officials this is the reason why Germany may be expected to gain within a comparatively short period a reasonable degree of favor in the resumption of trade relations, particularly in America.

DAYLIGHT LAW SAVED

Wilson Vetoes Bill Carrying Repeal.

Poll of House Shows no Hope of Passage Over President's Disapproval.

Civil Sundry Measure Also is Sent Back; Fails to Provide for War's Disabled.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Efforts to repeal the daylight saving law over the President's veto will in all likelihood fail, according to those who polled a portion of the House today following receipt of the veto message. When the repeal was originally placed in the agricultural appropriation bill the vote was 232 for repeal, 122 against it, 71 absent, and five present and not voting. There were five vacancies in the House at that time.

Since then many who voted for the repeal of the bill, particularly from those New England and certain other industrial districts, have received such denunciation from their constituents that they will welcome a chance to get on the popular side of the issue. Those who checked up the figures said today that the 232 votes was top strength of those trying to rob the country of a great economic saving and that under no circumstances could the opponents of daylight saving hope to muster enough votes to override the Presidential disapproval in the House, to say nothing of the Senate, where not even a bare majority can be secured for the measure just vetoed.

Republicans see that the President has played good politics in refusing to accept the sundry civil bill and the meager provision for caring for maimed and disabled soldiers. Those who have their ears close to the fround expect the appropriation Committee to increase this item for vocational training to such a figure as to enable the administration substantially to carry out its programme for reclaiming all the mutilated and disabled soldiers. The appropriation may go as high as $8,000,000 in place of the original $6,000,000. Some of the minor restrictions on salaries to be paid men engaged in this work will undoubtedly remain in the amended bill but it is believed that the President will accept the larger amount and sign the bill even if the salary restrictions remain.

PRESIDENT BLOCKS REPEAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The daylight saving law was rescued from repeal today by President Wilson's veto of the agricultural appropriation bill.

The President also vetoed the sundry civil appropriation bill because, he said, by restricting fund it crippled the work of rehabilitating and restoring disabled sailors and soldiers to civil life.

The latter veto apparently was accepted by Congress without contest and the sundry civil bill went back to committee to be reframed.

Veto of daylight saving was not accepted so readily, although the prevailing opinion was that a necessary two-thirds vote to repass it over the President's head will not be mustered.

The first test will come in the House Monday when, according to announcement, Republican Leader Mondell or Chairman Haugen of the Agricultural Committee will move the repassage of the bill, with the daylight saving repeal intact, over the Presidential veto.

Both bills provide funds for which agencies of the government long have been waiting. They already are months behind schedule because they failed or ordinary passage in the last Congress.

REASONS FOR VETO.

In regard to the agricultural bill, the President sent the following communication to the House of Representatives:

"I take the liberty of returning H. R. 3157, 'An act making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920,' without my signature.

"I realize, of course, the grave inconvenience which may arise from the postponement of the legislation at this time, but feel obliged to withhold my signature because of the clause which provides that 'at and after 2 o'clock a.m. on Sunday, October 26, 1919, next, the act entitled 'An act to save daylight and to provide standard time for the

The second machine also fell, but its occupants were not injured.

BERKELEY, July 12.—Thomas J. Lenihan was a student at the aviation field at the University of California from July to the end of August, 1917.

English Beauty Ends All via Shotgun?

The Late Mrs. Arthur Eliot,

Whose evident suicide, following reported quarrels with her husband over "another woman," has afforded London society a decided sensation.

FAMED BEAUTY'S DEATH IS SHOCK FOR LONDON.

EARL OF MARCH'S STEPDAUGHTER MENTIONED IN CASE OF MRS. ELIOT.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, July 12.—Following the discovery, Wednesday, of the evident suicide of one of the most noted of all the beautiful women in England and one whose name has more than once been linked with prominent members of the nobility in a most gossipy series of society episodes, London today is avidly discussing another sensation—the mysterious disappearance of Lydia Lopokova, principal danseuse of the Russian ballet here, which has been drawing all the fashionable town to the Alhambra.

The Earl of March, chief witness at the Coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Eliot, who was found shot dead from shotgun wounds in a barricaded room in her home, testified that Mrs. Eliot had consulted him regarding the actions of her husband, Capt. Arthur Eliot, dramatist, grandson of the late Earl of St. Germans.

Mrs. Eliot, better known as Mrs. Mabel Louise Atherton, was the divorced wife of Col. Thomas Atherton.

The Earl of March said Mrs. Eliot told him her husband was making his home with his stepdaughter and refused to return to their home.

Other evidence given at the inquest tended to show Mrs. Eliot killed herself after having had disagreements with her husband over this stepdaughter. Testimony showed that Mrs. Eliot lived with Capt. Eliot only a short time.

The stepdaughter referred to by the Earl of March, Miss Cornell, when called to the stand denied statements credited to Mrs. Eliot regarding Miss Cornell's relations with Capt. Eliot.

Lopokova, who is the wife of Barocki, the business manager for Impresario Serge Diaghilev, did not turn up for last night's performance in the Boutique Fantastique Ballet, the latest production, and inquiries for her at the Savoy Hotel were futile. The Alhambra manager in the evening received a note from Barocki saying he was going to the continent, but giving no further information.

Lopokova has been made the idol of the London smart set and had a special train of distinguished admirers.

The ballet season here was to conclude July 30 after which it was arranged to go to Paris, where 1,000,000 francs was to be paid for a season of fifteen weeks.

SEVEN FIREMEN ARE PLUNGED INTO FLAME.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Seven firemen are reported killed and at least 14 others were injured in a blaze that destroyed the five-story warehouse of Jacob Potash and Brothers in the northeast section of the city shortly after noon today. The victims were plunged into the flames when the roof and walls collapsed, without warning.

SURPLUS MEATS OF WAR PRICED.

Government Supplies to be Sold to Cities Only in Carloads.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Prices at which surplus stocks of canned and cured meats held by the War Department will be sold to municipalities were announced today as follows:

Corn beef, from $3.60 per dozen cans to $24, dependent upon sizes and grades.

Roast beef, from $3.48 per dozen cans of one pound each to $26.40 for six-pound cans.

Corned beef hash, $2.76 per dozen cans of one-pound each and $4.80 for two-pound cans.

Bacon in crates, 34 cents a pound in twelve-pound tins, 36 cents a pound.

These prices are about 20 per cent. less than the cost to the government.

Proposals must be for a minimum of one carload.

RAZE GRANDSTAND ON PARIS PARADE ROUTE.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, July 12.—Les Champs Elysees is closed to all vehicles, while workmen tear down grandstands which were erected for the victory parade July 14. The French press and people declared all the seats were given to political friends of the Administration.

Rioting for seats was predicted. Newspaper representatives were unable to get seats. The situation was taken into the Chamber of Deputies which ordered all stands except the reviewing stands removed. This will permit more than twice as many spectators to see the parade along Les Champs Elysees.

Claridge's hotel and other hotels along Les Champs Elysees are charging 500 francs for places at windows from which to view the parade.

WILL DISGUISE MOVE FOR AMERICANIZATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SCARBOROUGH (N. Y.) July 12.—Decision to "disguise" their Americanization campaign was reached by more than 200 representatives of community councils of national defense at a conference at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip today.

The programme, which, instead of being an avowed "Americanization" campaign will be devoted to "athletics, recreation, education, association and participation in public and social work," was suggested by Allen T. Burns, recently identified with the War Camp Community Service. He advocated the "disguises" in view of the experience of his organization in handling aliens.

To Investigate Welfare Organizations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—The National Investigating Bureau, organized by the War Chest Committees of various States during the war to investigate war charities, announced today its name as the National Information Bureau to investigate social and welfare organizations national in scope. Barry C. Smith of this city will continue as president with Gustavus D. Pope, Detroit, president.

Anti-British Plot is Dragged to Light.

"Attend to Your Affairs, We will Attend to Ours," is Belfast Message.

Sinn Fein Encouragement Here Adding to England's Other Troubles.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST (Ireland) July 12.—The twelfth of July celebrations were carried out today in Ulster on a large scale. Sir Edward Carson, the Irish Unionists' leader, speaking at the Orange demonstration at Holywood, Belfast, said:

"There is a campaign going on in America which will soon be joined by the Germans and their friends in order to create a great anti-British feeling.

"Heaven knows I want good feeling between America and this country. I believe the whole future of the world probably depends upon the relations between the United States of America and ourselves, but I am not going to submit to this kind of a campaign, whether for friendship or any other purpose.

"I seriously say to America today: You attend to your own affairs; we will attend to ours. You look after your own questions at home; we will look after ours. We will brook no interference in our own affairs by any country, however powerful. It is not for that we waged the great war of independence which has just been concluded. What right had an American mission to come to this country—come here in a breach of hospitality of one nation towards another—to attempt to stir up strife in matters in which they were not connected?

"The encouragement those men gave the Sinn Fein party has created for the British government far more difficulties than ever before. I believe that the visit of these men and the encouragement they gave to lawlessness, which is being preached throughout the land, has added greatly to the campaign of assassination of innocent policemen who were only doing their duty to their King and country and who were foully murdered on the roadside, with men looking on who had not the courage to arrest the assassins or give such information as would bring them to justice."

Sir Edward Carson denounced Sir Horace Plunkett, who, he said, was elected chairman of the Irish convention because he was "thoroughly hated and distrusted by both sides," and, added the speaker, "a nice mess he made of it."

DE VALERA IN CHICAGO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, July 12.—A fifteen-minute demonstration greeted Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish Republic," when he rose to speak at a luncheon in his honor today. He was borne on the shoulders of guests and carried around the room as he waved an Irish flag in one hand and an American flag in the other.

De Valera came to Chicago this morning and was received by a committee of 100 and a large crowd. Among the events on his programme tomorrow is a mass meeting at the National League baseball park.

In his luncheon address De Valera told his auditors they were "like those whom your great Lincoln ironically derided as upholders of the great principle that 'if one man makes a slave of another it is nobody else's business.'"

The principal of "self-determination" of peoples to select their own government, he said, was the basis of no fewer than ten of the fourteen points which "your President put forward as America's aims in the war and the grounds on which America would make peace." So, he said, the Irish people had "seized the opportunity of the recent elec-

PARIS, July 12.—The French official note authorizing the resumption of commercial relations between France and Germany was issued here today effective today. The note prescribes regulations providing for the issuance of permits on certain classes of merchandise.

These regulations require that permits be obtained for the exportation to Germany of any merchandise on the prohibited list. No merchandise originating or coming from Germany may be imported into France without a special permit from the Minister of Finance and the Minister of that department of the government particularly interested in the product.

TO REMOVE TRADE BANS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—With the economic blockade of Germany lifted today in accordance with the decision of the council of five in Paris, preparations were under way for the immediate resumption of trade between the former enemy power and the United States.

Acting Secretary of State Polk in announcing yesterday that trade with Germany would be resumed as soon as the blockade was formally lifted, said that details would be furnished American firms within forty-eight hours after legal experts had decided as to the necessity of a formal proclamation by the President.

BRITAIN TO OPEN CONSULATES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, July 12.—Great Britain is prepared to resume her consular service in Germany soon and to give every facility for British firms to distribute goods there, says the Daily Mail.

Travel to Germany will be restricted, the newspaper says, but bona fide commercial travelers will be given facilities to go anywhere they desire.

With a view to raising the blockade the Board of Trade has issued general licenses under trading with the enemy legislation, authorizing, with certain reservations, the resumption of trade with Germany and German-Austria. The licenses do not remove the existing restrictions upon the payment of debts and the return of property due or deliverable to persons in Germany and German-Austria with respect to pre-war transactions.

FOOD PRICES DECLINE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Friday, July 11.—In view of the impending raising of the blockade, the government's recent action in reducing the price of food staples is forcing food traffickers to get rid of hidden supplies. As a result a sharp decline in prices is reported from all sections of Germany, the most marked decreases being in the Rhenish zone of occupation, where they have fallen from 30 to 60 per cent.

As stocks in occupied territory apparently exceed the demand, large quantities are being shipped to Berlin, where good prices still prevail.

It is reported from Weimar that the government will exercise active control of incoming raw material and also exports.

JUDGE AND OFFICIALS IN LIQUOR DRAGNET.

PROMINENT WASHINGTONIANS INDICTED IN CONNECTION WITH DISAPPEARANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 12.—Superior Judge Clay Allen, four deputy sheriffs, a former Speaker of the State House of Representatives, a prominent political leader and other county officials and business men were indicted by a county grand jury here today in connection with the investigation of liquor thefts and alleged illegal disposition of confiscated liquor.

Twelve indictments in all were returned directly connected with the liquor investigation which resulted from the disappearance of 864 quarts of whisky from the courtroom of Judge Allen on the night of July 4, last. The following were indicted:

Judge Clay Allen, Deputy Sheriffs Stewart Campbell, Roy Murdock, Fred A. Brown, Matt Starwich, Dr. J. H. Lyons, physician; Oscar Springer, Deputy County Clerk; Dr. Fred Nichols, deputy county Coroner; Sam Martin, real estate dealer; George Gau, bailiff; W. W. Conner, former Speaker of the State House of Representatives; Charles G. Heifner, political leader and insurance man.

Power Company to Use Meter System

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—An order today by the Railroad Commission directs the California-Oregon Power Company to change from a flat rate to meter system. For commercial and residential lighting service the new schedule provides a minimum rate of $1 within the limits of incorporated cities and $1.25 outside. The company distributes power in Trinity and Siskiyou counties.

Tumulty and the Senator Issue Statements.

Nebraskan will Continue to Champion Treaty.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Published reports intimating that there had been a disagreement between President Wilson and Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, who has been one of the leading spokesmen for the administration in the Senate fight over the League of Nations, were said by Secretary Tumulty today to be without the slightest foundation.

In a formal statement issued at the White House, Mr. Tumulty declared the President "deeply appreciated Senator Hitchcock's fine support as the ranking member of the Committee on Foreign Relations and will, at the earliest moment, seek an opportunity to confer with him on all phases of the peace treaty."

Statements also were issued from the offices of Senator Hitchcock and Senator Swanson, who, it had been rumored, might replace Senator Hitchcock as the leading administration supporter of the treaty.

That from Senator Hitchcock's office said the Senator would return to Washington from Swampscott, Mass., in time for the Senate session, Monday, and that he had "not relinquished his interest in the league nor had he had occasion to change his mind with respect to its approval by the Senate."

The statement on behalf of Senator Swanson said Senator Hitchcock as the Democratic leader in the absence of Senator Martin would continue in charge of the ratification of the treaty and that "neither the President nor anyone else had ever made the slightest suggestion" that Senator Swanson take charge of the treaty.

SWAMPSCOTT (Mass.) July 12.—Denial of any misunderstanding with President Wilson was made today by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska. At his summer home here, the Senator said he wished to deny "as emphatically as possible" reports of disagreement with the President. "There is absolutely no friction or ill feeling of any kind between the President and myself," he declared.

CUMMINGS PRAISES LEAGUE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BUTTE, July 12.—Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic committee, discussing the League of Nations at a luncheon here today, said:

"The American people will not permit Senatorial animosity or partisan prejudice to wreck the greatest project in behalf of humanity which the world has ever known.

"It is said that the proposed covenant of peace is too vague. It is one of the chief merits of the draft that it does not pretend to pass upon every conceivable question but provides within itself a certain degree of flexibility so that adjustments may be made as new conditions develop.

"We ask for the establishment of a League of Nations because we know that if it is not now secured it remains forever an unrealized dream. We ask it in the name of the endless debt that has been piled upon the back of a stricken world. We ask it in the name of seven million dead. We ask it in the name of widows and orphans of all lands. We ask it in the name of fourteen million fellow creatures who must creep brokenly through a shattered life. We ask it in the name of those who love America and her form of freedom and who would rid the world of the haunting dread that the poison distilled in Russia will creep into the veins of our people."

WILSON'S SHIP FOR "WAR BRIDES"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Presidential ship George Washington, which sails back to France next week, has been fitted up with a nursery to take care of the "war babies" returning on that vessel. Two hundred "war brides" are scheduled to sail on the transport on her next trip from France to this country and, at the request of Dr. G. A. Ricker, the ship's surgeon, the American Red Cross has provided the ship with baby food, milk, clothing and other prerequisites for infantile comfort.

With the arrival of the transport Cap Finisterre tomorrow a total of 378 "war brides" with sixteen "war babies" will have arrived at this port in a week. This is a record number.

BLACK TUESDAY COMING TO ARMY

September 13 is Date for Return to Old Rank.

Some Generals will Drop as Low as Captain.

Thousands of Commissions to Go Back to Ranks.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

COBLENZ, July 11 (via Paris, July 12.)—September 13 will be known in the United States Army as "Black Tuesday."

By and on that date the military establishment will be on a peacetime basis, thousands of officers will have been discharged and others reduced in rank.

Between now and "Black Tuesday" there will be a general shedding of stars, eagles, oak leaves and bars by officers of the Regular Army whom the necessities of war advanced from command of companies to that of regiments, from regiments to brigades.

Some go back under their old status. A striking example of this was the return of Brig.-Gen. Benjamin Foulois, air service, as a captain of infantry. Many of the officers with the American forces in Germany will suffer reduction in ranks.

SOME DEMOTIONS.

The names of a few, their present grades and those they hold in the Regular Army follow:

Brig.-Gen. Malin Craig, Chief of Staff in Coblenz, major of cavalry.

Maj.-Gen. Mark L. Hersey, commander Fourth Division, colonel of infantry.

Brig.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur, major of engineers.

Brig.-Gen. Campbell King, major of infantry.

Brig.-Gen. Thomas W. Darrah, major of infantry.

UP IN A HURRY.

These officers and scores of others went up the ladder in a hurry because of ability displayed in the A.E.F. Many are glad of the chance they had and are ready, with regret, to go back to their old rank.

Officers commissioned only for the emergency must be discharged by "black Tuesday" and to many of them that day brings sorrow.

There are thousands of former "noncoms" of the Regular Army who were commissioned as lieutenants and in a few weeks many of them became captains. A small percentage of them failed to "make the grade," a percentage no larger than that of the Regular Army officers who "couldn't stand prosperity." During the war hundreds were made majors, a few became lieutenant-colonels. Hardly a branch of the Third Army headquarters did not have in it at least one field officer who had been an enlisted man in the Regular Army.

WHAT WILL THEY DO?

The highest ranking officer who came from the enlisted personnel here is Lieut.-Col. Haverfield, adjutant-general of the American forces in Germany. He was a regimental sergeant major. What will become of him and of the thousands of others who have proved their worth in the greatest of trials? Before being commissioned these men were discharged from the army as enlisted men. The present order requires that they be discharged as officers on or before "black Tuesday." If within three months they re-enlist in the service they will be restored to their old grades as noncommissioned officers. Some of them are men enough and soldiers enough to do that, but why should they?

Think of field officers back in the ranks, subject to the possibility of incurring the displeasure of some lieutenant who served under them, or of being reduced to privates and being available as "kitchen police!"

CONGRESS CUTS DOWN.

Nearly all old "noncoms" were recommended for commissions in the Regular Army, but Congress decided the Regular Army had no room for these men because of the reduction in size. Vacancies created by the war were filled by the appointment of provisional lieutenants who have first call and of whom there is a surplus.

I asked a major what he would do when discharged and he said: "I don't know, but I am not going back to the army as a sergeant of cavalry. I have no training to qualify me for special civilian work. It seems I am at the mercy of my friends."

Under existing orders, thousands of officers will be turned out on "black Tuesday" after the army has taken the best in them.

MAY CREATE GRADE.

Officers in the Regular Army have affectionate regard and deep respect for the old noncoms, and believe the army ought to give them something better.

WILSON SAVES DAYLIGHT LAW.

United States' approved March 19, 1918, be, and the same hereby is repealed.'

"I believe that the repeal of the act referred to would be of very great inconvenience to the country, and I think that I am justified in saying that it would constitute something more than an inconvenience. It would involve a serious economic loss. The act of March 19, 1918, to 'save daylight' resulted not only from a careful study of industrial conditions by competent men familiar with the business operations of the country, but also from observation of the happy and beneficial consequences of similar legislation in other countries, where legislation of this character has been for some time in operation and where it has resulted, as the act of March 19, 1918, has resulted in the United States, in substantial economies. The act was intended to place the chief business activities of the country as near as might be within the limits of daylight throughout the year. It resulted in very great economies of fuel and in substantial economy of energy, because of the very different effect of work done in the daylight and work done by artificial light.

"It, moreover, served the daily convenience of the many communities of the country in a way which gave all but universal satisfaction, and the overwhelming testimony of its value which has come to me convinces me that I should not be justified in acquiescing in its repeal."

SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

In regard to the sundry civil bill, the President in another communication to the House, said:

"Under the vocational rehabilitation bill, which became law June 27, 1918, the Congress has sought to fulfill the expectations of the country that the soldier, sailor or marine disabled in the recent war should be given an opportunity to secure at the expense and under the fostering care of the Federal government such training as he needs to overcome the handicap of his disability and to resume his place as a civilian able to earn a living upon something like equal footing with those with whom he was associated before he made his great sacrifice for the honor and defense of the country.

"The work of rehabilitation under this admirable law is now at its height and was to have been given greater speed and certainty by the amendment to section two of the vocational rehabilitation bill, which I have today signed and which places the whole responsibility for vocational training in a single agency, virtually transferring from the War Risk Insurance Bureau to the Federal board for vocational education $6,000,000 with which to support disabled men in training at the generous figure of $80 a month for a single man, and $100 a month for a man and his wife.

"It is a matter of very grave concern, therefore, that at the very moment when these disabled men are coming in constantly increasing numbers to the government to avail themselves of this general plan, there should appear in the sundry civil appropriation bill, which I now return, limiting clauses which will do much more than seriously cripple and retard the beneficial work of restoring these men to useful and contented lives. These clauses would probably, in fact, if put into effect, nullify the whole purpose of the act and render its administration practically impossible.

"The section of the bill which I now return which governs the appropriation for this work provides the sum of $6,000,000 for all the expenses of rehabilitation, including the support of the disabled men in training, and this sum is stated to be 'in lieu of the appropriation contained in the act approved July (—) 1919, amending section two of the act approved June 27, 1918. Inasmuch as there are already over 4000 disabled soldiers, sailors and marines in training and inasmuch as another 4000 will be put into training now that the amendment to section two has become law, it is clear that even at the rate of only $80 a month a sum approximating $8,000,000 will be required for the mere support of these men, and that under the present appropriation nothing will be available for their tuition and travel or for placing them where they can earn a living, and it will be impossible to meet the needs of the new thousands who are every week seeking the benefits of the rehabilitation act. In the offices of the board in the District of Columbia and in fourteen great centers of the United States, immediate help is being given to men in need of these services and these offices are used for the essential purpose of keeping accurate records, of providing proper medical survey of the men, of caring for them in their illness, and for the various administrative costs inseparable from difficult work of this kind, which must, in the present circumstances, reach to every corner of the United States.

"Furthermore, the same section of the sundry civil bill places such limitations upon the salaries which the Federal board for vocational education is permitted to pay, that it will inevitably result in the loss by the vocational board of a very large number of men who have made themselves especially valuable and indeed indispensable in this new work by reason of their native ability, their proven general experience, and their special training, and to whose advice the disabled men must look as well as for superintendence in the matter of training and employment.

SERIOUS LIMITATIONS.

"Among these are the vocational advisers whose special duty it is to study the men in the hospitals, confer with them, and lay out their vocational plans. These hospital cases must, if these men are to be dismissed or allowed to resign, get along entirely without such advice and supervision until they have been able, after their discharge, to make their way on their own initiative to the distant offices of the Federal board.

"These serious limitations, upon the amount of money available and the uses to which it is to be put, involved therefore an actual disruption of a carefully built up service at the very moment when the disabled soldiers, sailors and marines now in the country or returning to it, are most immediately in need of help. This is a matter of the gravest consequence. It cannot but have far-reaching and disastrous effects upon the plan so carefully thought out for the immediate and thorough rehabilitation of men in the service of the country.

"I therefore return the bill with the hope that the Congress will reconsider this section of the law, restore the six millions appropriated under the act amending section two, and most liberally revise the salary limitations, so that this beneficent work may go on and go on at once. I am convinced that in this matter I speak the sentiments and the hopes of those who have most carefully studied the needs of the returning soldiers and who are best qualified to carry out a purpose which I am sure the country has very much at heart."

Asst. Atty.-Gen. J. E. Markham objected, holding that the court could not properly grant the defendant's request. Judge Dean then asked the attorneys to submit authorities on the issue, and Townley took his chair while the lawyers argued. The court denied the request.

The case went to the jury at 9:45 p.m. Much of Judge Dean's charge related to the question of conspiracy and the fact that the guilt of one defendant in a conspiracy action is considered the guilt of both defendants.

WAR VETERANS FORM CAMP IN THIS STATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—A State Department of the American War Veterans' Association was organized in San Francisco today with most of California's sixteen chapters of the order represented. Col. Thornwell Mullally, former commander of the California Grizzlies artillery regiment, national commander-in-chief of the order, presided at today's meeting.

The American War Veterans now have camps in Nevada, Arizona, Colorado, Texas, Kansas and California.

Rev. Joseph McQuaide of San Francisco, formerly chaplain of the Sixty-second Field Artillery Regiment, is national chaplain.

HUN SHIPS WRECKED BY CHILEAN STORM.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VALPARAISO, July 12.—During an extremely violent northerly storm that swept the harbor this morning three German vessels, one of them the steamer Tannis, a 6000-ton craft, were washed aground and broken up. The German steamers Westfalen and Sais are in danger in the continuing storm and it is feared they will be lost.

The storm likewise caused widespread loss among smaller craft.

The two German vessels destroyed besides the Tannis were the sailing craft Petschili of 3087 tons and the John of 1974 tons.

LANSING LEAVES PARIS FOR HOME

Says German Treaty Most Important Ever Drawn.

League of Nations Necessary for its Fulfillment.

Sees Serious Situation Confronting World Today.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, July 12.—Before leaving Paris tonight, Secretary Lansing addressed a message to the French people acknowledging the courtesies extended to him during his sojorn. He expressed regret that he was obliged to leave Paris on the eve of the fete in honor of victory, in spite of the great temptation to remain.

To the American correspondents Secretary of State Lansing made the following statement:

"Many thoughts rush to mind on leaving the Peace Conference after six months of effort. Never before has such an international gathering been held, for here has been the meeting ground of twenty-seven nations to liquidate a world war and establish a new order and a laboratory where already a system of world co-operation has been born, out of necessity.

"Out of it all has come the most important international document ever drawn—the treaty of peace with Germany, a document which not only meets the issues of the present war, but also lays down new agreements of the most helpful and most hopeful character. The nations are bound together to avert another world catastrophe, backward peoples are given a new hope for their future; several racial entities are liberated to form new states—a beginning is made toward removing unjust economic restrictions, and the great military autocracies of Central Europe are destroyed as the first step in a general disarmament.

A STEPPING STONE.

"The treaty is, of course, not all that we had hoped for It could hardly be expected to be. Too many conflicting interests were involved as well as too many legitimate documents which would tax the most perfectly balanced mind. Nearly everyone will find in it weakness both of omission and commission, provisions inserted which might better have been left out, and provisions left out, which might better have inserted.

"Such a document must, however, be examined both against the background of its creation and in the large swoop of its spirit.

"From that point of view we may call it a stepping stone from the old international methods to the new. If it still holds some of the distrusts andhatrads of the war which Germany has full well earned for herself, if its construction has been hindered by members of secret pacts and promises, it must be borne in mind that it carries with it the evident purpose to throw off the old methods of international intrigue and plotting.

"But the present treaties are but the starting point of world reconstruction. Now that the general principles have been laid down it remains to execute them. And by that I mean, not so much retributive action against nations which have recently run amuck in the world, but rather the cleansing and healing processes that shall really make good our hopes and aspirations.

WORLD IN DANGER.

"Undoubtedly there is a great danger in the world today. Many people have thought that the mere signing of the treaty with Germany marks the ending of the world peril. Public opinion seems to have breathed a sigh of relief and lapsed back into apathy. Concentration of thought on world problems is weakening now when it is most essential, and the forces of distintegration and reaction have been given a freedom of action far greater than when the world was on its guard.

"The situation today is serious. Western civilization is still dazed by the shock of four and a half years of destruction. Industry and commerce are not yet restored. All of Europe is impoverished; parts of it are starving. Its whole political fibre has been shot through. Russia and Hungary are gripped by subversive political doctrines; Austria-Hungary and Turkey as empires have ceased to be; Poland and Czecho-Slovakia are struggling to their feet as members of the family of nations. All that complicated machinery of society which took decades to elaborate and a world war to tear down cannot be replaced overnight by a wholly different ministry.

"Many problems remain unsettled. Territorial adjustments to secure the rights of peoples to live under their own flag as far as possible in the tangled skein of European nationalities may be made effective. Attainment of the Polish frontiers on all sides, particularly in East Prussia, is very difficult. The Teschen coal fields are still a source of contention between Poland and Czecho-Slovakia; Hungary is interrupting the trade of all Central Europe. The Adriatic problem is still unsolved, as well as the fate of those large territories formerly under the Turk, including especially Asia Minor and Armenia.

SORE TRIALS AHEAD.

"World statesmanship will be sorely tried in the next few years. Two things are essential, first, an alert intelligent interested public opinion, and second, co-operation of the nations. The former is needed both as a check on any sinister purposes that may crop up and as the great support for common action. The second is essential, unless the nations are to return to a selfish particularism which can only breed the most dangerous disputes.

"The Peace Conference has been history's greatest instance of a unified world statesmanship directing the moral and material resources of the world's family of nations. To allow the spirit behind it to disintegrate at this moment of emergency, when united action is imperative, would be fatal to all the hopes of permanent peace with which we entered the war.

"If it is true that one nation can destroy the equilibrium of all, it is all the more true that each nation is bound by its own law of self-preservation to co-operate with the Army Dirigible Makes Flight at Night to Capital.

California Aviator is Killed by Fall in Arkansas.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, July 12.—The British dirigible R-34, returning on her cross-Atlantic round trip, reported her position today at 3 p.m. Greenwich mean time (11 a.m. New York) as 53 deg. north latitude and 15 deg., 20 min. west longitude.

Because of adverse weather conditions in Scotland, the R-34, which was off the cost of Ireland today, has been advised by the Air Ministry to land at Pulham, Norfolk. The airship is expected there before noon Sunday.

The R-34, on her return flight from the United States, was approximately 360 miles west of the Irish coast at 11 a.m., Greenwich meridian time, today, according to a message received by the Wireless Press. Her position at that hour was given as 52 deg., 55 min. north latitude and 19 deg., 30 min. west longitude.

This position showed that the R-34 had traveled approximately 2675 miles in her trans-Atlantic flight from New York and was within about 170 miles of the Irish coast.

The position of the R-34 at 6:30 o'clock a.m., Greenwich mean time, (2:30 o'clock New York time) was 52 deg., 15 min. north latitude and 23 deg. west. The speed of the airship was at that time thirty-five knots per hour.

ITALY SEEKING PART OF CHINA.

Asks Council of Five for a Tien-tsin Concession.

May Regard it as Compensation for Fiume's Loss.

Former German Possessions Adjoin Present Holdings.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, July 12.—The Italian delegation has sent a note to the Peace Conference asking that Italy be given a concession at Tien-tsin, China, it became known today. The Italian request was placed on the programme for the afternoon meeting of the council of five.

Other matters which the council will consider include certain reports in connection with the question of trade with Bolshevik Russia.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—As Italy already has one concession at Tien-tsin, the request made to the Peace Conference for a concession there, as reported today in press dispatches from Paris, found no explanation in Washington. There was no information on the subject at the Italian Embassy.

It was suggested in some quarters, however, that Italy was seeking to acquire the former German possession at Tien-tsin, which is near its own concession, so as to enlarge its facilities and as compensation for the decision of the Peace Conference not to award it Fiume.

Under the terms of the peace treaty Germany is required to cede to China all public property belonging to the German government in the German concessions at Tien-tsin, Hankow or elsewhere in Chinese territory. The Chinese were said to have taken possession of the former German concession and to be administering it as a part of China.

WORK ON FOOD PRICES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Friday, July 11.—The government is trying to work out some plan to control prices of foods and other necessities. It is realized that the orders made effective in some places by local authorities and in others by the Chamber of Labor, reducing prices generally fifty per cent., can not continue to be enforced, as the shopkeepers in many instances are selling goods at less than cost. Throughout the district where the cost of living disorders were prevalent all is quiet.

Henry White represented the United States at the afternoon session of the council of five. Secretary Lansing called to say good-by.

The Italian request that the Austrian concessions at Tien-Tsin, China, be transferred to Italy, was referred to a commission for consideration.

It was decided by the council to send a message to the Czechs and Poles declaring that if no agreement is reached regarding the contested Teschen coal situation within ten days the council will decide the question itself.

ASKS PEACE EXPENSES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Chairman Elliott of the House committee on State Department expenditures, introduced a resolution today calling for a report on the expenses of the American peace commission at Paris. Among other things, the resolution asks for a list of commission employees and commissioners' servants and their salaries.

tions to prove in a peaceful manner that they desired an independent republic."

"SECESSION" SUGAR-COATED.

"The word 'secession,' as applied to our movement for independence, is a misapplication of the term, for there has been no previous voluntary union of partnrship," he said.

"Our only demand of England is that her forces of occupation be removed in order that the government set up by the Irish people, the de jure government, of which I have the honor to be the chief executive, may function as the people desire it to function.

"The recognition of this government and of the republic by the American nation as the true government of Ireland will materially assist us in our efforts to carry out the will of the people. I feel certain that the American government will respond to the wishes of the American people, and I believe that this demonstration today is a clear indication of the wishes of the people of this great city."

Referring to the hissing of the name of President Wilson at De Valera's New York meeting, the speaker said:

"What I think is this: I would be deeply humiliated if my presence here in your country and my advocacy of the just and reasonable claims of the Irish people should be made the occasion of any demonstrations of hostility to your President. He is your President, and while, as Americans, you have a right, no doubt, to criticise, you will forgive me for saying I feel it is not in good taste before a stranger. I am here to get the aid of all lovers of liberty in America, and they embrace all sections. Those who would identify us with any sections and those who act unworthily of what is a holy cause, are, even though it be unconsciously, the worst enemies of Ireland.

"Finally, I cannot see any good purpose that is served by the press exaggeration of the New York incident. As I pointed out this morning, one or two in a meeting can make a great noise and it would be a very obvious device for those who are opposed to our cause to send agents for that purpose."

FIVE FIREMEN DIE, 31 HURT IN PHILADELPHIA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Five firemen were killed and thirty-one others injured in a blaze that destroyed a three-story brick warehouse of the burlap bag manufacturing plant of Jacob Potash & Bros. here today. The victims were plunged into the flames and debris when the roof and three walls collapsed. Three saved themselves from serious injury by spectacular slides down a tottering ladder.

Rescuers worked more than two hours to extricate the dead from the ruins which rose in chaotic piles as high as the second story.

No cause has been assigned for the fire, which was the third in the building in fifteen years. The damage is estimated at over $100,000.

ADOPT NEW PLAN FOR TEACHING LANGUAGES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—The first stage of a plan which, it is claimed, will radically change American university methods of teaching languages was announced today at Columbia University with the opening of a "French community house" in which the student will neither use nor hear any language but French from the beginning to the end of his course.

Similar houses for the study of other languages will be opened in the fall.

Everything will be done to make each house as distinctively national as possible.

Rolph will Consolidate Interests.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The shipping interests of Mayor Rolph of San Francisco will be consolidated into a single corporation with capital of $8,000,000, a statement today from the Mayor's business office said. Operations of the concern will be confined to Pacific Coast ports. Mayor Rolph owns a shipyard near Eureka which has been operating at capacity and many of the vessels constructed there will be taken over by the new concern, which will be called the Rolph Mail Steamship Company.

IDAHO HAS GOLD STAMPEDE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SPOKANE, July 12.—Reported discoveries of a five-foot vein of gold ore on the Clearwater River in Central Idaho has created a veritable stampede for that section, according to information received today by Frank C. Bailey, secretary of the Northwest Mining Asociation here.

The reported strike is near the mouth of Crooked River, on the South Fork of the Clearwater.

JAP ATROCITIES TOLD IN REPORT

Presbyterians Cite Cruelties Against Christians.

Every Human Refinement in Brutality, Alleged.

Korean Women Seeking Freedom Held as Outcasts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—A report of alleged Japanese atrocities in Korea was made public today at the headquarters of the Presbyterian church in America. It is a result of investigations by representatives in Korea of the church, following the imprisonment of some of its missionaries by the Japanese authorities. The information from Korea was transmitted by such means that it escaped the Japanese censors. The report is several thousand words in length.

Hundreds of Koreans who had professed Christianity are said to have been driven by Japanese gendarmes at the point of bayonets into churches there to be fired on through open windows as they huddled in terror, and later to perish in the flames as the places of worship were put to the torch. Most of these victims, it is narrated, were men. Surviving women and children were left in destitution.

H. H. Underwood, a missionary living in Seul, was quoted in the Tokio Advertiser of April 29, 1919, according to the report, regarding a visit he made to Pal Tan, a market town. A fortnight before, Japanese troops, he said he was told, burned thirty-six of the forty houses in the village of Chayammni, two miles from Pal Tan, because the inhibitants were Christian. Pal Tan, he said he was informed, escaped both fire and sword "because there were no Christians there."

Preliminary police examinations of Koreans suspected of complicity in the revolutionary movement are said in the report to include "every human refinement in brutality," men being beaten to death and women subjected to nearly every possible form of shameful treatment. Milder punishment, it is said, included ninety blows rained upon the prisoner's body with a bamboo rod and the administering of many boot kicks.

Respectable women in one part of Korea were not safe in their homes during the day, the report continues, and so were forced to spend most of their time as refugees in the hills, returning to their homes at night. The Japanese police designate all women who favor the independence of their land as social outcasts. One case cited referred to a Christian woman whose arm was said to have been wrenched from the socket by her persecutors.

The Shimbun of March 17, 1919, is quoted as saying:

"The stirring up of the minds of the Koreans is the work of the American missionaries. This uprising is their work. There are a good many shallow-minded people among the missionaries. They make the minds of the Koreans bad and plant the seeds of democracy."

In conclusion, after publishing what are alleged to be violently anti-American articles from certain Japanese newspapers, the report of the Presbyterian investigators, says:

DANGEROUS POLICY.

"It is unnecessary to say more. These articles speak for themselves. The reader can judge of the attitude of the press when the government permits such stuff to be printed. As the press always is under the censor here, when such stuff is printed the government becomes morally responsible. The truth is prohibited. Falsehoods and libels are allowed. Such a course of action only endangers the relations of the governments concerned."

Through cable and mail dispatches, and otherwise, many of the occurrences outlined in the Presbyterian report on alleged Japanese atrocities in Korea and others similar to them have been made known to the American public, at the time of the disorders there and since then. The Japanese government has recognized that excesses occurred in Korea, Premier Hara on June 17 stating to a delegation from a Japanese political party that the reports published in the foreign press were true in part. The premier said the officers and men concerned had been punished and that steps were being taken to prevent a repetition of the trouble.

PHELAN SEEKS END OF STRIKE.

Asks Burleson for Action as in New England.

Bay City Mayors Urge Wilson to Intervene.

Recognition Ground for Cleveland Strike.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—United States Senator Phelan has demanded of Postmaster-General Burleson that he settle immediately the strike of telephone workers on the Pacific Coast.

The following message came from Senator Phelan today to Miss Lillian Brewer, business agent of the Oakland union of telephone operators:

"Conferred today with Purcell, Washington representative of electrical workers. I am submitting case direct to Postmaster-General Burleson, demanding immediate settlement on the basis of settlement of New England strike. Hope for early action."

A report that negotiations with officials of the telephone company, broken off ten days ago, had been resumed was denied today by L. C. Grasser, international vice-president of the electrical brotherhood.

OAKLAND, July 12.—The strike situation remains at deadlock in the east bay cities. The electrical workers' local will meet on Wednesday night, next, to take a vote on the demand to the Great Western and Pacific Gas and Electric Company to close wires feeding the Pacific Telephone Company. The action will affect all of Alameda and part of Contra Costa county.

Mayor Davie of Oakland and Mayor Louis Bartlett of Berkeley sent telegrams to President Wilson this morning urging him to use his influence to effect a speedy settlement.

The local telephone operators' union has increased its membership more than 500 since the strike was declared, according to union officials.

SEATTLE, July 12.—Plans designed to end the telephone strike in Seattle by the organization of an arbitrative body, which they say does not exist in Seattle at this time, were wired Postmaster-General Burleson and the general officers of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at San Francisco today by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

CLEVELAND OPERATORS OUT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CLEVELAND, July 12.—Telephone service was tied up here when approximately 900 union operators and electrical workers of the Cleveland (Bell system) and Ohio State Telephone companies went on strike at 6 o'clock this morning to enforce their demands for union recognition.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) July 12.—A strike of telephone operators and electrical workers affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in Cleveland and Youngstown, O., was sanctioned today, according to announcement of Secretary Charles P. Ford of the electrical workers' union. Mr. Ford said officials of the telephone companies in both cities had refused to follow out the provisions of the Burleson order which extended to the operators and electrical workers the right to organize.

The situation in the Pacific Coast district, where 10,000 telephone operators and electrical workers have been on strike for a month, is unchanged, Mr. Ford said. The strike of operators employed by the Bell Telephone Company in St. Louis, which was called several weeks ago, is still in effect and the situation unchanged, it was said.

ALL IN OHIO MAY QUIT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) July 12.—Electrical workers of the Bell and Ohio State Telephone Companies, who, together with more than 200 telephone operators are on strike, announced tonight that unless some step is taken toward ending the strike, all electrical workers in this district will be called out, paralyzing industrial power plants and domestic lighting.

The strikers, who demand recognition of the union and a higher wage, will decide at a conference tomorrow what action shall be taken.

OREGON WANTS ACTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALEM (Or.) July 12.—Gov. Olcott today sent telegrams to members of the Oregon delegation in Congress and to William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, urging that action be taken at the capital to aid in terminating the strike of telephone operators and electrical workers in Oregon.

THE DALLES (Or.) July 12.—Operators employed here by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company joined today in the strike declared by unions in cities and towns along the Pacific Coast.

CIRCUS IN RHINELAND.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS PUT ON SHOW AND GERMANS ADMITTED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COBLENZ, Friday, July 11.—American soldiers who captured Cantigny and scored various other victories against the Germans are performing in a three-ring circus this week for the entertainment of the soldiers along the Rhine. Hundreds of German civilians were permitted to witness the performances by the payment of an admission fee of 1 mark.

The First Division is presenting the circus at Montabaur, and the first performance was given today. Excursion trains were run today from Coblenz to Montabaur for the benefit of the soldiers of the Second and Third divisions.

The opening performances today were witnessed by at least 10,000 persons. There were sideshows and all the other accessories of a regulation circus. The proceeds will go to the division entertainment fund.

A parade is held daily in Montabaur. Army trucks have been camouflaged to represent circus wagons and rumble over the cobble stones of the town along with elephants, bears, camels and ponies from the Hagenback circus. There are a number of trained animals.

All the human performers are soldiers, including bareback riders and acrobats. There are wild-west features with Indians, a stage coach and all the fittings.

The Germans appeared to enjoy the circus as much as the soldiers.

Many of the costumes worn by the clowns and other performers were made by German girls in spite of the anti-fraternization regulations.

GENERAL STRIKE TIES UP PORTUGAL'S ROADS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BADAJOS (Spain) July 12.—Railroad workers in Portugal who declared a general strike on July 1 have torn up tracks, destroyed bridges and blocked tunnels, according to travelers reaching here. The railroad systems were said to be completely tied up.

Since Thursday only one locomotive and that driven by soldiers reached the frontier. Reports generally were that the situation has grown worse.

WOMEN! DRY CLEAN THINGS AT HOME

Try it! For a few cents you can dry clean everything.

Save five to ten dollars quickly by dry cleaning everything in the home with gasoline that would be ruined by soap and water — suits, coats, waists, silks, laces, gloves, shoes, furs, draperies, rugs—everything.

Place a gallon or more of gasoline in a dishpan or washboiler, then put in the things to be dry cleaned, then wash them with Solvite soap. Shortly everything comes out looking like new. Nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles. Do not attempt to dry clean without Solvite soap. This gasoline soap is the secret of all dry cleaning.

A package of Solvite soap containing directions for home dry cleaning costs little at any drug store. Dry clean outdoors or away from flame.

DALMATIA ASKS FOR AUTONOMY.

"That Victory be not Amiss" is in Every Heart.

Allies Now Have Her Divided Into Three Zones.

America Directing One Gives Hope to Them All.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEBENICO (Dalmatia) June 30 (via courier to Paris, July 8.) —Dalmatia, like Caesar's Gaul, is subdivided into three parts.

From the Canale Della Norlacca southward to Punta Planca it is held by a large Italian army. At the extreme south, around the Cattaro Narrows and Ragusa, there is a French command, under which there are Serb, Italian and French troops. Then between the zones and to the rear, Rear-Admiral Philip Andrews of the United States wields control.

I have seen all three zones. I have just spent twelve days with an Italian-American with two vivid impressions—the darkness of Dalmatia's story through all the ages and the gleam of light America sheds on the scene.

CLASS INTERESTS VERY OLD.

What must be understood at the outset is that class interests along the coast are not a thing of today or last year. They were old before Christ was born. They had entered the present Italo-Slavic phase before the crusades. Here the two races always have striven, those two races always as today—the inlanders and the venturers from the sea.

About 3000 years ago the Illyrians held Dalmatia. Then came the Greeks in their heroic keels and gained footings at Trau, Ragusa, Vecchia, Lissa, Lesina and Curzula. It is the last three names that perplex the Paris conference today. When Rome fell the Hinterland revenged itself, for the Slavonians, a new race, destroyed the old classic coast towns.

Then followed the medieval struggles—of Venice against the Slav pirates, later against the Croatian kings. Venice triumphed; the towns, whether of Roman or Slavic origin, took on a Venetian veneer, and the charge was laid for today's combustion.

For the sad truth is that there is a biplex nomenclature. Zara is not only Zara, but Zadar and all—all the way down you have the double nomenclature—Slav, Italian. Zara Vecchia is called Beograd; Sebenica, Sibeni; Spalato, Split; Ragusa, Dubrovnik; Cattaro, Kotor.

The people, too, are bilingual from birth. Nearly every one speaks Croat; only the peasantry inland are ignorant of Italian.

ITALIANS POINT DIFFERENCE.

Some Italians found their case on the assured difference between city and country. They claim in Ara, Spalato, Cattaro, etc., the people are "Dahnatians," speaking Italian, yearning after Italian culture, and tracing their descent to the Romans of Salona Epidaurus or the Venetian conquerors. They hold before Venice came these people were Latin, the remnants of Roman citizens. They spoke, we are told, a sort of Imbrian or South Italian dialect.

Now, runs this argument, will you let the country people destroy the city race?

But the matter is not so simple. The towns themselves are divided between two races. Sibenico was the first Croatian town. Ragusa never yielded to Venice. Zara and Spalato, of course, sprung up from Roman ruins. Now in Zara alone I found an Italian majority, but in her cemetery I did not. Then southward it can be said generally the towns are increasingly Slav, while in the villages and country districts the Italian language is all but unknown. Native Slav costumes are common inland. The population of Dalmatia is about 600,000, of whom 15,000 were reckoned as Italian in 1900. Of the remainder the majority are Croats, with perhaps 16 per cent. of the whole Serbs.

THEORIES FAIL TO FIT.

I went to Dalmatia with two unripe theories for solution of its problem. First, I thought Zara and Fiume might form a homogenous state. In both the Italian language is spoken. In both there is a slight Italian majority as far as race goes. But Zara is separated from Fiume, both by Croatia and by the North Isle, which I am assured are good sources of all Slav anti-Italian feeling. Second, I hoped for a tendency to compromise. North Dalmatia might have home rule for its internal affairs guaranteeing Jugo-Slavia free passage to the coast and a vague hegemony for foreign affairs. But I found race hatred too bitter for that. One race must prevail. It will go hard for many years. Then time may work a cure of its own, and Dalmatia will forget her past.

AT THRESHOLD OF EAST.

And such a past! She is the lady at hte threshold of the East, where western trade meets eastern invasion. In the quiet valley behind Spalato, where nothing remains but the ruins of Salona, Slav and Latin baptised their hate at the sack of that thriving city some thirteen centuries ago. Over Dalmatia have swept the Illyrians, Celts, Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Goths, Huns, Avars, Bulgarians, Slavonians, Franks, Saracens, Hungarians, Venetians, Turks, Tartars, Austrians and French.

A curse seems to hang over the coast obscure in its loveliness—a curse compounded of conquest and intrigue. Dalmatia has had too much of "Blind Old Dandolo" and his kind. She aches from the memory of "battles long ago."

In these struggles between inland and overseas the inland has usually lost. There are good reasons for this: most of the back country until you reach Bosnia is dreary and vast, incapable of supporting a dense population where a lack of roads prevented the peasants' prosperity. Then, too, their communal family organization and their dislike for the towns have always handicapped the Slavs, and Austrian rule weighed heavily on Dalmatia.

Though affording Austria 210 miles of seacoast from the Quarnero to Spizza, Dalmatia was the monarchy's poorest province. Except for Ragusa the cities declined in every way. Prosperous centers became miserable villages. Palaces were deserted. The peasants did not rise from their ignorance and belief in witchcraft. Spalato, the richest town, was possessed of meat, potatoes, and wood. The rivers were marshy. In 300 villages there are no schools and the people are 99 per cent. illiterate. The most striking evidence of this decay was seen today in the bodies of the North Dalmatian peasants, who are dwarfs beside their brothers in Serbia and Montenergo.

RELIC OF AMERICA.

There was large emigration to America. In Curzola, American is spoken widely. In Brazza Spanish is common, for the people took refuge in Chile.

These islanders make excellent sailors. Aside from the Croats and Istrians, two-thirds of the Austrian fleet is manned by Dalmatians. They have a long sea record, extending from the piracy days of Queen Tueta to their share in the battle of Lepanto.

The country has given birth to some great figures among men. Diocletian called Spalato his home; Saint Jerome, Gundulic and Tomaseo were Dalmatians.

"Divide and rule" was the Austrian motto. So even now there is no railway along the coast. Spalato's only line ceases to be broad gauge at Knin. There is no direct railway from Spalato to Fiume. In fact, before the war it was quicker to go to Petrograd than up country, so culture remained non-German. In hundreds of parishes mass is said in Glagolitic, old Slavic dialect, as evidence of the insular nationalism of the people.

Germany always misunderstood the Slavs. Through Austria she throttled efforts at self-expression until one day at Sarajevo the crisis came that has laid her low. The Slavs ask if the Allies also will misunderstand.

AUSTRIA'S EFFORTS FAIL.

Austria did try to repress excessive outbreaks of race hatred. For that reason the people still echo in Dalmatia that trite political axiom of pre-war days, "If Austria-Hungary did not exist, she ought to have been created." This much is sure! There is a crying need for the Allies to act in her place—and decisively. Everywhere in Fiume and Spalato local governments have sprung up, self-elected, and some highly unrepresentative. The people are tired of such an interregnum. They want elections.

Mutterings in Carinthia had no repercussion in Dalmatia. For reasons I will make clear in future articles [illegible] is comparatively calm.

In Zara [illegible] popular poster urges Italian annexation, but the phrase burning in every Dalmatian heart is: "That victory be not amiss."

"PERSHING'S OWN" IS THE CRACK REGIMENT.

WILL VISIT AUSTRALIA AND JAPAN BEFORE RETURNING TO NEW YORK.

By Betty Van Benthuysen.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, July 12.—Of course, everyone back home knows now that we possess the crack regiment in the A.E.F. In fact, there are a whole lot of us who think all the regiments that came overseas were star performers but just to show how good they were, Gen. John J. Pershing decided that crack soldiers from the ranks of every division in the A.A.O. should be welded into one prize organization. "Pershing's Own" is made up from units of the First and Sixth Divisions.

We in France who have seen them drill realize the treat in store for the home folks when they pull in the gangplank over there and sail home with Gen. Pershing, declaring the job finished.

Before performing the last rites in France, however, they have a well-deserved treat in store for them, having been chosen to represent the United States in Paris on July 14 and in the London peace parade on July 19. Rumors have it that the regiment will return to Paris by the 26th and proceed to Brussels for the celebration which takes place there on the 30th. Thence they may go to Rome.

Not content with that report, one hears on all sides that the regiment will sail for Australia shortly, where it will parade with its colonial cousins. That Japan may be given an opportunity to look them over, they will return by way of San Francisco. Big towns in the United States also will see "Pershing's Own" before making its final appearance in New York.

The regiment is commanded by Col. Conrad Babcock, Three Hundredth and Fifty-fourth Infantry. It is composed of twelve companies, 250 men to a company besides a Medical detachment and a Motor Truck Company of four hundred and fifty-six.

Four companies have been selected to parade here on July 14. The rest will have preceded them to London and as soon as the parade is over on Monday the cracks will entrain for England.

The boys drill two hours every morning. The exercises consist chiefly of close order drill, rehearsals for parades and ceremonies.

The minimum height of the boys is five feet ten. One platoon made up from the Sixth Division is composed of men all six feet tall or over. The regiment is made up entirely of combat men, a large number having been decorated for valiant conduct on the field. They are from every State in the Union.

One of the men occupying an unique place in the organization is Private Feland of the Sixth Division. He was on his way home and came to Paris on leave. He found a number of his buddies were among men chosen for the regiment and immediately had himself assigned to the cracks.

"Pershing's Own" regiment may not be kept for show and State occasions as are many of the world's crack regiments. But the Coldstream Guards and other crack regiments had better look to their laurels, for this regiment is made up of boys who have had their hair parted by bullets, beside being the happiest performers at maneuvers who ever made love to pretty girls, shouldered rifles, or carried packs.

Can they march? Oh!

DENIES PACIFIC CABLE IS IN BAD CONDITION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Assertion that the Pacific cable service is handicapped because the cable is old and subject to frequent interruption through breakage, made by the National Foreign Trade Council yesterday in announcing appointment of a committee to obtain better service, today was denied by George Clapperton, vice-president of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company. He attributed delays to increased traffic diverted from the Atlantic route by the war.

"The Pacific cable is in a good state of repair," Mr. Clapperton said, "so good that it cannot be made better." He said it would take ten thousand miles of cable to duplicate the present one, a quantity not procurable at present.

DYNAMITE DESTROYS MONTANA BRICKYARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BILLINGS (Mont.) July 12.—A dynamite charge planted in the hopper of a brick auger shortly after midnight this morning demolished the main machinery of the W. E. Dowling brickyard here. On April 27 a fire of unexplained origin destroyed the plant and operations were resumed less than a week ago.

"don't!" they said, when Harry Penrod decided to hold his first big sale of fine tailoring—

When Harry Penrod told the Western representative of one of the world's biggest woolen mills that he was going to hold a sale, this man, who is an authority, said: "Don't do it! Hold on to every yard of fabric you can. This Fall will see prices double up again and a greater scarcity than ever will prevail, because European buyers are cleaning up our surplus at the highest prices ever known in the industry."

Nevertheless, Harry Penrod is going to hold a sale. It may not be good business, but it is necessary in order to maintain his policy of carrying no fabrics from one season to another.

Then there is another good reason: When Harry Penrod & Co. succeeded Eisner & Co., the deal involved a big transfer of fabrics—much more than the new firm could expect to dispose of in a normal way. Hence this really remarkable sale, which provides what is possibly your last chance to secure fine tailoring at very moderate prices.

—those men who know real conditions in the woolen markets will not be content to buy a single suit in this sale — they will anticipate their tailoring needs and buy for at least a year hence—

In urging you to attend this sale, Harry Penrod gives you his personal word that the reductions are exactly as indicated and that the fabrics offered are of the same quality which have created for this house a State-wide reputation for carrying none but the best. In view of the peculiar conditions now prevailing in the tailoring industry, it behooves every man to seriously consider the purchase of several garments in this extraordinary event.

Harry Penrod is the dean of Los Angeles tailors. After a brilliant career covering twelve years as chief cutter and designer for Eisner & Co., he became head of a new organization which succeeded that firm early in the present year. Harry Penrod is a man of many friends, who realize the integrity of his promises and his ability to serve them well.

RENDER YOURSELF IMMUNE FROM OAK OR IVY POISONING

MIDSUMMER is the time when poison oak and poison ivy are most to be dreaded by those who are susceptible to their malignity. The irritation and perspiration induced by outdoor exercise render the skin exceedingly susceptible to infection, even though one may not come in direct contact with these beautiful but to be dreaded shrubs. There are many cases on record where results from oak or ivy poisoning have been most serious. If you have reason to believe that you have been exposed, or if you purpose a trip where poison oak or ivy abound, use Santiseptic Lotion on the face, hands and other parts of the body likely to be affected. If the infection already has taken place, apply Santiseptic to the affected parts, and you will receive almost instant relief from the pain and the itching, and in a short time the inflammation and the fever will disappear, leaving your skin in its normal condition. We cannot too strongly recommend Santiseptic in such cases. Its use will unquestionably relieve and prevent much pain and discomfort, and even more serious results. Santiseptic also relieves the irritation caused by the bites or stings of mosquitoes, fleas and other insects; it allays prickly heat, chafing, etc. Once you have tried Santiseptic you will find it insures skin comfort. Santiseptic may be procured at almost any Los Angeles drug store.

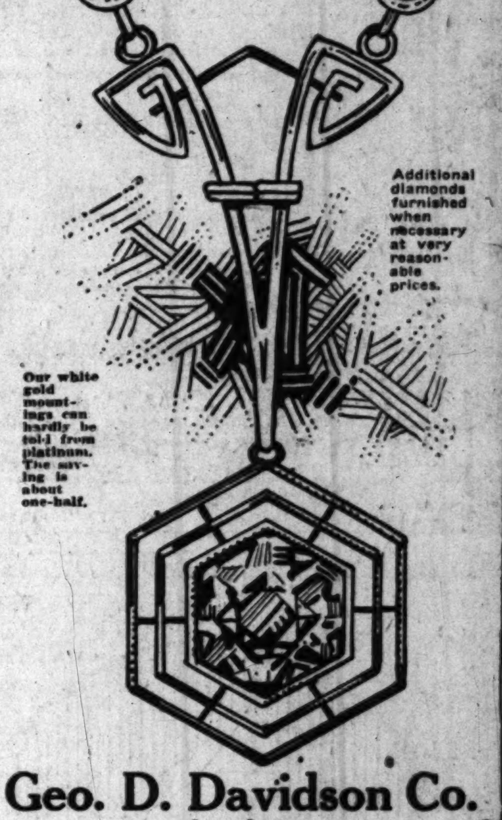
Not so long ago these diamonds were hiding away in a dusty jewel case. They were set in a gold ring of the style so fashionable twenty years ago—beautiful then, but now quite out of date—so the owner had laid them aside and they represented only a lost investment. Today, thanks to the suggestion of a friend who knew of our remodeling department, the stones are set in the beeautiful platinum lavalliere pictured here, are a source of constant pleasure to our customer, and—the cost of the work was much less than you would expect. Come in any time at your leisure and let us picture to you, while you wait, the different ways of modernizing your jewelry. This service is free.



You need have no fear for diamonds set in the Davidson store—they are in to stay.

LOVETT REPORTS ON RAIL PROBLEM

Opposes Consolidation Into a Few Large Systems.

Would Reduce Average Credit of All Railroads.

Government Guarantee is not Now Practicable.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Consolidation of all the railroads of the United States into a few large systems—from twelve to twenty-five—as a possible solution of the nation's railroad problem, is opposed by Robert S. Lovett, former president of the Union Pacific Railroad, in a memorandum to Congress made public here today. Judge Lovett for a time was director of the division of capital expenditures of the government Railroad Administration under William G. McAdoo as Director-General.

The effect of the proposed consolidation would be in his opinion to "impair the credit of the strong road, instead of improving the credit of the weak road. The inevitable effect would be to reduce the average of the credit of all the railroads."

"Congress," he asserted, "has no right to compel one railroad to consolidate with another. It may give one the right to acquire the property of the other by condemnation but it must pay for it, and here is the difficulty, pay for it in cash.

REQUIRES FABULOUS SUM.

"The underwriting of a fabulous amount must be provided. Will Congress appropriate the billions necessary? Have we bankers enough to provide the money except through a series of years? And what will happen to the financial welfare of the country in the meantime?

"My judgment is against the consolidation of all the railroads of the country into a few companies, because I believe the companies will be too large and unwieldy for efficient and economical management.

"I believe that the absorption of some of the weak lines by the strong ones, upon fair terms, should be promtoed by the competition in service and facilities should not only be preserved but should be extended."

OPPOSES POOLING EARNINGS.

Judge Lovett also opposed the plan which has been discussed for pooling the net earnings of railroads by dividing them into groups and establishing rates sufficient to yield 6 per cent. or some other specified return on the book value of each group. Earnings in excess of the average, he pointed out, would be set aside for the unprofitable roads that earn less.

Suggestion put forward by many financiers and railroad men that the government should guarantee fair dividends on the full value of the railroads and leave the management in the hands of the railroad owners was characterized by Judge Lovett as impracticable because he did not believe the government would take all the risk and none of the profits.

MUST ESTABLISH CREDIT.

If a small return of 2, 3 or 4 per cent. were guaranteed, he said, this would not be sufficient to pay the interest on bonds already outstanding. "It would make doubly secure what is already abundantly secured," he continued, "but it would afford no collateral for new issues nor secure new loans."

"The importance of re-establishing railroad credit cannot be overestimated," said Judge Lovett, "but nevertheless, I am persuaded that no guaranty short of a return upon the full value of railroad property will be helpful to that end, and that a guaranty of full value is not practicable without government operation, which I regard as beyond present discussion."

Alkali in Soap Bad for the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless,) and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

TURKISH LEADERS ARE CONDEMNED TO DEATH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Friday, July 11.—Enver Pasha, Talaat Bey and Djemal Pasha, the leaders of the Turkish government during the war, were condemned to death today by a Turkish court-martial investigating the conduct of the Turkish government during the war period.

Enver and his two leading associates in the Young Turk government fled from Turkey several months ago and their whereabouts is uncertain.

Djavid Bey, former Minister of Finance, and Alusa Metssa Kiazim, former sheik-ul-Islam, were sentenced to fifteen years at hard labor.

The court-martial acquitted Rifaat Bey, former president of the Senate, and Pachim Bey, formerly Minister of Posts and Telegraph.

SALONIKI, July 12.—The Greek army operating south of Smyrna, in Asia Minor, is driving the Turkish forces there rapidly backward, forcing them to abandon guns in their flight, according to a statement issued by Greek army headquarters here.

The Turks left behind them the bodies of eighty-four Greek women and children in a mutilated condition, the communique declares.

AMSTERDAM, July 12.—The first chamber of the Dutch Parliament has adopted a motion to introduce woman suffrage in Holland. The vote was 34 to 5.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN WELCOME.

Southland Mayors will Map Out Big Reception for Wilson and Fleet.

Mayor Snyder yesterday stated that during the ensuing week he will name a committee, to be formed of all the mayors of cities in Southern California, to plan a proper reception for President Wilson and the Pacific fleet when they come to Los Angeles. He will be chairman of the committee.

"These will be two big events," said Mayor Snyder, "and I feel certain the mayors of all Southern California cities will be glad to participate in plans for the proper welcoming of both the President and the fleet. We hope to provide a programme that will be in keeping with the importance of these events."

RECOMMEND ACTION AGAINST BELA KUN.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BASLE (Switzerland) July 12.—The representatives of the Allies in Vienna have decided that action must be taken against the proceedings of Bela Kun's communist government in Hungary, according to the Neues Tageblatt of Vienna, as quoted in a dispatch from the Austrain capital. A special courier has been sent to Paris to obtain the necessary powers from the Allied Supreme Council, the newspaper declares.

VIENNA, Thursday, July 10.—The national Socialists in the Czech Parliament are threatening to break up the Socialist majority and overthrow the new Ministry because Premier Tusar did not appoint their candidates for the portfolios of transportation, commerce and public works.

The Finance Minister has announced a deficit in the Czecho-Slovak treasury of 5,000,000,000 crowns.

PARIS, July 11.—The Supreme Council of the Allies today examined the question of the Austro-Czecho-Slovakia frontiers, in conformity with the desire of the commission having the matter in hand, which proposes to leave to the Czecho-Slovaks the essential portions of two rectifications which were made in their favor.

The council did not fix the frontiers between Austria and Hungary.

Would Clear Wilkins's Name.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Friends of Dr. Walter Keene Wilkins announced today they were endeavoring to clear the name of the aged physician, who was convicted recently of murdering his wife at their Long Beach home last February and who hanged himself in the Nassau County Jail at Mineola, while awaiting sentence of death.

INVITATION IS WIRED WILSON.

County Peace League Urges that He Speak for It.

Executive Committee Chosen for Live Campaign Here.

Drive to be Launched at Big Outdoor Mass Meeting.

President Wilson was invited by telegraph yesterday to speak in this city, under the auspices of the Los Angeles County League to Enforce Peace, when the Executive comes to California next month. The telegram was sent by President W. M. Bowen of the league, immediately after its Executive Committee had been finally organized. Mr. Bowen announced offices will be opened tomorrow morning at 314 American Bank Building.

The message to the President was signed by Mr. Bowen and reads:

"The Los Angeles County League to Enforce Peace invites and urges upon you to visit Los Angeles and address our people on the covenant of the League of Nations at an early date. This league will make full arrangements for such meeting and begs to be advised of probable date and acceptance."

The officers who will direct the league's campaign here in behalf of the League of Nations were finally selected yesterday. They are W. M. Bowen, president; Mrs. Mather S. Robertson, vice-president; [illegible] Malcolm, secretary; H. [illegible], treasurer; W. T. Selleck, campaign manager; C. C. C. Tatum, chairman of the Finance Committee. Other members of the Executive Committee are: Dr. John R. Haines, [illegible] Brown, Mrs. Shelley Tolhurst, [illegible] Wallace, Mrs. Herbert Cable, Marshall Stimson, Stanley B. [illegible], Louis M. Cole, Dr. Charles [illegible] Locke, Rev. J. A. Francis, Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, Lorin A. Handley, Mrs. Force Parker and Cecil B. de Mille.

The General Committee, to include a representative from every town in the county and from every section of the city, has not yet been fully selected. About seventy-five names of city residents have been chosen, however, and the city list will be completed by tomorrow night.

As soon as the whole committee has been selected, it will be assembled, with the public, at an afternoon mass meeting in Exposition Park, and a speaker of wide reputation will formally launch the League of Nations campaign.

SAN DIEGO PREPARES FOR EPOCHAL VISIT.

HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FIVE VESSELS AND WILSON TO BE THERE AT ONCE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—Executives in charge of the reception to be tendered President Wilson, Secretary Daniels and the newly-made Pacific fleet today began arrangements for the welcome. The coming visit of the Chief Executive of the nation, the Secretary of the Navy and the fleet is regarded as an event of the largest importance for San Diego. Fifty thousand men and 175 ships will enter this harbor when the Pacific fleet presents itself at the first port of call in this ocean, and the greatest ovation ever tendered in the city is planned.

The harbor itself will not be crowded with the anchoring of the fleet, but the city faces a problem of housing the personnel.

Participating in the arrangements are all local civic organizations headed by the Chamber of Commerce. Mayor and Mrs. Wilde will head the reception committee.

Several ships have already anchored here and will remain to assist in greeting the remainder.

The destroyer Chauncey, with Commander William Glassford, one of the naval heroes of the war, in command, arrived here this afternoon and took its position in man-of-war row. The Chauncey has an enviable record among destroyers for distinguished service in the North Atlantic during the trying months.

Other ships of the Sixth Battle Squadron, many of which took part in engagements, include the New Mexico, Mississippi, Arizona, Wyoming, Arkansas, New York, Texas and Idaho. Convoy ships include the Cleveland, Tacoma, Denver, Marblehead, Machias and Vicksburg. The remainder are the Virginia, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Georgia, Nebraska, Vermont, Baltimore, Aroostook, and the flagship Salem of the destroyer squadron.

INTENTION OF QUEEN'S VISIT HERE CONFIRMED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Reports that Queen Marie of Rumania intends to visit the United States were confirmed today in advices received by the Atlantic division of the Red Cross from workers in the Balkan kingdom.

Letters sent to Ethan Allen, manager of the division, said that the Queen, dressed as a Red Cross nurse, is a constant visitor to the Red Cross stations and takes an active part in the tremendous task of relief in the famine and fever stricken country.

A Paris dispatch of last May said that Queen Marie had accepted an invitation to speak before the Women's Christian Citizenship conference at Pittsburgh, November [illegible] to 16.

PROBE ON AT LONG BEACH.

Arrest of Police Officers Charged with Graft Starts Investigation.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, July 12.—The first two arrests in what is expected to be a far-reaching investigation of alleged graft and corruption conditions that are said to exist in the Long Beach police department were made today when operatives from the District Attorney's office took into custody Police Sergeant Ralph E. Powell and Special Officer H. M. Holbrook, both charged with extortion and grand larceny.

Policeman Holbrook was arrested early this morning at his home on Locust avenue, near Seventh street, by Deputy Sheriff J. F. Smith. Sergt. Powell was taken into custody this afternoon at his home, 121 East Tenth street. Both men were taken to the County Jail. They will be arraigned in Justice W. S. Brayton's court Monday. Sergt. Powell late this afternoon was given his freedom on $1200 bail, furnished by his brothers, Lee and Guy Powell, both tellers in the National Bank of Long Beach.

The particular offense with which Powell and Holbrook are charged is alleged to have been committed June 24. J. G. Papadokis, a San Pedro confectioner, swore to the complaints, which were issued by Justice Brayton following recommendations made by the District Attorney's office.

Police Sergeant Ben McLendon, relieved from regular duty by W. M. Peek, the newly-elected Safety Commissioner, who took office July 7, has conducted the investigation and gathered the evidence that resulted in the arrests of the two officers.

The arrests grew out of the discovery by Patrolman Garret Clandenny, on the night of June 24, of the presence of J. G. Papadokis and Mrs. Mildred Hardy, a San Pedro waitress, registered at an Ocean avenue hotel as man and wife, but believed by the officer to be violating the rooming-house ordinance. Instead of making the arrests himself, Patrolman Clandenny reported the case to headquarters and Holbrook and Powell, who have charge of such violations, were assigned to investigate.

No further report of the case involving Papadokis and Mrs. Hardy was made, so after waiting a couple of hours Police Sergeant McLendon and Clandenny paid a visit to the room themselves. The door was locked. A few moments after a summons to open the door was made it is said Policeman Holbrook turned the key from the inside and admitted the officers. Mrs. Hardy, it is said, was in the room with Holbrook, but Papadokis was not to be seen. It developed later, Sergeant McLendon says, that he had been escorted to the outskirts of the city some time before by Sergeant Powell.

Holbrook, it is said, offered himself for arrest. But Sergeant McLendon, sensing a bigger crime, he says, took no action against Holbrook at that time.

As the case is set forth by Sergeant McLendon, Sergeant Powell and Officer Holbrook earlier in the evening demanded money or jewelry from Papadokis and Mrs. Hardy, under threat that they would be taken to jail if they failed to "come through." The District Attorney's office issued the complaints against the officers on the corroborated testimony of both the girl and the man to this effect, it was declared today.

The officers are alleged to have "frisked" Papadokis and then taken him out to Anaheim road, which leads to San Pedro, and told him to "beat it, and not look back or ever mention the affair." They are said to have secured $63 in cash and a check from Papadokis, but to have overlooked four pennies in one of his vest pockets.

Holbrook, it is said, then went back to the hotel to pay a visit to Mrs. Hardy, when he was interrupted by Patrolman Clandenny and Sergt. McLendon.

Keen Business Men Buy Their Tailored Suits from Richmond

It is the men who know what good business is and what real values are that have built success for Richmond. When a tailor can please a business man, then he is a real tailor, and that is exactly what Richmond always does. Just to prove this to you we are continuing our big tailoring bargain offer.

Our Regular $35 Made-to-Order Suits Now Only $22.50

We haven't set any time limit on this offer, but a tip to the wise is sufficient. Our big stock of woolens purchased at favorable prices months ago is nearly exhausted. We will soon have to use woolens purchased at higher prices, then our prices like everything else will have to go up. Now is the time to get your summer suit and extra one for fall while you can get two suits for the same price that one will cost you later.

Every Knock Is a Big Boost for Us

Malicious knocking used by self-designated highbrow tailors preying upon the public is a matter of camouflage. The world admires thrift and progress, but detests egotism. All the concentrated powers of an irresponsible Morpheus is not enough to even make a nick in a business whose foundation is as solid as the towering peaks of the Sierras. That is exactly the kind of a foundation under the Richmond Company. This is an institution reared on honesty and integrity with high ideals and modest prices as its forte.

These Values Need No Arguments by Us

Every suit that Richmond makes stands on its own merit and every man who appreciates what good tailoring is will readily see the value in our suits. We won't have to argue with him for one minute. Come in and judge for yourself.

REDUCTIONS ON HIGHER PRICED SUTS.

Suits of more exclusive patterns, the last word in the art of perfect tailoring, bearing the sterling mark of Richmond are also priced at special reductions.

CITY PREFERS EX-ARMY MEN.

Pasadena to Favor Veterans for Public Jobs.

City Attorney Prepares Opinion in School Squabble.

Petty Thieves Given Fines in Justice Court.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, July 12.—Returned soldiers and sailors will be given the preference in the appointment of members of the Pasadena fire department henceforth, Commissioner Harley F. Newell of the Department of Public Safety declared today.

Under the two-platoon system, which becomes effective in the department this month, nearly fifty men will be added to the department. Of that number Mr. Newell says he now has thirty-five men whom he will recommend to the commission for appointment. He will endeavor to provide jobs for returned war veterans in making the other fifteen appointments.

Ernest F. Coop, the newly-appointed chief of the fire department, who takes office July 15, is said to be an expert on the latest approved fire drills and he is planning to inaugurate a system of regular fire drills in the local department as his first act on the new job.

REPORT MAY BE DELAYED.

There are so many legal questions involved in the resolutions asking for counsel on the school superintendency question which the new school board submitted to City Attorney J. H. Howard that it is unlikely Mr. Howard will have his opinions ready to submit to the board when it meets Tuesday. The same is said to be true of the office of the County Counsel, who also was asked for opinions. That means that there will be no solution of the superintendency tangle next week. Meantime, the new board continues to ignore the election by the outgoing board of Dr. John F. West, San Diego, as superintendent. Clayton R. Taylor, member of the board, is at the school office daily, as acting school executive.

It was rumored here that Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was coming here to confer with the two factions of the school board, but neither side has as yet heard any word from Mr. Wood nor has he put in an appearance here.

ARROYO PILFERERS FINED.

Sam Levine, Platt Williams and Harry Rosey, three Long Beach boys arrested by Forest Ranger W. D. Marx and Constable J. C. Sosey in the Arroyo Seco several days ago on charges of stealing articles from summer cottages in the Arroyo, were found guilty in Judge Ben Strang's justice court here today and each was sentenced to pay a fine of $25. The court gave the youths until August 1 to accumulate the money for the fines, saying if the fines were not paid by that date the youths would be sent to jail for twenty-five-day terms.

SEASON CLOSES.

Imperial Valley Ships 8000 Cars of Cantalopes.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, July 12.—Imperial Valley's cantaloupe season officially closed yesterday, with an approximate total of 8000 carloads, which is 3500 more than were shipped last year. Shippers are unanimous in their praise of results. Although the supply has been almost double that of last year, average prices have been maintained during the season. The quality of the fruit has been excellent.

D. L. Ringer of the United States Department of Agriculture, who has been in charge of the valley office, left last night for Turlock, where he will remain until some time in August, reporting shipments from that district.

HONORED WAR HERO DROWNS IN BATHING.

REDLANDS RELATIVES RECEIVE NEWS OF SOLDIERS' DEATH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, July 12.—Sergt. Charles F. Rinehart, one of the heroic figures of the war, who spent several weeks here recuperating from wounds, was drowned in Lake Mary, near Flagstaff, Ariz., last week according to word received from his wife, who saw him drown. His weakened condition from wounds and gassing is believed to have caused him to lose his strength.

Mrs. Rinehart evidently had a premonition of his death for she begged him not to go in the water. The funeral was held at Flagstaff with squads of soldiers under Capt. E. M. Robison attending.

Sergt. Rinehart was a lanky Kentuckian and a wonderful soldier. He was gassed twice, wounded by bullets three times, by a bayonet once, the wound that was not healed when he drowned. He won the Croix de Guerre and the American Citation Cord, which signified he had been cited for bravery three times. His first exploit was on the transport going over. Rinehart was a top sergeant and when the ship was torpedoed, his lieutenant lost his head and Rinehart took charge, saving scores of lives. Again in France with the engineers he saved the life of his captain by going after him under heavy shellfire.

STATE BOARD SEEKS TO MORE CLOSELY LINK STATE SCHOOLS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA BARBARA, July 12.—Before adjourning to meet September 22 at Sacramento, the State Board of Education provided for a committee of seven, three of whom are to be named by the State University, to secure closer co-operation between normals and the university. The four named by the State board are C. L. McLane, president of the State Normal, Fresno; E. L. Hardy, San Diego Normal; E. P. Clarke, president of the State Board of Education, Riverside, and Mrs. O. Barnum Shepard, member of the State board, Alhambra. Of the three to be chosen later, one will come from the southern part of the State, probably Los Angeles, and the others from the north.

Effective in 1922, State Normal courses will be increased in length from two years to three.

Four publishing firms are competing for the opportunity to furnish the history of the United States. The authors are William Guitteau, S. E. Foreman and Beard Bagley. A Chicago publishing house offers a compilation called Macey's School History. Commissioner A. C. Olney will study the books and make the decision.

At the September session Americanization plans to apply to foreign-born who cannot speak or write English will be formulated.

VENICE AFTER ATTRACTION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, July 12.—In a letter answering a communication sent to him by the Venice Chamber of Commerce, Secretary of the Navy Daniels states that it may be arranged to have the itinerary of vessels to be sent to the Coast this summer include this city as a port of call.

The Secretary of the Navy has also been asked by the Venice trustees to have the ex-German submarine now at Atlantic City, New Jersey visit this city when it comes to the Pacific Coast.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LANCASTER, July 12.—Hull Bros., local contractors, have been awarded the contract to build the manual training annex to the High School, which will cost about $5000. The building will be one story high, and will be constructed of veneer brick and plaster on the exterior. Prof. Martin will be in charge of this department of the High School.

GAIETY AND GLOOM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, July 12.—Gloom reigned supreme here tonight at the Windemere Hotel when the Southern California Funeral Directors' Association met to make "merry" at the fourth annual banquet. Many noted undertakers of the south were present wearing their most professional expressions. A short business meeting was held before the banquet, at which President S. A. Etter of Alhambra presided. Other speakers were George Kate of Redondo, F. W. Patterson of Pomona and J. M. Brunner of San Diego. In the evening the 150 guests attended the musicale given at the Woman's Club.

Girlish, Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have

Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women all over the world have been using the saxolite face bath to "tone up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagginess. The formula is: Powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint.

This simple and harmless face bath is a splendid thing for the outdoor girl, since sun, wind and flying dust are so provocative of squinting and other contortions which cause wrinkles and crow's-feet. Also it is fine to freshen up a tired face in hot, depressing weather.

MAILS SWINGS 30-CENT ARM.

Tigers Tickle Portsider's Offerings for Fair.

Finneran Disposes of Sacs Without Oil of Tar.

Middleton Gets Hook for First Time in Life.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Recuperating rapidly from the defeat of the day before the Tigers gave the Saturday crowd a treat by trimming Sacramento, 5 to 1.

Walter Mails's famous $46,000 left-handed arm again looked like thirty cents to Bill Essick's athletes, and they hammered the quaint southpaw with considerable abandon. Time and again Mails tried to inveigle the Tigers into an air pocket at the plate, but was seldom successful. He was able to whiff only two.

Joe Finneran pitched a game that was free from suspicion, although there appeared to be a slight outcropping of tar oil on the spot where he formerly rubbed the ball while applying the varnish. However, it must have been something else, as nobody raised any kick or sniffed at the pill. Possibly it was just plain dirt, contracted while associating with the visitors.

Joe was hit in spots, and also was quite wild at times, yet only in the sixth was the soviet able to squeeze a run out of the general mess they had made on the bases. Sacramento can litter up the bases with more athletes without accomplishing anything than any club which ever played ball in this town. The only way for Bill Rodgers to win a ball game is hire a truck and tow the base runners in, or get a windlass with a long rope and drag them across the plate.

Back of Finneran was the sort of fielding that discourages a visiting baseball team.

The game was successfully concluded without any riots. Everybody, including the umpires, seemed able to get along with everybody, with one exception. There was practically nothing for the hooters and hooterinos to do. The one exception was Roxy Middleton. He seemed unable to get along with Umpire Casey.

HEAVES BAT.

Roxy was bounced and fined $5 in the third. After whiffing on a called third strike, he turned and heaved his bat at the grand stand. For this he was rebuked by Casey. Middleton turned and started for the bench. Meantime, Casey stood with one finger cocked ready for instant use. Everybody, except Middleton, whose back was turned, could see what was going to happen if he turned and looked back. Not knowing this Roxy did turn back. Crack went the finger, and Middleton was sent on his way to the clubhouse with a five-dollar plaster.

Thus turning around just once cost him five bucks. At that rate, if Roxy was a dancer, one waltz would cost him about $1500. Mr. Middleton has been playing twelve years, and this is the first time that he has ever been put out of a game. Therefore, he feels the disgrace very keenly, although not as keenly as he feels the nick in his bankroll. After the game he explained that he had regarded Casey as his friend and thought he could call him anything that he wanted to.

CHARLEY QUIET.

Charley McHugh, who was slammed in the mush by a lady Friday, was present, but did not peep. As a rooter he appears to be ruined. Indications are that he will never invite attack by opening his mouth again. He has marks on his face which would seem to indicate that the lady wore brass knuckles, or had a horseshoe in her glove.

Mails experienced his first real sinking spell in the fifth, when a cluster of three came our way. He walked Fisher, first up, and Brooks beat out a high-bounder to Pinelli. Finneran bunted to Mails, who threw to third too late for a force-out, and the bases were snugly filled. Mitchell knocked a hot double off the glove of Wolter, who was now playing left field, two piling in and Finneran taking third. Chadbourne put Joe across with a shot to center, Mitchell taking third. Meusel forced Chadbourne and second, and McGaffigan heaved to Cook, nailing Finneran at the pan. Borton boosted to Crespi.

Edington's double in the sixth blossomed into a run when High and Fisher fertilized it with sacrifices. Chadbourne singled with two down in the seventh, and stole second. McGaffigan got tangled up with Chad and couldn't reach Cook's throw across the bag, which continued on into center. Chet flapped his wings and scurried to third, scoring on a single by Meusel.

Sacramento had three on in the second, and an equal number in the third, but not until the sixth did it derive any increment. Eldred opened with a double, and went to third on a passed ball. Wolter walked. Brooks blocked a low pitch with his glove, and the ball bounded down the third base line about ten feet. On picking it up, Brooks was amazed to see Eldred bearing down on him with a full spread of canvas. Brick plainly was the victim of a brain storm. Either that, or an air pocket had suddenly formed under his hat.

TAGS ELDRED.

Anyway, he rushed to certain destruction. Brooks tagged him and deftly stepped to one side to keep from getting run over. Wolter went to second, while this was taking place, and took third on Orr's hit after McGaffigan had popped. Sandow Griggs scored him with a single, after which Cook forced Orr at third. With this small uprising out of its system, the Soviet settled down to its usual business of doing nothing.

After the game, Jim Morley took President Powers and showed him where he had the proposed mesh wire fence staked out. Jim has a series of small stakes in the ground showing where the fence will be if it is built. If he leaves the stakes there long enough they may grow into fence posts, after which it will be a simple matter to weave the mesh wire about them. The score:

SAY JACK USES DOPE IN RING.

The rumor that Dempsey goes into all his fights under the influence of some strong dope still persists, in spite of the fact that he murdered Willard.

The story before the battle was that Dempsey went into a fight so doped that he was practically a wild man during the first round and that the effects of this wore off quickly, leaving a rather tame animal in the ring. Those who gave out this story pointed to the fact that Dempsey either knocked out a man in the first round or not at all.

Now they are saying, "What did we tell you? Didn't Dempsey fight like a demon for one round and then blow up? Didn't he knock Jess into insensibility that first round? But did you notice that after the first round all his kick was gone; that Dempsey could not knock out an insensible man in the next two rounds; that Willard stood on his feet until he dropped from his own weakness and not from a punch of Dempsey's delivered after the first round?"

All that can be said from here is that if Jack Kearns dopes his champ he'd better pass the needle around.

EAST CAPTURES TENNIS HONORS.

West Carried Off its Feet in Final Day's Play.

William T. Tilden, Jr., Defeats Crack Californian.

Final Score of Tournament is Six to Three.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI, July 12.—The eastern tennis team captured the sectional championship from the western aggregation of players when they made a clean sweep of today's matches, annexing both of the singles and the one in the doubles.

William T. Tilden, Jr., of Philadelphia, defeated the former national champion, William M. Johnston of California, 6-4, 0-6, 6-4, 6-0. Vincent Richards, the 16-year-old boy from New Jersey, won from Axel Gravon of California, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, while R. Lindley Murray of Buffalo, and Ichiya Kumagae of Japan were returned the victors over Ralph Burdick and A. L. Green, Jr., both of Chicago, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

The final score of the tournament: East, 6; West, 3.

NIP AND TUCK.

Despite the fact that two of the sets developed into love sets, the match between Tilden and Johnston furnished the best quality of tennis of the tournament. The first set was a nip and tuck affair with Johnston apparently attempting to solve the easterner's net play. Tilden won 6-4. In the second set Johnston evidently had Tilden at his mercy, the latter's terrific service alone standing him in good stead. In both net and back court play Johnston seemed to be his master and won 6-0. In the third set, however, Tilden began an effective cross-court drive and his placements to the line were perfect.

Johnston's play appeared to be slowing up and Tilden took the set 6-4. The final set was a romp for the easterner. The final game in this set brought the crowd to its feet repeatedly, and Tilden took the game, 17 to 15. This likewise gave him the match and as it was the fifth match the easterners had won, it made them the sectional superiors.

Richards had Graven at his mercy in their singles match, the latter at no time being able to withstand the terrific and accurate driving of Richards, who ran off the match in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

In the doubles match, Burdick and Green displayed good tennis but the fast play of Murray and Kumage soon began to tell and the latter team ran out with second, third and fourth sets rather handily.

With the exception of Murray, all of the players in the intersectional tourney left for Chicago tonight to participate in the national clay court championship there.

BATHERS TO PICK FLOWERS AND SWIM.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DEL MONTE, July 11.—Quite a dash of class is going to be injected into the Del Monte girls' swimming championships, which come off here Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week. Te regular routine of line-ups starts and finishes of races will be added to by a number of social features, which promise to add to the pleasure of the contestants as well as the spectators.

On Friday and Saturday the races will be held in the Roman open-air plunge. This is one of the most magnificent and most picturesque bathing places in the whole country. It provides flower gardens in the dressing rooms' courts and here the ten girl swimmers will be invited to pick bouquets of flowers and pin them on their bathing suits. The plunge itself is set out in the open with lawns and beautiful trees and gardens all around. On one side is a solarium and here arrangements have been made to serve tea to the swimmers in between races.

What a novel sight this will be—girls lining up for swimming races with bouquets and then participating in tea parties at the finish of the dashes down the tank!

The races, themselves, promise excitement as Frances Cowells Schroth, who broke two American records last month, will be on the mark in the hopes of going after new records. Robert W. Dodd, president of the Pacific Association of the A.A.U. will personally be on hand to see that the meet is run off in good style. The first two days' events will see the relimary heats splashed in the Roman open-air plunge and then on Sunday the inclosed bath-house at Del Monte Beach. A big crowd will be on hand to witness the finals.

MAC SIGNS PITCHER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 12.—Manager Walter McCredie of the Portland baseball club announced today the release of Pitcher Reppy, whom he signed recently in Los Angeles and signing of "Lefty" Schroeder, local semi-professional pitcher, who was with Battery A, champion A.E.F. team and recently was released from service. Schroeder will be taken to Salt Lake with the team next week.

OVERALL IS HERE.

Orvall Overall, former Coast and Major League pitcher, arrived here yesterday from his home in Visalia. He is here for a week's rest. Overall broke into big league baseball as a member of the Cincinnati club, and is watching with unusual interest the great race being made by the Reds. He says that it makes him feel like jumping into a unie and hurling a few games for Pat Moran. Overall is now part owner of a stage line to Yosemite.

CHICO IN A DRAW.

CINCY TAKES LEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Cincinnati stepped into first place by beating Philadelphia, 7 to 0, while New York was shut out by Pittsburgh. Against Ring's fine pitching only one local player reached second base. Rixey held the visitors until three consecutive singles in the fifth caused his retirement. Smith, who succeeded him, made two wild throws, one of them allowing two runs to score. Score:

TENNIS TOURNEY AT DEL MONTE TODAY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DEL MONTE, July 12.—The one day tennis tournament at Del Monte tomorrow promises to see a lot of activities on the five courts, which were formerly the scenes of the Pacific Coast and California State championships. When the tournament was first announced by Sports' Manager Fred A. Purner, the idea was simply to provide a sort of warm-up tournament for the local racketers. A number of outside players, however, have taken an interest and have signified their intntion of joining in the competition for the Del Monte cup.

Allyn Barker and William Hawks, the well-known Stanford tennis players have written that they will be down to join in the matches against the Pacific Grove, Monterey and Del Monte stars. Ben Nourse and other San Francisco players will motor down and enjoy a day's play on the courts.

With the summer season on there are quite a number of prominent tennis players who are located on the Monterey Peninsula. They will enter. Carl Gardner, the veteran, who has his family at Carmel, has sent word that he will be on hand. He wants to have his fun refereeing rather than getting into the competition.

Th crack players will have to shoulder a handicap in order to give the younger players an opportunity to pull down the cup.

MISS BOYLE WINS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RIVERTON (N. J.) July 12.—Miss Charlotte Boyle, of the New York Women's Swimming Association, national 100-yard swimming champion, won the special 100-yard match race here today in the opening outdoor meet of the Riverton Yacht Club. She defeated Miss Gertrude Artelt of the Meadowbrook Club, by fifteen yards and made the excellent time of 1m. 57 3-5s.

WANTED, MUY PRONTO, A FEW RACKETERS.

Frank Smith, the popular little promoter of amateur tennis affairs, now wants four pretty good tennis experts to fill a vacancy in his team of eight men, which he has lined up to take on several of the various park tennis combinations.

Lots of the players have promised to start something doing in park competition, but have done nothing. So Smith is doing it, and has already lined up a good match with the Echo Park Playground tennis stars. Anyone wishing to connect with a team which will give them plenty of good snappy play and competition see Frank Smith at Tufts-Lyon Company.

KILLED BY BASEBALL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA MARIA, July 12.—William Norwood Johnston, 20, was killed by a blow over the heart with a baseball during a game at Casmalia, Thursday evening. He threw the ball which struck him back to the pitcher and fell dead. Johnston's home was at Roby, Tex.

TIGERS MOVE UP.

The Coast League race is tightening, and next week's series will have an important bearing on the pennant. As a result of yesterday's play the lead of the Angels has been reduced to five and a half games.

NATION CAN'T SHIRK DUTY TO THE WORLD.

NOTED INSTRUCTOR SAYS IN EUROPE A MIDDLE CLASS IS A VITAL NEED.

"European Policies and a Peace Treaty" was the subject of Prof. Edward Krehbiel before the City Club yesterday. The speaker, who is in Los Angeles for the present as an instructor in the summer school of the University of Southern California, has the chair of international politics and modern history at Stanford University.

Prof. Krehbiel declared that while he believes the peace treaty is far from perfect, it should be adopted and the League of Nations should be sustained, as the foundation on which the rehabilitation of Europe can proceed. He declared that war and its results have practically squeezed out the great middle class of Europe, and that they must be restored as a factor of safety in substantial government. With the ratification of the treaty the speaker held optimistic views regarding the gradual restoration of normal conditions in the present distress-ridden countries of Europe, and he urged that the United States meet its full responsibilities in the situation which now confronts it as a leader whose actions will have world-wide consequences.

NEW CHAMP IS ON HIS WAY HERE.

Word was received from Cincinnati yesterday that Jack Dempsey, the new world's heavyweight champion pugilist, had left that city and was on his way to Los Angeles. According to reports, he will be here next Wednesday and enter into the moving-picture line as soon as he can get located.

PECKINPAUGH LEADS BATTERS IN AMERICAN

THORPE MASTER BATSMAN IN NATIONAL; RUTH POUNDS HOMERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, July 12.—Roger Peckinpaugh, New York, who hit safely in twenty-nine consecutive games, including last Wednesday's contest, continues to lead the regulars in batting in the American League, his mark, .382, remaining unchanged from last week, according to averages released today. Joe Jackson of the White Sox, has climbed from seventh to second place with an average of .350. He also holds the total base honors, held last week by Sisler, St. Louis. Jackson's mark is .122, and Sisler's .121.

Peckinpaugh, besides leading the batters, chalked up five more runs to his credit and leads the run getters. He has registered fifty-one times.

Babe Ruth, Boston, bagged two more homers and leads the circuit drive hitters with nine. Ray Chapman, Cleveland, who still is out of the game, has been passed by Vitt, Boston, in sacrifice hits. Vitt has twenty-five to Chapman's twenty-two. The twelve thefts of Johnston, Cleveland, have put him first among the base stealers.

Other leading batters for twenty-five or more games:

Veach, Detroit, .347; Flagstead, Detroit, .339; Cobb, Detroit, .338; Johnston, Cleveland, .326; Sisler, St. Louis, .324; Kinney, Philadelphia, .324; Ruth, Boston, .320; Roth, Boston, .312; Milan, Washington, .308; Rice, Washington, .307; Smith, Cleveland, .305; Bodie, New York, .305.

Jim Thorpe, the versatile Indian athlete, continued to lead the National League hitters with .357. Hy Myers of Brooklyn showed the real class among the batters, however, by climbing from twenty-second place among the regulars last week with a mark of .297 to a tie for third place this week, with an average of .332. Max Flack, Chicago, broke the tie shared with Olson, Brooklyn, last week in number of runs scored and leads with forty-six tallies to his credit. Benny Kauff, New York slugger, took the total base honors from Gavvy Cravath, Philadelphia, but the veteran continued to hold his lead among the home-run hitters. Kauff's total bases number 113, while Gavvy has made nine circuit drives.

Daubert, Cincinnati, continued in front among the sacrifice hitters with twenty, while Bigbee, Pittsburgh, continued to show the way to the base stealers with twenty-one thefts.

Other leading batters for twenty-five or more games:

Young, New York, .332; Williams, Philadelphia, .320; Kauff, New York, .318; Roush, Cincinnati, .315; Wingo, Cincinnati, .311; Holke, Boston, .310; Hornsby, St. Louis, .309; Burns, New York, .309; Meusel, Philadelphia, .309; McHenry, St. Louis, .309.

WILLARD LOST FIGHT IN THE THIRD ROUND.

REFEREE PECORD WILL ADHERE TO HIS DECISION AS AGAINST TIMEKEEPER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) July 12.—Disagreement between Oliver Pecord and W. Warren Barbour, referee and timekeeper, respectively, of the Willard-Dempsey championship bout here July 4, became public today when Pecord announced he had received a letter from Barbour in which Barbour declares the bout ended in the fourth round.

On the day following the bout Pecord announced in his official capacity the affair ended in the third round as the towel was thrown into the ring before the bell sounded for resumption of hostilities in the fourth. According to the Barbour letter the bell rang for the fourth round before the token of defeat appeared on the scene.

Pecord said that in his reply to Barbour he will adhere to his original ruling on the ground that as the referee heard no bell and as neither boxer nor their handlers gave any indication of hearing it the fight technically stopped at the conclusion of the third round. Referee Pecord is receiving letters from all over the country asking him for his opinion as to what round the fight terminated.

WILL WED ENGINEER.

Daughter of Federal Court Clerk Announces Engagement.

At a party given by Miss Ruth Williams, daughter of Charles N. Williams, clerk of the United States District Court, yesterday at the Williams home, 128 West Maple street, Glendale, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Williams to Sergt. William Lorenzo Rifenberick of San Francisco. The groom-to-be is an engineer with the Schell Oil Company. The happy event will be at the Williams home August 27.

During the war, Sergt. Rifenberick was stationed at Langley Field, Va., where he did experimental work and investigation with the National Aeronautical Commission, engineering department. He is a post graduate of Stanford University.

Miss Williams was for some time passport clerk in the office of her father, and is well and favorably known to many people. She resigned her position July 1 to prepare for her approaching nuptials.

POMONA SPORTS SEE BIG BATTLE ROYAL

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, July 12.—One of the best entertainments ever given by the Pomona Valley Athletic Club came off last night at the American Theater before a crowded house. There was action from start to finish. One of the thrilling features of the programme was a "battle royal" which was one of intense interest to the spectators.

Joe Rawland ran into a snag in his bout with the Ontario boy, Cooper. Zampet, of Narod, won an easy victory over Celino of Covina. Mr. Mitkill, of Brea, in the main event showed that he was well trained and had a fighting heart. Jefferies, who defeated him, was a former Pomona boy, and attended the schools here for several years. He gained a hard-earned victory over the Brea boy.

In the wrestling match, Linnis, of Azusa, the challenger for the lightweight wrestling championship of the State, had two ribs broken in his first fall and was unable to continue. Huermerick, the champion, has granted him a return match to be held a month from last night. It is the opinion of many of the fans who saw the match that Linnis will get the championship.

MOTORCYCLIST BEATS SCHERER'S FAST RUN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, July 11.—Erwin G. "Cannonball" Baker of Indianapolis, motorcycle rider, arrived at the Mexican line near Tia Juana tonight at 7:40 p.m., completing a run of 1714 miles from Blaine, Wash., at the Canadian border, in [illegible] hours and forty-seven minutes, beating the record made June [illegible] by "Hap" Scherer by five hours and eleven minutes, according to those who checked his time. When Scherer completed his run for the "three flag" record, it was announced that he had come through without taking any sleep on the way. [illegible] it was announced, stopped [illegible] hours at Bakersfield, while engine trouble was eradicated from his motorcycle. He left Blaine at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

ALL FROM "OL' VIRGINNY."

"Virginia hath her colonels, no less renowned than those of Kentucky, and with 2000 of your Virginians in Los Angeles it is time you were starting to hold annual celebrations to boast of your grand old State's war record," said H. C. Parsons, secretary of the Federated State societies, speaking to 100 members of the Virginia Society of Los Angeles, who, last night held their first picnic in Sycamore Grove. The picnickers met at the grove early in the afternoon, talked and sang together until evening and then, as the magic of starlight and the imaginations of the celebrants converted the grounds into "the green fields of Virginia," an old-fashioned southern supper was served beneath the sycamores. Among the speakers were Mrs. Dorothy Romer, secretary of the society; J. W. Harshberger, vice-president; Mrs. Mamie Steele, treasurer, and Thomas Ball.

Among other interesting gatherings at Sycamore Grove yesterday was the Sunday-school picnic of the Latter Day Saints of Los Angeles, at which nearly 200 happy children, under the charge of L. Romney, superintendent of the school, were present, spending the day feasting and drinking, playing games and wading in the park pool and the cool streams of the arroyo. Other Sunday-schools celebrating were those of the East Los Angeles Congregational Church and the Newman Methodist Church. The Ancona Club also held its annual picnic, nearly 100 members being present. Among the speakers discussing the poultry situation were F. D. Mills, president, and W. H. Hocking, secretary of the club; A. A. Peters, in charge of government poultry extension work on the Pacific Coast, Rev. Thomas Picton and Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison.

the use of substitutes as required by the United States Food Conservation laws. However, the ban has been lifted, and bakery products are again manufactured without restriction. Conditions, therefore, have again become normal."

SEEKS MOTHERS OF SONS IN SIBERIA.

Mrs. William M. Thomas, 1729 Sunset boulevard, who has a son in the Twenty-seventh Infantry in Siberia, has started to organize an association of mothers who have sons in service in Siberia. She believes that several hundred men from Los Angeles and vicinity are in that far-off land.

Mrs. Thomas has been unable to correspond regularly with her son or to keep informed as to his whereabouts. The last letter she received from him was last March and was written from Khaborbsk, a town about 470 miles from Vladivostok. Mrs. Thomas's telephone number is Wilshire 3727 and she would like to hear from other mothers of sons with the United States forces in Siberia.

RESENTED ORDERS.

Wife Says Mate was Incorrigible and Gets a Divorce.

Mrs. Laura A. McIntyre was naturally indignant when, as she claimed, her husband, George Washington McIntyre, came home at 2:30 one morning considerable the worse for wear. She said he remonstrated with him and his reply was:

"I am not going to have any woman tell me what time to get in." It was testified in Mrs. McIntyre's divorce suit before Judge Willis yesterday that he tried to eject his wife and her mother from the house. Mrs. McIntyre was granted the decree.

LITTLE TOO HASTY?

Man Held for Marrying at Santa Ana Without a Divorce.

Ernest Madden Myers, accused of bigamy, was held to answer yesterday by Justice Brown. Simultaneous with the hearing yesterday in justice court, Samuel Miller, attorney for Rose Shannon Lockwood-Myers, wife No. 2, filed a suit to have her marriage annulled.

It was alleged that Myers married Rose Shannon Lockwood at Santa Ana on March 1, this year, while he was still the legal husband of Pearl Myers of Nashville, Tenn. He claims he did not understand the Tennessee laws regarding an interlocutory decree. The case was prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney Hill.

"NOT GUILTY" TO BE NEW'S PLEA.

Indictment Returned, Defense Changes Plans.

Sudden Shift of Tactics by District Attorney.

Hearing Prevented, State's Case Withheld.

Harry S. New will enter a plea of not guilty to the charge of murdering his sweetheart, Freda Lesser, when he is arraigned before Judge Crail in Department Seventeen on Tuesday morning. This announcement was made yesterday by John L. Richardson, New's attorney, following a sudden shift of tactics by the District Attorney's office, when a hastily convened grand jury returned an indictment charging New with the crime.

This latest development changed the complexion of the case in that it will eliminate the preliminary hearing originally scheduled for tomorrow morning before Justice Hinshaw, and will have the effect of withholding the prosecution's side until New is placed on trial.

"It is to be regretted that we were not allowed the opportunity of questioning the State's witnesses. Of course, we have nothing to hide, and we were looking forward to the preliminary with the hope of bringing out the material facts upon which the prosecution bases its charge of murder. In view of this change, we will have to alter our plans somewhat. New, however, will plead not guilty, providing the indictment is presented in proper form," Mr. Richardson said.

CHANGE PLAN, NOT DEFENSE.

From the point of view of the defense, the voting of the indictment will have the effect of changing the plan of presentation of the action rather than the defense itself, Mr. Richardson said. The vital points of the defense itself will not be changed in the least, he added.

This development also disclosed the possibility that the grand jury's indictment may be attacked by the defense attorney, in the event that its form or subject matter is not in accordance with the law and the facts in the case. The attack is possible on the grounds that the indictment is insufficient, is in a wrong form or does not constitute a proper indictment of Harry New. The copy of the indictment will not be served upon New until he is brought before the judge for arraignment.

Miss Hazel Pritchard, part owner of the Topanga Camp and an employee in Mr. Richardson's office, whose statement that she danced with New at the camp about 10 o'clock on the night of the tragedy has added new possibilities to the important details of the case, was so unnerved by the strain brought about by the latest developments that she was unable to be at her office yesterday. She was ill at home, according to the statement of Mr. Richardson. Miss Pritchard's statement was corroborated by Miller A. Cooper, manager of the camp.

"We are investigating every angle of the case, but cannot, at this time, disclose what the investigations are developing," Attorney Richardson said yesterday. "The true story of the fateful night and all the events prior and subsequent to the death of the young woman will be brought out at the trial, I'm sure," he said.

The county grand jury was convened upon call of Dist.-Atty. Woolwine. The indictment came as a surprise to many concerned in the case. It will eliminate the preliminary hearing, which was to have been heard by Justice Hinshaw in Judge Wood's court Monday morning.

The jury was in session but a short time. The only witnesses were Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, who performed an autopsy upon the body of Miss Lesser; Detectives Herman Cline and D. A. Davidson, who have been gathering information for the prosecution, and Hannah Minnis.

The indictment was returned before Judge Willis, sitting as presiding judge, and the case was transferred to Department Seventeen upon the request of Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes, who will represent the prosecution. New will probably be arraigned in the Superior Court before Judge Crail Tuesday morning. He may enter a plea of guilty or not guilty at that time, or may have from two to five days thereafter to enter his plea.

One feature of the indictment is that by eliminating the preliminary hearing in justice court, the prosecution can bring the case directly to trial, without disclosing in the lower court along what lines the State will proceed. Before the indictment was returned, John L. Richardson, attorney for New, had announced that he would put up no defense in the preliminary, but would content himself with a cross-examination of the State's witnesses.

ROSS BALLOON SCHOOL OFFERS BIG CHANCES.

ARMY INSTITUTION SEEKS AMBITIOUS YOUNG MEN IN MANY LINES.

Excellent opportunity for ambitious young men to become proficient in the skilled mechanical arts is offered with the opening of the summer term at the Arcadia Balloon School, Ross Field, according to announcement made yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce.

Although there has been no regular summer vacation, a reorganization of classes is now taking place, to better fit peace-time needs, and recruits entering now will have the advantage of commencing their studies at the beginning of the new semester.

The courses offered in addition to the regular military training include mechanical drawing, mathematics, book-keeping, auto ignition and mechanics, typewriting, radio telegraphy, history and Spanish.

The Adjutant-General of the United States, in a telegram just received by army officials at Arcadia, makes the following appeal to young men contemplating entering the school: "It is not the old peace-time army, not the old type of military service to which we are now seeking to enlist men. The army needs the highest type of men which can be obtained and has set out to make service in its ranks beneficial to mental and moral as well as to physical development in a degree worthy to attract ambitious and capable men. Young men who enter it will encounter opportunity for double service—to country and to self."

Owing to the large number of men who were discharged from the school following the cessation of hostilities, there are many openings for young men who will qualify in the mechanical arts included in the new curriculum. The recruit of today has a better opportunity for development than the war programme offered, as he may name his own course of study, and by the time his enlistment expires is skilled in his chosen employment.

PHONE STRIKE'S END EXPECTED IN AUGUST.

LOCAL MEDIATOR AND MEMBER OF PRESIDENT'S BOARD BACK FROM PARLEY.

Final settlement of the telephone and electrical workers' strike on the Pacific Coast may be delayed until the first weeks in August, it was indicated here yesterday, when conditions and demands of both sides in the controversy were outlined by Capt. Charles T. Connell, Federal mediator for this district.

Accompanied by E. B. Marsh, member of the President's mediation commission and personal representative of Secretary of Labor Wilson, Capt. Connell returned from San Francisco, where he and Mr. Marsh conferred with union and telephone company officials, to obtain information to be incorporated into a report to the Secretary of Labor.. The report is now in Washington, but the Department of Labor in all probability will not be asked to take any part in the settlement, in view of the position taken by Postmaster-General Burleson, who holds that the Wire Control Board is the proper body to handle the situation, Capt. Connell intimated.

The labor leaders who took part in the San Francisco conference are said to have agreed to submit their case to arbitration by any tribunal appointed by President Wilson or the Secretary of Labor, but refused to consider arbitration to be handled by the Wire Control Board. The Postmaster-General contends, it is said, that to place the case into the hands of any other body would be an admission that the Wire Control Board is incapable of handling a situation that it naturally should control.

With the signing last Friday by the President of the bill turning the wires back to private ownership, and a deadlock on the question of arbitration, it is considered unlikely that differences can be settled before the lines go to their owners August 1, Capt. Connell indicated.

NEW PROPRIETOR OF EL SEGUNDO PAPER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL SEGUNDO, July 12.—Earl T. Lyon, a newspaperman of many years' experience, has purchased the El Segundo Herald, a weekly newspaper. The Herald was established by B. M. Knutson nine years ago, but for the last year has been edited by Mrs. Knutson after the tragic death of her husband on the desert. Mr. Lyon has been connected with this paper for a short time, and announces that he will make many improvements. He promises to make his paper one of the "live ones" of the county. The first issue of the paper under the new ownership appeared yesterday. Mr. Lyon is both the editor and manager of the paper.

BALBOA CARNIVAL.

Saturday's Programme Pleases Crowds—Other Newsy Notes.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BALBOA BEACH, July 12.—"The Carnival of Flowers," featuring flower dancing, Orange Ballet, and professional Spanish, Hawaiian, and Oriental dances attracted large crowds to Bolboa this evening. An especially large delegation was present from Riverside, which furnishes many summer residents for East Newport and Balboa. It was an unique and gorgeous festival, with unusual color schemes, stringed orchestra music, and dancing in costume in street and pavilion. There was a pageant pantomine by the Misses Wilson, professional dancing by Lazelle, the Orpheum vampire, songs by Adelle Maxie, Ernestine Ellis, and Marjorie Langford, dance of the Poppy by Beatrice Landenberger and Balboa summer girls, Spanish Hesitation by Frances Parks and Marjorie Langford, novelty contortion act by Opal Gilmore Parks, Orange Ballet by the Misses Dorothy Clark, Frances Parks, Bonita Smith, Beatrice Landenberger, Marjorie Wayland, Dulcie Abbott and chorus, Spanish dances by entire company, and novelty sport races on the ocean front.

Los Angeles Woman to Christen Boat Named for Husband.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has telegraphed Mrs. Bessie Trever, resident of Los Angeles and San Diego, who is stopping at the Redwood Apartments here for the summer, that the Torpedo Boat Destroyer No. 339, being built at Mare Island, will be named in honor of her late husband, Lieutenant-Commander George A. Trever. Mrs. Trever was also asked to serve as sponsor to christen the new ship.

Lieutenant-Commander Trever lost his life aboard the Submarine 0-5 last October. He was well-known in California and he and his wife were highly popular with the Southern California Social set. Mrs. Trever has replied to Secretary Daniels' message by acceptance of the honor bestowed upon her late husband and herself.

"BAYER CROSS" ON GENUINE ASPIRIN

BAYER

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" to be genuine must be marked with the safety "Bayer Cross." Always buy an unbroken Bayer package which contains proper directions to safely relieve Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Colds and pain. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents at drug stores—larger packages also. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Reduce Your Weight
A Simple Home Method.

If you would like to lose, weekly, from one to four pounds of burdensome fat, while eating and drinking all you need, also enjoying life far better than at present, just follow this advice:

Take seven deep breaths in the open air each morning and evening; after each meal take a little oil of korein daily; eat as much as you need and follow other simple directions that come.

Obtain a small box of oil of korein capsules at the druggist's.

Men and women who were waddling around with heavy sluggish bodies have, in many cases reported a gradual, agreeable reduction of thirty to seventy-five pounds, with wonderful benefit to health and figure.

This very summer is the time to become slim easily.

WHY SUFFER WITH FITS OR EPILEPSY?

If the following statement does not convince you, then write for more. We have the evidence that WILL convince the most skeptical. Our treatment for epilepsy has been in use for 45 years, and our endorsements date back to 1875.

Mrs. W. Lipp, 131 E. Elmyra St., Los Angeles, Cal., writes:

"My husband has never had a seizure that he lost consciousness since beginning your treatment, which was one year ago last June. We consider his improvement quite remarkable, inasmuch as he has been in two automobile accidents and had other extremely trying experiences in the last few months, but no return of the fits. We can highly recommend the treatment to anyone suffering with epilepsy."

$75,000 WORTH of SHOES

Our shoe stock on the floor or in city warehouses is right now the largest in our history. These were bought months ago when prices were the lowest. Every one knows that during the last 60 days shoe prices have been skyrocketing as never before and are now higher than they have ever been. We are going to give you the benefit of our foresight in early buying. We are going to save you from one to two dollars per pair on every pair you buy from us. We are ready to prove to you that this is true. For your purse's sake come in and investigate.

OUR GREAT SHOE BUSINESS

The volume of our shoe business is the wonder of the Coast. Here are the reasons for our success: We buy only GOOD shoes and guarantee every pair we sell; we have studied the demands carefully and carry every shoe for which there is a demand; we sell our shoes on a very small margin of profit and for cash—we sell on a basis of what they COST and not on what we MIGHT GET for them. To illustrate: We could boost prices on our $75,000 stock of shoes, which was bought before the big advances, and still be in line, but we are not going to do it. Our customers are going to reap the saving. These are the secrets of our success.

FLIES TO TENNIS MATCH.

Mrs. Walter A. Ellis, a prominent Los Angeles tennis player, made use of the Catalina Air Line yesterday in a unique and businesslike manner when she planked down her $25 for a ride across the channel on the 1:30 plane. Mrs. Ellis was scheduled to take part in an invitation tennis tournament on the courts at Catalina yesterday and today, but did not wish to leave her work in the Trust Department of the Security Trust and Savings Bank to catch the morning boat.

When she heard the announcement of the opening of the regular air passenger service to Catalina, Mrs. Ellis bought a ticket for the 1:30 flight, which would enable her to complete her morning's work at the bank and still get over to the island at practically the same time as the other tennis players, who left Los Angeles at 9:30 a.m.

With Miss Edna Purviance, who christened the Seagull hydroplane as the first passenger, the seaplane passenger service of the Sid Chaplin Aircraft Corporation between San Pedro and Catalina was inaugurated yesterday. The Seagull made its initial flight at 7:05 a.m., returning for the christening and second flight two hours later. With Miss Purviance were Emery Rogers, general manager, and A. C. Burns, pilot.

Hotel Man Said to Be After Block on Ocean Front.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AVALON, July 12.—Negotiations are said to be pending between R. J. Cope, owner of the Hotel Central property, and the Santa Catalina Island Company, for the purchase by the former of the entire block of stores between Metropole and Sumner avenues. It is understood that Mr. Cope expects to purchase the remainder of the property, including the Grill Cafe, Hevren & Richardson's store, the Arlington, the Bristol Cafe and Heywood's Drygoods store.

Another important transaction that may soon be closed, is the sale of a sixty-five-foot frontage between Sumner and Catalina avenues. H. D. MacRoe is said to be the prospective purchaser.

If these deals are completed the entire property along the water front for three blocks will have been disposed of since the reorganization of the Santa-Catalina Island Company, four months ago. It is said that plans are already under way by Boos Bros., for the construction of a modern hotel on the former site of the Metropole Hotel as soon as the summer season closes. Boss Bros., purchased the entire frontage between Whittley and Metropole avenues some two months ago.

The new $7000 home recently built for E. H. Seaver near the new residence built for Mr. William Wrighley, Jr., has been purchased by George O. Harrison of Uplands.

HELPED SINK "SUB."

Dr. Paulson, Back from Abroad, Saw Some Stirring Service.

Detained in Europe to help render medical services to the French civilian population, following the armistice, Dr. A. M. Paulson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Paulson of 1242 Crown avenue, this city, passed through the city yesterday on the way to the Presidio, where he will be mustered out of service as a captain in the Medical Corps.

Dr. Paulson volunteered as a member of Base Hospital Unit No. 35 in April, 1917, and went abroad a junior lieutenant after three months at Camp Kearny. His unit was on board the ship which sunk one of the first U-boats sunk by United States gunfire. He was in active medical service at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and in the Argonne, and then at the Base Hospital at Mons.

PLAN NEW HOTEL.

Lindsay Men Organize Company to Build Fine Hostelry.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LINDSAY, July 12.—Preliminary organization has been completed of a corporation capitalized at $250,000 which plans to build a hotel intended to be one of the finest in the San Joaquin Valley. The committee includes E. B. Caldwell, C. K. Towt, A. M. Robertson, A. J. Howe, G. V. Reed, G. H. Wadell and King C. Gillette. The stock committee includes A. C. Tienken, E. G. Natzke, W. B. Kiggens, R. H. Shoemaker, Gene Barieu and Chester Dowell.

King C. Gillette, who has extensive property interests in this district will be a heavy stockholder in the new enterprise. A site is under option, and the plans prepared call for a hotel of 138 guest rooms.

PLAN NEW GARAGE.

W. J. Dodd, architect, and William Richards, engineer, have prepared plans for a new garage building to be erected for the Ponet Company at the southeast corner of Twelfth and Hope streets. It will be occupied by the Creverolet Motor Car Company. The building will be a four-story class "A" structure, 100 by 155 feet, constructed of reinforced concrete.

PEAK SCALERS ON A HIGH SIERRAS HIKE.

MANY ANGELENOS START ON FASCINATING JOURNEY INTO THE WILDS.

With an enthusiasm rivalled only by Alpine climbers, the members of the southern section of the Sierra Club of California have started on their journey into the wildest haunts of the High Sierras, the lofty peaks of which many of the members are determined to scale, if at all scaleable. Special visits will be made to Mts. Whitney, Lyell, Dana, Ritter, and Hoffman. One detachment left early in the week and the other band of "mountaineers" departed Friday night on their annual trip headed by George R. Bunn. The outing will take four weeks and it is estimated that 300 miles of road and trail-traveling will be done. A party is being organized also to "explore" the Yosemite Valley. On the first of August, Frederick Thompson will start with a party that will skirt Death Valley and tramp through the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Those who have gone from Los Angeles and environs are: Dr. W. E. Allen, Kasson Avery, Miss Fannie Barlow, James S. Bennett, Charles Benson, Mrs. Charles Llyellyn Bixby, Miss Alice Bulpin, Miss Cora G. Burwell, Miss Edna A. Chess, Miss Ruth Crouch, Ernest Dawson, John P. Dexter, Miss Lydia Edwards, Mrs. Rhoda W. Edwards, Miss Rhodo Edwards, Miss Elda M. Edwards, J. S. Kahler, Miss Evylin Kennedy, Miss Fannie Kerns, H. Knuth, Dr. Mary K. Kraft, Miss Lois A. Lockwood, Miss Irene G. Martin, D. M. Ogren.

The officers of the southern section of the Sierra Club are Phil S. Bernays, chairman; Charles J. Fox, secretary; Miss Maybele McCalla, assistant secretary, and Benjamin T. Fenton, treasurer.

GOVERNMENT STATION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, July 12.—The Southern Pacific Railroad has granted a lease to the United States Fish and Game Commission for a new biological station on the bluff at Point Fermin near the breakwater. The plot is located at the foot of Thirty-second and Bluff place. This location will give access to salt water by using a small pump. A ten years' lease on the property has been secured.

Chateau Thierry lies between Wardlow Road and Downey Boulevard, with a mile of frontage on Long Beach Boulevard, the opposite side of which is lined with beautiful homes.

It is the first Long Beach subdivision with large lots plus adequate building restrictions.

Most of the lots are 70x180 feet, giving plenty of room for artistic planning and architectural development.

Building restrictions, $5000 and $7000.

The improvements will be in full keeping with the high character of the subdivision. Work on them has already begun.

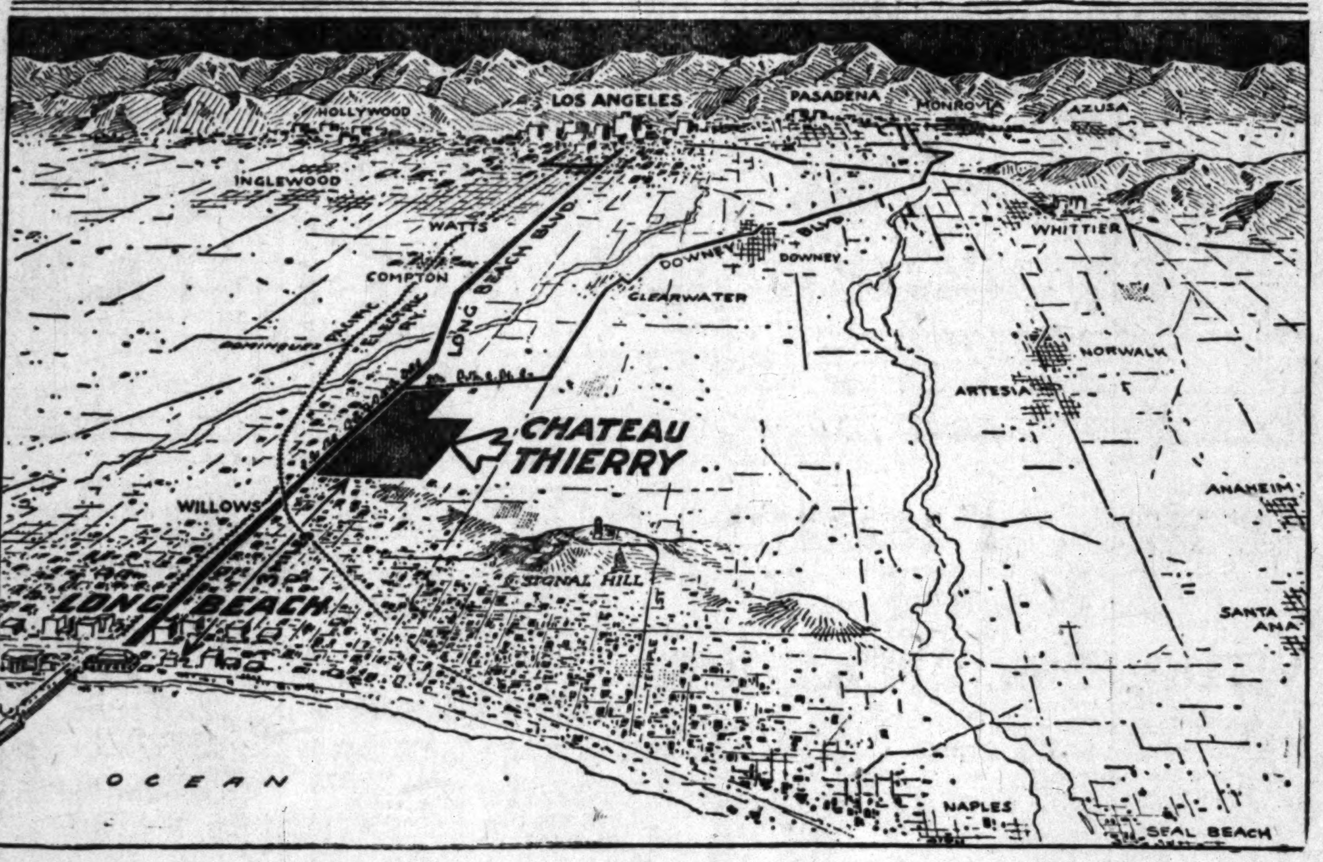
More than twenty-five handsome residences are already contracted for, in advance of the opening of the tract.

The best and most rapid growth of Long Beach is directly toward Chateau Thierry. This section is in fact the only high-class residence outlet.

It is our sincere belief that in Chateau Thierry is presented the best and most profitable home-building and investment opportunity to be had in this land and day of great opportunities.

Chateau Thiery is passed daily by thousands of automobiles—literally thousands.

OPENING PRICES ON APPLICATION



Long Beach is the most rapidly growing city of its class in the United States.

It grew from approximately 500 population in 1890—17,809 in 1910—to 55,000 (estimated) in 1919.

The growth has extended from the ocean front in every landward direction until the Chateau Thierry subdivision is the only available for high-class building sites with adequate restrictions.

That the substantial growth of Long Beach is not a matter of population alone is shown by its banking statistics. The resources of the seven banks have grown from $7,576,815 in 1912 to $21,415,962 in May, 1919; deposits from $5,885,982 in March, 1912, to $18,791,723 in May, 1919. In 1915, the first year of the Long Beach clearing house, the clearings totaled $26,418,091; in 1918 they were $51,888,423; they nearly doubled in three years!

There is a demand for eligible sites and high-class building restrictions in Long Beach that only Chateau Thierry subdivision can supply.

Long Beach boulevard is the main traveled thoroughfare between Long Beach and Los Angeles. Literally thousands of automobiles pass it daily. Chateau Thierry contributes its most sightly mile of frontage.

Why "Chateau Thierry" Tract?

Because it is an honorable name.

Because "Chateau Thierry" gave new life and hope to embattled peoples fighting for life and liberty with their backs to the wall.

Because it stands for American valor.

Because it commemorates a day and deed immortal in the annals of brave men.

Because it represents Americanism — 100 per cent. plus.

We shall endeavor to make our "Chateau Thierry" worthy of its name in these piping days of peace and prosperity.

GIVES REASONS FOR CONFIDENCE

Sherman Woman Says Tanlac Overcame Trouble.

"I have more confidence in Tanlac than any medicine I have ever seen, and I'll tell you the reason why," said Mrs. Mary A. Bi… who lives at 227 Palm street, Sher… man, Cal., a few days ago.

"I suffered terribly from indi… tion for about five years," she con… tinued, "and Tanlac is the only thing that has ever given me any relief. I lost fifteen pounds in weight, and finally got so weak and run-down that I was hardly able to get about at all.

"Then I commenced taking Tanlac, and the very first bottle I took made a big change in my condition and I just continued to improve until all my troubles had been com… pletely overcome. A $1,500,000 refinery, with complete finishing and lubricant-making apparatus, has been planned to be built at Electra, which place is expected to be chosen as the site because of proximity to the northwestern extension of Burkburnett, which is now coming to the front.

Of the casinghead gasoline plants planned for Burkburnett, one to be erected by the Charles F. Noble Oil and Gas Company, of Oklahoma, will be one of the largest in the world. Two units with a daily capacity of 3500 gallons of gasoline are already in operation, and a third will be at work this week or next. Others will be added until there is a total of nineteen compressors, twelve vacuum pumps, 200,000 feet of six-inch line gathering gas from neighboring wells, and a total capacity of 30,000 gallons of gasoline daily. A blending plant will also be erected. Casinghead gas of this district is estimated to carry four and a half gallons per 1000 cubic feet.

PRODUCTION IN NORTH.

Wichita Falls' growth is directly due to oil. This city may justly be termed the oil metropolis of Northern Texas. It is the seat of Wilbarger county within which the drilling wells, rigs up and well sites selected at number close to 800. The adjoining counties to the south, east and west in Texas are all oil or prospective oil-bearing, and the scene of drilling operations, and just across the Red River in Oklahoma active prospecting is under way.

While the Burkburnett field, eighteen miles north of Wichita Falls, is by far the greatest producing district in the Wichita Falls region, it is not the only one, nor was it the first. For the past ten years oil has been produced near here. At Sunshine, Clara, Iowa Park, and Electra, west of Wichita Falls, and at Henrietta, on the east, there are hosts of shallow wells ranging from 270 to 800 feet in depth, and many of these have been producing eight or ten years. Deep test work is to be done shortly.

INSPECT POWER PLANTS.

The new members of the City Council were guests of the Board of Public Service Commissioners and Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood yesterday on an inspection trip to Power Plant No. 1, in the San Francisquito Canyon, and the site of Power Plant No. 2, where construction work is now in progress. The purpose of the visit is to familiarize the new Councilmen with the big work in progress and the general scope of the plans for power development along the Los Angeles Aqueduct.

Pullman Oil & Refining Company

Of El Paso, Texas

Production---Refining---Distribution

Capitalization $2,500,000

Par Value $1.00 Fully Paid Non-Assessable

Organization

This company is organized in a big way that it may accomplish big things. It will engage in the three main branches of the oil business: Production, Refining and Distribution, for the reason that it is found that the really successful and permanently established oil companies are organized on such a basis. Each branch of the oil business is interdependent on the other, and to insure safety in operation and the maximum returns to the stockholders it is necessary that a truly permanent company should be strong financially, and should handle oil from production to the user. In this company your money participates in a sound business enterprise offering the greatest possibilities for tremendous returns both in the rapidly increasing value of your stock and through large cash dividends resulting from sane and extensive operations.

Capitalization

The capitalization of the company is $2,500,000 divided into as many number of shares at a par value of $1.00 each, fully paid and non-assessable. 250,000 of these shares are now outstanding; that is, that number are in the hands of stockholders making this a live, going organization. A further issue of 1,000,000 shares is now being offered, through a strong, quick selling advertising campaign, to the people of the United States from coast to coast. The remaining stock will be held as treasury stock, not subject to dividends, while so held, and to be disposed of at some future date as may be to the advantage of our stockholders.

Holdings

The present holdings of this company cover the oil and mineral leases (regular commercial leases) on 427 acres of land in eleven different tracts, nine of which are located in the Duke and Desdemona oil fields (Eastland, Comanche and Erath counties), one in Coleman county, and the remaining one in Fisher county just north of Sweetwater. The Duke, Desdemona, Ranger field is the great gusher oil field of this country and amazingly productive wells are developed there. We will constantly acquire new leases in line with big production. The present value of such leases as we now hold is conservatively estimated at $150,000.

IN THE HEART OF PRODUCTION

Officers

Francis W. Glover, President.	John Pullman, Secretary-Treasurer.	P. L. Harms, Trustee.	Chester M. Meares, Trustee.
H. Newth, General Manager.	Sewell M. Jones, Sales Manager.	T. C. Manning, Field Superintendent.	Goldstein & Miller, Attorneys.

Ten Wells

The immediate drilling program of the company calls for the drilling of ten wells. Well No. 1 IS NOW DRILLING at 1,000 feet or better. It is located within some 500 yards of the following worth-while wells: Echols, Katy May, Royal-Duke, Peerless and the Magnolia Petroleum Company's C. T. Terrell. The Terrell well is said to produce 8,000 barrels of oil a day, a daily cash productive value of $18,000 at $2.25 per barrel. The Echols is credited as a close second at 7,000 barrels. Well No. 2, with derrick finished, is located in northwest Erath County close to the Phoenix No. 1, and Comanche Chief. No. 3, with derrick building, is situated just north of the town of Desdemona, between the Davis and Morehead wells. Well No. 1 should be in by August 1st, and oil men of that district predict that its location warrants us in expecting the big well of the field with as high a production as 10,000 barrels. The balance of the ten wells are to be drilled on locations in proven territory where development indicates the likelihood of gusher production.

Refining

The Refinery affords the means of extracting the by-products of crude oil—gasoline, blending stock, kerosene, fuel oil, etc. This company will build a thoroughly up to date refinery of a daily capacity of 3,000 barrels. This refinery will be located in the heart of the field in which we are developing production, and we will construct, own, and operate our own pipe lines, connecting up such production with the refinery. On the same site we are to build a tank storage farm with a capacity for 100,000 barrels of crude oil for the needs of the refinery and for temporary storage of the excess of our production over refinery needs, such as, at times, may be diverted from commercial pipe lines to find the most profitable market. A well built and carefully managed refinery, with a daily capacity of 3,000 barrels, earns a net profit of from $5,000 to $6,000 a day.

Distribution

This company will undertake to build up and maintain a system of distribution fully adequate to insure a constant and profitable market for its products. The margin between the wholesale figures paid for refined products and the retail prices is so large that big profits are to be made through a well organized and closely directed retail distributing system.

Profits

Profits in all branches of the oil business are enormous. Production, when gone after by a company big enough to play averages, offers dividends paying earnings which make a good mine look like a peanut stand. A deep well, in territory where we are operating, drilled at an expense of $50,000 can produce oil to a value of millions of dollars in a single year. The death rate among would-be producing companies is high; first for the reason that drilling operations are not confined to proven fields, and, secondly because those companies are not large enough to play averages. They have a capitalization which warrants the drilling of one or two deep wells only, and even in proven territory dry holes persist in coming with discouraging regularity.

Our immediate drilling program calling for ten deep wells, in proven gusher territory, assures the success of our production through the law of averages. This development may be successful to the extent of getting a combined settled production of as high as 15,000 barrels, 20,000 barrels, or even 25,000 barrels, a day; but if this combined production should be as low as 5000 barrels we would through production alone have a property worth six times our standing capital and capable of paying enormous dividends on the same.

Production profits combined with those of refining and distribution will make this a company of huge earning capacity; a company which appeals equally to the large and small investor in that the maximum safety afforded in no way interferes with tremendous profits to be made both through rapid increase in value of your stock and in dividend earnings.

Conclusion

The Pullman Oil and Refining Company has been presented to you as an active, going organization, with some 2000 stockholders; having choice holdings in the North Central Texas gusher oil fields, and managed by men of integrity, vision, and ability. Facts have been presented to you and no over-colored or exaggerated conclusions have been drawn. We are building up a big, live, independent oil company which will make its stockholders the fortunate people of whatever community they may live in throughout the United States. The desire for the comfort and luxury that riches insure dwells in every normal human breast, but it is only those men who have the foresight and business acumen to recognize and embrace a good business proposition, in its early stages, who really acquire, through their own keenness, the competency which affords luxury. It is up to you. Standard Oil is a good buy today for a six per cent. to eight per cent. return. It was better when in the process of organization. There are thousands of good business men, all over the United States, who appreciate the sound business proposition we are offering and their orders for stock are being sent promptly. The question for you to decide is whether or not you will be one of them. There is no limit to the amount of money this company may make, but there is a very definite limit to the amount of stock offered for sale. So we again say that it is up to you. Subscriptions are now being received from all parts of the country; send yours today.

OIL INVESTORS READ

Drilling for oil on unproven acreage is "Gambling," you say? Yes, in the sense that all life is a gamble. Somebody has to open up new oil pools, and those who have the cash and courage to do it become the "oil millionaires" you read about.

The Burkburnett Oil Pool made thousands rich. $100 invested made $15,000. Here's your chance to get in on a new Burkburnett Oil Pool. We are drilling now on 600-acre Texas lease east of Burkburnett on advice of two of America's best geologists. Surface indications look better than Burkburnett did. We don't want the money of the weak or those unwilling to take a chance, but need a few people with Red Blood and Backbone to join us and help finish our well. We guarantee a square deal and big profits if we hit oil. Send no money, but tear this ad. out and mail with name and address for free information, including picture of our well, map and reports of geologists. Do it right now before you forget.

HENRY M. ROBINSON HERE.

Henry M. Robinson, the prominent Pasadena attorney who gave up his extensive business interests to accept the war-time position of director of exports of the United States Shipping Board, has returned to his home at 195 South Grand avenue, Pasadena, from Europe, for a brief visit. He plans to leave on Wednesday for Washington. During his present brief stay Mr. Robinson is attending to personal business matters.

Before tendering his services to the government, Mr. Robinson was active as a director of the Union Oil Company, the Southern California Edison Company, Merchants National Bank, and other corporations. Previous to his joining the Shipping Board in September, 1918, Mr. Robinson assisted the National Council of Defense, which sought his judgment on business and financial matters. As director of exports of the Shipping Board, Mr. Robinson wielded immense power in the matter of regulating shipments abroad during the war. With the lifting of the German blockade the Shipping Board will be confronted with the problem of allocating American-built vessels to carry needed products to Germany, and it is expected that Mr. Robinson will be active in this phase of the work of the Shipping Board.

As Pasadena's most celebrated "dollar-a-year" man, Mr. Robinson was in charge of American shipping affairs in Europe after the armistice.

When the armistice was signed and hostilities ended, the problems of shipping to get the soldiers home and also to continue shipment of food and supplies to Europe were big ones and Chairman Hurley and Mr. Robinson of the Shipping Board went abroad to direct its solution. When Chairman Hurley, in a few weeks returned to the United States, Mr. Robinson remained as the supreme authority over there on shipping matters. He also served as America's representative, in association with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, on the inter-Allied conference of labor questions.

Mr. Robinson came to this city yesterday to look after personal business matters that had been demanding attention for some time. In private life he is interested in some of the largest corporate undertakings in the West.

Mr. Robinson stopped in San Francisco several days on his way home from Washington. He returned from Europe several weeks ago.

VETERAN METHODIST TREASURER EXPIRES.

DEATH CALLS JOHN D. BURCH, CHURCH WORKER HERE FOR TWO SCORE YEARS.

John D. Burch, for the past twenty-five years treasurer of the First Methodist Church, died yesterday afternoon at the Methodist Hospital, after an illness of nearly six months. Mr. Burch was 78 years old, and came here from Canada forty-three years ago. He was a successful merchant, retiring to take up his work as treasurer of the church in the welfare of which he he had always been deeply interested, as was also his wife. Mrs. Burch organized twenty-five years ago the first "We Boys" Sunday school class at the First Methodist Church, a class that is still in existence and which has been duplicated in a number of other Methodist churches throughout the country. She died eight years ago, since which time Mr. Burch has made his home at 128 South Serrano street, with his father-in-law, Charles D. Todd.

Dr. Charles E. Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who will conduct the funeral services there at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, said last night of Mr. Burch: "He was a splendid Christian man, charming in manner, and upright in all his dealings. He was enthusiastic over Southern California, where he had made his home the greater part of his life."

Mr. Burch leaves no children. He was an uncle of Mrs. Fred L. Baker and Mrs. Warren Kennedy.

This Will Remove Hair or Fuzzy Growths

(Toilet Tips)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone.

PRESIDENT EMERITUS IS GUEST OF HONOR.

U. OF C. ALUMNI OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ARE HOSTS AT DINNER-DANCE.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, was the honor guest at a cabaret dinner and concert last evening at the Normal School, given by the U. of C. alumni of Southern California. The dinner was served on the lawn in front of Millspaugh Hall and was attended by several hundred members of the alumni.

In addition to Dr. Wheeler, the guests of the evening included the regents, Dean and Mrs. Monroe E. Deutsch, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Moore and Dr. Millspaugh.

During the dinner selections were sung by the Orpheum Four; Miss Ruth Markell sang a selection from an opera composed by L. W. Curtis; there were selections by an orchestra; Miss Valeska Foss rendered a Spanish dance, and the assemblage sang a number of college songs under the leadership of Mrs. Randolph Hill.

Following the dinner, Gurney Newlin, toastmaster, made a short address and introduced Dr. Deutsch, president of the summer session which is now being conducted at the Normal School under the auspices of the extension department of the University of California. Dr. Deutsch explained the work of the summer school.

Dr. Moore made an interesting address on the work of the extension department of the university. Prof. Wheeler told of the work that had been done by the university and the work that is still to be done.

Earlier in the evening Mr. Wheeler had met with the faculty of the extension department and discussed a revision of the curriculum for the junior which will be conducted at the Normal School this winter. The university formally took over the Normal School buildings and ground yesterday.

There will be no change in the faculty of the summer school, Dr. Wheeler announced. The present staff of the Normal School will be reappointed, and he said he believed all of the faculty would be reappointed.

The university president has resigned his position, effective Monday, and he will retire then. He expects to leave this morning for Berkeley.

A roll call of the classes was called at the dinner yesterday evening, by years, and as each year was called all of the members of that class stood up. Thomas O. Toland had the distinction of being the oldest person present at the entertainment.

Following the entertainment and speeches there was a dance.

HEIRESS TO PAY LOSS LAID TO DEAD FATHER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Miss Alice de Lamar, daughter of Capt. Joseph R de Lamar, sometimes called the "Monte Cristo of Idaho," and heiress to the bulk of his $30,000,000 estate, has come to the assistance of claimants against the estate who say they lost money through following her father's advice in making investments, acording to a statement issued today by attorneys for the claimants. Miss de Lamar appeared yesterday as a witness in a hearing before a referee.

The young heiress declared that her father had assured his friends who now are suing, incuding his housekeeper and the wife of his office manager, that he would guarantee them against loss if they made the investments he recommended. The claimants say they lost more than $100,000 through taking the captain's advice, but in the statement issued in their behalf by their attorneys it is stated that they entertain only the kindliest feelings for the dead millionaire and appreciate that he was solicitous only for their welfare.

WOMEN OPERATORS IN PARIS NOT TO STRIKE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, July 12.—The Association of Women Postal and Telegraph Employees has addressed a letter to the government, announcing that its members will not participate in the general strike July 21.

The letter says that strikes and the consequent interruption of activity in public services, the railroads, telegraphs and telephones, are one of the principal causes of the increase in the cost of living.

Cashier Not Guilty.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 12.—Jerome S. Mann, former cashier of the First National Bank of London near here, today was found not guilty in the Federal Court of this city, of having misapplied $123,000 of the bank's funds in connection with financial manipulations of the J. Al Pattison Lumber Company. He still faces trial on an indictment charging conspiracy to defeat a Federal statute.

STARTS PRODUCTION.

New Plant of Union Oil Company Ships Gasoline.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, July 12.—The first unit of the new oil refinery on the west basin being built by the Union Oil Company is completed and ten cars of gasoline are being shipped daily from the new plant. Only six stills are in operation and when the plant is completed the production will be increased five-fold. The first unit was started sooner than intended on account of the shortage of gasoline in Southern California and the inability of the company to fill orders.

About 400 men are new employed at the plant in the construction and operation departments. At the present time tops from the Santa Maria field shipped here in tank fields are being refined. When the plant is completed oil will be piped from the Fullerton and Montebello fields.

SUBURBAN TRANSFERS.

O. A. Nickerson, realty broker, reports the following property sales: To Mrs. Jacob Danz for Charles Boock, four-flat building at 577 North Vermont avenue, $20,000; to Mrs. H. Mickinini for A. B. Holson, dwelling at 8502 Raymond avenue, $4000; to Miss Minnie Bullocks for C. C. Thompson, house and two acres at Rosemead, $5450; to Mrs. Ada Wagner for C. C. Thompson, two acres at Alleyene Acres, $2800; to William Bornholdt for C. C. Thompson, one acre at Alleyne Acres, $1400; to Jacob Gleason for C. C. Thompson, ten acres at Allyne Acres, $14,000; to Thomas Eastland for Mrs. Pearl Ryan, house and two and one-half acres at Rosemead, $7500.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS PROFIT—30 DAYS!

The value of The Bradley Company leases, conservatively judged, has increased $2,000,000.00 within the last thirty days. This is sufficient to repay $2.00 for every dollar's worth of outstanding stock. The bringing in of well No. 1, Block 74, Burkburnett, and other wells in the immediate vicinity of the many leases scattered throughout the oil fields of Texas have turned the trick. This is not hard for you to realize when leases in the same locality in the Burkburnett field as the BRADLEY lease are selling at $40,000.00 an acre—to oil operators—men that know—and they are cheap at this figure—a 2,500-barrel well—oil selling at $2.50 a barrel—means $6,250.00 a day—seven days—one week pays for the lease—four days more repays the cost of the well, and then you ride to profits and dividends for the future life of the well—easy to figure, and not hard to realize, is it?

EARNINGS OF $10,000.00 A DAY—5,000-BARREL WELL!

It's just as easy to realize this when you know. Take your pencil and figure the real inside of the BRADLEY assets in Burkburnett—ten acres—gusher property—well No. 1 in, and good for 2,500 barrels—only eighteen feet in the sand—waiting for increased pipe lines to drill in deeper. That it will make another Texas Chief well, which was reported in at 5,000 barrels, is the consensus of opinion by the oil operators and drillers, who certainly should know.

Well No. 2, on this same lease is now 1,500 feet deep—drilling crew working night and day—every human effort—every ounce of steam being put forth to drive this well into the big pay sand for another gusher. A few days longer and the earnings should again double.

RIG FOR NO. 2 UP—WELLS 3, 4, 5, 6 TO FOLLOW

Rig for No. 3 up and ready to drill—to be started immediately—with wells Nos. 4, 5, 6 to follow. No delay with this hair-trigger drilling activity—action is right—THE BRADLEY COMPANY have the big action calibre and get the real oil results—no company on the market today can equal the increased valuation, earnings and developments that THE BRADLEY COMPANY has shown in the last thirty days. The others haven't the punch—the pep—or the know-how that THE BRADLEY BROTHERS can put in the actual development. Expert drillers—plenty of high-class machinery—years of experience and success backed up by a go-get-'em-do-it-now determination that makes obstacles fade away like dew in the morning sun. Look over the really big companies of today—separate the compact units of these companies, and you will find every essential—every requirement tit-for-tat bound into The Bradley Company's energizing human dynamic action—in a management that not only knows how but actually does produce results. This is the kind of a company that you would form—the kind that you wish to be associated with. The skeptical and pessimistic, who thirty days ago said they could not do it, are rapidly getting over the shock of the realization of a $2,000,000.00 jump—a multiplication of assets in dollar values in thirty days—and are now buying BRADLEY stock, and saying, "I told you so."

A MILLION DOLLAR ROYALTY.

Loss is impossible in a company that is backed and operated through keen judgment—that has the ability to conceive of what is going to happen—judgment that plays the future to win—that is what won the war—wins every war—and makes oil companies win. Even the washwoman that can tell when it is going to rain, saves washing the clothes twice. The purchase of the interest in the 160-acre royalty in Block 74 which today is right in the center of the greatest drilling activity in all Texas, with 600 to 800 rigs on the four sides—that but a short time ago was considered but a possibility—was winning judgment that means millions to THE BRADLEY COMPANY. This royalty—right today—this minute is producing 7,000 barrels of oil a day—pouring returns into THE BRADLEY treasury. Twenty rigs are now pounding down—drilling more wells on this royalty—new wells are due almost every day—many others to follow. Think of only fifty wells producing 2,000 barrels of oil each—100,000 barrels of oil at $2.50 a barrel — $250,000 a day — and all from the 160-acre royalty in Block 74, Burkburnett, which is but a small part of the other enormous assets of this concern. This result is not only possible—but highly probable—and offers speculative possibilities almost unbelievable and a royalty expert would quickly confirm my every statement. Did you ever have such an offer before? No wonder the money is rolling into our office. No wonder the price advances possibly 500 per cent. Hundreds of investors all over the country that have played with the small companies and made small profits are realizing the enormous possibilities of an investment in BRADLEY—they are adding up figures—compiling the result, and know the answer—the reason they are buying every dollar's worth of BRADLEY stock that they can handle—borrowing money to do it. Where will this stock go to? Where will it eventually land? Ten to one—thirty, forty, fifty to one—only the God of Finance can tell. When the word is passed and the pressure starts—a market bulge will pop that will surely cash wonderful profits in the pay roll of easy gain for those that have a conception of the most wonderful opportunity on the market today. Are you going to miss this market bulge—or are you going to receive your share of these profits? Certainly you are. You may never have such another opportunity. NOW is the time—do not DELAY A MINUTE—simply fill out the coupon, which is for your convenience—attach your check and mail today for every share of BRADLEY stock that you can buy. Don't you wait and get left out simply because this opportunity requires quick action. DO IT TODAY!

A $500,000.00 TANK FARM NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION!

A town springing up into prominence, with a mushroom growth from a prairie into a young and bustling city—with a new and wonderful Tank Farm—all on Block 74—a short time ago a bald prairie! The town is actual—a bank is proposed—and the Tank Farm is under construction. With the present enormous production of oil from the BRADLEY No. 1, and other interests in Block 74, it is necessary to prepare for the production from wells Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

Every precaution and advantage is taken and made for the stockholders' benefit—no waiting and suffering a loss because the pipe lines cannot reach you—precaution is an advantage that has made millions—you get just this advantage every inch of the way—almost a guaranteed investment—55,000-barrel tanks, if necessary, will be erected immediately. The work is now started. An officer of The Bradley Company is rushing to New York, with instructions to buy every sheet of tank steel in sight. Not only will this mean thousands of dollars in added profits, but hundreds of thousands—through the opportunity of owning such a Tank Farm—storing of the Bradley oil for higher prices—buying and storing oil for other companies.

FUTURE ASSURED—BEAT THE ADVANCE IN PRICE.

Look a moment into the future—first production—oil—then a Tank Farm—next step a Refinery, with the developing of increased oil production growing hourly—value of the leases increasing in million dollar jumps, with checks for $10,000.00 a day earnings coming in from production alone. It now seems certain that refining profits will very soon be added to The Bradley's already enormous income through the construction of a big, up-to-date plant.

You participate in every asset that THE BRADLEY COMPANY now has—now owns—ever will have or acquire at any time later. A share today purchased at $1.00 will earn equally as much in one year from now as when purchased for $25.00 or $30.00 then. Stock with the visible assets—earnings and future development behind it—such as THE BRADLEY COMPANY offers cannot—MUST not long sell for the par value of $1.00 a share. An immediate advance in price—possibly tomorrow, if this present allotment is sold out, positively not later than July 15. It is a question how high the price will go—maybe [illegible] or [illegible] per cent.—perhaps 500 per cent., but you know you have an advanced value on July 15—or before. Act today! How can you lose in such a company—growing from a pygmy to a production giant in ninety days, and at that only gaining momentum for its future race for recognition as one of the giant oil companies of the country. Remember the Texas Company—thousands for every dollar invested—at the same stage of development. I could name dozens of others—the really big companies that have furnished large bank accounts for thousands of investors to check on. You may call them lucky—not lucky—just nailing an opportunity when you see it—and today, RIGHT NOW—this very minute, as you read, such an opportunity is before you. It is squarely up to you. Will you do it and smile, or don't and sneer?

NOT THREE OR FOUR OIL ACRES BUT 6,000.

This company has a total of 6,000 oil acres in nearly every proven field of Texas. Think what this means—in such fields as Ranger, Desdemona, Iowa Park, [illegible] Eastland, Falls, Hamilton and Bell counties. Not a one or two chance for your money but scattering your bet—diversifying your chances and GIVING YOU THE GREATEST CHANCE AT FORTUNE IN THE VERY BEST FIELDS OF THE CENTURY. New wells are coming in almost daily, in the same fields and in many cases right in the proximity of the Bradley leases. You get your share in the OIL OPERATORS BUILDING, Fort Worth, the best paying income property in the city.

You don't receive only one, two, or at the best, three places in which you can make money and if any one of them fail see your company go broke, but a big play in leases and assets enough to build up, put together and duplicate the combined assets of five or six of the usually offered stock companies, developing oil properties, and you get in today, NOW, at the first offering price, at par of $1.00 a share—if you will ACT. But this offering is limited and quick action is necessary. There are few, if any, oil companies offering their actual assets together with future POSITIVE DEVELOPMENT that The Bradley Company offers you TODAY. A POSITIVE ASSURED INVESTMENT AND THE MOST WONDERFUL SPECULATIVE BUY FOR ENORMOUS RETURNS ON THE OIL SHARE MARKET.

What the price of Bradley will go to? With 4-6-10 gusher wells in Burkburnett, that inside royalty drilled out to its fullest production capacity—a tank farm—refinery operating, all their other immense holdings developing into higher values, with twenty-one producing wells, a daily income that day after day has already paid $10,000.00 a day with a present annual earning capacity of $2,000,000.00. Yes, I repeat, this can only be told by the God of Finance. That it will shoot upward is a cinch—upward into the sky and rain profits, dividends, vacation trips, a rosy bunch of pleasures for you and yours made easy.

Now is the time to get in—things happen fast in the oil fields and twenty-four hours' delay has been the cause of missing fortunes in the oil business. There is no "doubt" here—passed that stage—present assets assure the most skeptical that this is the one and only buy in Texas oils today for the man or woman who wants quick action and fast returns. Use the coupons—a pencil—a minute of your time and you are on the road to better independence. Don't delay——DO IT NOW.

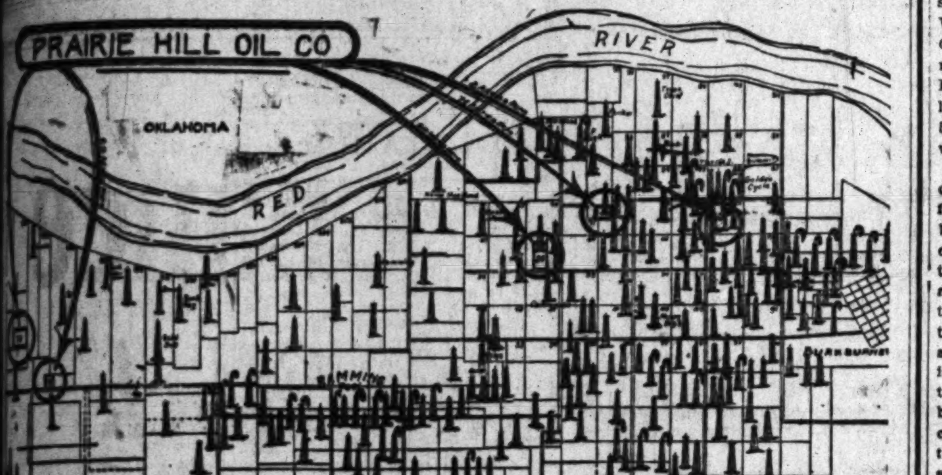
Our Advice to Stockholders Is to Hold Their Stock

We sold you this stock to make you money and we feel confident that you will profit by holding the stock you have in our company.

WHAT WE ARE DOING ON OUR 119½ ACRES IN THE BURKBURNETT NORTHWEST EXTENSION FIELD



Our three drills are running "in high" night and day, and rapidly approaching the goal, and right in pick of the heart of the field, Blocks 75, 72 and 65. In Blocks 75 and 65 drilling below 1,600 feet. In Block 75 we are virtually surrounded with gushers such as the Summit, Golden Cycle, United and Ramsey-Willis and others. In Block 72, which joins Block 84—King of the Northwest—we are 400 feet from the Burkley well and drilling below 1,500 feet.

BUY TEXAS OIL LOTS

The Way Big Money is Made in the Oil Game

Are we right? Read what Albert W. Atwood says in The Saturday Evening Post—

Thousands have made hundreds of thousands of dollars, and even a million, by merely being the lucky owners of land that is good for nothing but oil—though poor men do not make five or thirty-five million dollars in the oil industry overnight, they are just as likely as not to make half a million if they get in at the start of a boom or happen to own land in the vicinity.

In all three articles by Mr. Atwood were these stories of wealth, and at the bottom of every fortune was OIL LAND, not stock. Hundreds of such instances could be cited of fortunes made in Texas oil lots. The Tampico-Texas opportunity, we believe, will repeat such history.

"Opening a Second Tampico in Texas"

Situated mid-way between the great Ranger-Burkburnett oil fields of Texas and the Tampico gusher fields of Mexico, there is located a territory in the Gulf Coastal fields, in which the mobilized forces of several big operating companies are endeavoring to reach the Tampico gusher sand through deep drilling based upon the advice of some of the world's greatest geologists.

These companies who are looking ahead and preparing for big future production, include many of the best known producing oil companies. The Tampico-Texas Oil Land Subdivision is in the heart of this activity.

Turn These Questions Over in Your Mind

Why are the big companies drilling so many wells around the Tampico-Texas Oil Land subdivision, unless they expect to find oil there?

Why did the Empire Fuel and Gas Company pass up a 100-barrel well adjacent to this property unless they expect to find the Tampico gusher sands by drilling deeper?

BORN IN BATTLE; DIES IN GLOOM.

Victim of Prenatal Terror Takes His Own Life.

Shadow of Gettysburg Fatal After Half a Century.

Neighbor Answers Telephone; Finds Man Asphyxiated.

Writing finis to the last chapter of an eventful life, commenced on the battlefield of Gettysburg, fifty-six years ago, the remains of Charles W. Burket, of the firm of Burket & Goss, metal workers, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon at Forest Lawn Cemetery, after he had ended his life by asphyxiation at his home, 520 East Harvard street, Glendale, where he had lived for fifteen years.

Burket bore the unique distinction of having been born on the battlefield and during the battle of Gettysburg. In July, 1863, his parents occupied a house at that now historic place, and because of the rapid advance of the Northern troops and the critical condition of the mother, they were unable to seek a place of safety and thus found themselves in the maelstrom of battle. In the awful din of the fight, the baby boy was born; and the terror which clouded the mother's mind during those days influenced his physical and mental condition throughout his life.

For some time the man had been subject to fits of despondency, which during the last month had been more marked than usual. Mrs. Burket, on the day of the tragedy, had gone to Los Angeles, leaving her husband alone at home. Early in the afternoon a neighbor was alarmed by the incessant ringing of the Burket telephone bell and, knowing Mr. Burket's mental condition, investigated, finding him unconscious. He failed to rally. After having carefully closed the windows and doors. He had turned on the gas.

He leaves the widow and one son, Dana, who has recently returned from overseas service.

MAY VISIT SANTA ANA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, July 12.—When Secretary of the Navy Daniels comes to the Pacific he will probably include Orange county and an inspection trip of Newport Harbor in his itinerary. This is indicated in a letter from Daniels, answering a letter of invitation extended by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. "I am looking forward with a great deal of interest and pleasure to my forthcoming visit to the Pacific Coast," Daniels writes, "and trust I may be able to visit your city."

ADVERTISING'S THEIR SAVIOR.

Transfer Men Exonerated of Complicity in Burglary by Sign on Wagon.

A big, bold sign on a wagon they had used led yesterday to full exoneration for Alfred E. Jaynes, owner of a local transfer company, and Conrad Weickman, who had been accused of complicity in a burglary at the tailor shop of S. J. Abrams, 119 West Sixth street, Los Angeles Harbor. The men were arrested at the scene of the crime after Patrolman J. W. Thomas had been shot in the neck by one of the burglars.

They explained they had been hired to move merchandise and knew nothing of their patrons' intent to commit burglary. At the preliminary hearing before Justice Forbes yesterday, John L. Richardson, their attorney, pointed out that if they had been going to help commit a burglary they would not have gone with the name of their company displayed on the wagon in huge letters. About twenty character witnesses appeared for them. Justice Forbes, without objection from Deputy District Attorney Hill, dismissed the case.

BIG DRIVE ON FOR AMERICAN LEGION.

EIGHT HUNDRED APPLY, BUT WILL TRY TO ENROLL FIVE THOUSAND HERE.

A great mass meeting of all returned service men is being planned by the temporary executive committee of the American Legion. The purpose of the first meeting to be held at 8 p.m., next Thursday at Normal Hill Center Auditorium is to organize the Los Angeles post of the great national organization of men who were in the service of the government (military or naval) during the great war. Los Angeles may thus send delegates to the first national convention of the American Legion November 11, at Chicago.

Capt. Walter Brinkop, who saw service in France with the Ninety-first Division, is temporary chairman of the Los Angeles post. H. H. Harris is acting as temporary chairman. The temporary executive committee of returned service men which is organizing the local post and examining the credentials of applicants consists of Col. Charles F. Hutchins, U.S.A., Walter K. Tuller, Dr. A. D. Houghton, S. M. Lindroth, M. B. Silberberg, Morgan Adams, Russell N. Lockwood, George A. Ross, Clare Woolwine and Donald O'Melveney.

Up until 9 p.m. last night about 800 applications for membership had been received out of some 15,000 returned service men in Los Angeles and vicinity who are eligible. It is expected that fully 5000 members will have been enrolled before the Thursday night meeting. Men who are unable to present their credentials before Thursday are requested to bring a copy of their discharge with them on that night for identification. All men are requested to wear uniforms. The executive committee will sit as a board of examination and enrollment Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings between 7 and 9 p.m. at 1126 Marsh-Strong Building to pass upon applications and credentials. Enrollment in the organization can also be made 724 Van Nuys Building, Army Recruiting Station, San Fernando Building, or at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Replacement Bureau, 226 South Broadway. There is no charge for enrolling.

ROB CHAIN STORE.

Varney Brothers Company Suffers Several Recent Losses.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, July 12.—Varney Bros. & Co.'s stores seem to be the logical point of depredation for persistent thieving. The Brawley store was looted of $1500 worth of goods June 20; the El Centro store was visited one night this week by burglars, who helped themselves to $2000 worth of merchandise, and the firm is now wondering which store will be next. The company has six stores in its chain, the other towns being Imperial, Calipatria, Holtville and Calexico.

The El Centro store was entered from the roof, the robbers prying up an overlapping iron and removing a pane of glass, then sliding down into the salesrooms by means of a fire hose. Only the most valuable articles were taken, such as ladies' silks, high-priced guns, etc. Exit was made through the front door, which was found open when the store force arrived the next morning.

SERUM BY AIRPLANE.

Drug Company Meets Emergency by Help of Aviator.

For the first time in the history of California, and possibly for the first time anywhere, an airplane has been used in civilian life to deliver a doctor's prescription, according to word received here yesterday.

The Stockton store of the Owl Drug Company recently received a rush prescription for a rare serum which was not in stock at that time. The case was urgent, the physician stating that delivery must be made within an hour. The home office at San Francisco was reached by phone. The prescription was instantly filled and rushed out to the Marina field by automobile. Luckily, an aviator was found who was ready to start at once and in a few moments he was engaged and sent on his way. The distance, about ninety miles, was covered in fifty minutes. The physician was waiting at the landing field at Stockton and the final lap of the trip to the patient's home was made by automobile.

CATALINA FISHERMEN MAKE BIG CATCHES.

KNIGHTS OF ROD AND REEL MAKE RECORDS; LAND 363-POUND BASS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AVALON (Santa Catalina Island) July 12.—More than a thousand pounds of albacore was brought in today by the rod and reel anglers fishing in the channel between Catalina and San Clemente islands. Trolling for swordfish with his light tackle, Mr. James W. Jump of Los Angeles landed four albacore and so hungry were the fish that Mr. Jump had considerable difficulty in keeping his bait away from them. Each time a swordfish was sighted and the attempt was made to get it to take the lure, the fish sank below the surface.

Considerable rivalry exists among the big-game fishermen as to which one will land the first swordfish of the season. Among the anglers fishing for this variety of game fish are Dr. Zane Grey, H. Earlcliffe, A. C. Parsons, Harry W. Adams, E. H. Seaver, William Farnum, Arthur Alexander, James W. Jump, R. C. Grey and others.

A giant sea bass weighing 363 pounds was caught and landed by two anglers fishing from the launch Vera, Thursday. The first angler hooked the fish and struggled with it for over two hours then he finally turned the rod over to his partner, an act which disqualified the catch from competition for the Tuna Club prizes. When gaffed it was found that the giant bass was the largest specimen that had been taken for the season of 1919.

AUTOS NOT FAST ENOUGH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, July 12.—The Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce today appeared before the City Commissioners with a request for an appropriation whereby an aerial celebration could be held some time in the near future. It is thought that if the appropriation is granted the celebration may be instituted as a new form of amusement and will take the place of the annual automobile races.

IF IT'S OIL, THIS IS DIFFERENT

LET US SHOW YOU.

No doubt you have heard of the FAMOUS KEECHI ANTICLINE which was discovered in Leon County, Texas by Leo Wilson, the famous geologist of Glen County, Canada.

The KEECHI OIL ASSOCIATION has acquired 8000 acres of leases covering this entire anticline and lumber is is now on ground for immediate drilling operations.

NOTE THESE "DIFFERENT FEATURES"

CAPITALIZATION: Is only $115,000 on the entire 8000 acres and stock will share in all the holdings of the company. Should we capitalize as most other companies have on small blocks, our capital would be one hundred and twenty million dollars—ASTONISHING, ISN'T IT? But it's true. STOCK: Is $50.00 par value, nonassessable.

HAS IT OCCURRED TO YOU

THAT most of the big fortunes have been made in oil where the acreage was LARGE, and the capital SMALL? With 8000 acres, a thousand barrel well will make every share worth $5000.00, and this is very conservative.

IN THE HEART of the famous Eastern Texas Oil belt, with pipe lines on both sides, and wells going down in almost every direction, we have an opportunity which is almost without a rival in all the great State of Texas. LET US CONVINCE YOU.

Write for booklet, maps, etc., giving full particulars of this wonderful opportunity to invest in one of the biggest propositions in Texas, and one which will bear investigation. Address Branch Office, 802 D. H. Keene Bldg., Fort Worth, Texas, or main office, Grandview, Texas.

WESTERN TEXAS OIL & GAS CO.

I have for sale some of the stock of the Western Texas Oil and Gas Co. This Company has some very valuable holdings in the Ranger, Texas, field. They have their No. 1 well down about 1300 feet. At 800 feet they passed through a small strata of oil. At 1200 feet they got a strata which gave them about 75 barrels per day, but are going down to the gusher territory, which they should reach in a very short time. This lease contains 320 acres, and as wells are placed in that field should hold 60 or 70 wells. If these wells give only 200 barrels per day each, that would be 12,000 barrels at $2.25 per barrel, which is the price of Ranger Oil, it would produce a revenue of $27,000.00 per day, or $9,855,000 per year. On a capitalization of $300,000 it would make each share of stock at a par value of $10.00; after deducting one-eighth royalty and operating expenses—earn a dividend of $328.00 per year. This seems unreasonable, yet the Fowler Farm Oil Co., stock $100.00, is quoted $15,000.00 per share, Humble at $200.00 per share, the Marine at $1750.00 and the Hog Creek Company sold for $8000.00. Besides this 320 acres, we have holdings in Oklahoma and other Texas fields that we feel will be equally valuable.

Besides the interest in the oil production, the stockholders will share all profits from re-sale of leases or royalties from sub-leases from any property which the company may acquire. With this showing no one can hesitate to invest in the stock of this company. It is only a question of sinking the wells. Our field force is of the very best, and our officers are as thorough business men as can be found and have been very successful in all that they have undertaken, so we have a winning combination.

We invite you to buy now, for of course as soon as No. 1 well is brought in the stock will advance in price 100 or 200 per cent. Any letters addressed to 620 Haas Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal., will bring all information that you may ask, or if convenient, call and see us at that address.

TEXAS OIL LEASE

A REMARKABLE RECORD OF EARNINGS

$19,000 for $100

It is reported this is what twelve men made who purchased the 100-acre lease on the R. M. Waggoner farm a few months ago for $125 per acre.

The shrewd investors are buying Texas oil leases.

We have a few units left in a 100-acre lease in direct line of production between Burkburnett and Ranger fields near deep test wells drilling, which has been divided into 100 units at $100 per unit.

Leases in the Burkburnett district are selling from $10,000 to $20,000 per acre, thereby making it possible for unitholders in the above lease to realize as high as $20,000 from each $100 invested, should development equal that district.

This lease will be placed in a Los Angeles bank and each unit-holder will share equally in the profits.

This is a proposition of merit and will stand the closest investigation.

MAIL FRAUD TRIALS ARE NOT TO BE SET.

TWO IMPORTANT ACTIONS WILL BE BEFORE FEDERAL COURT ON JULY CALENDAR.

When the calendar for the July term of the United States District Court is called for setting in Judge Trippet's court tomorrow morning, two important cases involving violation of the postal laws will be before the court for disposition, but neither will be definitely set for a hearing.

In the case against L. R. Garrett and other former officers of the Home Builders, the mandate from the United States Supreme Court denying the motion of Garrett for a rehearing on his appeal from an order of United States District Judge W. C. Van Fleet of San Francisco, removing Garrett from that city to Los Angeles for trial, has not yet been received, and a definite date for the trial can hardly be determined. It may bes ent tentatively, dependent on the physical ability of Garrett to attend. It is stated he has been prostrated by paralysis at San Francisco.

In the case of the government against Edwin L. Crooker and other defendants connected with the Domestic Utilities Manufacturing Company, indicted for using the mails to defraud, the matter is not yet at issue. A demurrer to the indictment was argued months ago before Judge Bledsoe, but no ruling has yet been made.

There is an indictment pending against W. I. Moody and other officers of the Delta Land and Water Company, accused of using the mails to defraud, but this will be stricken from the calendar to be set on ten days' notice. Judge Trippet has just dismissed the civil cases against the defendants, on the ground that the numerous purchasers of contracts involving Utah lands did not use due diligence in the prosecution of their case, and cases against certain of the defendants in the Superior Court of Imperial county complicate the situation. The view is that the pending indictments will be finally dismissed, the inquiry just concluded by the United States District Attorney indicating that the government would have much difficulty in proving a case against the defendants.

FREE-LOVE DOCTRINE NOT EXACTLY STATED.

WRITER OF "HONEY BUNCH" NOTE HAZY ON STAND; NO DIVORCE FOR WIFE.

William H. Ames, a city fireman, who apparently wrote the "honey bunch" letter to Mrs. Esther Atkinson so that his wife, Lavonia E. Ames, could find it, was a witness in Judge Taft's court yesterday. This letter was offered in evidence the other day during the trial of Mrs. Ames's divorce suit.

Judge Taft asked him if he left the letter purposely where his wife could find it. His reply was:

"No, not exactly."

The court wanted to know what he meant by "not exactly."

"Well, I suppose she came to my room to see if she could find something like that, and she was successful."

Judge Taft denied the wife a decree. An effort was made to have Mrs. Ames return to her husband, but she said she could not, because of his admissions about other women. Asked if he ever told his wife he believed in free love, he replied in court:

"I don't remember that I ever told her just that."

He admitted he told her he had been out with another woman.

ANOTHER SOLDIER HURT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, July 12.—Fate appears to be dogging the footsteps of returning soldiers in Pomona. The second service man in two days was injured here today in another automobile smash up. The second victim is Paul Reeder, well-known Pomona boy and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reeder of East Holt avenue. He had several ribs broken and was otherwise badly cut and bruised. Henry Powell, owner of the machine, who was driving, escaped without injury. Although the machine was totally wrecked the two boys managed to remain with it.

The accident happened in front of the Reeder home when the Powell car was struck by one of the Clark busses said to have been traveling at a rapid rate of speed. Reeder returned home from overseas service only a few days ago.

Do People Read Small Ads?

Yes — and no.

Doubtless it requires a quarter-page to stop the eye of a reader who is racing through a "headline type" of newspaper, but a little 4-inch space—like this—is sufficient to attract the same reader when he sits down to peruse THE TIMES.

He knows that every column on every page of THE TIMES will be sparkling with interest. He reads slowly — watchfully — absorbingly.

He reads little advertisements just as you are reading this.

PATRONS HEAR OF A WAR TAX ON FLYING.

REVENUE ORDER THAT 8 PER CENT. MUST BE PAID ON 'PLANE FARES.

Passengers who travel by airplane on the schedule proposed by the Syd Chaplin Aircraft Corporation, from San Pedro to Catalina Island, or by the Mercury Aviation Company machines, from this city to San Francisco and points north, will be compelled to pay the government a tax, according to regulations under the transportation feature of the internal revenue law, that imposes such tax on those who patronize a passenger airplane from one point to another connected by rail or water common carriers. For the first time in the history of the United States this law will be enforced, and Collector John P. Carter has the unique distinction of being the first man in the government service to secure the levy of 8 per cent. of the amount of fare paid by the passenger.

E. M. Cohee, chief of the special sales tax division, yesterday said he had notified the aircraft corporations in Los Angeles who are carrying passengers for fares that they must collect the extra tax from such passengers.

According to this ruling, passengers making the trip from San Pedro to Catalina Island will pay $2 extra for the one-way price of $25, and $3.20 for the round trip, where the price is $40, as charged by the Syd Chaplin Aircraft Corporation.

It is also understood that the Mercury Aviation Company will also be compelled to collect the additional tax from passengers whether they travel on schedule or not.

There is an incumbrance of $30,000 against the property, known as the "Home Ranch," near Lancaster, the will shows.

complaint, a dry, brief, un- document phrased in legal terms, already has been formally on Mr. Hill's attorneys, but has not been filed, and probably will not be until shortly before the trial. The lawyers expect the case to come up at the September session of court. The entire proceedings are likely to take less than an hour of the court's time. It will be brought up unexpectedly, so far as the newspapers are concerned, if the lawyers can manage it. Above all, the principals wish to avoid a staring, gaping crowd, such as would be certain to fill the courtroom if there were advance publicity.

As to the romance that the divorce will bring to an end, it started years ago, when Mr. Hill and Miss Barrows were young. They traveled in the same set, danced and went on parties with the same group of pleasure-seeking youths and maids. They were thrown much together.

BOTH SPORT LOVERS.

But for their mutual love for the out-of-doors and sports, it is unlikely that anything would have grown out of their friendship. Their like desires and pleasures drew them together irresistibly. Mr. Hill was a famous horseman, a marvel at polo, enthusiastic about water sports, especially motor boating, and a dead shot at the traps. Each and every one of these accomplishments appealed mightily to Dorothy Barrows, who was herself no mean horsewoman and rifle shot.

Mr. Hill's feats in a polo game used to make the spectators dizzy. He would dart about the arena, shooting the ball from any position with unerring accuracy, and the wilder his ponies the better he enjoyed it. He could teach "broncho busters" of the West some things about riding. It was the glamour of his athletic prowess, a sort of hero worship, which attracted Miss Barrows.

And Mr. Hill, in his turn, had found no girl in his set who enjoyed and could take an active part in sports so well as Miss Barrows. That is how they were drawn together. The parents favored the match. After they came to realize the fascination each held for the other the courtship was brief.

THEIR WEDDING.

They were married January 11, 1908, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Barrows, 912 Lincoln avenue, St. Paul. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Ambrose McNulty of St. Luke's Catholic Church, St. Paul.

James N. Hill of New York was his brother's best man, and Miss Marjorie Barrows, sister of the bride, and now Mrs. Anson B. Jackson of Devil's Lake, N. D., was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Rachel Hill, now Mrs. Egil Boeckmann, and Miss Nancy Judson, who is now Mrs. W. C. Motter. Miss Elizabeth Barrows, the bride's youngest sister, now dead, was the flower girl. The ushers were Charles Freeman, the late Clarence Freeman and Theodore Griggs.

It was not a gorgeous affair; in fact, quite simple, but it was St. Paul's biggest social event of several seasons. Following the reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for Aiken, S. C., where they spent their honeymoon days. The following summer they visited Europe and, returning to St. Paul, took up their residence in the most exclusive section of a street of millionaires, 19 Summit court.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill did not discover their incompatibility at once. They maintained a stable of beautiful thoroughbreds and rode together daily, presenting a charming picture as they trotted along the bridle path on Summit avenue or cantered along country roads. They went shooting together and spent hours on the links.

It is hard to say when the breach came; probably there was no sudden disillusionment. They seemed to drift apart gradually. Mrs. Hill began spending her winters in Southern California with her little daughter. There she became a prominent figure on the Long Beach and Midwick links and in 1913 won a handsome trophy presented by the Virginia Hotel, for her skill in a tournament on the hotel club links. In this tournament she won second prize, her opponent being Miss Edith Johnson of Winnipeg, Man.

For the past two years she and her little daughter have been making their home at a beautiful country place at Granada Park, near the Midwick Country Club. She says she is much enamoured of Southern California and will probably make this her permanent home.

Mr. Hill meanwhile had continued his favorite pastime, stock raising, at his farm at Northcote, Minn. In 1916 his Shorthorn bull, "Type's Model," won the blue ribbon at the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago and several other of his animals took prizes.

His inclinations along this line led him to extend his interests and in 1918 he purchased 7500 acres and leased 24,000 more along the Yellowstone River, in the vicinity of Livingston, Mont. He went into partnership with R. P. McCellan, a stock expert of Kansas City Mo. They at once placed 7400 head of blooded cattle on the ranch and began operations. Mr. Hill also bought an interest in the Chicago stockyards with James Stewart of that city. The entire stock project involved the investment of more than $1,000,000.

MUCH YACHTING.

Mr. Hill, for several years, has virtually resided in New York, where he maintains offices in the Harriman Building. He keeps a beautiful yacht there and spends much of his time cruising along the coast. He has many friends in the East and his craft is well equipped to care for the comforts of a considerable party of guests on an extended trip. He is now on a cruise in southern waters, resting after serving the government through the war as a dollar-a-year man.

It is several years now since Mr. and Mrs. Hill separated. Mrs. Hill has been spending most of her time in California. She is prominent in society and considered one of the most charming of the younger ma-

GREEN SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Thomas H. Green, who demands $50,000 in a lost love suit against George T. Mahana, yesterday filed suit for divorce against Helen I. Green, naming Mr. Mahana as co-respondent. The later is a prominent insurance man.

Mrs. Green, in addition to the alleged Mahana affair, is charged with cruelty, in the fact that she is alleged to have been constantly in the company of the insurance man.

Mental anguish was caused Mr. Green by alleged gifts from Mr. Mahana to Mrs. Green. It is said that both Mrs. Green and Mr. Mahana pass much of their time at Las Vegas, Nev., with view of establishing residences there.

Mr. Green is a retired merchant, formerly of Kansas City.

NO STRINGS ON CROUS.

Judge Trippet has not yet signed the order to show cause, asked for by William B. Edwards, to restrain Patrick H. Bodkin from disposing of the crops on a quarter section of land in the vicinity of Blythe, Riverside county. The court will take no action in the matter until Tuesday, when he will pass on the motion for a new trial made in behalf of Bodkin, following a decision of Judge Trippet that Edwards is the owner of the land involved in the case.

HEROINE IS IDOL OF CZECH ARMY.

Gently-Nurtured Girl Who Marched, Fought and Nursed Across Six Thousand Miles of Siberia Holds Hearts of Returning Exile Band.

Of the 1000 and more Czecho-Slavs now en route from Camp Kearny to Washington, D. C., on their way from heroic fighting in Siberia, to their home in Bohemia, none is so respected and loved by the troops as Anna Holikova, a slender, gently-nurtured young girl, who suffered and fought with the volunteer army and nursed the men all the way from Russia to the Pacific.

As the troops passed through Colton Friday the men pointed fondly to the vivacious young girl and told of the lives she saved, of comrades wounded in the front line to whom she crawled out and whom she dragged to safety, to minister to them. But no word of her adventures or bravery was told by Anna, first, because she is too modest and because she shudders to recall the terrible days, and again, because the physicians have forbidden her to speak of these things, to prevent her becoming excited now.

Anna, now but 21 years of age, was studying music at Warsaw when the war broke out. She is the only daughter of a wealthy business man of Prague, who had sent her to Warsaw to perfect her in the violin. When she endeavored to reach her father, she was arrested and imprisoned by the Russians as a spy. She was forced by the Russians to do hard labor on the highways, often until she swooned from the exertion. Eventually she escaped and went to Kiev, where she joined the newly-organized Czecho-Slovak army.

FIGHTS AS SOLDIER.

She donned a uniform and cut off her hair and, though she generally acted as nurse for the wounded, she often engaged in the battles of the Czechs. Traveling with them on foot and by train, it is said the young girl marched more than 6000 miles, enduring the hardships of the Siberian winters and the hard life of the volunteer army. When the Czechs were tricked by the Bolsheviki and, being disarmed, fought with their hands, the young girl fought, too, in that way. Wounded many times, and ill from typhoid fever, she recovered through sheer will power.

Because she is so small of stature, clothed in the gray uniform, she was able to crawl out to the lines unseen by the enemy and drag in the wounded, and this she did constantly.

At one time, after joining the army, she was captured by the Bolsheviki, and suffered untold tortures at their hands while imprisoned. Here, by a trick, she slipped off her belt, and threw it over the neck of her jailer and so escaped.

And now she is to be cared for by the nurses and doctors with the Czech detachment, until her arrival at home, where she will seek her father, of whom she has had no word since 1917. "Whether he starved to death, as did many in Prague, or was shot as a spy, I do not know," she says.

But, though she has gone through untold suffering, as she runs lightly around the Red Cross house and the quarters of the Czechs at Camp Kearny, with a smile for everybody, one would little dream that she were other than a light-hearted young girl, with no thought of trouble. The hardships have, however, left her with a nervous affliction that affects her at times, and so the doctors insist upon her talking of nothing but happy subjects.

ALL HER BROTHERS.

The way in which she regards the brave, strong men of the army was shown by the manner in which she referred to them. "I had no brothers, as I was an only child, but now I have many," she smiled to the interpreter.

Like all the troops on their way to their Bohemian home, the young girl patriot is buoyed up by the thought that she is going back to a free country and not to the hated Austrian rule. "It is wonderful," she says, "to think we now have a free country."

There are many interesting characters among these brave troops, who perhaps suffered greater hardships than any other people in the war. And the most remarkable thing to those who come in contact with them at Camp Kearny is the cheerfulness and the kindliness of spirit of each one. Scarcely one of the thousand men has been able to hear from his people in Czecho-Slovakia for two years or knows whether they are alive or dead, but there is no bewailing of fate or bitterness shown by them, as they gratefully express their thanks to Americans for kind treatment received since coming to America.

They are even gracious enough to act gaily when the war camp community service has diverted them with entertainments and dances. Although the men did not know the American one-step and other dances, they are born musicians and soon learned the new steps, to dance with the American girls at the camp. And always they greet the women by kissing their hands.

CULTURE IN THE RANKS.

Many of the men are university graduates, doctors of philosophy, doctors of medicine, lawyers and scientists, and now that the fighting is over, they are turning attention to their professions again.

GOING TO HELP SIBERIAN SICK.

Los Angeles Physician will Renew Red Cross Work.

Formerly Head of Hospital for Invalid Czechs.

And Emissary of Chief of New Republican State.

Dr. Henry Owen Eversole left Los Angeles yesterday for Seattle, from which port he will sail the twelfth inst. for Vladivostok. He goes as deputy Red Cross commissioner for Siberia.

Dr. Eversole went first to Siberia last December, to have charge of a hospital for tubercular soldiers at Bouchedo, 800 miles inland. Those patients were part of the Czecho-Slovak army, some 60,000, all that was left of an army of 300,000 Bohemians, who voluntarily surrendered to the Russians early in 1915, rather than continue to fight for the cause of Germany. Practically without arms or equipment, they resisted the Bolsheviki and succeeded in holding for the Allie the trans-Siberian railroad.

Almost immediately, Dr. Eversole was ordered to evacuate the hospital at Buchedo, on account of the difficulty of securing supplies and the need of nurses at the front. The word was given to return these soldiers to France; they were to embark at Vladivostok on an English hospital ship.

AT FIFTY BELOW.

There were no ambulances and the invalids had to be carried over the ice and snow nearly a mile to the hospital train by the nurses; the weather was intensely cold, fifty degrees below zero.

These women were English nurses sent to Siberia by Lady Paget, who gave up her plan to establish there a British Red Cross, when she found the American organization so strong. Accordingly, her nurses served with the American Red Cross.

The voyage occupied sixty-one days, stops being made at Hongkong, Singapore, Colombo, Suez and Naples.

The men were welcomed home to the capital of the new Czecho-Slovak republic at the Wilson station, formerly the Franz Joseph.

WORK AT PRAGUE.

At the request of the Czecho-Slovak government, Dr. Eversole remained two weeks at Prague to investigate conditions in their hospitals, feeding kitchens and schools, with special attention to the needs of the children.

From there he went to Paris with Dr. Mazaryk, president of the Czecho-Slovak Red Cross, to confer with M. Benes, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Lady Paget. On his return to this country, Dr. Eversole interviewed prominent Czecho-Slovaks at New York and Washington, to convey to them President Mazaryk's message that their countrymen's urgent need is not money, but medical supplies and raw materials for food and clothing. President Mazaryk wished to emphasize strongly that the United States government had already been so generous that he felt that further contributions should principally come from the 1,500,000 Czecho-Slovaks in this country.

these. Dr. Jurecek was a physician in the Austrian army at the outbreak of war. He was captured with the Tenth Regiment by the Russians at Przmysl and later with the Czech troops joined the Allies. But his avocation is that of a naturalist and since leaving the Ural Mountains in Russia, he has collected more than a trunkful of bugs, to which collection he has added while at San Diego by going to Balboa Park and catching new species of insects.

An interesting group of men, all privates, is composed of a newspaper editor, a young banker, a doctor of philosophy and some scientists. These men have been selected by the volunteer army as a commission to go ahead to Prague to report to the Czecho-Slavic government the movements of the army and its struggles in Siberia. Another commission from the detachment will go to Poland to report, as both the Poles and the Serbians were organized into armies after the Czecho-Slavs formed their volunteer organizations, when they had been captured by the Russians.

The commission to go to Prague is composed of J. Soukup, B. Korak, Dr. Charvit, the newspaper editor, B. Prikyl and J. Chimelar.

The army is absolutely democratic, officers and men mingling and talking without ceremony though the feats of the organization show the splendid discipline maintained. Maj. Vladimar Jirsa, the commander, addressed his men as "brothers," or "brotri," the Czech word. Often the private speaks to the commander first and at all times they mingle freely.

BREAD TO SAVE RUSSIA.

Angeleno on the Relief Commission Says Food is Fatal to Bolshevism.

A cross section of the life and conditions in Northwestern Russia, where the American and Allied governments are playing such a vital part in the work of reconstruction, was brought to Los Angeles a few days ago in an interesting letter from Dr. Thomas J. Orbison, Los Angeles physician and one of the best-known neurologists of the West. Dr. Orbison is a captain in the Medical Corps, served with the Army of Occupation in Germany, and later was sent into Eastern Germany and subsequently to Russia, as a member of the Allied Relief Commission.

The letter was dated at Libau, Russia, June 9, and was addressed to Mrs. W. S. James, secretary of the Psychopathic Association of Southern California. Dr. Orbison was one of the first members of that organization, and his experiences in its work here have given him considerable help in the tasks confronting the relief officials in the war-torn countries, he writes.

The problem of Bolshevism is closely related to that of food distribution, Dr. Orbison believes. Kitchens for the poor are robbing the Bolshevist leaders of their potential strength. Food is the magic token that changes disorder into peace, and may yet work out the reconstruction of the land, he writes. His letter, in part, follows:

START FOR LIBAU.

"I know you will be interested in hearing of the work the A.R.A. is doing for the relief of famine conditions in this part of the world. Libau is one of the principal ports in the Baltic. The approach from the ocean is through a series of breakwaters, and then up a river to the city docks. The ships—destroyers, etc.—lie out in the breakwater harbor; some of them can come right up to the city docks.

"The politics have one in a Chinese puzzle and are very kaleidoscopic—one does not know just what is going to happen next. For instance, the latest provisional government is now on one of the gunboats in the harbor and the province is in the hands of the Germans. The German troops up here have not had a beating and it will require some time to convince them they did not win the war. Many of the people want to form independent governments, while the Russians, of course, want to retain them under their supervision. Bolshevists are fighting near Riga and the Germans are retaliating brutally. They are shooting thousands of those they call Bolsheviki. Our men have seen it. I may have the chance to go to Riga very soon and will get some first-hand information. This city is quiet and we have begun our work of feeding the people.

"I am assigned to the children's food supply work. Four days ago I personally supervised the packing, hauling and delivering of the first lot of food to be delivered to the children in this district—possibly the first thing of its kind in Russia.

"We are working with a very good and active committee in this city, composed of Germans, Letts, Jews and Russians. The secretary is a fine fellow, who was an officer in the Russian army and who was taken prisoner by the Germans. He had some horrible experiences while a prisoner. He was connected with the last government here and at present is giving most of his time to the work of feeding the children.

KISSED BY CHILDREN.

"We began with the eleven institutions that are caring for the destitute children in Libau. I never had quite such an experience. We were received with every evidence of joy—the children crowded about us, kissed our hands and patted us affectionately. Most of them look underfed and many of them are listless. They played some of their games for us—little folk dances with singing. Very much like the old "London Bridge is falling down." Several of these institutions are officered by Germans. Just as soon as they realized it was food they were getting, they immediately warmed up.

"This food distribution is going to do more than anyone can imagine to make a basis for a peaceable reconstruction in this whole region. Without it, the Bolshevists would thrive and bloodshed would result, with the big incubus of famine hovering over all with death and misery in its hands. Given a full stomach and some remunerative occupation and the Bolshevist leader will be without followers.

TERRIBLE INSTITUTION.

"One of our eleven institutions is a terrible place. I refer to the House of Correction for Boys. It would better be named the "House of Corruption." I have visited it three times. The last time I took with me the chief of the Libau Poor Administration; the chairwoman of our Children's Relief Committee (she is also president of the Red Cross here,) and the wife of the Mayor of Libau, whom we have made chairwoman of a subcommittee on kitchens. We arrived just in time to see things in a mess, and found a German underofficer in charge of the boys. He had kicked one of them and whipped others. We gave him a general overhauling, I can tell you. The boys are in bad shape in every way. I believe the result of our visit will be to change the whole management of this place—at least the chief of the Poor Administration so told me. I could imagine Mr. Nelles's indignation at what we saw. I wish they had several Mr. Nelles here. But we will do what we can. I am glad to have been associated with Mr. Nelles and to have seen his methods at Whittier. It will help here.

"I have not hesitated to tell these people what I think of this house of correction and they feel the same way. They welcome some good advice and appreciate some outspoken expression coming from an American officer. We have a very big stick in the way of food supplies at our disposal. We will not allow this one institution to handle its food, but have put it in the care of an adjoining one.

LOS ANGELES A MODEL.

"I have attended the local committee meeting and have made several suggestions based upon my experience in Los Angeles. I cannot be too thankful for my association with the Psychopathic Association and similar agencies in California. They have given me a good education in these matters that will be helpful to these poor people in Russia. I have helped organize four kitchens for the feeding of the poor children outside the institutions. We have arranged to feed about 4000 to 6000 for the next two months—until the next harvest shall have come in.

"Mr. Hoover has been wonderful in his broad vision and splendid organization. All we have to do is to see that the really needy get the food. In time, I will get to a great many points in Russia, including Riga and Petrograd, I believe. My Los Angeles education will be invaluable to me. The methods of running the Psychopathic Association will be followed to the best of my ability. I feel an immense responsibility and know that I am an unworthy instrument, lacking many qualities that would make me much more efficient, but I will do my best; as the cowboy said when he tried to act as barber, "I'll do my damnedest. Angels can do no more."

"With regards to the Psychopathic Association and other friends.

"As ever.

[Signed]

"THOMAS J. ORBISON.

"P. S. Our kitchens will begin to operate in three days."

FLAW IN TITLE.

Sailor Gets a Divorce and Some Good Advice on Wives.

Judge Taft yesterday told A. E. Olsen, a sailor, who was granted a decree of annulment from Silvia A. Olsen on the ground that she was not legally free from a former husband when she married Mr. Olsen, to investigate before he marries again.

"If you were to buy land or an automobile, you would be sure to investigate if the title was clear, wouldn't you?"

"Yes," admitted Mr. Olsen.

"Well, if you marry again, be sure the title to your wife is clear."

Mr. Olsen said he would.

FEARED "FRAME-UP."

Court Would Not Part Couple Who had Wed Twice Already.

On the ground that there was possible collusion, Judge Taft yesterday denied Jesse Jessen a divorce from Elizabeth E. Jessen, who charged desertion. An attorney produced a letter written to him by Mrs. Jessen, in answer to the summons served upon her.

"I have nothing to say," she wrote, "but for the love of liberty, let the man free and don't take all his money as he needs it to support his children. As far as I am concerned he is free and has been this last year. I don't believe in raising the weapon of death, as the marriage vows teach us. As for the third (husband) well, he better sit up and take notice in time."

Both parties had previously been married twice.

DAMAGES FOR AUTO [illegible]

Just Once! Try Dodson's Liver Tone! Take No Calomel! Listen To Me!

If bilious, constipated, headachy or sick, I guarantee relief without taking dangerous calomel which sickens and salivates.

Stop using calomel! It makes you sick. Don't lose a day's work. If you feel lazy, sluggish, bilious or constipated, listen to me!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful tonight, and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore, it cannot salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep the entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

How Much More Tobacco Will My Heart Stand?

A Vital Question for Every Man Who Smokes or Chews to Answer.

May Cost a Life to Find Out By Experiment

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It does its allotted task and then fights nicotine for supremacy. As long as the heart wins he lives; when it loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pangs. Hearts are like human beings—some are stronger than others, therefore some hearts will stand more tobacco than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand. The man who puts this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe or cigars—or chewing tobacco—is taking a madman's chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may not lose them. He is indulging in a costly habit at the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is injurious and that it is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much tobacco your heart will stand without serious results.

But the thought of quitting is unpleasant to most men—even to those who know that tobacco injures them—and to really quit takes more will power than they have and causes more suffering than they can voluntarily endure. To quit the habit, make it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indulgence.

If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty-four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you, then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol tablets. At the end of a week discontinue smoking or chewing for a day and it is probable you will have no desire to resume. At least your desire will be greatly diminished and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure, to quit.

Manufacturers' Note: Nicotol is sold under the positive guaranty that it is not injurious; that it contains no habit forming drugs; that it will help any man to throw off the tobacco habit, and that any druggist will refund the entire purchase price if it fails. It is dispensed in Los Angeles under this guaranty by all the Sun, the Owl, the Loran and the Chambers stores and other good druggists.

The strikers assert the Japanese people have not played fair with China, either in business or diplomacy.

A circular published by the Chinese students contains the following:

"To secure their rights the students have adopted the principle of passive resistance. They are unable to fight against the Peking militarists and enough blood has already been spilled in China. There is no ballot in China. The only thing that could be done was to strike, peacefully, quietly but effectively. To strengthen themselves the students joined with merchants, bankers and laborers, so that if the moment arose when everything else should fail and it became absolutely necessary to force the hand of the Peking militarists, there would be unanimity of aim and action in China. Such unanimity exists today. The shops are shut. The banks have closed their doors. The schools are without people. Labor is on strike. Can any government continue to exist in the presence of the unanimous will of the people of the country that the government should cease to be?"

TRICOLOR :: SUPREME :: TOMORROW.

French to Celebrate Bastille Day, Freedom's Anniversary.

To Appear in the Fall of the Bastille Programme Tomorrow.

Rose Bertrand as "France" and Odile Burghard as "Lorraine" are at the left with the tricolor of the sister republic. At the right, with the Stars and Stripes, are Rose Vergez as "Alsace" and Andree Lerouz as "America."

PREPARATIONS were completed yesterday by the French colony for the celebration tomorrow at Shrine Auditorium of Bastille Day, which is the French Fourth of July. There will be an entertainment in the afternoon and a grand ball in the evening, with one admission charge for both.

Louis Stentous, French Consul here, will preside and will deliver an address as will also Lieut. George Le Mesnager, whom the French government made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor, for his services in the war. Although past 70 years old, Lieut. Le Masnager left his home here in 1914, went to France and fought throughout the war. He was last Sunday presented with the cross of the Legion of Honor by Mr. Sentous, at a picnic given by the French colony at the ranch of F. Pellissier at Whittier. More than 600 members of the French community cheered as Mr. Sentous pinned the decoration on the coat of the veteran.

At the exercises tomorrow, Mayor Snyder and Charles Winsel, the Belgian Vice-Consul at Los Angeles, also will speak, and other features of the programme are as follows:

FROM THE ODEON.

Recitation of the Marseillaise by Madame Rose Dione of the Theater Odeon, Paris, with orchestra accompaniment under the direction of L. N. Meyer.

Procession of the Allies, represented by local consuls, accompanied by young ladies dressed to represent the returned provinces of Lorraine, which will be portrayed by Miss Odile Burghard, and Alsace, by Miss Rose Vergez, escorted by Emile Labarrere in the uniform of a French soldier or poilu.

Singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Mme. Myrtle Colby.

Presentation to Mrs. A. Donato of Los Angeles of the decoration bestowed upon her by the Queen of Belgium for her work in connection with the local committee for the relief of Belgium, after which the Belgian national hymn, La Brabanconne, will be sung.

Fencing match between Pierre Aurchard and Adjutant Uttenhove.

Songs by Mme. Theodore Winieska and Miss Nini Guerin.

Folk dancers, portraying in costume the national dances of Bohemia.

After a song from the opera "I Pagliacci" by Lino di Cunji, the programme will end with a tableau representing France and the Allies, in which the following young ladies will take part: Misses G. Amestoy, A. Sentous, L. Chaldu, B. Navarret, L. Navarret, A. Navarret, Dephine Taix, Idia Taix, A. Cazaux, Prudence Vergez, H. Sproat, M. Dupuy, A. Lassallette, Josephine Faure, A. Davin, M. Rambaud, Blanche Glaudel, G. Glaudel, Henriette Klamroth, J. Eyraud, I. Bertrand, Rose Labrucherie, Florence Wingarden, L. Clos, Jeanne Clos, J. Pilario, E. Seaton, under the direction of Mme. Marie Martin.

The stage will be decorated in honor of the occasion, France being represented on one side of the platform by Miss R. Bertrand, the United States on the other by Miss Andree Leroux, and in addition there will be French, American and other soldiers and flags of the Allies. The Grand Army of the Republic will be represented by Capt. C. A. Phelps.

All members of the dance committee, headed by Martin Bertrand, Jr., are former soldiers who served either in the American or French army during the recent war. The dancing will start at 8 o'clock and continue until 1 a.m.

WALTER J. WREN IS DEAD.

After an illness of several months, Walter J. Wren, 46 years old, died at his home, 2810 West Seventh street, at an early hour yesterday morning. Death was due to complications following an attack of influenza last October. Mr. Wren had been seriously ill but four days, and his death was a surprise to his many friends.

Walter J. Wren.

The funeral services will be held at the undertaking parlors of Garrett & Co., at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Interment will be in the Santa Monica cemetery.

Mr. Wren is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jane I. Wren, one daughter, Gene Ethelyn, aged 2½ years; his mother, Mrs. Catherine Wren; a sister, Mrs. Beatrice Wren Norman, and his father, Walter H. Wren, who is now in England. The mother and sister reside at 1151 East Forty-seventh place.

When he was 12 years of age, in 1886, Mr. Wren's parents moved to Los Angeles, and since that time he has lived either in this city or in some of the neighboring towns. He received his education at the Santa Monica and Los Angeles schools. Since coming to this State the deceased has never traveled farther than thirty miles from Los Angeles, it was announced yesterday.

On November 12, 1902, Mr. Wren married Miss Jane I. Graham of Pasadena, and their only child was born on the fifteenth anniversary of the wedding. For a number of years Mr. Wren has been associated with Egbert Van Allen, a boyhood friend, in the fire insurance business, under the firm name of Wren & Van Allen.

Mr. Wren for many years took a deep interest in municipal affairs, and on January 5, 1905, he was appointed by Mayor Owen McAleer as a member of the Fire Commission. He served on this commission during the entire McAleer administration.

He was elected a member of the City Council in the latter part of 1906, and took his seat on January 7, 1907. Mr. Wren was deeply interested in the success of the Los Angeles aqueduct project, then in its inception. It was during the regime of this Council also that the Bion J. Arnold report on the traffic solution was made.

EDISON TRIAL NEARS.

Ground Cleared in Suit to Stop Purchase by City.

The ground has now been prepared for the trial of the suit of Abner Miller against the city, in which the city's contract to purchase the Edison's distributing system is attacked on the ground that it is invalid. Yesterday Judge Hewitt overruled the demurrer of the plaintiff to the answer and overruled the demurrer to the complaint in intervention. He took under consideration a motion to strike from the answer the allegation that another corporation, not a taxpayer, is back of the suit to hold up the purchase of the Edison's system under the $13,500,000 bond issue.

SEES PEACE DAY IN BERLIN.

Sergt. Harrison W. Jacobs of Co. A, Three Hundred and Twenty-second Field Signal Corps, A.E.F., has the distinction of having been one of the few Americans and the only Los Angeles soldier in Berlin June 28—the day peace was signed.

In a letter to his brother, L. Louis Jacobs of the Piedmont apartments, at 1942 Central avenue, Sergt. Jacobs says he was sent to Berlin as a dispatch bearer for the American commission. He stopped at the Hotel Adlon, Unter den Linden.

"I arrived in Berlin, from Coblenz," he writes, "and was quartered at one of the best hotels in Europe, with better eats than I've had in many a day, an American bar where gin-fizz and Scotch highballs are the easiest things the bar boys make, and a lobby and tearoom filled with the wildest wild women I have ever run across.

"Last night I had the time of my life. Every time I'd stop to look in a shop window I'd have a crowd around me staring as though I was the missing link. One place I was in last night is called the "Fox Trot" and I don't know why unless it's because the fox trot is unknown there, but they do a dance that outshimmies the shimmie in its wildest moments.

"At first they were reluctant to let me in, fearing an Allied uniform would cause a riot. After I got in they began speculating as to who I was. Some said I was an Englander and others thought I was Australian. Finally I told them I was an American, and from then on I was sitting pretty. The way they bought drinks and tried to 'propaganda' me you would have thought the peace terms rested with me.

"I came here expecting to find a mob of poorly dressed and starving people, and instead I find them dressed as well as the people are in Paris."

The NEW EDISON

Persistent attempts are made by "talking machine" manufacturers and dealers to persuade the public that "talking machines" will play Edison Re-Creations

—WHY?—

—there is food for thought in that question!

Why so much anxiety to convince phonograph buyers that Edison Re-Creations can be played on "talking machines?" Is it a frank acknowledgment of the superior tone and reproducing powers of the NEW EDISON?

Is it a desperate attempt to make the public believe that the same results achieved by the NEW EDISON can be equaled by ordinary talking machines playing Edison Re-Creations?

In such attempts, the fact is overlooked that it is not Edison Re-Creations alone which produce such enviable results, but it is the COMBINATION of Edison Re-Creations played on the NEW EDISON instrument.

As we have frequently emphasized, IT IS UTTERLY IMPOSSIBLE for ANY OTHER INSTRUMENT TO PLAY EDISON RE-CREATIONS with the same result as when they are played on the NEW EDISON, and it is impossible for any talking machine to play Edison Re-Creations without ruining the record.

Come to Fitzgerald's—"Home of the New Edison"—and have the truth demonstrated to you beyond question.

WAS WIFE OF TWO.

Thrifty Woman Accused of Taking Soldier's Pay Unfairly.

Among the indictments returned by the Federal grand jury, is one against Mrs. Estella Mitchell, as she is known in San Diego, on the charge of illegally receiving the pay allowance of Claude Austin Mitchell of the United States ship Brutus, while she was the wife of Harry Brooks, now residing in Arizona.

It is the allegation of the government that while she was the common law wife of Mitchell, and was known as Mrs. Mitchell, that she was the lawful wife of Brooks. The evidence also shows that after she had received $130, as her allowance as the wife of Mitchell, that she brought an action against Brooks and was divorced. The defendant is now at liberty under bond, and she will plead to the indictment tomorrow morning in Judge Oscar A. Trippet's court.

TROUBLE OVER. The President has signed the order turning back the wires from government to private operation. Now if you get the wrong number don't try to blame it on Mr. Wilson.

HOUSE CLEANING. What is wanted for Mexico is an army of about a million stalwart men heavily armed with vacuum cleaners. Then the whole country might be polished up and placed in condition to receive company.

THE BOOSTERS. If America is to carry coal to Newcastle and heat most of Europe the price of the black-hearted stuff is also certain to be again boosted as far as the home consumer is concerned. It doesn't take much of an excuse to elevate the price of a commodity and this seems to be it.

THE PENALTY. The French Assembly is debating a bill which provides the death penalty for profiteers in foodstuffs. It is not expected to become a law, but it indicates the temper in which people find themselves as the result of raising the prices of domestic necessities to a point that can neither be understood nor excused.

BARS ARE DOWN. Trade barriers against Germany have been lifted and the land is no longer a commercial outlaw. Nevertheless it is too late for the Prussians to invade America with their Culmbachers, Wurtzburgers and other notorious brews. They will have to get in their deadly work with the odoriferous limburger, against which no effective gas mask has yet been devised.

THE MISSING LINK. It appears that some of the police department at Des Moines have been running a blind pig at headquarters. In another large city the forbidden traffic has for some time been chiefly in the hands of the police. This should simplify matters considerably. In a bone-dry world, when the thirsty stranger would have refreshment, all he would have to do would be to get in touch with the policeman on his beat. That amiable servant of the public could promptly dive down into his boot and produce that which inebriates at forty rods.

RED DOPE. "Join the one big union, the I.W.W." Such is the theme of the propaganda that is being conducted in Los Angeles—secretly to avoid the new State sedition law, but with sufficient boldness that the circulars are found almost daily in the sections of the city that the reds hope to find fertile for radical recruits.

"Be a red!" is the closing appeal. "Don't be hoodwinked by the A. F. of L."

Judging from these circulars the reds are breaking away from the conservative element in union labor. They have no use for any but those who will join them to overthrow all organized government through violence. A workman who puts his country before his union is regarded as an ingrate by the radicals. They hold that governments are organized only for plunder, and they would have the rule of the people replaced by the "dictatorship of the proletariat." The "one big union," the soviet rule.

One of the most hopeful symptoms of the times is the division that is appearing between the law-abiding and the lawless elements of the labor unions. After trying for three years to gain control of the American Federation of Labor the violent radicals are now placing that organization in the same category as employers of labor. Since they cannot rule the A. F. of L. they are going to wreck the organization and establish soviet government in its stead.

Literature of the I.W.W. is now contraband. It is circulated in much the same way as opium and other poisonous drugs, and it is probably as harmful to the mental system of the working classes. Just now special efforts are being made to combine the oil workers and the railway workers into the one big union. Their leaders are seeking sufficient control over the working classes of the community to enable them to test the "general-strike" system in Southern California.

Surface indications give one the impression that the radicals are rapidly losing ground. In separating from the body of the labor unions they are divorcing themselves from the only force that has hitherto taken them seriously. If the reds lose the labor unions they are left without the means of applying any of their weird governmental systems. The unions have supplied the fuel with which to operate the I.W.W. machine. When the reds separate from the law-observing unions they will find the force lacking to put the least of their Bolshevist ideas into practice.

The reds have lost caste with the legitimate labor unions; they may continue to plot in secret and to indulge in sabotage, but they are left without a formidable clientele. He who joins the reds at this period of world progress will attend most of the lodge meetings behind prison walls. The day of the reds is passing, almost as swiftly as that of the [illegible]

THE STEP FORWARD.

THE world has gone forward step by step from the beginning. At each step it closed an epoch, leaving behind it the old order and taking up the new. Habits of thought, modes of procedure, the attitude of man toward his fellow man—all these things changed whenever the world took a forward step.

And now the world has taken another step forward. It is doubtless the most momentous step of all.

It was said by all students of life that when the great war that has now come to an end would have spent its course, the world would be a world made over; that it would be a new world.

And what was said is now come true. It is a new world. Old ways, old habits, old thoughts—they must be abandoned now for new ways, new habits, new thoughts, and, what is more important, new actions.

The attitude of man toward his fellow man that obtained four years ago when this war was launched, had been set up in the human mind a century before. It had not changed in any important way for a hundred years.

But it is a state of mind that cannot possibly harmonize with the trend of human thought today.

That each of us, as individuals, shall recognize this fact is of the utmost importance. That we must readjust ourselves is absolutely necessary. Whoever fails to do so will find himself fallen behind the procession. He will be swiftly outdistanced.

For, whenever the world has taken a step forward it has done so eagerly. The first few years of an epoch are always its greatest years. Wherefore, the next year, the next ten years, the next forty years—they will be the greatest years the world has ever known.

After that the pace will again slacken, the world will again lag. Men will become set in their habits once more, and in their actions. It will be the phlegmatism that is to precede the next step forward.

So, it is now that hour wherein we must shake ourselves out, as we shake old clothes free from dust and moths in the spring. We must get into step with the world as it takes this step forward, and we must act quickly or not be counted.

II.

IT WOULD seem that all men must be impressed with the truth of these statements, and yet there are apparently many men who are not. They are of two classes, namely, first those who contend that the world was all right before the war was fought and that it should go on now as it was going; and the other class is that of whom it may be said, once it gets an idea into its head, nothing can change it.

Both these classes of men are doomed to defeat. They cannot keep step with the forward-going world of today.

Perhaps the best term to apply to all these is "reactionaries." They refuse to recognize progress and new ideas. When anything arises to disturb and upset their beliefs and convictions they demand a return to them as soon as the disturbance has passed. This is really what a reactionary is. He moves in a circle—never goes forward.

Well, to begin with, let us take the opponents of the League of Nations. They were schooled to believe that wars are unavoidable, if not necessary. They are proponents of the doctrine of the rule of the strong. And, in this country, they are also men who oppose internationalism.

They have come out into the open in Congress and elsewhere, outside of political circles. Some of them are conscientious and sincere. Others are jealous or prejudiced. But, they are all reactionaries, and they are all tagged for defeat.

Any man who supposes that the world is not solemnly determined to sternly set its face against war in the future and forever, must be a man who would not believe he were wet when he had fallen into a mill pond.

The world was sick and tired of war long ago, but it could see no way to avoid it. Now it does see a way; it has been pointed out and agreed upon. And yet there are men called statesmen who stubbornly oppose the very suggestion of an international understanding, not to speak of nations actually bound together in a covenant for the world's peace.

Bismarck was that kind of man, and he was thought to be the greatest man of the generation in which he lived. But, now we see that he was as shortsighted as the proverbial person who could not see farther than the end of his nose.

The things that Bismarck did through blood and iron have been undone, completely; everything that he set up is now fallen and in the dust.

The opponents of the League of Nations refuse to recognize that the world is now in touch from end to end. They refuse to believe that the wireless telegraph, steamship, submarine, airship, railroad and automobile have made the whole earth every man's land, and that there is not anywhere any more a no-man's land. Their thoughts run in a circle; they think they are moving ahead, but they are moving in a circle, right back to the point from which they started.

In other words they are "moss backs." They are fossils, and so far behind the thought of this hour that they might as well be relics of the stone age.

And it doesn't matter whether they be products of Harvard or that they are wild men of the West. In either case they are behind the times.

III.

THERE were other fixed ideas in the world for the past one hundred years that the great war has utterly annihilated, and to which we can never react.

So many are the ideas and ideals of the past that are now gone forever that it would require a long list to enumerate and name them. But, in addition to the abolition of war, there are two other dead issues now left on the blood-soaked fields of Flanders and France — two that stand out more decadent than the rest.

And these two are that there can be no rule of class over class again, and that reform cannot be obtained through physical force.

To put the matter more specifically, the doctrine of the Bolsheviki and the I.W.W. are as dead as the doctrine of the divine right of kings.

Wherever in the world there may be a movement to restore any king to a throne from which he has been overthrown, it is a hopeless movement, and they who are behind it are reactionaries without the slightest chance to succeed.

And also wherever there be a movement to set up class rule as the Bolsheviki vainly tried to set it up in Russia and as the crazy I.W.W.'s are trying to set it up in America and elsewhere, the movement is doomed.

The rule of kings was class rule, and the rule of labor over capital, or of capital over labor, would also be class rule. And there can never be class rule in any form any more. The step forward that the world now takes absolutely precludes any such possibility. The advocates of class rule and labor wars are old fogies, who reason in a circle; who think they are moving ahead, but who are only moving in a circle—back to the old order where they started.

Reacting to the old order are those who say we must have kings and emperors and khans, and those who say that one class of workers in the world shall rule over other classes.

The battle against democracy is a thing of the past, and every form of violence on the part of discontented classes is a thing of the past, so far as effectiveness is concerned.

The labor-union "strike" is old-fashioned and hopeless, when results are considered. Yes, the strike is as old-fashioned as the wooden plow. Syndicalism, sabotage, I.W.W.-ism and all similar isms are ideas born a century ago and are now out of date.

Even as the "royalists" of France and Germany are reactionaries, so are the Bolsheviki and the I.W.W.

IV.

IN DWELLING on all these matters from the point of view we have taken, let it not be thought that we are crystal-gazing or dealing with dreams. The statements made here are statements of facts.

We are to remember that the future of the world, pictured as we have here endeavored to picture it, is not at all an extravagance of the imagination or an effort to cinematize Utopia. We are not about to enter Utopia. The step forward which the world is taking now is very far indeed from the borders of the lotus lands.

Indeed, the world is not longing for Utopia or for lotus lands of any description. What the world longs for now is the chance to work and to be permitted to have the joy of work.

Is it, then, an extravagance to say that the league into which the free nations of the earth have bound themselves for lasting peace is a reality and not a dream? Is it an extravagance to say that we shall never swing back to the old, wretched struggles of class against class?

Let us open our eyes to the sun. It is fair above us in the heavens. In the blood of the battles there was a soldier who sang of the "Great Dawn." It is here.

THE CALL TO ALL. More strikes have been called in this country since the first of the year than during any other six months in our history. They have not been caused by a reduction of war-time wage scales; but their general purpose is to reduce independent industry to a state of servitude and shackle the production of the country to organized labor. The radicals in the labor movement are as selfish and domineering as the military caste of Germany; it is their adaptation of the Hohenzollern principle that has brought about an industrial crisis at the very opening of the reconstruction era.

That a genuine crisis exists is evident to anyone who will stop to consider the number of workmen who are out on strike throughout the country and who will observe the analogy between this enforced idleness and the high cost of necessities. The laws of supply and demand are immutable; when production lags and consumption continues all the decrees of all the governments in the world will not be sufficient to check the rise in prices.

During the last four weeks nearly 10,000 men and women have gone on strike in Los Angeles county alone. Other strikes are threatened. In every instance those leaving work were receiving higher wages than they ever earned before in their lives and enjoyed the most ideal working conditions in the whole country. Why are they now idle? Because most of them have been dragooned into a radical unionist movement to fasten the closed shop upon Los Angeles industry. It is a movement backed by the radical unionists of the whole country; and its avowed purpose is to crush industrial freedom. Nothing could be more undemocratic. It is the negation of the humanitarian principle, "Live and let live." It is the attempt of the few to exercise dominion over the many. It tramples alike on human liberty and human rights.

Nothing is more repugnant to the ideals of justice and equality than this attempt to establish a caste in labor. Such castes have existed in India for two thousand years; and through them the labor and industry of that country have been held in perpetual decadence. For a generation Los Angeles has fought free of caste; and The Times is fully convinced that the great mass of our citizens are firm in their resolve that industrial freedom must be maintained in this community. But there is a noticeable tendency in certain quarters to a relaxation of effort. Too many take it for granted that all the problems of the generation were solved by the Paris conference. They did their part during the war; but they imagine that industrial conditions will now adjust themselves without their help. They know that there are labor troubles; but they are not concerning themselves so long as their own business or jobs are not immediately affected. They need an awakening. Gentlemen, the red menace is here!

Two notable strikes have been in progress for several weeks, the one aimed at the shipyards, the other at the telephone companies. The management of each of these industries has conformed to the rule of employment laid down by the War Labor Board, THAT THERE SHALL BE NO DISCRIMINATION AGAINST ANY EMPLOYEE BY REASON OF UNION OR NON-UNION AFFILIATIONS. But the strikers are insisting that the industries shall be operated on the closed-shop principle, that no man or woman shall be employed who is not a paying member of a stipulated labor union.

The Times has received a communication from one of the former employees of the Los Angeles Shipyard and Dry Dock Company. He writes that he has been a member of the machinists' union for a number of years, but that he is one of the conservatives, not believing in the closed-shop principle. He says that working conditions in the shipyard were ideal, probably the best in the whole country, and he deprecates the strike that cost the workmen $25,000 a day for a period of six weeks—more than enough in the aggregate to rebuild the whole plant—and says the strike was called by a few radicals under the leadership of Curly Grow in violation of the rules of the union. This correspondent declares that the strike was the outcome of a personal vendetta which Curly Grow is waging against President Baker of the shipbuilding company; and he ends by saying that the conservative unionists are going back to work at the plant, where they will have collective bargaining—about the only thing in which the union could aid them—and that if they are read out of the union they will form their own organization in the yards and put into effect the principle of self-determination, which was the basis of the Versailles peace treaty.

There is a practical logic in this communication that no walking delegate can contradict. The communication breathes that spirit of personal liberty in industry that is the hope of the generation. It is the Los Angeles spirit. This man has evolved it from his working conditions, while some who have helped to form and develop that spirit have apparently forgotten it.

Los Angeles, as a community, has pledges to fulfill and a duty to perform in maintaining the supremacy of industrial freedom. Some of the greatest industries known to the West are about to be established here; a number of big manufacturing plants are here now. The great incentive which has occasioned this industrial development is the promise of freedom from labor-union bondage. The heads of these industries are not opposed to organized labor; they will treat with their employees collectively as freely as with individuals. But they have selected Los Angeles as the location of their industries because of the guarantee that they would not be hampered here by closed-shop working conditions.

These great organizers of industry know that to be productive labor must be free. They are here because they have been led to believe that in this community industrial freedom exists, that the development of their industry will not be barred by the closed shop. Los Angeles has given this pledge through its organizations and through the militant spirit it has evinced whenever freedom of industry has been attacked. We of Los Angeles cannot be true to ourselves if we prove false to those pledges now. We MUST MAKE GOOD! Every man and woman in Los Angeles who stops to think and whose heart is right WILL HELP.

The tariff board is to be continued. This is the famous organization that meets every once in a while and takes volumes of testimony. The books are carefully hidden away in the government archives, and then the board meets again and grinds out more food for the rats. But it must be said that the salaries of the members go right on.

Just as we have become reconciled to the coming of universal peace in the world, somebody drops a fly into the ointment by predicting that we are to have a coal famine the coming winter. But that does not interest Los Angeles in the least.

THE LANCER.

If time begins to hang heavily upon the hands of the President he might occupy the interval by sitting with force and violence upon the bonehead who gets up the war-savings posters for the Treasury Department.

There must be something distinctly peculiar in the make-up of any real American who can look at a poster like this one and not be ashamed of it:

Two W.S.S.
Brings
A Hero Home.

The mental picture that it brings up is of a forlorn American soldier sitting on the French shores of the Atlantic Ocean with his hand held out begging for alms.

While the government was driving for Liberty Loan money all that anyone could patriotically do was to swallow what we thought and buy as we were able—frequently as we were not able.

But now that it is over and there are no further loans coming I want to register my feeble protest. The whining, whimpering methods of the Treasury Department sound more like the sniffle of a mooching tramp than the dignified demand of the most powerful government in the world calling upon its citizens for that which it has every right to receive.

The British Foreign Office is having a dreadful time finding a suitable Ambassador to take the place of Lord Reading, who, apparently, couldn't stand any more of us.

A writer in one of the British reviews states with much solemnity that the search is for some talented diplomat who will not be so young as to be liable to be turned into an American by the contact, yet one who will be democratic and, above all, will not show any affectation.

Well, we can bear it, of course; but it is an awful prospect—the prospect of a "democratic English diplomat" coming over to us.

To my mind the most abjectly pathetic object on the face of the whole broad world is a titled Englishman trying to be free and chummy with the hoi polloi.

Even the poet, John Masefield, who is writing his impressions of America for a British review, speaks of the distinguished young aviation officer who took him up at Arcadia as "my man."

It's no use trying. They might as well pick out any old diplomat, sound in wind and limb, devoted to 5 o'clock tea, coats that don't fit and queer-looking shoes—and let him patronize us. We don't mind.

I am not sure it is etiquette to talk about these things, but I am really amazed at the turn of events.

My highbrow friends all tell me that every war has been followed by a period of loose morality. And so perhaps it isn't so surprising, after all, to find that the great illustrated magazines seem to be devoting themselves to one grand song of passion about girls' legs.

Every magazine that I pick up seems to be a tumult of limb. Fifth avenue heiresses appear to vie with movie queens in draping themselves in front of the ocean—very much bare queen and very little ocean.

At the theater the artistes wear less and less. There was once a day when Miss Annette Kellermann fairly took our breath away with such candid exhibitions of shape; but now Annette has ceased to have any interest for us. She is too much covered up.

If this is what follows wars it is O.K. of course as between ourselves and Providence. But it makes the prospect of more wars increasingly alarming.

If we are in for an avalanche of twaddle about the youthful killer, Mr. New, for heaven's sake, let us hope the yellow journalists and the yellow lawyers pull something new. "Expert testimony" about insanity and such bunk is too old to have a place in a really up-to-date murder performance.

It sounds very much as though our worthy President had the collaboration of Laura Jean Libbey in writing his messages to the Senate urging upon that august body the League of Nations treaty. His sobs about "breaking the heart of the world" sound more like the subtities of a Universal movie serial than the message of the ruler of a nation.

For my part I am not in the least concerned about the cardiacal conditions of the world. If Europe ever had a heart it has been long since atrophied in favor of the organs devoted to grabbing and devouring.

THE LANCER.

Where It Was Exciting.

North Plains had quite an excitement on election day. Charles Tompkins's team ran away and collided with the team of James Doiel, which in turn ran off, throwing the little Doiel boy out of the wagon. He escaped without serious injury. Carl Christener's saddle pony joined the race, but was soon out of business, not getting to the quarter post. The pony was handicapped with a halter rope and after making four or five jumps stepped on the rope, throwing a somersault and breaking his neck.—[Hillsboro (Or.) Argus.

SATISFACTION.

I've bought a Ford.
Oh, yes, I know
You'll smile; but I don't mind; for, though
You said a "Lizzie" could not vie
With cars of price, you can't deny
That, whether using "high" or "low,"
This little car of mine will GO—
Perhaps that was the reason why
I've bought a Ford!

She'll take me where the wildflowers grow;
Through misty dawn; gold sunset glow;
She'll show me where the shy trout lie
In dark, green pools. My only sigh
Is: I should long ago
Have bought a Ford!

SURPASSES ALL FOREIGN SPAS.

Noted Aviator Says Springs Here Outrank Europe's.

Balmy Climate, Too, Helps to Restore Lost Health.

Sees Big Future for Aerial Work in America.

Maj. Cushman A. Rice, one of the foremost aviation commanders of the United States Army, has just left for Washington after spending two months here recuperating from the effects of wounds and gassing he received in France. Maj. Rice received before leaving a copy of a letter sent to the Adjutant-General by Maj. Gen. W. L. Kenly, formerly commander of the aviation division of the army, recommending Maj. Rice for a commission as colonel in the Army Reserve Corps, and saying: "I cannot write too highly of the work of this officer in France, during the war, and at home."

Maj. Rice, who is the son of former Gov. A. E. Rice of Minnesota, stated before leaving that he will make a report to the medical department of the army of his recovery in Southern California from his war injuries. "I cannot praise too highly," said Maj. Rice, "your climate here, for my health has been restored during the past two months. I look forward to seeing the army medical department some day send men here for treatment, especially in cases of rheumatism and of gassing. The baths at Arrowhead Springs are wonderful, and the springs are 40 per cent. hotter than at any other spa in the world. The government should give its support to these, the most wonderful curative springs in this country."

The future of aviation in this country, Maj. Rice believes, rests with Congress.

"The expense of aviation development," said Maj. Rice, "is too great for private means, and the work is done by the government in England and other European countries. Congress could appropriate money for the aviation section of the army for the next few years, and the machines and flyers could and should be used for the transportation of the mails between all American cities of over 100,000 in population.

"America beat the world in being the first to fly across the Atlantic Ocean. We should keep ahead by continuing to be first in the development of this coming commercial method of quick transportation and travel. It is up to Congress.

"American flyers showed what they could do in this war, even though most of the early flying was done in foreign-made planes. When the armistice was signed the United States had 7500 of the finest trained and best flyers in the world, and American-made planes and the Liberty motor have made good in a big way. But we must not stand still."

Maj. Rice was thirty-eight years old when the United States entered the war, and was on his estates in Cuba. He had a brilliant record in the Spanish-American war, where his regiment was brigaded with other regiments commanded by Gen. Harrison Gray Otis. Maj. Rice, then a captain in the Thirty-fourth United States Regular Infantry, served in the Philippines, where he was cited for bravery in saving the life of a member of his command.

Arriving in Washington immediately after the United States entered the war, Maj. Rice was commissioned a lieutenant-colonel of infantry, but despite his age he desired to join the aviation service, and no commission being available he resigned his infantry commission and inlisted as a private in the Aviation Corps. He had already taken training as a flyer at his own expense.

Rice, who had been a captain in the regulars and a lieutenant-colonel and had been an officer in many lands, remained as a private in the aviation section, perfecting himself as a flyer until he was promoted to a majorship in the aviation section and sent to England in command of the first American aviation units attached to the British army. He took part in the fighting on the Somme, where he was the first American officer to be cited by the British for bravery, and then took part in the battles of Chaulnes, where the American aviation losses were twenty-two per cent., and also in the battles of the Nesle, on the Marne, and at Chateau Thierry and at Soissons. He was twice wounded in action and after the armistice was signed was invalided home, and remained in active service on furlough during his stay in California.

CUDAHYS PROUD.

Packing Company's War Savings Society Leads on Coast.

The War Savings Society of the Cudahy Packing Company in this city is making elaborate plans to eclipse this year its 1918 record for selling Thrift and War Savings Stamps, and boost to a still greater degree the national thrift campaign in Los Angeles. The society has been responsible for starting many persons on the road to financial independence.

As part of the movement to teach the gospel of wise buying, steady saving and safe investment, the Cudahy Savings Society sold more than $12,000 worth of Thrift and Saving Stamps last year. Evidence of the enthusiasm of the members of this organization is manifested in a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Glass from William J. Carlisle, an active thrift booster in the society.

"We are the first permanent society to be formed on the Coast," said Mr Carlisle, "and we are all very proud of this honor. We are now working on a plan which we hope will exceed the sale of stamps of last year, and always have before us the word thrift."

SCIENCE COURSES AT KROTONA INSTITUTE.

The summer session of the Krotona Institute of Theosophy, 2130 Vista del Mar avenue, Hollywood, opened Monday and will continue for six weeks. Experimental demonstrations will be made possible in many of the courses by the use of the equipment of the recently-established scientific research laboratory, in charge of Dr. Frederick Finch Strong. The seventeen courses include psychology, psychotherapy, mystic Christianity, folk lore, myth and symbol, occult chemistry and vibratory physics.

ACTORS' FUND SHOW TONIGHT.

Charity Benefit Sure to Draw Big Crowd and Money.

Superlatives Exhausted in Describing Features.

Couple of World-Famous Stars may be a "Surprise."

Tonight's Actors' Fund benefit at the Mason Operahouse will commence at 8 o'clock and it is expected that the last act on the long and varied programme will not appear until about midnight.

Manager Wyatt's prediction that the Los Angeles contribution to the Actors' Fund treasury will be larger than that of any other city is based upon the generous sum realized from the auction sale of boxes and seats, together with the great demand for seats at the theater box office.

Mayor Snyder will make an introductory address, after which the biggest people of the theatrical and film worlds will assume the task of providing an entertainment that will far surpass anything the local stage has ever known.

Not the least interesting part of tonight's benefit will be the audience, because hundreds of seats have been purchased by prominent personages of the amusement profession, and included in the gathering will be leading representatives of every branch of the stage and film departments.

Programmes and flowers will be disposed of by a bevy of young women whose achievements in the motion pictures have brought them world-wide popularity. Tom Mix, he of the intrepid picture stunts, will chaperon this fleet of feminine loveliness, and the famous screen star declares that he fears the task that is ahead of him more than he ever has the most dangerous, pulse-quickening feat of his career before the camera.

While there has been a literally tremendous demand for seats, Manager Wyatt announces that there are some choice locations remaining in the ticket rack, while scores of philanthropically - inclined professionals have turned seats back to be resold for the Actors' Fund treasury.

This evening's programme will include the names of such eminent entertainers as Houdini, the handcuff king and master-general of mystery; Fred Stone, the foremost star of the musical comedy field; Will Rogers, the rope expert and comedian whose popularity with the Ziegfeld Follies' audiences has extended over several years; Sophye Bernard, a soprano and comedienne of rare cleverness; Enid Bennett, the screen star, who formerly graced the speaking stage in the support of noted luminaries of the native theater; Fred Niblo, a monologuist whose reputation is world-wide; Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, who will prove that he can do considerably more than he is called upon to do in his comedy screen efforts; Charles Murray, the always popular funmaker from the Keystone fun factory; Lou Anger, a recent Orpheum graduate to the ranks of motion-picture managers; Jean Havez, the song writer, who will contribute a number of new selections that he has composed especially for tonight's Actors' Fund programme.

Henry Miller, Blanche Bates and company will be seen in Clyde Fitch's one-act play, "Frederic Lemaitre;" Louise Dresser, the favorite comedienne and singer of songs, long a popular star on the Keith and Orpheum circuits; Charles Evans, who will be recalled by older theater-goers as a member of the theatrical firm of Evans and Hoey of "A Parlor Match" fame.

Theodore Roberts, the most distinguished character actor of screendom, will represent the board of directors of the Actors' Fund and speak in their behalf; Lewis Cody, a screen favorite who formerly was a member of the Winter Garden organization; Texas Guinan, another Winter Garden graduate, who will offer several song selections; Wallace Reid, the popular film star, who is a musician of no little talent and whose jazz orchestra will delight those who care for this sort of music; William Desmond, a stage-screen star.

Lewis S. Stone will come direct from the Majestic Theater to the Mason to represent the stock players of Los Angeles; Caites Brothers, who are this week delighting the Pantages audiences; T. Roy Barnes, the clever comedian who is headlining the current Orpheum programme; Wilfred Lucas, who will offer a character novelty—and in addition to this unprecedented array of pre-eminent artists Manager Wyatt promises one or two other notables, the very highest in their respective branches of the amusement world, who will be introduced as the "surprise" numbers of the wonderful programme.

RADIO AND TANKS.

Fine Chances Given to Ambitious Young Men in the Army.

Young men eager to become expert radio operators are being offered an unusual chance to become proficient in all branches of the work and to qualify for profitable positions and desirable assignments on their return to civil life. A wireless school has been established at the tank training center, Camp Meade, Maryland, with the finest radio equipment and most able instructors. Amateurs will get instruction there that they could never receive in ordinary schools.

Men with previous experience in the army can enlist for one or three years. Those who enlist for the first time will have to serve three years. There is no reserve clause now. Col. Wetherill, who is in charge of recruiting here, says that many applicants are eager to enlist for tank work because they will have a fine chance to better themselves during enlistment. A trade can be learned, as the corps operation is entirely mechanical.

Homesick Reflection.

Capt. Wahl: As accountable officer, when do you expect to get away from Mehun?

Capt. Brest: It looks to me as if I will be the one to fill in the hole when the flagpole is taken down.—[Mehun News.

POLITICS.

THE WATCHMAN.

TREND OF POLITICAL THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

During the past few days approximately half a milion people who happily claim Los Angeles as their habitat have been deeply amused and more or less directly interested in a wink and its results. The Watchman is tempted to give a dissertation on the pitfalls that lay in wait for the winker, in view of developments at the City Hall, where Minute Clerk Carroll was placed under temporary suspension from his duties in the Council chamber because he twitched his eye and smole a smile while our august Mayor was delivering his inaugural address.

But, on second thought, I forbear. That wink, though its results were highly embarrassing for the winkee, has brought about results that will be beneficial to the public, and I don't know but that Mr. Carroll should be classed as a public benefactor. His wink, which has now become locally famous, gave the city's new chief executive opportunity to reach over Davie's shoulders and deliver a preachment to all city employees that has been taken to heart.

I will not undertake to go down the entire list of this preachment even unto the forty-ninthly, my brethren, but here are some of the heads:

The office of Mayor, and its dignity as representing the head of a great municipality, must be respected by every one of the city's employees, or they will walk the chalk-line.

Discreet conduct and the utmost courtesy must be given by all employees in their dealings with the public. They must remember at all times that they are public servants. Time and patience must be used in giving the public information desired, and prompt attention must be paid to persons appearing at the counters of the city offices. (Hear! Hear!)

City employees will be expected to most religiously refrain from accepting favors, in the way of dinners, gifts, etc., from firms and corporations with which the city does business. The Mayor says that the public draws but one inference from the city employees' acceptance of such favors, and that the practice must be stopped pronto.

Altogether, I think that the Carroll wink was well wunk.

An Executive Budget.

The Finance Committee of the City Council is preparing a budget for the present fiscal year that will run into millions of dollars. The new budget doubtless will contain as much guesswork as former city budgets similraly prepared.

All over the country there is a growing demand for executive budgets, national, State and municipal. The Mayor should prepare a budget, based upon signed statements from the heads of departments, and should submit it to the Council for its consideration. Ample time should be given to this most important work.

A joint conference of civic organizations of Los Angeles, including the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, Municipal League, Central Labor Council, Realty Board and others, requested the last City Council to submit a charter amendment authorizing and requiring the Mayor to submit an executive budget to the City Council for its consideration. The City Council gave these civic bodies to understand that the requested amendment to the charter would be submitted, but later refused to submit it. The world war was on at the time and the organizations asking for this measure hardly felt justified, under the conditions existing, in taking the matter directly to the public.

It appears that the sentiment among business interests of Los Angeles is growing strongly in favor of the more business-like method which an executive budget implies, and the question of such a charter amendment doubtless will be brought to the front again.

The Mayor's Appointments.

Everyone interested in the new regime at the City Hall has watched with deep interest the appointments of Mayor Snyder. So far, the comments are highly commendatory.

The personnel of the Police Commission (Messrs. Burge and Fishburn) represents wide business experience, probity, interest in public welfare and a broad-mindedness that gives promise of excellent service. The ability and high character of Chief of Police Home are matters of public knowledge. A. C. Denman, Jr., one of the new Fire Commissioners, is a man of strong executive ability who will apply thorough business methods to all matters that go before that board. The other new member, Francis Drake, is apparently a sop to the labor union element; but Drake has seen so much hell in the constant squabbles of the local labor unions during the past few years that this may, in some degree, qualify him to sit on a fire board.

Mayor Snyder is not receiving a grand rush of resignations from Woodman appointees, although those very close to him have taken occasion to intimate that such action would be acceptable. In fact, at least one of the appointees of the former Mayor has visited the new Mayor and in his introductory statement has declared that he proposes to fill out his full term.

"I want to inform you, Mr. Mayor," said this visitor, "that I am not going to resign, but shall stick to my job."

"The manner in which you introduce yourself at this visit shows that you are lacking in qualifications for the position," was the Mayor's immediate retort. But the resignation of this appointee has not yet been filed. Rumor says that there will be a clean sweep in his office when the Mayor gets into good working action.

Strike Boss for More Pay.

And now the well-known Mr. Citizen-and-Taxpayer, who hires the officials at the City Hall to do this municipal work for him, is to be asked for an increase in pay for the Mayor and members of the City Council.

As one of the last acts of the retiring City Council, it voted to instruct the City Attorney to prepare for submission to a vote of the people a charter amendment which would give a salary of $6500 per year to the Mayor and $300 a month to Council members. Notwithstanding present schedules of salaries in official positions, there is never a dearth of candidates therefor. But the higher rate of pay doubtless would attract a wider variety of material.

Some years ago, when Frederick J. Whiffen was president of the City Council, he argued that the offices of Mayor and Councilmen should carry salaries commensurate with the positions of like responsibilities with great business corporations, or else that they should be absolutely without salary provisions and be made solely positions of high honor. Mr. Whiffen argued that, under the latter condition, there was every likelihood that some of the highest grade of business and professional talent in the city would seek to serve the city. The idea is worth thinking about.

Return to Old Principles.

It looks like a return to the old principle that the voice of the majority shall be given full consideration when the new City Council on its first ballot places Boyle Workman in the president's chair at its organization session. Mr. Workman headed the list of Councilmen in the volume of votes received, he being 815 votes ahead of the next highest nominee.

East Side Has Request.

A delegation of East Side business men and residents will visit Mayor Snyder today to urge that he appoint B. F. Glenn as a member of the Park Commission. Commissioner Cline has told the Mayor that he proposes to tender his resignation. Mr. Glenn is active in affairs of the East Side, and is an official of the branch Federal Bank, located on North Broadway; for three years he has been chairman of the Lincoln Park Fourth of July celebrations. His appointment is urged by the North Broadway Board of Trade and the North Main-Street Improvement Association. East Side residents believe they should have a representative on the Park Commission, because of the importance of Lincoln Park, and the fact that in the territory across the river there are also located Sycamore Grove and Garvanza Park, while Elysian Park, the city's second largest park area, is adjacent to this district.

Wants Nonpartisan Committees.

F. Ray Groves, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, is in San Francisco, where he went to hold a conference with Democratic leaders regarding the coming reception of President Wilson. Mr. Groves had received a telegram from Secretary Tumulty, stating that President Wilson's trip is to be purely in behalf of the League of Nations and that all reception committees should be nonpartisan in their personnel. Mayor Rolph assured Mr. Groves yesterday, that he would appoint such a committee for San Francisco, and Mayor Snyder proposes to appoint as his committee all the Mayors of Southern California cities.

Where Petroleum Riches May Lie.

Test Well of Imperial Valley Company.

A report by a well-known geologist and indications met in the first weeks of drilling lead to the belief that this barren region in the San Felipe Hills will become an opulent petroleum-producing center. The project is financed by 200 Imperial Valley business men.

EXPECT OIL IN IMPERIAL.

Business Men of Rich Valley See Glowing Prospects in First Test Well.

Prospects of making Imperial Valley one of the leading oil fields in the West are being exploited today by an organization of 200 bankers and business men of Imperial county. Actual drilling has been under way two months, a test well has been drilled, gas has been reached and progress is being made so rapidly that, within a few weeks, the company expects to strike oil, thereby opening up a new district to this important industry.

The organization is known as the Imperial Valley Oil and Developing Association and is limited to 200 members, all residents of the valley. The company has acquired title to more than eight sections of prospective oil and gas lands in the district, and this land has been surveyed, platted and recorded and a complete geological report has been made by Dr. Starke, a well-known geologist.

A special standard rig has been set up on the property, which is located west of the State highway in the San Felipe Hills, and a derrick is completed. A road has been constructed to the property and a permanent camp has been built for the employees.

Many handicaps have been encountered and overcome by the working crews in the prospect field, but the governing board of the association has expressed its belief that within 2000 feet of the surface, oil in large quantities will be obtained. This belief is based on Dr. Starke's report, which stated the surface indications in this field indicated it would equal the Bakersfield district, if developed properly. At 500 feet gas was taken from the test hole which, according to the association officials, bears out their belief that the exploitation of this district will not be in vain.

Among the Imperial Valley residents who are members of the association are the following bankers: Maj. W. T. Dunn, Leroy Holt of El Centro, J. M. Edmunds of Calexico, J. W. Blanchard of Holtville, George Nolan of Brawley and O. K. Thomas of Calipatria, and E. R. Simonds, District Attorney of Imperial county, Frank Beal, Supervisor of Imperial county, and Howard Shores, a Brawley business man.

HELD AS ARCH SWINDLER.

Texan is Convicted of Frauds Involving Rich Angelenos and Many Millions.

After breaking jail once and unsuccessfully attempting the same feat several times, C. W. Roberts, who is alleged to have "sold" millions of dollars' worth of land he did not own to weathy people in Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Francisco and a dozen other cities of the West, has just been convicted at Beeville, Tex., on one of four charges of swindling and sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary. Advices received here yesterday also stated he is now at liberty under $2000 bond pending the hearing of an appeal—regularly released from the cell he vainly and repeatedly attacked with smuggled saws and knives.

Roberts was arrested at San Francisco about three years ago, after a flood of fraudulent deeds arriving at the offices of the clerks of Brooks and Kleberg counties, Tex., had told those officials somebody was doing a lively, profitable and crooked business in half a dozen Western States.

It is charged that Roberts ranged from St. Louis to Los Angeles, "selling thousands of perfectly good acres of Texas land to which he had no right—the site of the Courthouse at Falfurrias, Tex., other parts of that town and generous slices of the famous 300,000-acre ranch of Ed Lasater, near Falfurrias. Roberts is said to have subdivided the ranch, though it was a perfectly good ranch, and Mr. Lasater used it in his business. The result of this informal subdivision, according to investigators, was a long series of transactions beginning at St. Louis and ending with the arrest at San Francisco, all of which are supposed to have netted some millions of dollars.

However, if Roberts really cleared a fortune from the alleged swindles, the wealth is well hidden. Not a cent has been found.

Upon being taken from California to Texas for trial, Roberts was first placed in jail at Kingsville. He escaped from that jail and after a long search was apprehended in Missouri. He was returned to Kingsville and was afterwards taken to Beeville, Tex., and placed in jail there for safer keeping. While a prisoner there, he made several unsuccessful attempts to escape.

Once a negro boy prisoner planned to knock Sheriff Thornton on the head. Mr. Thornton was expecting trouble and took his son, Jack, with him to the cells. He told Jack what to do in case the prisoners should get the upper hand of him, arming the son with a big monkey wrench. Watching the negro closely, Sheriff Thornton succeeded in warding off the attack and knocked him down with the cell key. The negro then made a statement involving Roberts, but the latter laid the blame on two other prisoners. The two prisoners later attacked Roberts and would have beaten him up had not his cries reached Mr. Thornton, who went to his rescue.

Saws and knives were used by Roberts at other times in unsuccessful attempts to break jail at Beeville.

His appeal has not been heard. He was sentenced by a jury in a Texas district court to serve five years in the penitentiary on one count, and three others have not come to trial.

MANY MORE PUPILS.

Striking Gain in U. of C. Summer Session Attendance.

The University of California's summer session in Los Angeles now holding its second session has already registered an attendance of 874 students, as compared with a total of 630 for last year's session In other words, the second session reveals the striking increase of 39 per cent., as compared with the figures of last year. The success of the experiment made by the regents of the University of California in establishing a summer session in Southern California is undoubted.

This year's registration is made up of 746 women and 128 men. Of these the city of Los Angeles furnishes 350; other portions of California send 374, and 150 come from other States.

The success is more striking because so many factors have combined to make inroads upon the attendance. Among these is the fact that no reduced railway rates have been furnished this year, and also that on account of the loss of time in schools through the influenza epidemic many schools are in session during the summer.

Dean Monroe E. Deutsch of the summer session expresses his gratification at the cordial response of Southern California to the instruction furnished by the State University in Los Angeles.

MOVEMENTS OF SHIPS.

Customs Collector's Report for June Shows Local Activity.

The June report of Collector Elliott, on the subject of the movement of vessels at Los Angeles and San Diego, is as follows:

Los Angeles, coastwise, entered forty steamers, net tons, 63,107; crews, 2642; cleared twenty steamers, net tons, 47,662; crews, 2015.

San Diego, entered eight steamers, net tons, 20,570; crews, 507; cleared four steamers; net tons, 4870; crews, 232.

Noncontinuous, coastwise, San Diego, cleared three steamers and one barge; net tons, 12,792; crews, 128.

Foreign, Los Angeles entered six American steamers; net tons, 2349; crews, eighty-nine; cleared six American, three British and one Japanese; net tons, 23,073; crews, 434.

San Diego, entered sixteen American steamers, three British, four Italian, five Japanese and one Swede; net tons, 1201; crews, 129; cleared, twenty American steamers, one Austrian, three British, four Italian and seven Japanese; net tons, 1219; crews, 137.

DR. KOEBIG HOME ON LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Dr. W. C. Koebig who has served a year and a half with the Medical Corps in France with the rank of captain arrived in Los Angeles night before last on a thirty days leave of absence. Dr. Koebig was in the orthpedic section of hospitals near Brest and Boulogne. At the expiration of his leave he will go to Camp Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where he will be in charge of the orthopedic section of the hospital. Mrs. Koebig, who has been living with Dr. Koebig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Koebig, will accompany him to Indiana.

In the Women's Department
—We doubt if there is a women's store on the Coast that has grown so fast in popularity as this department. Started less than a year ago, it is visited daily by hundreds of women who know our reputation for values and come in to buy. It is no uncommon thing to hear a woman say, "You always get your money's worth, regardless of what you pay, at the Army & Navy Store." And that is true. Any time you feel otherwise you can get your money back.

Women's "Jack Tar" Outing Dresses, $6.00 and $7.75
—The ideal Outing Dress, as the hundreds to whom we have sold it this season bear witness.
—Cleverly fashioned of nice quality white galatea or of durable olive drab khaki. The white ones are conservatively priced at $6.00 and the khaki at $7.75. Sizes up to 42 bust, for misses and women.

R-34 CHILD OF LOWE'S DREAMS.

Los Angeles Scientist Real Father of Dirigibles.

Founder of Observatory Planned Airship.

Ideas Still Now Embodied in Craft Left Unbuilt.

BY MELVILLE DOZIER.

Now that the dirigible ballon has made good its claim to practicability as a means of commercial transportation, it is but just to the memory of a former citizen of this community to call attention briefly to the remarkable pioneer work in this field of scientific investigation accomplished by the late Prof. Thaddeus S. C. Lowe, a resident of Pasadena, but whose business office was in this city.

There have been few men in this or any other country who possessed keener scientific insight or who could turn their inventive genius into more practical and useful channels than this gifted man of gentle demeanor and of scholarly attainment; but who, like so many other inventive geniuses, made and lost several fortunes in his untiring devotion to the development of ideas contributing to public convenience and economy.

He claimed, and probably justly, to have been the originator of the idea and inventor of the method of supplying gas to cook stoves and to gas fireplaces, of manufacturing heating and illuminating gas from water, and of constructing refrigerator cars for the transportation of fruit; any one of which conceptions was sufficient to make his name immortal.

MT. LOWE PIONEER.

He was the originator and constructor of the remarkable interests embodied in the Mt. Lowe Railway and observatory and the Alpine Hotel.

No undertaking seemed too great for his aspiring genius, though several of his boldest conceptions were beyond his financial ability to realize.

The crowning ambition of his life, the thought to which he devoted most time and energy and investigation, was to construct a dirigible balloon to which would be suspended a passenger and freight ship in which men could not only traverse continents and oceans on all sorts of commercial enterprises, but in which he himself hoped some day to circumnavigate the globe.

To the last detail the scheme, plan of construction and of practical application, was worked out, and the only reason it was not produced as a finished product was the lack of necessary funds. He endeavored to secure an appropriation for the purpose from Congress, but the conception was then two far in advance of ideas deemed practicable and no encouragement resulted from this effort. But though Prof. Lowe, like many another inventive genius, passed away before he realized the dream of his life, the last few days have given evidence to the world of the correctness of his ideas and the practicability of his scheme of aerial navigation in lighter-than-air vessels.

ORIGINAL IDEAS.

Reference may be profitably made to a few items of his proposed airship which do not seem to have entered into modern ballooning, but which he regarded as of great practical value.

First, the cost of hydrogen gas under ordinary methods of production was prohibitive. He claimed to have devised a method of producing it at a cost about one-tenth as much. This secret process may have died with him.

Second, the impossibility of preventing leakage of the gas bag, and the necessity for frequent refillings were the cause of immense expense. This he remedied by the invention of a varnish which he claimed rendered the silk of which the bag was constructed almost if not wholly impervious even to hydrogen gas, making a refilling to be only very occasionally necessary. The secret of this compound may also have died with him.

Third, instead of carrying ballast for the purpose of diminishing the weight by casting out a part of it or of diminishing the lifting power of the gas bag by letting out a portion of the precious gas, Prof. Lowe devised a most ingenious method of increasing or diminishing the buoyancy of his balloon without either casting off ballast or the loss of gas.

MATTER OF EXPANSION.

He improvised a pumping apparatus which could at pleasure be operated with the same power that drove the propellers, by the operation of which the gas in the gas bag could be conducted through a series of pipes over either cold or heated surfaces, as the case required, by contact with which the gas could be cooled or heated to any degree without being removed from the bag, and thus varied at will the degree of its expansion, and consequently in the measure of its buoyancy, causing the balloon to rise or fall, as desired.

He also provided for change in direction, up or down, right or left, by changing the angle of the plane against which the propellers revolved.

His provision for the comfort of passengers resembled the arrangement of a Pullman car, and every detail of drawing and description worked out with the greatest nicety.

The practical commercial use to which his airship could have been put seemed to impress him very profoundly, namely, its availability for anchoring in mountain regions where rich mines were operated, but which were inaccessible except by burro trails, and there loading up the car with the precious ore and sailing away to the nearest smelter or crusher with tons of the ore instead of packing it out in bags on burro back.

He also foresaw its effective possibilities in time of war, but shuddered at the idea of such a destructive agency ever being called into use for taking human life.

Announcing the Opening of the Largest Shoe Store on the Pacific Coast and Possibly the Largest in the Whole Country

Occupying the Entire Building——227-229-231 South Broadway——Extending Through to Hill Street

The Owners of This Store In Business Since 1891

E. Olcovich Co., proprietors of the Western Shoe Co., have been identified with the wholesale and retail shoe business in Los Angeles since 1891. For 28 years Mr. Olcovich and his associates have studied the wants of the Los Angeles buying public. Is it not fair to presume that with these years of experience the Western Shoe Co. is equipped to satisfy every footwear want?

Western Shoe Co.
Emil Olcovich Co.
235 So. Broadway

Children's Playground Matron in Charge—Everything Free

We have fitted up a playground for the kiddies; it is as large as the average shoe store; there are swings, slides, games, picture books and many other things to amuse the little folks. There is an experienced matron in charge. She loves children and will care for your little folks while you are shopping. There are free toys for all children. Bring the children in. Everything free.

With unbounded faith and confidence in the future of Los Angeles—with knowledge born of experience as to the liberality of Los Angeles people in rewarding careful, conscientious, painstaking effort—we open the doors of this new store, realizing that our future, like the future of this fair city, rests with you. So be it—The Western Shoe Co. has in the past shown a most phenomenal growth; our merchandise, our methods, our efforts to please have made this store the biggest and busiest shoe store on the Pacific Coast. And possibly the largest exclusive shoe store in this country.

Our business policy in the future will be patterned after our best endeavors of the past. We will build an unshakable business structure on the firm foundation we have already laid. As in the past, you will at all times find in this store practically unlimited assortments of footwear for men, women and children. Our prices are always the lowest. The same shoes for a lesser price or better shoes for the same price. Satisfaction always. No transaction complete until the customer is satisfied. Shoes exchanged and money refunded with a smile that comes from the heart.

Open Daily from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Redlands Sets Limit in Municipal Thrift by Selling its Pests.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

REDLANDS, July 12.—There's nothing wasted in Redlands, according to city officials, who recently announced that thousands of dead flies, captured in municipal fly traps in the interests of sanitation, had been sold as food for trout at a trout hatchery in the mountains near here.

BEACH'S :: JOYS :: FOR :: THE :: POOR.

Salvation Army Opens First Free Camp Since Prewar Days.

Mess Time at the Salvation Army's Beach Recreation Camp.

Reviving an activity that did great good before the war, seaside pleasures are provided free for the poor at Redondo Beach. More than 400 mothers and children will be guests there during eight weeks this summer.

REVIVING a relief work that had been suspended during the few years of intense war activities, the Salvation Army opened a recreation camp at Redondo Beach, this week, for mothers and children of Los Angeles. The camp is for the benefit of those who are financially unable to take such outings.

It is under the supervision of Brig. C. R. Boyd, Salvation Army divisional officer of the South, and is in direct charge of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Giles. It is located on a vacant lot across the street from the Redondo Beach City Hall, and is only one block from the beach itself. The use of the lot was donated to the Salvation Army by its owners.

The camp consists of twelve large sleeping tents and a big mess tent, and will accommodate more than fifty persons, in addition to the attendants, who, under normal circumstances, number five.

ALL IS FREE.

The guests at the camp are provided with everything free of charge, and every comfort is provided for them, to assure that their stay at the beach will be beneficial. They go to the camp in groups, and remain a week. Every Tuesday finds new faces there. They are transported in automobiles loaned by Los Angeles residents. The food is most wholesome. The menu at lunch yesterday is a fair example of the meals provided. This consisted of fried and baked sea bass, potatoes, salad, rice pudding, bread, and real butter, milk, tea and coffee.

The guests are all a cheerful lot, taking full advantage of their stay at the beach. The smiling, carefree faces of the mothers, beaming with joy, and the gay laughter of the children as they frolic in the sand and wade in the water, are evidence that their outing is doing them good.

ONLY SOUTHERN CAMP.

This is the only camp conducted in Southern California this summer by the Salvation Army. The expenses are paid from the funds raised during the last Salvation Army campaign in Los Angeles. A sum of $10,000 was set aside from the funds thus raised to be used for relief purposes, under which heading this work comes.

"We regard this as one of the important phases of our relief work," said Brig. Boyd. "This, before the war, was almost an annual undertaking, but was suspended for the war period because of the great energies we exerted in war work. The mothers and children that come to this camp are the kind that need a week's rest and building up at the beach very much, but who are unable to afford such a recreation. They require this much more than those who can afford to come to the beaches for outings every summer. It does them wonderful good, and they return home greatly improved, both in body and in mind. In the eight weeks during which we will conduct the camp at Redondo Beach, we will accommodate more than 400 mothers and children."

FLU JUMPED DEATH RATE.

Health Report for Past Year Shows Fifty Thousand Cases Reported.

There were 10,075 deaths in Los Angeles during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to the report of Henry Sief, just made public. Of this number 2713 were directly due to influenza, the report shows. There were 3311 deaths from influenza and pneumonia complications.

The death rate during the year was 16.79 per 1000 as compared with 12.42 per 1000 of population in the year 1917-1918. The deaths in the proceding year numbered 6833.

Many of the deaths attributed to pneumonia are believed to have been due to influenza, it was stated at the Board of Health offices. When the epidemic first started about half of the deaths were investigated by the Coroner, and where these showed signs of pneumonia, influenza was not considered. Approximately 57,400 cases of influenza were reported, but the health commissioner is of the opinion that only about half of the cases in the city were reported.

More men died of influenza than women, according to the report; there were 1906 deaths among men, and 1405 among women. The most deaths from influenza were of perpersons between the ages of 32 and 44. The fewest deaths occurred between the ages of 18 and 21. The youngest death reported was of a child twenty-eight minutes; the oldest was 89 years.

The report shows there were 715 deaths of children under one year. Other causes of death were: Tuberculosis, 1129; suicide, 135; automobile accidents, 90; murder, [illegible]; street car accidents, 27; railroad accidents, 58.

COURTESY SNARE FOR POLITE TRIAL JUDGE.

GREETING TO FORMER CLERK NOW A WITNESS, ALMOST DISTURBS DIGNITY.

Thomas Hughes, clerk in Judge Crail's court, entered Judge Monroe's court yesterday and sat within the rail. He was formerly Judge Monroe's clerk, and when His Honor saw Mr. Hughes enter and cast an inquiring glance at him, he stopped the examination of a witness with "Just a minute," to the attorneys. Then he beckoned Mr. Hughes to the bench.

"Want to see me?"

"No, your Honor."

"What are you doing here then?"

"I am a witness in this case; you had better not be seen talking to me."

Judge Monroe saw the wisdom, but he did not see the humor in the remark.

"Go back to your seat," he ordered in his best judicial manner.

"Now, then, you said—" he prompted the witness, and the case went on.

HOW WAR INSURANCE MAY BE REINSTATED.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING POLICIES THAT HAVE LAPSED ARE RECEIVED HERE.

Following the announcement made recently by Ballard Dunn, assistant chief of the insurance division of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, that the government has made arrangements to continue the insurance of service men after their discharge from the army or navy, regulations covering reinstatement after lapses of policies were made public here yesterday by the officials handling the matter.

Reinstatements of lapsed insurance are allowed up to nine months from date of lapse, according to the ruling made by the Treasury Department. Summarized, the regulations are as follows:

If not discharged more than three months, no application necessary nor proof of good health. Send in the past dues.

If discharged more than three months and less than nine months insured, must be in good health.

If discharged more than three months and less than nine months, insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge, and so state in his application for reinstatement when sending in premiums past due. No medical examination is required.

If insured was discharged before January 1, 1919, the insurance may be renewed at any time before September 30, 1919, on the same conditions as in paragraph above, namely, insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge and so state in his application for reinstatement when sending in past due premiums. No medical examination is required.

Where the insured has paid the first premium due after he was discharged, but has failed to pay some of the later ones; if less than three months behind in premium payments and insured is in as good health as when policy lapsed, and so states in his application, he may reinstate without medical examination by sendng in premiums past due; if more than three months behind and less than nine months, insured may reinstate, if in as good health as at the date when the insurance lapsed and so states in his application and submits therewith a satisfactory report to that effect to the Director of War Risk Insurance from a reputable physician, together with premiums past due.

Where the insurance has been formally canceled it may be renewed on conditions similar to the above.

All details can be obtained from Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C. State full name and address, rank at time of applying for insurance, army or navy organization at time of applying for insurance, army serial number, if in the army, and number of insurance certificate, if known. The very liberal terms offered by the government to the former service men, and the advantages that can be retained by those who have been in the service, will be set forth in reply to inquiries.

JURY DISAGREES ON HORSE OWNER'S GUILT.

A jury in Judge Houser's court yesterday failed to agree in the case of George W. Billerman, a race horse owner, charged with forgery. Mr. Billerman is at liberty on $5000 bail. He was charged with having forged the indorsement of E. G. Babbitt to an express order, obtaining $2626 for the purpose of paying duty on a string of horses shipped from Tia Juana in 1917. The jury was discharged.

Marshall Neilan is expected to arrive about 3 o'clock this afternoon by airplane from San Francisco. Yesterday he called by phone from the nothern city and asked the Mercury Aviation Company in Hollywood to supply air transportation, much as he might have ordered a taxicab. Lieut. Pikup, one of the company's pilots, immediately took a plane north and is expected to return with his "fare" today.

Douglas Fairbanks is scheduled to leave this afternoon in the same plane for the motion-picture convention at Seattle.

MATE IN A RAID, SAYS WIFE ASKING DECREE.

Although he denied the charge in his answer, evidence was given in Judge Taft's court yesterday in the divorce suit of Mrs. Grace Benedix, that her husband, Albert Benedix, a restaurant proprietor, had been arrested in a police raid on a room in the company of another woman. Mr. Benedix did not contest the suit. Before granting the wife the decree, Judge Taft stated he would give the couple an opportunity to settle their property affairs.

OTIS INSTITUTE STIMULATES ART.

Proof of Noteworthy Advancement will be Seen at the First Annual Exhibit of Its Students' Work, Which Opens This Afternoon.

Proof of the noteworthy advancement of art in the West may be seen by devotees of the fine, applied and industrial arts at the first annual exhibition of students' work, which opens this afternoon at the Otis Art Institute, on Wilshire boulevard, opposite Westlake Park. The galleries will be open to the public today from 2 to 5 p.m., and the exhibition will be continued tomorrow and Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The exhibits consist of work done entirely by the students during the past school year and bear evidence that the Otis Art Institute is destined to become one of the recognized art institutions of the West. The school has just concluded a most successful year that far surpassed the expectations of its board of governors. Encouraged by this success they are now preparing to expand its limited classes, to enlarge the scope of the work and add several well-known instructors to its personnel that will bring students here from all parts of the country.

So large volume of art works has been finished by the scores of pupils that all the class rooms have been converted into galleries, and these galleries have been so crowded with the exhibits that the corridors of the institute have been utilized as exhibit rooms.

ILLUSTRATE TRAINING.

On the walls of the galleries may be seen drawings worthy of praise which illustrate every step in the students' training, ranging from the crude charcoal outlines of the pupil to the more finished product consisting of the professional work in portrait, still life, landscape and decorative painting. In the drawing and painting section of the exhibit is work demonstrating the principles of design and color theory, still life and the antique, costume and nude model, landscapes and figure models out-of-doors, sketches from the model in action, and drawings from memory, composition, perspective and anatomy are on view.

In the illustration exhibit drawings are shown which are intended to prepare the student for professional illustration in books, magazines, newspapers and commercial work. Then there is an exhibit of design and applied art which contains first examples of principles in good design, studies of historic ornaments, color theory, lettering, problems in design and work in the crafts, which includes pottery, metal working, designing of jewelry, and interior decorating.

Wood-carving also occupies a prominent niche in the exhibits, as shown by the many original creations of the students. During the year the students have carved beautiful floor lamps, picture frames, tables, book racks, candlesticks, cabinets, trousseau chests and other objects, and these are on view.

Though hampered for a short time by the influenza epidemic, when it was necessary to close the doors of the school, the faculty, aided by the willingness of the students to study harder, has been able to finish the first year's course according to the schedule.

THOSE IN CHARGE.

C. P. Townley, one of the leading artists of the country, is managing director of the Otis Art Institute. He was a pupil of the Julien and Delecluse academies in Paris and the William M. Chase Academy in New York. He is a member of the Salmagundi Club, New York, is president of the California Art Club, and has been director and instructor in the London School of Art, the Carmel Summer School of Art and the Stickney Memorial School of Art, in Pasadena. He is a well-known painter and at the Otis Art Institute he has personal supervision of the painting and drawing classes.

During the past year he was assisted by E. Roscoe Thayer, a pupil of Howard Pyle and contributor to many magazines, who is instructor in drawing, illustration, composition, and a lecturer on anatomy; Minnie Gertrude Rackle, formerly instructor at the School of Industrial Arts, at Trenton, N. J., instructor in the design and applied arts classes; and Karl Rudingward, a graduate of the Technical School, Stockton, Sweden, who instructed the art wood carving class.

The faculty will be increased during the coming year with the addition of three new instructors. These will be Julia Bracken Wendt, of this city, who will be instructor of the class in modeling; Emily Rutherfurd Mocine, of the Sydney Technical College of Sydney, Australia, who has been selected as instructor in the wood-carving class; and Douglas Donaldson, a master craftsman, who is to take charge of the class in design and applied arts. Mrs. Wendt's most popular work in this city was the designing of an art group in the rotunda of the Museum of History, Science and Art, at Exposition Park.

GIFT OF GEN. OTIS.

The Otis Art Institute, where the art exhibition is being held, was the gift of the late Gen. Harrison Gray Otis to the county of Los Angeles, made shortly before his death. It was formerly the "Bivouac," his Los Angeles residence, which overlooks Westlake Park, and which he had planned for many years to have transformed into a splendid studio building which was to stand as a monument in the advancement of Art in the West.

Following the presentation of the building and its picturesque grounds to the county in 1917, the Board of County Supervisors, consulting with the Board of Governors of the Museum of History, Science and Art, came to the conclusion that the most effective way of realizing the intention of Gen. Otis was by the establishment of a well-equipped and up-to-date art school.

The school opened for its first term last September. Through the months that followed the aim of the school was thoroughly and successfully carried out. This was to provide students with a sound technical training in the various branches of the fine and applied arts; to teach how to put this training to a practical use in the creation of a work of art; to develop their individuality and to encourage them to seek the highest degree of artistic excellence. That this is being done is shown in the many exhibits that now grace the walls of the institute.

RED "CAUSE" EXPENSIVE.

Woman Sympathizer Reports Faith Slain by I.W.W. Affinity for Cash.

In a letter which special investigators say she wrote to the headquarters of the Domestic Workers' Industrial Union in the Germain Building, Mrs. John R. Davis, of Ramona Acres, whose husband declares she checked out their $1200 bank account and gave it to the I.W.W. cause, outlines a few of the items involved in her dealings with Tommie Weber, the wobbly orator. The letter says in part:

"I heard Weber speak the first time in Walker Auditorium. I donated that night $25 toward the defense of the orange pickers. About two weeks later, I believe, I contributed $50. Then some weeks later I gave him $50. Besides this, I have given him $10 and $5 at a time to use personally and told him so.

"At one time, when we talked of buying a printing press for $900, I made the proposition to Weber that I would go out among some rich ladies who were radically inclined, and try to raise part of the money and that I would contribute one-third of the amount. He told me he knew the names of some ladies who might help, and suggested that I take my machine and we would go out and see these parties, which we did. We spent one day and only raised $13.50. Later, when we started to buy the press, I asked him about the $13.50, and he told me that he had needed money and had used it for himself personally. I did not like that very much, because I had given him $25 to use personally in the last couple of weeks."

Mrs. Davis, in the report she is alleged to have submitted to headquarters, concludes with these remarks: "After I gave him the last $10 he borrowed $20 the next day from Mrs. Jackson (a friend) and gave her to understand I would settle with her, but failed to inform me. I found him a rather expensive party to keep.

"The fact is, I have lost confidence in Weber, am out nearly $500 cash, in debt $600 to Laura Payne Emerson for a white elephant in the way of a big printing press. Weber has told some of the comrades that he was going to start a newspaper—not one, but two—English and Spanish, although he never hinted such a thing to me. I feel sure that under existing circumstances in this city, it would be impossible to run a radical newspaper in connection with the I.W.W. movement. Nobody with common sense would think of trying such a thing."

FOR IOWA OUTING.

Bixby Park, Long Beach, is Again Selected as Meeting Place.

Judge Houser, president of the Iowa Association of Southern California, announced the selection, yesterday, of Bixby Park, Long Beach, for the annual summer outing of the Iowans of Southern California, Saturday, August 9. Last year's meeting was also held there. Judge Houser is chairman of the committee of arrangements and will also preside at the picnic during the programme, which will open about 2 p.m.

County registers and headquarters will be opened at 7 a.m., and there will be basket dinners at the noon hour. Hot coffee will be supplied, as usual, to all who buy the souvenir badge. A number of special features will be announced later. Fully 25,000 Hawkeyes are expected and not only will every section of our southland be represented, but every county and almost every town in Iowa will make its contribution.

BEN HUR TRIBE BUYS "BEN HUR" HOMESTEAD

H. T. Whited, who has charge of the Tribe of Ben Hur in Southern California, has received word from the home office of the society that the tribe has bought the old home of Gen. Lew Wallace at Crawfordsville, Ind., and thus saved to the country one of its famous shrines, second in importance in the Middle West only to the Lincoln home in Springfield and the Lincoln birthplace in Kentucky; and of much interest to all admirers of the old Civil War hero and his masterpiece, the book "Ben Hur." The estate was about to be cut up into building lots when the officers came to the rescue with the purchase price.

Eventually the Wallace home will become a memorial to D. W. Gerard, founder of the Tribe of Ben Hur and a close friend and comrade in arms of Gen. Wallace.

TO SHOW CITRUS MEN SCALY-BARK REMEDY.

A joint meeting of the citrus growers from Covina and San Dimas will be held Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Charter Oak schoolhouse to discuss methods of controlling scaly bark, a disease which is becoming prevalent in many citrus sections and which has in the past received but little attention. The meeting, which will be staged under the auspices of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, will be addressed by Farm Adviser Hodgson, who after the meeting will conduct a demonstration of the Fawcett method of controlling the disease on a near-by orchard. Researches at the citrus experiment station carried on by Dr. H. S. Fawcett during the past two or three years have shown that taken at a certain stage the disease can be controlled rather effectively. The meeting is open to everybody and a large attendance is desired.

TWO NOTED GUESTS.

Dr. Butler and F. A. Sieberling at Trade Board Luncheon.

The July luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce to be held next Wednesday noon at the Alexandria Hotel, will be in honor of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, and F. A. Sieberling, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Both of the distinguished visitors will have a message for the gathering of business men. Dr. Butler will talk on some of the problems of the reconstruction period and Mr. Sieberling, whose company has already started the building of its $6,000,000 Los Angeles plant, will speak on matters of industrial interest.

The chamber members are warned to apply at once for luncheon tickets, as the seating capacity is limited.

ELEVEN GOOD JOBS.

Civil Service Examination will be Held Here Soon.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces the examinations named below to be held at an early date. Application blanks and further information can be obtained from the local secretary, room 618, Federal Building, Los Angeles.

OFFICER RETURNS HOME.

Lieut. Fred H. Burgess, U.S.N., has returned home after twenty months' foreign service. He was connected with the sea mine barrage and afterward was with the United States Food Administrator at Rotterdam and Antwerp.

Mr. Wisler Cured of Indigestion.
"Some time in 1909, when I had an attack of indigestion and everything looked gloomy to me, I received a free sample of Chamberlain's Tablets by mail. I gave them a trial and they were such a help to me that I bought a package, and I can truthfully say that I have not had a similar attack since," writes Wm. B. Wisler, Douglassville, Pa.—[Advertisement.]

ACTS CONDONED, ELOPER HOLDS.

Forgiveness Made Defense in Macdonald Divorce Case.

Ex-Evangelist Says Conjugal Joy Followed Escapade.

Denies Admitting Intimacy with Young Mrs. Shaw.

Positively alleging his marriage to Catherine Macdonald June 2, 1917, was not legal because at the time she was the legal and lawful wife of her first cousin, S. W. McFarland, Horace Loring Macdonald goes further in his answer to her divorce suit, that he filed yesterday, through Attorney A. C. Webb. He sets forth that his alleged acts, the basis of the divorce proceedings, were condoned by Mrs. Macdonald by the fact that they lived together as husband and wife after June 12, last. His language, in part, is: "The plaintiff has since the 12th day of June, 1919, treated the defendant with conjugal kindness and in every way has forgiven and condoned any and all acts."

Mr. Macdonald, who eloped with Mrs. Wealthie Shaw, further says that before the alleged condonation, the plaintiff was "appraised of and had knowledge of all and any acts complained of and alleged as the cause of divorce, and did condone said acts knowingly and willingly."

He denies he treated Mrs. Macdonald cruelly or that he took jewelry and an automobile to Fresno without his wife's knowledge or consent and denies that he did not return or notify her of his intention to return.

He also denies that he ever told Mrs. Macdonald he was unduly intimate with Mrs. Shaw.

He denies he is in constant company or association with Wealthie Shaw or any other woman; denies Mrs. Macdonald has been humiliated by his alleged acts or been injured in health by his alleged treatment. He asks that she take nothing by her divorce action.

Starr
PHONOGRAPH

WE urge you to hear the Starr and to carefully compare it with any and all other makes of phonographs. We know what the result of such a comparison will be. We know that your good judgment cannot fail to decide in favor of the Starr.

No matter how little you may be versed in the technical points of music or the construction of musical instruments, you will be able to understand very clearly just why the Starr Phonograph has a sweeter, purer tone, and why it reproduces music or the voice more realistically.

The secret lies largely in the Starr's sounding board, throat and horn of silver grain spruce, wherein there is not a particle of metal, veneering, glue or coarse cheap wood. This important feature is true of no other phonograph in the world.

Come in and let us explain to you all the important exclusive features of the Starr, and give you an enjoyable demonstration.

25 Industrial Homes

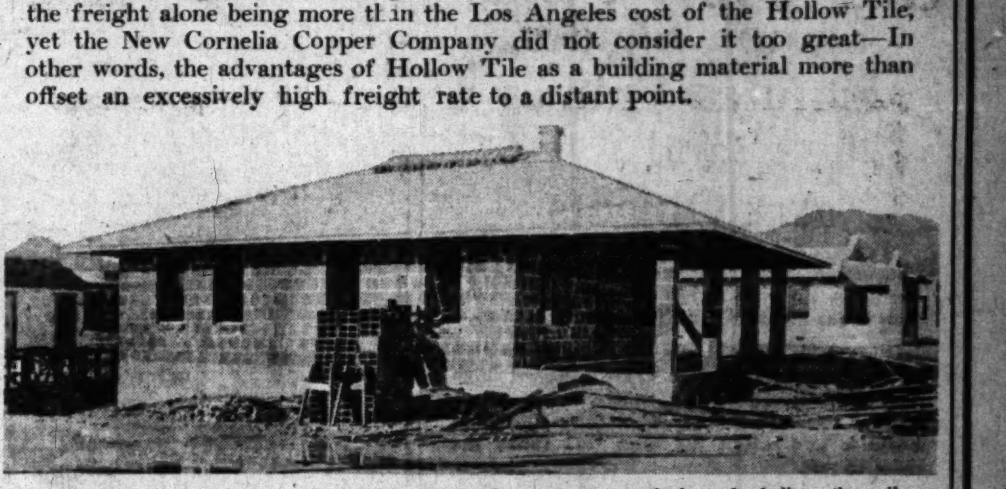
It took 96 freight cars to transport the Hollow Tile for these buildings—the freight alone being more than the Los Angeles cost of the Hollow Tile, yet the New Cornelia Copper Company did not consider it too great—In other words, the advantages of Hollow Tile as a building material more than offset an excessively high freight rate to a distant point.



The above picture shows one of the buildings before the stucco was applied on the hollow tile walls.

In the southwest part of the United States—in the heart of one of the most arid parts of our country there has srpung up a desert mining city built almost entirely of Hollow Tile. Realizing the importance of having contented employees, the New Cornelia Copper Co. of Ajo, Arizona, decided to build houses that would prove comfortable in all seasons.

When the time came to decide upon the material from which to build these houses, much attention was paid to the subject. Adobe, red brick, lath and plaster, tile, concrete blocks and wood were all carefully considered.

A panoramic view showing some of the Hollow Tile buildings.

After a long amount of study and deliberation, Hollow Tile was decided upon as having the most points in its favor. Easy of construction, durable, fire-resisting, and perfect insulation secured by the use of double air cells, were among the points to its credit.

These houses are all of different designs but of uniform style of architecture. All are plastered on the outside with Portland cement mortar ¾ inch thick and the inside with a litholite. Casement windows are used exclusively, thus providing a maximum of ventilation.

L. A. Shipyard is Now Open.

The yard of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company was opened at 7 o'clock Thursday morning. Former employees and other workmen desiring employment should make application at the shipbuilding gate at any time during working hours.

For the present, preference will be given to men who have worked in the yards. There will be no discrimination against any man because of his union affiliations or nonunion affiliations.

An injunction issued by the Superior Court protects the employees from violence, intimidation or molestation in any form while on their way to or from work, and in their homes and lodgings. They are afforded full protection by the Company while working in the yards.

The yard is operated under the following working conditions:

1. Collective Bargaining.
2. Seniority rule, all other things being equal.
3. Reinstatement of all former employees, so seniority rights will not be forfeited.

"My house is very cosy and attractive in cool weather but it's a stuffy place in summertime"—complains one home-maker. Her neighbor says, "Our rooms are airy and comfortable as can be on close, warm days, but seem so cold and cheerless during the winter rains!"

So you see, it must be a first essential of what may be called a "Better Home," to have it furnished for YEAR-ROUND COMFORT and ALL-SEASON CHARM.

And it is one of the tests of a home you think successful to find out whether it is really as appealing in July as in January, and the other way around.

But if you are furnishing a home or any part of one this summer—or refurnishing—or planning to furnish or refurnish—it is a very good idea to consider the question of attractiveness from every standpont—and to consult with decorators and salespersons who are interested enough in the success of your home to help you get the most delightful possible effects at your preferred expenditure, whatever that may be.

Let Barker Bros. have the pleasure of talking "Better Homes" with you—this week!

WILLIAM WORDSWORTH, whose life was said to be a noble illustration of "plain living and high thinking," used to take long, solitary strolls into the country and had "mystic visions in which nature seemed to palpitate with life."

He lived for a time, with his sister, in Dove Cottage at Grasmere, the loveliest spot among the English lakes.

He knew the influence of beautiful surroundings and was surely in earnest when he wrote—

> "With an eye made quiet by the power
> Of harmony, and the deep power of joy,
> We see into the life of things."

Probably the spark of genius is smothered in a good many lives by the wet blanket of an uncongenial environment.

In a country so beautiful outdoors and indoors, there are influences to encourage genius.

The world may expect great things of the people of Southern California.

Announcing —the beginning, tomorrow, of Barker Bros.' thirty-ninth Annual Mid-Summer Clearance

The annual Midsummer Clearance this year has three reasons for being—three reasons important enough to satisfy the objection that, with the cry for better home-furnishings so strong and the difficulties of obtaining sufficiently immense quantities of merchandise so great, a clearance this midsummer should not be held.

The first reason is that of TRADITION—the second has to do with READJUSTMENT OF STOCKS—the third is summed up briefly in the word RECIPROCITY.

Barker Bros. have always celebrated two sale events each year—one in midwinter, the other in midsummer. The people have appreciated them, patronized them, grown to depend upon them. Call it pride or sentiment or what you will, we could not disappoint our friends by saying that the 39th Midsummer Clearance would be skipped.

Incidentally, it is good business to close out certain lines of our different departments of furniture and home-furnishings — on these the discounts are very substantial and the savings very great.

And so we're sure that you'll find many wonderful bargains — furniture and rugs and draperies and lamps and lines and dinnerware, etc., etc.—and that your home will profit splendidly by your participation in this general Midsummer Clearance of this great home-making year.

This will surely be a week of great events in the hospitalities of this store and in the homes of those who come and see for themselves the benefits of buying furniture—THIS WEEK!

ROMAYNE EXPANDS.

FILM COMPANY PLANS MOVING TO UNIVERSAL CITY.

One of the film companies which is rapidly expanding its scope of action is the Romayne Superfilms Company, which has been working at its West Adams street studio, but which, due to the addition of three companies to its initial organization, is shortly to seek bigger quarters. If present plans go through, Romayne will soon be housed at the Universal studio, negotiations to that end being at present under way.

"We need more production space and better facilities than we have at present," said Harry Romayne, president of the organization, in an interview the other day, "especially in preparation for our big feature production, Upton Sinclair's 'The Millennium,' in which hundreds of persons will be employed, and which will require unusual facilities in every way. We have three companies now at work, and expect to have four, as soon as we can find suitable accommodations. Two of these companies are comedy companies."

While the scenario of "The Millennium" is being prepared, a photoplay entitled "Shams," written and to be directed by Walter McNamara, is to be put into production, work to start next week. The cast is being selected, and while all the principals have not been chosen, three engagements have been made. Marion Dunlap, who has played leads in a number of features, including the Romayne picture "In Search of a Wife," is to have a leading role; John Hayes, a well-known young actor, will play a big masculine part; while another important role has been assigned to a young 18-year-old actress, Grace Mossman, who has taken the stage name of Grace Gordon. Miss Gordon has been playing bits in pictures during the past year, but is to have an opportunity in this picture to prove her real dramatic worth.

DOROTHY PHILLIPS DEDICATES CAMP.

Dorothy Phillips was signally honored recently when she was chosen to dedicate the new Stimson camp for returned soldiers and sailors, which the Los Angeles division of the Allied War Veterans are establishing at Main and West Adams streets.

The newly-elected Mayor of the Angel City, M. P. Snyder, turned the first shoovelful of earth, and then with a bottle of clear, sparkling Owens River Valley water from the Los Angeles aqueduct, the star of "The Heart of Humanity" christened the new institution Camp Stimson. The ground was donated by a wealthy Los Angeles woman, and funds for erection of bungalows and tents were raised by popular subscription.

GOLDWYN COMPANY COMES FROM RANIER.

Carlyle Moore and a company of Goldwyn Picture players have returned from a ten-day trip to Mt. Ranier, Wash., where they secured a number of snow scenes for the new Rex Beach production. The wintery episodes were made mostly at the Paradise Park Inn. The weather was ideal for the snow work, as the storm that had just passed left only the roof of the tavern exposed to view. All over the high hills nine feet of fresh snow lay, and the motion-picture makers had quite a difficult time getting their supplies and equipment in and out. Making the scenes was quite a task also. The elevation at that point is over 6800 feet, and for July the heavy snowstorm was quite an event.

Among the players were Lieut. Pitcairn, recently returned from service abroad with the British forces, who is a native of the country in which they did the work. Norbert Brodin was the cameraman; Sam Malato and a ten-dog team furnished the northern requirements; Charles Mason and Jack Cullen made up the rest of the expedition, which returned this week to the Culver City studios of Goldwyn.

THEY HONORED OUR LITTLE BESS LOVE.

A decided honor has been conferred upon Bessie Love, Vitagraph's danity little star, by the exhibitors of the Northwestern section of the country. She has been invited to attend the convention at Seattle on July 18, as a guest of the association. Miss Love fortunately completed the production of "Over the Garden Wall" on Friday evening preceding the opening of the convention and was therefore, enabled to accept the invitation from the exhibitors' body and left as soon as the last scenes were shot for the Northwestern city. Miss Love has been steadily gaining in popularity among the exhibitors of the western coast and upon her arrival in Seattle she was met at the station by a delegation and escorted to her hotel by the committee in charge of the convention arrangements. Miss Love was accompanied by her mother and wherever she appeared she received royal welcome.

BILLIE WORE 'EM LIKE HER NAME.

While recently engaged in taking some scenes for her feature, "The Blue Bonnet," in New York, Billie Rhodes had a very unique experience with one of that city's guardians of the law. She was waiting in front of one of Broadway's theaters for her company to get together prior to leaving the location, she put in her time viewing the lithographs in the lobby of the playhouse. She had on boy's clothing, being made up as an urchin of the street and it must be admitted that her appearance was anything but prepossessing. So thought the mighty cop as he approached her with the demand that she move on.

"But," replied dainty Billie, "I don't care to leave at present."

"Is that so," was the gruff rejoinder. "We'll see whether you do or not." And with that he proceeded to use a little muscular persuasion. This was too much for her to stand however, and as resistance would have been useless, she resorted to strategy. Promising to do as he wished she was freed, but no sooner did she reach the street in view of her company than she opened up on Mr. Blue Coat in a very snappy fashion.

"I am a picture actress," she declared with emphasis, "and if you had any kind of ordinary intelligence you might guess as much. I am with that company you see over there and if you dare lay a hand on me I'll have you run into the river."

With this parting shot Miss Billie scampered off, giving the dense one an opportunity to bankrupt his profane vocabulary to his heart's content.

JUST CAN'T MAKE CLOCKS BEHAVE.

"Why does a clock hate a woman?"

This question shot suddenly from the lovely mouth of Bessie Barriscale so startled the picture people in the cafeteria at Brunton studios that nearly everybody dropped something, spilled his soup or choked.

Howard Hickman, Miss Barriscale's director, had just taken a mouthful of hot baked potato when Bessie let loose her question, and he may recover, but he'll never look just the same.

Anna Nilsson was approaching her table with a tray full of viands when the bombshell struck and her tomato soup cascaded down the

WILL ROGERS, PATTER KING

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Slinging the classy patter along with the lariat is Will Rogers's long suit, as everybody knows, and kidding everything from international politics to the shimmy craze has got Rogers more money than even his talented rope. Naturally these days, when he's just gone into the films, he's kidding about motion pictures, taking little side swipes at what he calls "the deathless drammy of the fillums."

The all-round champion, high-gear, nonstop kidder was found down on the Goldwyn stage the other day, wearing his trade mark grin, and dolled up in his professional cowboy "other" duds—slouch hat, store clothes and all. He was working on his professional chewing gum, and he kidded and tossed the rope with as much expert nonchalance as if it weren't the hottest day of the year. Close behind him walked the assistant director Goldwyn has hired, carrying a pad to jot down Rogers's stuff while he's acting—for the star talks his own subtitles while you wait.

And following the a.d. was the bunch of extras that Rogers is teaching to rope.

Coming over to greet us, he walked right into the back of his own set, where Clarence Badger was pulling off a prop wedding.

"Well, wasn't that the prize boner!" he grinned, "I ruined that marriage quickern Reno, didn't I?"

He stooped down to unite a knot in his rope.

"Funny business this picture business, ain't it?" he drawled, throwing a fancy curve with his rope while he waited to be called onto the set. "Here they bring me all the way across the country—across the Mississippi River, where they coulda taken a camera and shot me as well as not. Instead of which they take me clear up to Sacramento to get the Mississippi! Also to photograph some smoke. Why, I saw an oil well on fire the other day that had lots more smoke to it than we got. I bet if they wanted to photograph the ocean, they'd take us all back to Lake Michigan!"

"Speaking of Sacramento, I should judge that to be the hottest place on earth. 'N I arrived with an overcoat—probably the only one ever seen in Sacramento. The way I got th eovercoat was dodging into a store in San Francisco to get away from an actor that wore the loudest clothes in the world, attracting everybody's attention. They sold me an overcoat before I could get out. I arrived in Sacramento with that overcoat over my arm. I bet they got it in a museum up there now."

Following, is a bunch of Rogers's reflections on pictures:

"When Goldwyn decided to make fewer and worse pictures, that's when they got me. I guess it'll be a pretty good picture, at that—an awfully good cast—and the star ain't in it much. By taking out some of my action and putting in a title they helped it a lot!"

"Say, this picture's going to be a novelty. None of the boys in the managerial force—Lehr nor none of 'em—has ever read the story!"

"What's the most dangerous stunt I've done? Well, I reckon the most dangerous stunt I've done so far is lettin' 'em shoot me in a close-up!"

"Funny business this—no matter how late you come you're always a little bit early!"

"They make you do all the things you can't do—and then they're satisfied."

"I've only felt grand once, that's when we shot a scene in Geraldine Farrar's $50,000 set. She should worry! She can sing a coupla songs, and pay for that whole street, and have an alley left over!"

"We got a novelty out here—an extra that never played with Griffith."

"Nice big studio, Goldwyn's. So big I can't find anybody. I've been looking for Mabel Normand ever since I arrived and the nearest I've come to finding her is seeing her chauffeur sitting out in front of the Alexandria!"

"Fine climate — yes — especially these days—it's so good you don't want to use it up—so you keep out of it all you can!"

"The only night life an actor gets out here is when they build a cafe set for him to use in a picture!"

"I see where an oil painting sold back in New York for $260,000—and I says to my wife, 'They pay more for stills than for movies, don't they?'"

"The motto of picture producers so far as I can learn is, 'Take your time in these pictures now, we want 'em good—when'll you be done?'"

A wonderfully good sport is Rogers in the pictures. The only thing they can't get him to do is to kiss a woman! So in order to get him married in the picture, they had to drop him out of an airplane into the lap of the heroine, and she does the proposing!

"Like the country?" I asked.

"Oh, my yes. We got a nice house out in Westchester place—my wife and I and the baby—the rest of the family is back in Oklahoma with the whooping cough—there ain't room for 'em all to whoop at once out here.

"The house is the one Madge Kennedy had. It's got a conservatory and a swimming pool—and oh, everything we don't need. My wife says there ain't many dishes in the kitchen to cook with. And we got an automobile. I saw Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen in their Cadillac, and so I went and bought one. I says to my wife, 'What's good enough for Geraldine Farrar is good enough for me.'

"And I went to see Douglas Fairbanks the other day. He's got a fine house up there, everything nice. He's got a perfectly lovely swimming pool—only trouble with it is, it ain't got any water in it. He says he never thought of that when they were building it. But it's a nice spot for anybody that wants to do a little dry swimming."

Just then Mr. Badger, the director, called him to come into the set. They had changed it to a schoolroom scene, and the kids were waiting for Rogers. A fat girl was crying, and a small boy was complaining she had hit him. "What did you strike him for?" inquired Rogers of the girl in the action of the play. "'Cause he hit me with a spitball!" cried the girl. Rogers stopped a second and looked at the fat girl. "Hell, 'course he hit you if he threw at you!" he said. And that retort went down in the assistant director's pad as a subtitle.

Rogers came off the set, and Scenario Writer Hill exclaimed: "We're going to put you into the dentist's chair next, Rogers!"

"Well," drawled Rogers, "I can make it funny if I can remember what I did in the dentist's chair last time I was there!"

After I had bid Mr. Rogers farewell, he called after me:

"Don't be too hard on the movies! You know Mary Pickford's better known than your city!"

SCREEN.

THEMES DRAMATIC.

MANY VIGOROUS PHOTOPLAYS ON WEEK'S PROGRAMME.

California.

"Covet not the neighbor's wife," is the moral of Dorothy Dalton's startling new Thomas H. Ince photodrama, "Other Men's Wives," which is to open at the California Theater tomorrow. Critics have pronounced this story C. Gardner Sullivan's best, which means a great deal to those who know the artistic ability of this great writer. He has taken a young girl, born to luxury, but suddenly left penniless and dependent upon the bounty of her rich friends, and has made her the cat's paw for a designing man who is trying to steal the wife of another man.

In the development of the story she exposes the intrigue. The crisis revolutionises her own life and wins for her the respect of an honorable man that later develops into a true love. The theme is bold but it is handled with the subtle delicacy for which Sullivan is noted and there is nothing, it is stated, to offend the most fastidious.

Forrest Stanley, long a favorite with local audiences, is Miss Dalton's leading man, and other members of the big cast include: H. B. Herbert, Dell Boone, Hal Clements and Elsie Larimer.

The first of the new Campbell comedies, "Monkey Stuff," starring Joe Martin, the near-human monk, is the fun feature of the new programme, which also includes all the regular attractions.

Kinema.

Typical of the virility, the humanity and the strong appeal of all the famous Rex Beach screen dramas is the latest, "The Crimson Gardenia," a picturization of his most widely read works. This play of delicate human touches, suspense and carefully wrought climax, presented by an excellent cast, comes to the Kinema Theater today.

Following close on the unprecedented success of the many cinemas of Mr. Beach, "The Crimson Gardenia" promises to set a new mark in the hall of screen fame. It has element of popular appeal and in addition to touches of artistry, such as only Rex Beach can achieve, the story is perhaps even greater in its fascination than previous Rex Beach productions.

Its locale is in quaint New Orleans at the most picturesque season of the year—the Mardi Gras. The author has visualized the fierce passion of a semi-foreign race and the dramatic tension between old civilization and the ideals of America.

Reginald Barker directed the photoplay under Rex Beach's personal supervision and the cast includes: Owen Moore, Hedda Nova, Tully Marshall, Edwin Stevens, Hector Reece Arnold, Betty Schade, and Alec B. Francis.

The Rex Beach feature will be preceded by an elaborate programme during which a number of dancing beauties will be seen in a colorful and riotous Mardi Gras scene. Smiling Billy Parsons in his latest two-reel comedy will appear on the screen.

Grauman's.

Supported by Eugene O'Brien and a remarkable cast, Marguerite Clark will be seen at Grauman's, continuing in Paramount's version of the stage play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," the vehicle which lifted Ruth Chatterton to undying fame almost overnight. That present day acute sociological dilemma, the servant problem, is trated in a novel, refreshing and surprising way, and it is said that "Come Out of the Kitchen" is really a masterpiece of wit and delicious humor.

As an added feature Sid Grauman has booked Mr. and Mrs. Carter de Haven in their latest two-reel comedy, "Their Day of Rest."

Arthur Kay is arranging an elaborate musical programme featuring Grauman's Symphony Orchestra and C. Sharpe Minor promises a surprise organ number.

Milton Charles will continue his morning organ recitals which have met with such hearty public approbation, and Sid Grauman will offer the usual six or seven addi-

OF ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

The Temple of Trees.

Would'st find a balm more sweet than gift of tears,
Thou who are bruised by stress of sordid things—
The dull routine, the thwarted hope that stings,
The cold ingratitude that numbs and sears?
Go forth and comfort thee where now the year's Cathedral aisles are dim. The thrush here sings
A golden psalm of joy; the bluebell swings
Its frail and fluted censers. Cast thy fears
And loose the bonds that anchor thee to care:
For here the light so gently falls it seems
A gracious benediction after prayer . . .
By mystic murmurs from her hidden streams,
By violets strewn where paths are trodden bare,
Thou knowest the wood will not deny thy dreams.

Summer Exhibition.

The summer exhibition of paintings now showing at Exposition Park is of such quality, of such wide and comprehensive scope, that no one who is really interested in art can afford to neglect it. Fortunately, the pictures are to be kept on the walls of the gallery for three months, from July 1 to September 30, so that every opportunity of inspection and study is offered. You may go, not only once, but fifty times, if you like.

The road to pessimism is down hill and easy. I was informed, only the other day, by a man who has long taken an active and intelligent interest in art and art matters, that rank commercialism has now invaded the field—that, in fact, I too had become commercial in my attitude toward art. I think he is mistaken about the field of art and about me, and that there is, today, no more buying and selling of pictures than there used to be. Would that there were!—for then the painter might have a somewhat easier time of it.

If, as is probable, this man meant that the artist of today painted his pictures with the dealer and the buying public in view, and thus stultified his inspiration and his talent, I think again that he is mistaken, and that he has permitted a few examples that came to his notice to color his conclusions. If he is right, the prospect is indeed disheartening, our hopes for art would be swamped in our fears. But he is wrong, as any candid glance at almost any present-day exhibition of pictures will prove.

The showing at Exposition Park will convince him of his error. Surely he does not believe that a picture must be absolutely unsalable to be a work of art—surely the possessor of a fat purse is not of necessity the owner of a fat head; it is barely possible that he may be a good judge of the pictures he buys, and that he has no immediate intention of selling them to the highest bidder.

The various owners of the pictures in the present exhibition—it is a loan collection—have evidently no desire to sell them, for we find no price marks in the catalog or on the frames. Indeed, ownership is proudly printed under the titles in the catalog, and we find the names of many discriminating collectors. Does all this seem commercial to our disgruntled friend?

Last week I made mention and comment on about a score of these pictures. This week I shall speak of a few more, with the proviso that my readers do not accept my verdict on their merits, but that they take trips—a good many—out to Exposition Park to make discoveries for themselves. You who are in search of vacation adventures will find them here. If you are sensitive souls you may have both excitements and thrills. If you are dull, go a-hunting anyhow, and some day you will wake up to the wonderful world of art, which forever expands into unmapped and unexplored territories.

Paul Dougherty, in the two canvases titled "Marine," helps you to discover the sea, though you may have lived on the outermost edge of it all your life. That's every artist's business—to open your eyes to nature's beauty. Mr. Dougherty will show you how golden are the brown rocks at sunset, how exquisitely gray-green they are in the shadow, how delicate is the gold-pink of the sky. Frederick Waugh will show you how heavy the waves are, how resistless in their force, how almost terrifying in their beauty. George C. Stanson, in "Blue Sea," will convince you of the ocean's gentleness, of its perfect harmony with a grayish sky and with three figures, clad in pinkish gray, standing on its shore.

Or, leaving the sea, let us travel inland with the landscape men, who have as much to tell us as the mariners. Perhaps you did not know how vividly blue and gold the massive forms of mountains may be until you looked at Benjamin Brown's "Thy Everlasting Hills," a picture big in feeling, bold in execution. Perhaps you did not realize the lovely golden brown of Southern California's hills in summer until you saw Hanson Puthuff's "Laguna Hills," in which the modeling is as notably good as the delicacy of the rendering of lights and shadows.

Nature is sometimes as glowing as a furnace. Ralph Blakelock tells you that in his small canvas, "Indian Camp," whose stiff and formal composition does not kill its beauty as a piece of color. Air may seem like a crystal. So says George Bellows in "Evening Group," and you agree, even while you deny any felicity in his arrangement of the "group." Terraced houses may have the formal charme of a mosaic. Rocco Antonio's "Amalfi" proves that.

Let the figure painters be your guides and instructors. A man's a man to you and me, but to the painter he is much more than that, he is the central motive for a picture. Always. Sometimes it is the way he stands or sits that is found worthy of the artist's notice; sometimes it is his color as seen against this or that background, and invariably it is the distribution of light on him—for light is the great picture maker.

In his "Indian Medicine Man" J. H. Sharp found a solitary figure placed against a gray adobe wall, and he saw so much that was touching and poetic in the pose, and so much beauty in the shapes and colors of the accessories, that he was impelled to make a picture. Myron Barlow saw the same picture-making quality in "Peasant With Grandchild," where the ruddy scheme of color is low-toned and exquisite, a picture full of tenderness and true sentiment. Eben F. Comins came upon it in "Edith and Jamie Pinkham," a child with a blue hat, and a blue gown, who is placed against a gray background, and who is holding a favorite doll.

The chic, as well as the tender, claims the painter's attention, for art is an interpretation, a criticism, of life itself. So we have "Irene," by Arbert Rosenthal, a girl with a jaunty hat of peacock blue, trimmed with big pink roses, a very clever piece of painting. Somber thought sometimes makes insistent appeal, as in "Desolation," by Eugene Higgins, a canvas whose treatment is vigorous, and whose fine rhythm of lines is interpretated by a few colors only. The secret, the mystery of childhood, is half revealed in the small head by Joseph Raphael, "Belgian Baby," a delightful little canvas in which the grays and soft warm flesh are shown with admirable dexterity.

In "Above the Sea," Mabel Alvarez has handled the difficulties of light with much subtlety, while the hands and face of the girl holding the orange sunshade are very well drawn. In "Navajo Medicine Man," Gerald Cassidy gives us another of his brilliant characterizations, a portrait as vigorous as life itself.

French Etchings.

A dozen etchings, by modern and older Frenchmen, with a few lithographs, are now being exhibited in the printroom at Exposition Park. All are owned by a Pasadena collector, and all are of unusual excellence. It is a collection that should not be neglected by the lover of prints.

The lithographs and etchings will be shown through the month of July. The exhibition is peculiarly timely, since July 14 is France's Independence Day. The show is significant and comes as a sort of tribute to the genius of the race which we so greatly admire.

"Seagulls," by Joseph Bracquemond, is wonderfully rhythmical and is exquisitely printed in a very light and silvery tone. Bracquemond was among the artists who have contributed most to the revival in France of original painter-etching. "Margot de la Chine" is a lithograph, a squat Chinese idol beautifully drawn, by Honore Daumier, who died in 1879, and who was famous as a painter and sculptor, as well as a caricaturist. A charming old lithograph is Gavarni's "Le Manteau de Harlequin."

Maxime Lelanne's "Benzeval" gives us feeling of space and a wonderful sky. Lelanne not only worked with the needle, but he wrote excellent treatises on the art of etching. There is subtle character in Alphonse Legros's "Head of the Sculptor Dalou." Le Sidonier's lithograph, "The Dance," has the charm of a beautiful pencil drawing, so delicate and refined are its values, so gently rhythmical are the lines of the female figures.

From Auguste Lepere comes "The Farm," to me the most beautiful etching in the entire collection, a really wonderful print in the rendering of sunlight and in the simplicity of its powerful drawing. The print is indeed a masterpiece. Lepere was proficient in many arts, painting, lithographing, silversmithing, wood engraving, etching, bookmaking and casting. He died very recently. A very old print is Claude Lorraine's "The Dance by the River," whose fine precision and academic arrangement are a delight. This famous master was born in 1600.

Edouard Manet, pioneer among the impressionists, gives a little etching called "Le Fumeur" (The Smoker.) Henri Matisse, leader of the post impressionists, offers "The Kimono," a small etching that is both exquisite and simple, a little print of great beauty. Jean Francois Millet's "Wool Carder" is characteristic, a pure etching. It is said that this beautiful print narrowly escaped suppression. Millet considered it overbitten and did not wish to publish it. By inadvertence he left the plate an entire night in the acid.

The vigorously simple "Le Printemps" is by Auguste Rodin. It is a masterly little print by a man who with equal skill adapted his technique to all materials. Another small and admirable print is by Steinlen, "Cat on the Floor," one of the favorite models of this celebrated poster designers.

Memorial Exhibition.

A memorial exhibition of the sculptures of Elizabeth Edmond, a talented young Los Angeles artist, who died a few months ago, is now being held in Exposition Park. It will be reviewed in this column next week.

LADY PAGET'S DEATH CALLS BRITISH EULOGY

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, June 15.—The death of Lady Paget, wife of Gen. Sir Arthur Paket, evoked eulogies of her in many British papers, which keenly regret the passing of the American woman who gladdened so many lives by her philanthropic work.

For nearly forty years Lady Paget was a leader of London society. She made the organizing of entertainments for charitable purposes almost the main business of her life, raising enormous sums. Her activities along that line were continued throughout the war.

Lady Paget was the daughter of Paran Stevens, an American hotel man. She, Lady Randolph Churchill and the Duchess of Manchester, the Manchester Guardian recalls, "were a trio of American beauties who shook the exclusiveness of English society in the early seventies," when they made their aristocratic marriages and established themselves as social leaders and friends of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. Lady Paget was then described as "a dark, brilliant young beauty with remarkable blue-black eyes."

Twenty years ago she was crippled by an accident in an elevator, but it made no difference to her social and charitable work. She had four children, a son who died during the war, two who were wounded, and a daughter, Lady Ralph Paget, who made a name for herself in hospital work for the Serbians.

Will Open Mexican Branches.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—A Mexican government official just returned from the United States says that several large manufacturers of farm machinery in the United States have decided to establish branch offices and plants in Mexico. Motor trucks and tractors were mentioned as two of the commodities that will meet with readiest sale and adaptation in the republic.

To Create a Beautiful Bedroom

The ability to create that harmonious ensemble which suggests quiet restfulness, simplicity, refinement and good taste, is the vital requisite in the correct furnishing of the bedroom.

Just as the artist blends the colors on his canvas to produce a composite masterpiece, so should every detail that enters into the furnishing of the bedroom blend into one pleasing picture.

The "California" will be glad to help you accomplish this ideal in the furnishing of your bedroom.

It matters not whether your home is modest or pretentious, the same cordial and competent helpfulness is always at your disposal here—and you will find most unusual selections in desirable bedroom furniture, in floor coverings, in hangings and in wall papers at almost any price you may care to pay.

Feel free to come to the "California" for suggestions in bedroom furnishings.

Learn the Creole's Secret!

Don't Let Your Hair Grow Gray

THE Creoles of Louisiana, many of whom are direct descendants of the nobility of France and Spain, are famous for the wonderful beauty of their hair. This glorious dark hair is a distinguishing mark of their pure French-Spanish blood and is a special pride and care among these aristocratic people. For generations La Creole Hair Dressing has been a favorite among them. It preserves the youthful beauty and color of the hair even to the sunset of life.

Color Brought Back Without Dye

La Creole not alone prevents gray hair. La Creole will bring back to its former color hair already gray, gray streaked, or faded. It works no sudden change because La Creole contains no dye. Its effect is gradual, but certain, healthful and beautiful. Refinement approves its use. La Creole promotes the healthy condition of hair and scalp, which nature intended.

Depending on the condition of the hair and scalp, two to five weeks treatment will bring back any shade—lightest brown to deepest black—whatever the natural color was. After that occasional use will preserve the vigorous healthy color permanently.

La Creole must not be confused with dyes—it gives no dyed appearance, it cannot stain the scalp and there is nothing to wash or rub off. La Creole eliminates dandruff and is an excellent remedy for scalp troubles.

It is a perfectly safe, healthful, delightful toilet requisite. Absolutely guaranteed to bring back the hair's color—or money refunded.

Write for fascinating booklet, "La Creole-Hair Beautiful." Shows the style of hair dressing best suited to each type of face.

Select Your Dinnerware from Open Stock

THERE is a distinct advantage in buying dinnerware from open stock in that you can select just the number of pieces you require, and add to them as your needs develop, or replace any pieces that may be broken.

You can make up a complete dinner set of any composition you prefer—or from the same pattern you may select a tea set, or a breakfast set, a luncheon set, a cake set, a berry set, an individual breakfast set, a chop set, a roast set, or any other special service set you may desire.

Dinner Sets $10.00 to $500.00

We carry complete open stock selections in a most unusual variety of attractive patterns in such well-known makes as "Homer Laughlin," "Syracuse," "Johnson Bros.," "Minton," "Royal Doulton," "Wedgewood," "Haviland," and others.

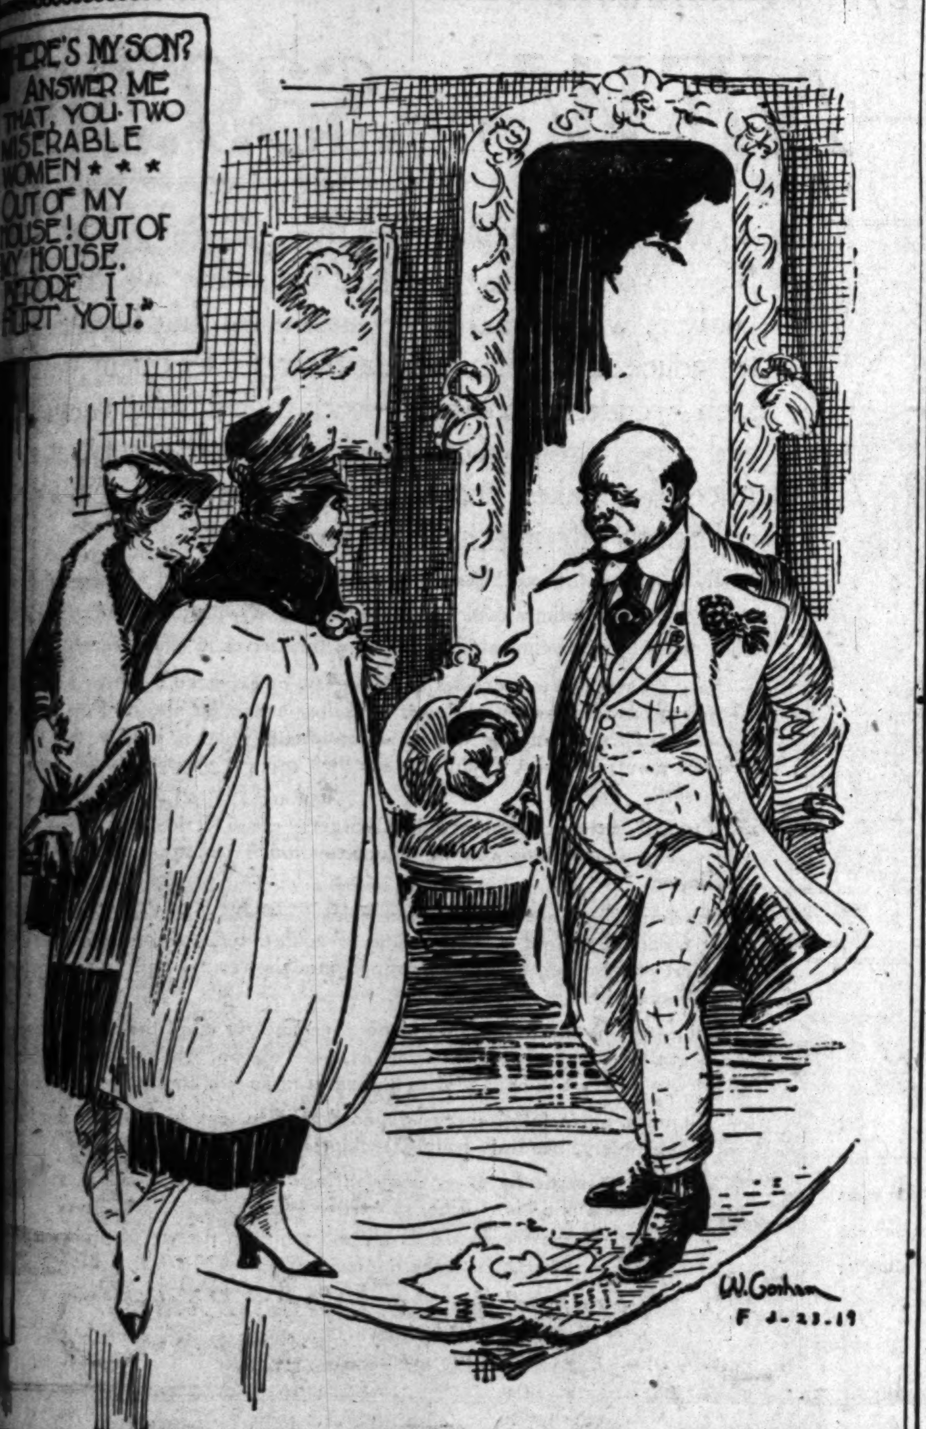
STORIES BY EDNA FERBER.

II. The Gay Old Boy.



WHERE'S MY SON? ANSWER ME THAT, YOU TWO MISERABLE WOMEN * * * OUT OF MY HOUSE! OUT OF MY HOUSE, BEFORE I HURT YOU."
W. Gorham

And he who frequents it by night in search of amusement and cheer is known, vulgarly, as a Loop-hound.

Jo Hertz was a Loop-hound. On the occasion of those sparse first nights granted the metropolis of the Middle West, he was always present, third row, aisle, left. When a new loop cafe was opened Jo's table always commanded an unobstructed view of anything worth viewing. On entering he was wont to say: "Hello, us," with careless cordiality to the head waiter, the while his eye roved expertly from table to table as he removed his gloves.

That was Jo—a plump and lonely bachelor of 50. A plethoric, roving-eyed and kindly man, clutching vainly at the garments of a youth that had long slipped past him.

The gay-dog business was a late phase in the life of Jo Hertz. He had been a quite different sort of canine. The staid and harnessed brother of three unwed and selfish sisters is an under dog.

At 27 Jo had been the dutiful, hard-working son (in the wholesale harness business) of a widowed and gummidging mother, who called him Joey. If you had looked close you would have seen that now and then a double wrinkle would appear between Jo's eyes—a wrinkle that had no business there at 27. Then Jo's mother died, leaving him handicapped by a death-bed promise, the three sisters and a three-story-and-basement house on Calumet avenue. Jo's wrinkle became a fixture.

Death-bed promises should be broken as lightly as they are seriously made. The dead have no right to lay their clammy fingers upon the living.

"Joey," she said, in her high, thin voice, "take care of the girls."

"I will, Ma," Jo had choked.

"Joey," and the voice was weaker, "promise me you won't marry till the girls are all provided for." Then as Joe had hesitated, appalled; "Joey, it's my dying wish. Promise!"

"I promise, Ma," he had said.

Whereupon his mother had died, comfortably, leaving him with a completely ruined life.

They were not bad-looking girls, and they had a certain style, too. That is, Stell and Eva had. Carrie, the middle one, taught school over on the West Side. In those days it took her almost two hours each way. She said the kind of costume she required should have been corrugated steel. But all three knew what was being worn, and they wore it—or fairly faithful copies of it. Eva, the housekeeping sister, had a needle knack. She could skim the State-street windows and come away with a mental photograph of every separate tuck, hem, yoke and ribbon. Heads of departments showed her the things they kept in drawers, and she went home and reproduced them, with the aid of a $2 a day seamstress. Stell, the youngest, was the beauty. They called her Babe. She wasn't really a beauty, but some one had once told her that she looked like Janice Meredith (it was when that work of fiction was at the height of its popularity.) For years afterward, whenever she went to parties, she affected a single, fat curl over her right shoulder, with a rose stuck through it.

Twenty-three years ago one's sisters did not strain at the household leash, nor crave a career. Carrie taught school and hated it. Eva kept house expertly and complainingly. Babe's profession was being the family beauty, and it took all her spare time. Eva always let her sleep until 10 o'clock.

This was Jo's household, and he was the nominal head of it. But it was an empty title.

Most men of Jo's age were standing before their mirror of a Saturday night, whistling blithely and abstractedly while they discarded a blue polka-dot for a maroon tie, whipped off the maroon for a shot-silk, and at the last moment decided against the shot-silk in favor of a plain black-and-white, because she had once said she preferred quiet ties. Jo, when he should have been preening his feathers for conquest, was saying:

"Well, my God, I am hurrying! Give a man time, can't you? I just got home. You girls have been laying around the house all day. No wonder you're ready."

On those rare occasions when his business necessitated an out-of-town trip he would spend half a day floundering about the shops selecting handkerchiefs or stockings, or feathers, or fans, or gloves for the girls.

There was something selfish in his giving, as there always is in any gift freely and joyfully made. They never suspected the exquisite pleasure it gave him to select these things; these fine, soft, silken things. There were many things about this slow-going amiable brother of theirs that they never suspected. If you had told them he was a dreamer of dreams, for example, they would have been amused. Sometimes, dead-tired by 9 o'clock, after a hard day downtown, he would doze over the evening paper. At intervals he would wake, red-eyed, to a snatch of conversation such as "Yes, but if you get a blue you can wear it anywhere. It's dressy, and at the same time it's quiet, too." Eva, the expert, wrestling with Carrie over the problem of the new spring dress. They never guessed that the commonplace man in the frayed old smoking-jacket had banished them all from the room long ago; had banished himself, for that matter. In his place was a tall, debonair, and rather dangerously handsome man to whom 6 o'clock spelled evening clothes. The kind of man who can lean up against a mantel, or propose a toast, or give an order to a man-servant, or whisper a gallant speech in a lady's ear with equal ease. The shabby old house on Calumet avenue was transformed into a brocaded and chandeliered rendezvous for the brilliance of the city. Beauty was here, and wit. But none so beautiful and witty as she. Mrs.—er—Jo Hertz. There was wine, of course; but no vulgar display. There was music; the soft sheen of satin; laughter. And he the gracious, tactful host, king of his own domain—.

"Jo, for heaven's sake, if you're going to snore go to bed!"

"Why—did I fall asleep?"

"You haven't been doing anything else all evening. A person would think you were 50 instead of 30."

And Jo Hertz was again just the dull, grey, commonplace brother of three well-meaning sisters.

Which brings us to one Sunday in May. Jo came home from a late Sunday afternoon walk to find company for supper. Carrie often had in one of her school-teacher friends, or Babe one of her frivolous intimates, or even Eva a staid guest of the old-girl type. There was always a Sunday night supper of potato salad, and cold meat, and coffee, and perhaps a fresh cake. Jo rather enjoyed it, being a hospitable soul. But he regarded the guests with the undazzled eye of a man to whom they were just so many petticoats, timid of the night streets and requiring escort home.

This Sunday night it turned out to be one of Carrie's friends.

"Emily," said Carrie, "this is my brother, Jo."

Jo had learned what to expect in Carrie's friends. Drab-looking women in the late thirties, whose facial lines all slanted downward.

"Happy to meet you," said Jo, and looked down at a different sort altogether. A most surprisingly different sort, for one of Carrie's friends. This Emily person was very small, and fluffy, and blue-eyed

Half Price, and Less Than Half Price

Pure Silk Sweaters $10.00

—This is not a fairy tale, although it sounds like one—just thirteen pure silk sweaters to be sold at $10.00 each.

—Sleeveless slip-over models developed in beautiful fancy weaves and the most fashionable shadings.

—V necks and laced fronts, some with square collars and others without any collars at all.

—Included are just twelve high-grade wool sweaters in coat, tuxedo and slip-over models.

—Verily, an amazing sweater opportunity awaits early purchasers Monday.

THIRD FLOOR

—We know that we have two garment buyers in New York at this moment, but what we do not know is what brand of persuasiveness they have used to induce a certain manufacturer to let them have such wonderful creations—such delightfully unusual and varied exemplifications of grace and beauty, at a price that makes possible one of the most remarkable dress offerings ever put in print.

—We call them "dream" dresses, because they are the sort of dresses that prove dreams sometimes come true, although, you will admit that such visions of exquisite loveliness seldom present themselves in one's dreams.

—They are not like any dresses you ever saw or expected to see at $39.50—they are as fresh as a new flower, and they are so far ahead of the ordinary run of frock fashions, and so exceptionally good in quality, that the average garment expert would estimate their price at almost as much again as $39.50.

—"Dream" dresses developed in Georgette crepe, Tricolette, Crepe de Chine, also in combinations of Georgette and Tricolette and Satin and Georgette.

—Imprisoned in these perfectly wonderful dresses are the very newest and most fascinating ideas in straight-line, overskirt, tunic and blouse effects.

—Smart cuff bottom skirts and draped models—round and square necklines, some with deep sailor collars.

—Long straight and flaring style sleeves, and nearly all of the dresses have deep girdles either of self materials or wide ribbon, while a few are finished with heavy silk cord girdles ending in large silk tassels.

—Trimming notes fulfill every advanced requirement of fashion's fancies with embroidery, beading, frilling, tucking and buttons.

—Models for practically every occasion in a wide range of colors, including Pink, Peach and Navy Blue, as well as White.

—Mid-summer's most extraordinary opportunity in dresses of pronounced individuality and character at the popular price of $39.50.

Married in Berkeley.

E. B. Weller, a newspaper man of Berkeley, and his bride (Miss Miriam Carse) who were married June 24 in the college town, are visiting in Los Angeles with his mother, Mrs. E. F. Weller, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Weller of 327 West Avenue 5[illegible] they will also visit at the Hotel Maryland, in Pasadena, at Catalina, at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, and at Coronado. He is a cousin of Judge Weller of this city.

While here the couple will be extensively entertained. After their marriage the couple motored to Camp Curry for a honeymoon trip. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. H. C. Carse of Berkeley. Mrs. E. F. Weller has just returned to Los Angeles, too, she having spent the past four years in Berkeley with her son, while she was completing a book. Mr. and Mrs. Weller will be at home in Alameda after their visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ainsworth Coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Ainsworth of Portland are expected in Los Angeles next week and soon after arriving will go over to Catalina with their daughter, Mrs. Babette Ainsworth Leslie. For a few days they will visit her sisters, Misses Mary V. and Ethel Mullins. Mr. and Mrs Ainsworth have just sold their home in Portland.

Convalescing.

Friends of Mrs. Henry Clay Godding of 610 South Westmoreland avenue will be interested to learn that she is at last convalescing. She will be glad to see her friends. She was taken ill in early May with bronchitis.

Weds a Soldier.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Grace E. Pollock and Samuel W. Seed, who has recently returned from France. Rev. J. M. Schaefle of the Pico Heights Congregational Church performed the marriage service on July 4, in the presence of near relatives. After a brief wedding trip the couple will be at home at 825 West Sixty-third place.

Yachting Party.

Miss Winifred Hall of Alhambra gave a yachting party at Long Beach last week-end. Her mother, Mrs. A. Hall, chaperoned the party. Among the guests from Los Angeles were George Baltimore and J. J. Rifkind.

By Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Lidia Mills was hostess at a charming dinner party on Thursday evening for a dozen guests.

By Mrs. Arniell.

Mrs. William Arniell of Alexandria avenue was hostess on Wednesday evening at a supper-dance for a small group of friends.

Wheeler-Nightingale Wedding.

Miss Frances Mae Wheeler and Arthur Herbert Nightingale were married Monday afternoon, July 7, by Justice Hanley. The bride is a member of the 1919 class of the Los Angeles branch of the University of California, completing both the general professional and special four-year music courses. On her graduation day, her mother, Dr. Nellie Wheeler, announced the engagement of the couple to their friends and classmates. Mr. Nightingale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Nightingale of Dutton, Mont., and is a mechanical engineer in charge of the assembling department of a large automobile company in Southern California.

At Trinity Church.

Miss Martha Schreyer of 721 Crenshaw boulevard and Brice H. Martin of 1403 Georgia street were married at Trinity Church, Thursday morning, by Rev. C. Raymond Gray. Only members of the two families and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride is a talented musician and graduate of Damrosch Institute, New York. The groom is associated in business with his brother, Joseph A. Martin. The couple left for a trip to the northern part of the State.

Miss Mooney Home.

SOCIETY.

was gowned in white satin and lace and her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms. The couple are spending their honeymoon in the high Sierras.

For Capt. Underwood.

Capt. Harry C. Underwood, who has just returned from overseas, was honor guest at a reception at which his wife was hostess. He shared honors with three cousins who have also just returned from foreign service. They are Corp. Jack Whitney, Howard Whitney and Raymond Sullivan. Capt. Underwood was in command of Co. A, One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, until he went overseas, when he was transferred to Co. I, Fourth Infantry, Third Division, of the Regular Army. He was in the battle of the Argonne and when the armistice was signed he was sent with the Army of Occupation to Germany, where he remained until recently. Forty guests were present.

Week-end Parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eyton of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Herfron are among the visitors at Hotel del Coronado, motoring down Friday afternoon for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Givernaud of Los Angeles are at Hotel del Coronado.

Among the visitors from foreign shores at Hotel del Coronado this month are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kernot of Wellington, New Zealand, and their attractive daughters, Miss Katherine and Miss Vivian Kernot, who arrived July 6, motoring down from San Francisco and stopping en route at Santa Barbara, Del Monte and Beverly Hills Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Kernot were guests here in the fall of 1917, returning home by way of Honolulu. Mr. Kernot is a prominent business man of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Hampton de Ruth and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fraser of Los Angeles are guests at Hotel del Coronado.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nordlinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Brownstine, Miss Tessie Brownstine and Mrs. A. Hockheimer, motored down to Hotel Coronado for several days' visit last week and made arrangements to return in August.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Van Nostrand of Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. F. H. Hulscher, motored down from Los Angeles to Hotel del Coronado for the week-end.

Miss Alice K. Parsons of Los Angeles is at Hotel del Coronado for an extended visit. Miss Parsons is principal of the Girls' Collegiate School.

By Miss White.

Miss Helen White of Toronto Can., and Los Angeles, was host on Wednesday at a pretty tea for sixteen guests who assembled at her Ardmore-avenue home.

Her guests were Miss Ruth Shaffner, Miss Laura Hall, Miss Aileen Renison, Miss Eleanor McCormick, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, Miss Maude Elizabeth Richards, Miss Ruth Robinson, Miss Nelle Alexander, Miss Jean Oll, Mrs. Paula Donohue, and Mrs. Spencer Gray. Miss Richards and Mrs. Donohue gave several voice selections during the afternoon.

Root-Gwynn Wedding.

Miss Helen Root, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Root of 1682 West Washington street, became the bride of James Allen Gwynn at a pretty wedding ceremony performed by Dean E. A. Healey of the University of Southern California. Miss Arley Mott of Santa Paula sang "My Own Sweetheart," and Miss Marguerite Hyde of Riverside, a cousin of the groom, presided at the organ.

The bride was attired in white, and her veil was that worn by a friend at her wedding a year ago and thirty years before by this friend's mother. Miss Marguerite Nimmer was maid of honor, and little Helen Thomas, the bride's namesake, was flower girl. Mr. Root gave his daughter away, and Howard Gwynn was his brother's best man. James K. Banes of Hollywood, Lloyd Smith of Pasadena, and Leland Reber of Long Beach were ushers. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Gwynne of 233 North Dillon street. The couple are now on a motor trip.

Weds San Francisco Doctor.

Miss Frances L. Case of this city and Dr. W. Carl Wright of San Francisco were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella F. Case, on Thursday evening, July 3 Rev. George Davidson, rector of St. John's, officiated. The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Mrs E. R. Ames and Mrs. A. W. Case were her bridesmaids and L. M. Case was best man. The ceremony was performed under a bower of white flowers and ferns, the entire room being decked in white blossoms and greenery. The dining-room was in pink carnations and ferns. The couple are passing their honeymoon in Oregon and will later be at home in San Francisco.

On Vacation.

Mrs. Laura E. Allen and her sister, Miss Annie M Schulte of 1821 South Flower street, left yesterday on a three weeks' vacation which they will spend on the ranch of their sister, Mrs. Benjamin Dalvit, near San Jose. Later they will visit in Santa Cruz and will return by boat from San Francisco.

By Mr. and Mrs. Washburn.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G Washburn of 1487 West Forty-seventh street entertained Friday evening in honor of Miss Dorris Hoswell, who will leave for her summer home at Santa Paula shortly. The guests were Misses Sarah and Esther Lavens, Alberta Christie, Marie Darveit, Florida Page, Gladys Dell Eunice Martin, Messrs. Charles Kramer, Sims Lovens, Winston Squires, Robert Doyle, Norman Page, Langsford Wallace, Newell Burger, Theodore Norwood and William Robertson.

By Mr. and Mrs. Lennon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lennon gave a dancing party in honor of their two sons, Edward and Raymond, who have just returned from overseas. The table and house decorations were done in an Independence Day motif. Among the seventy dancers were the following returned soldiers and sailors: John Kelley, Alfred Haas, Charles Cotter, D. Sterling, John Keenan, Stanley Rogan, Oscar Shane and George Sterling.

To Visit India.

Under the direction of D. F. Robertson, the following passengers will leave on August 25 for an extended tour of Japan, China and India: Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Marquiss, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Duff, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Gibbens, Miss Mary D. Jesse, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Holton, Miss Ina B. Fry, Mrs. Marian A. Beebe, Miss Mildred R. Pope, Miss Olive E. Jones,

Save Your Hair!

—"Where there's hair there's hope—says Prof. Austin—and the more hair there is, the more hope there is. Do not wait until your hair becomes thin before seeking advice—the very first indication of hair troubles should be a sign for you to consult me. With the aid of a most powerful microscope I can detect the parasite that is causing the trouble. My 40 years' experience as a bacteriologist enables me to then suggest a remedy that will apply to your particular case. Do not wait until the hair roots are dead; Act now—if you want to have beautiful, luxuriant hair."

See Prof. Austin now—don't wait for baldness to overtake you—take action while there is yet hair to save—arrest your hair troubles before they become deeply seated—this week—tomorrow—Prof. Austin presents this opportunity to you—FREE! If you have——Dandruff! —Itching Scalp! —Brittle Hair! —Dry Hair! —Oily Hair! —Falling Hair! —Faded Hair! —Split Hair!

—You are in need of immediate treatment. To delay may mean permanent baldness.

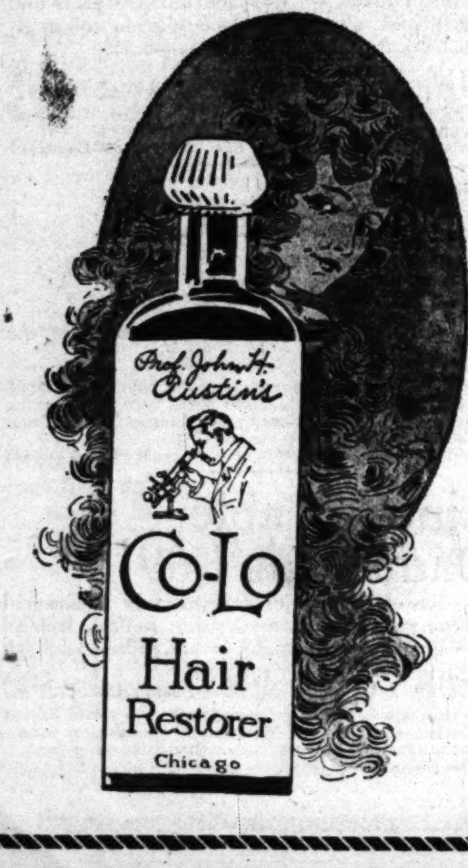
Co-Lo Hair Resotorer



—Your gray hair can now be restored to its natural color—and you can be sure that the result will be entirely satisfactory.

Thousands of Bottles Sold During the Past Four Years

—Over four years ago Co-Lo Hair Restorer was perfected by Prof. John H. Austin of Chicago. It was placed before the public and met with instantaneous success. Why?, Because Co-Lo Hair Restorer does everything that it claims to do. It restores the natural color to gray and faded hair, and does so with entire satisfaction.

Here Are Ten Co-Lo Secrets—the Why of Its Success!

—Co-Lo cannot be detected like ordinary hair dyes—no one will ask what are you using on your hair.

—Co-Lo will not rub or wash off.

—Co-Lo will not injure the hair.

—Co-Lo is as clear as water; perfectly harmless.

—Co-Lo contains no lead or injurious ingredients.

—Co-Lo is the only lasting and satisfactory way of restoring the natural color of the hair.

—Co-Lo will not cause the hair to break off or split.

—Co-Lo is used by thousands in every part of the country.

—Co-Lo is a pleasing and simple remedy to apply.

—Co-Lo is compounded by a registered chemist of 30 years' practice, under the direction of Prof. John H. Austin, who spent 36 years perfecting and experimenting with thousands of chemicals before he succeeded in perfecting Co-Lo Hair Restorer!

—You yourself may tell which shade you need—

—A6—for Black and all dark shades of brown.
—A7—Extra Strong, for Jet Black Hair only.
—A8—for all Medium Brown shades.
—A9—for all very light Brown, Drab and Auburn shades.

—Co-Lo for sale at Hamburger's Main and Second Floors and at all Stores of the Owl Drug Co.

PASADENA.

An interesting announcement of the week in Pasadena was that of City Commissioner and Mrs. Harley F. Newell of North Hudson avenue, who made known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mabel Faustine Newell, to Robert Neer McMaster of Los Angeles. The wedding will take place on the afternoon of July 30 at the Lake-avenue Methodist Church. After the ceremony the young couple will leave for Oregon, where they will make their home. Their romance began at the University of Southern California when both were students there.

A smart social event of the week was the luncheon given by Miss Catherine Wright, 830 North Orange Grove avenue, on Tuesday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Keith Roberts, formerly Miss Helen Munsell. Covers were laid for Mrs. Munsell, Mrs. Leroy Linnard, Mrs. Elliot Bandini, Mrs. Brenton Carr of Los Angeles, Mrs. W. A. Munsell, Mrs. W. S. Wright, Miss Christine Wetherby, Miss Elizabeth Carroll, Miss Nella Choate of Los Angeles, Miss Florence Gates and Miss Gladys Hanna of Long Beach.

Miss Catherine Wright's marriage to Capt. James Spencer Brown, Jr., of Montclair, N. J., will take place the first week in October, it is announced. Miss Wright and Capt. Brown met in France, where Miss Wright was serving in the Red Cross and Capt. Brown in the army. Capt. Brown has visited here since his return from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Webster Fox of Philadelphia, whose marriage took place in Pasadena a few weeks ago, probably will visit Mrs. Fox's sister, Mrs. Earl V. Armstrong, after their visit at Montecito with the mother of Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. James Nelson Burnes.

The wedding of Miss Alma Theroff of East Colorado street and Wilbur J. Reitz of South Chester avenue has just been announced. The young people were married in San Bernardino by Rev. W. A. Hall, May 20, but have been keeping the marriage a secret.

Wives of the members of the Pasadena lodge of Elks held an enjoyable bridge party at the Elks' Club House Thursday afternoon of this week.

Many Pasadenans attended the Dutch treat dinner-dance at the Midwick Country Club Saturday night. These affairs have proven very popular with the members of the club.

Mrs. Will M. Ritchey, 929 North Galena avenue, has as her house guest for the summer her mother, Mrs. John Bostwick of Fort Worth, Tex. Mrs. Ritchey met her mother in San Francisco and they returned to the city together. While they were in San Francisco many charming affairs were given for them.

Mrs. J. E. Warriner, 360 South Lake avenue, this week announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ruth Naomi Warriner, to David E. Leonard of San Francisco. The wedding will take place some time in August. After the wedding the couple will go to San Francisco to make their home.

Dr. and Mrs. John Willis Baer have returned from an outing at Catalina.

Mrs. A. H. Keese, of North Los Robles avenue has returned from the East and she and Mr. Keese have opened their cottage at Hermosa Beach for a two weeks' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vedder of Altadena, are spending several weeks at Santa Barbara.

Dr. Reine K. Hartzell has gone to Lake Tahoe to spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Means have returned to their home at the Maryland, after several weeks at the Belvedere in Santa Barbara.

Dr. and Mrs. Garrett Newkirk are at the beach for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Martin and Miss Efwina Martin have gone to Santa Barbara, where they will be at the Belvedere for several weeks.

SEAL BEACH.

Mrs. E. H. Le Baker of Sixth street entertained a group of children Tuesday afternoon for her little son, Edwin, Jr., whose third birthday anniversary it was. The little folk were served with refreshments, and they played games and had a frolicking good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Putnum of Redlands were guests over the week-end of Mrs. Mary Loftus. Mr. Putnum recently returned from France, where he had been stationed for about fourteen months, belonging to the air squadron.

Patrick J. Gallagher of Dolphin avenue had as his house guests for this last week Mr. and Mrs. John Kinney and sons, Richard and John Jr., Mrs. Lois Read and Miss Helen Ryan of Salt Lake City. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gallagher of Los Angeles joined the party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ahern of Ocean way are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kirby of Los Angeles, and have given a number of nice affairs in honor of their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Williams of Los Angeles are entertaining a jolly crowd of young friends from San Francisco. The Williamses have taken the cottage for a month and are planning on many house parties.

Among those from South Pasadena who spent the week-end at Seal Beach are Mrs. Earl J. Mann and daughters, Geraldine and Daisy; Mrs. Frank Wilson and son, Edwin; Traffic Officer Dan Saylor; Fire Chief Martin Wolf and Wesley Trepp, one of the firemen.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Armstrong of Los Angeles spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hobson of Eighth street.

Mrs. Robert McHenery of San Francisco is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Rogers of Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Slack of El Monte and Seal Beach are giving another delightful house party to a few of their friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Richardson of Montebello visited Mrs. John J. Linnehan over the week end.

Frank Schoen of Venice visited his many friends here during the week.

Mr. J. J. Bowdish, former Justice of the Peace of Seal Beach, is visiting here from Altadena.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parks of Santa Ana visited with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Armstrong of Eighth street.

F. R. Bacon of San Francisco and J. S. Bacon of Santa Ana visited with Hon. V. A. Stanton. They are sons of W. R. Bacon, who is a stockholder in the Bayside Land Company.

RIVERSIDE.

The arrival of summer in real earnest and the lure of mountain and beach resorts have had the effect of discouraging social activities the past week. What few weddings were recorded were for out-of-town people. A Pomona couple, Miss Helen Adrienne Hamilton and Jesse L. Vance, were united at high noon Wednesday, the ceremony taking place in the St. Cecilia marriage chapel at the Mission Inn. Rev. Franklin Ward, assistant pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church, read the service, following which an elaborate wedding breakfast was served in the patio colonnade of the inn.

Mrs. Pauline Frances Linder of San Bernardino, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Brish, became the bride of Frank L. Green of San Diego at a simple ceremony performed at the Grace Methodist parsonage by Rev. A. S. Cummings. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green of Colton. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Green left for San Diego, where they will reside.

In compliment to her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Smith of San Francisco, Mrs. Henry Werner of 303 Main street entertained informally Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was given over to bridge. The hostess served a dainty luncheon, in which the pink and white motif, employed effectively in the decorations, prevailed.

In honor of her sisters, Mrs. O. C. Renfer and Mrs. Charles Daniels, who are visitors from the East, Mrs. Nellie Freeman entertained on Tuesday evening with a dinner party of charming appointments. Covers were laid for Mrs. Renfer and Mrs. Daniels, and Mrs. Margaret Moan, Miss Louise Summons, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodward, Misses Irma and Isabel Woodward, Edward Moan, George Freeman and Wesley Freeman.

Among the out-of-town couples wedded here this week were Mrs. Alice Giraudt and Edwin J. Woods, both of Los Angeles; Dr. B. S. Haywood, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. After a wedding breakfast at the Mission Inn Mr. and Mrs. Woods motored back to Los Angeles.

EAGLE ROCK CITY.

Eber Slaght, Howard Funder and Arthur Nuss acted as hosts for a dancing party given at the home of Catherine Clements on Satsuma avenue, on Saturday evening, the first since the close of high school. The invited guests were, Muriel Gardiner, Alberta Stoddard, Mabel Munyon, Florence Loucks, Margaret Stuckwisch, Ruth French, Fern Curtis, Constance Brassch, Amber Young and Helen Durfee of Pasadena, Hollis Moyse, Oran Branscombe, Howard Roberts, Bernard Lee, Neil Marvin, Paul Crouch, Ray Sanders and William Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Owen of Pomona were callers at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Creswell on Eagle avenue, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cates and Mr. Charles McLaughlin and sister, Bessie, returned from Big Tejunga Canyon on Saturday, where they had been enjoying an outing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller publishers of our city's paper, the Sentinel, were guests of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce on their complimentary trip around the "Rim of the World," and report a "great trip."

Miss Ada Corkhill of Corona is spending a short time with her close friend, Mrs. J. D. Cameron, of Windermere avenue. Miss Corkhill recently returned home from the war front of the great St. Mihiel, Tuol and Manzig sector. She was stationed within shell and air bombing areas and has some vivid recollections of hard work and danger in the great war.

Mrs. George Pickrel of San Diego, daughter of Mrs. H. L. Terry, will give a reading at the Thursday Morning Musical Club which will meet at the home of Mrs. Mills on Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cates and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tiding from Chicago, are enjoying several days in the mountains.

Mrs. John C. Miller and family have gone to Santa Barbara for a vacation trip.

Several of the ladies of the old and new board of the Parent-Teachers' Association gave Mrs. C. B. Dirks a surprise handkerchief shower on Saturday, on the eve of her trip to Wisconsin. Mrs. Dirks is the retired president of this association and is such an active worker in whatever she has undertaken that the ladies wanted to wish her God-speed on her journey and a safe and early return to her many friends here.

Mrs. Blanche Gardiner and Mrs. P. O. Stoddard who have been chaperoning Alberta Stoddard, Mabel Munyon, Catherine Clement and Muriel and Glen Gardiner while at Arch Beach have returned home. During their stay at that beach they enjoyed a couple of interesting side trips, one being to Madame Modjeska's Forest of Arden, where they saw, in Madame Modjeska's favorite room, the window representing a forest on fire. Next to the house is planted a slip from the "Crown of Thorns" brought from the Holy Lands. They also visited the Mission at San Juan Capistrano.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Stansberry of Ann Harbor, Mich., and Mrs. C. A. Hilton took the Mt. Lowe trip on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Congdon entertained the intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gillan, former pastor of the Methodist Church in this city, but who now has a charge at Indio, Cal., where he has a date ranch.

GARDENA.

The members of the Wednesday Progressive Club, to the number of about seventy-five enjoyed a picnic in the willows of the old Bixby ranch on Long Beach boulevard Wednesday. Coffee was made over a camp fire and a delightful luncheon was served from many cloths spread in the shade of the low trees. Several ladies were accompanied by guests; amongst the latter were: Mrs. A. B. Russell and Mrs. Lou Jackman of Gardena, Mrs. Waltz of Santa Cruz, the house guest of Mrs. Robert Robertson, Mrs. T. H. Soudan of Los Angeles, a former member of the club, Mrs. C. S. Hetzlar, guest of her aunt, Mrs. T. H. Bateman, and Miss Grace McCleery of Moneta.

Mrs. S. E. Abbott, after a residence of several months in Los Angeles, has returned to her home on Orchard avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Russell entertained last week, Mr. Russell's cousin, Mrs. Hattie Robertson, a missionary from China, and relatives of Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Kilgore of Salt Lake. The Kilgores spent several months in Califrnia on a previous visit and now intend making their home in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Overman spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hammond of Long Beach.

A delightful affair was given by the social section of the Wednesday Progressive Club Saturday evening. On these occasions the ladies in charge always call upon their husbands to assist as hosts. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graham, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Overman and Mrs. May McLaughlin, were hosts for the evening. Cards and dancing occupied the evening. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. S. S. McMullan of Los Angeles, and daughter of Mrs. I. S. Ball of Palm avenue, has left her four little sons and daughters with her mother in order to accompany her husband to a birthday party in an eastern city. Dr. McMullan's father is nearly 80 years of age and is planning on his eightieth birthday anniversary to have about him his nine sons and daughters, and as many as posible of his sixtyeight grandchildren.

Mrs. Lulu Belton leaves on Monday for an extended visit to her two sons, Merrill Belton of Des Moines, Ia., and Walter Belton in Algona, the same State. At the latter home she will find her first grandchild. Mrs. Belton will also visit friends in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

ONTARIO.

Christ Episcopal Church, was the scene of a lovely wedding, Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, when Miss Olive Amanda Granger, popular society girl of Ontario and Upland, became the bride of Clyde Darwin DuVall. The Rev. Richard Hodges Gushee was the officient, and the church was filled to capacity for the wedding. Gladiolas in a delicate shade of pink were used in the decoration of the altar and huge hydrangeas in Dresden tints were banked at the altar rail. With the Rev. Carlton M. Hitchcock at the organ, the bridal party entered to the strains of Sousa's Wedding March. The bride was on the arm of her father, Oliver Kent Granger, who gave her away. She was gowned in a creation of white satin and Georgette crepe trimmed with family point lace and the conventional veil of tulle was also trimmed with point lace and gardenias. In place of the usual bouquet, the bride carried a prayer-book bound in white leather and with shower markers tied with white bride's rosebuds. Miss Harriet Granger, a sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid, and was gowned in a smart frock of flowered organdie with pink picture hat. She carried Cecil Brunner buds and ferns. The bride was met at the altar rail by the bridegroom, who was attended by Guy Runals, a former classmate, at Ripon College, Wis. The Episcopal ring service was used, followed by the nuptial mass, and just at the close of the ceremony Mrs. Harriet Longstreet Gray, contralto, and Miss Katherine Jones, soprano, sang "O Perfect Love." A wedding breakfast, participated in by members of the bridal party and relatives followed at the attractive home of the bride's parents on San Antonio Heights. Here a pleasant surprise awaited the guests, for just following the toast to the bride and bridegroom, Edmund Hatcher Granger, brother of the bride, proposed a toast to their aunt, Mrs. Julia McCoy Hatcher, announcing her engagement to Laughlin McCoy Kellar of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. DuVall left for Yosemite Valley on their wedding trip, and upon their return will make their home in Whittier, where the bridegroom is to be associated with the Chaffey interests.

Ontario society and church circles were taken completely by surprise Sunday afternoon, when the

Why Women Grow Old More Quickly Than Men

Greater Percentage of Anaemia—Lack of Iron in the Blood—Among Women Makes Them Lose Much of Their Youth, Beauty and Former Attractiveness, And Become Fretful, Nervous and Run-down—

What Women Need Is Not Cosmetics or Stimulating Drugs But Plenty of Pure Red Blood, Rich in Iron

Physician Explains How Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron, Enriches the Blood, Strengthens the Nerves, Builds Up Physical Power and Often Makes Weak, Pale, Careworn Women Look and Feel Years Younger.

Look for the woman who appears younger than a man of the same age and you will find the exception to that vast majority upon whom anaemia—lack of iron in the blood, has fastened its grip and is gradually sapping the health, vitality and beauty which every woman so longs to retain. In most cases men safeguard their health better than women by eating coarser foods, being more out-of-doors and leading more active lives, thereby keeping their blood richer in iron and their bodies in better physical condition. The very moment a woman allows herself to become weak, nervous and run-down she is placing a drain upon her whole system which overtaxes the power of the blood to renew wasted tissue and keep active the natural life forces of the body. There are thousands of women who are ageing and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect bodily health which comes from plenty of iron in the blood, simply because they are not awake to their condition. For want of iron a woman may look and feel haggard and all run-down—while at 50 or 60 with good health and plenty of iron in her blood she may still be young in feeling and so full of life and attractiveness as to defy detection of her real age. But a woman cannot have beautiful rosy cheeks or an abundance of strength and endurance without iron, and physicians below have been asked to explain why they prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help supply this deficiency and aid in building a race of stronger, healthier women.

At 20 Years
At 40 Years

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) New York, and the Westchester County Hospital says: "Many a woman who is run-down, easily tired out, nervous and irritable, suffers from iron deficiency and does not know it. I am convinced that there are thousands of such women who, simply by taking Nuxated Iron might readily build up their red corpuscles, increase physical energy, and get themselves into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us. I consider Nuxated Iron one of the foremost blood and body builders—the best to which I have ever had recourse."

Among other physicians asked for an opinion was Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician & Surgeon Monmouth Memorial Hospital, New Jersey, who says: "What women need to put roses in their cheeks and the spring time of life into their step is not cosmetics or stimulating drugs, but plenty of rich, pure blood. Without it no woman can do credit to herself or to her works. Iron is one of the greatest of all strength and blood builders, and I have found nothing in my experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy, red-blooded women as Nuxated Iron.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by the Owl Drug Co., Boswell & Noyes, Dickinson Drug Co., Sun Drug Co., B. & B. Drug Co., Chambers Drug Co., and all other druggists.

SOCIETY.

Rev. Richard Hodges Gushee, for twenty-five years rector of Christ Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Minnie Congdon Tanner of Santa Cruz and Los Angeles were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed in the church and was witnessed by relatives and a few intimate friends only. Dr. Alfred Fellows, of Los Angeles, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her away, and the Rev. Carlton M. Hitchcock was the officient. The Rev. and Mrs. Gushee left Wednesday on a wedidng trip and upon their return will make their home at the rectory, No. 232 North Euclid avenue.

The marriage of Miss Zeola Arnett and Joseph Frank Silva of the United States Navy was quietly celebrated Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Arnett, No. 418 East Maitland street. Intimate friends of the bride and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Winthrop Allison, pastor of Westminister Presbyterian Church. The bride is a graduate of Chaffey High School, and of the San Diego Normal School. The bridegroom is attached to the medical corps of the naval air school at San Diego, in which city he and his bride are to make their home.

News of the marriage Thursday in Pasadena, of Miss Helen Ogden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Ogden, of East Ralston street, and Harvey M. Dorn of the Crown City was received with much interest here. The marriage was solemnized in the First Methodist Epsicopal Church of Pasadena, with Dr. Merle Smith officiating. The bride only recently returned from Red Cross nursing service overseas, and the bridegroom likewise served in the medical corps of the army in France, for nearly two years. After a honeymoon in the High Sierras, Mr. and Mrs. Dorn are to reside in Pasadena, where the bridegroom is in the real estate business.

REDONDO BEACH.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stevens of Spokane, Wash., and son Clyde and daughters, Helen and Ulalia, are spending a few weeks in this city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ellis of the Seaside apartments. The Ellises and their guests are planning to take several automobile trips through places of interest in Southern California.

Rev. and Mrs. Owen Umstead, and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walker, Miss Elva Brook and Miss Clara Branch enjoyed an automobile trip to the Orange County Park, July Fourth, returning in the evening to enjoy the Fourth of July celebration in Redondo Beach and Hermosa Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morrell entertained a number of their friends at their home in this city on July Fourth, the guests remaining also over for the week-end. The afternoon of the Fourth a beach party was enjoyed and a wiener bake supper on the sand in the evening. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wright of this city, Miss Gladys Beckenoogen, Miss Stella Bennett, Mr. Temple and Mr. Earl Beckenoogen, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. Ray Brahms, of South Pasadena.

The Eastern Star held a very enjoyable meeting in the Masonic Hall Tuesday evening. During the summer this chapter meets only once a month. The next meeting will be held in August.

The Cap and Apron Club held a meeting in the W.O.W. hall Tuesday afternoon. The members occupied themselves with sewing for the bazaar which the club is planning to hold the coming fall.

The Methodist church held their annual picnic on the Hotel Redondo grounds Friday. A picnic lunch was enjoyed at noon, and games, swimming and a general good time in the afternoon.

The Woman's Relief Club held its regular meeting in the Masonic Hall Monday afternoon. The resignation of Mrs. Robinson as treasurer was accepted with regrets and Mrs. Crossen was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church held a meeting at the church Wednesday. The usual meeting of the society is on Thursday, but the date was changed to Wednesday this week complimentary to Mrs. Owen Umstead, whose birthday fell on that day. In addition to the luncheon proper a huge birthday cake adorned the table.

SANTA MONICA.

Miss Katherine Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Young of 301 Tenth street, was married last Tuesday evening to Roy Cameron, a hero of the Canadian service, at St. Augustine's Church-by-the-Sea. Rev. W. M. Pierson performed the ceremony. The bride was very lovely in her white satin gown and veil, caught with orange blossoms. Mrs. Gerald Young and Miss Rosario Winston were her attendants. Richard Weedon was best man. They will reside in Paralto after a short trip through the southern part of the State.

Miss Felice Engelbrecht entertained a happy group of her friends last Tuesday evening with a dinner-dance at the Brentwood Club. The decorative motif of the tables was red, white and blue. Many surprises were revealed about the guests after a close examination of the place cards, which were cleverly created to characterize the guests. Those present were: Adelaide Bundy, Ruth Killian, Gladys Rebok, Ruth Langueth, Ruth Palmer, Brooksie Bailey, Ethel Ogden, the hostess, Travis Hutton, Raymond Prior, Merrit Van Sant, Lauren Wilson, Bob Stearner, Marion Rhinehart, Thurlough Culley, Bob Ragar. Mrs. H. J. Engelbrecht chaperoned the party.

On Monday, last, Mrs. Thomas Higgins of Beverly avenue, invited a group of friends to a luncheon at home for the purpose of meeting Mrs. J. D. Braun, who is up from their Imperial Valley ranch for the summer months. Pink blossoms and ferns furnished the decorative motif. Covers were laid for Mrs. Percy Browne, Mrs. Le Roy Raymond, Mrs. J. W. Todd, Mrs. C. M. Shissler, Miss Adelaide Ramsey, Mrs. W. H. Wilde of Los Angeles, the honoree and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gardiner of 222 California street, Santa Monica, have as house guests this week Dr. and Mrs. Gardiner of Ballarat, Australia. Dr. Gardiner is a physician of high standing in this country. Mrs. Gardiner, his wife, was prominent in Red Cross activities in this country during the war period. Dr. and Mrs. Gardiner are touring the United States for the first time.

Many admiring friends gathered at the home of Laurence C. Schreiber, son of the Charles Schreibers of 1224 Fourth street, who returned last Thursday from overseas. The young hero had many tales to tell, and the evening was spent very pleasantly.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. Church was held last Wednesday on the Santa Monica pleasure pier, a picnic lunch a general good time on the beach being the features of the day's pleasure. The business session came to order at 10:30 a.m.

The wedding ceremony uniting Miss Frances Folsom, daughter of Mrs. F. Folsom of Eighth street, and Harold F. Huston, prominent young business man here, was lovely in its simplicity. The wedding took place last Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. W. H. Cornett performing the ceremony. Only the immediate family and relatives were present.

COLTON.

On the eve of their departure for their Oregon home, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bartlett and son, Kenneth, of Portland, were honor guests at a delightfully informal social courtesy taking place Wednesday evening at the E. C. Merryfield home. The beautiful residence was festive in decorations of Shasta daisies and great clusters of hydrangeas, but it was in the grassy back garden that the guests found their chief pleasure. Here small tables had been placed for progressive guessing games. Tournament prizes were an attractive picture frame and a bottle of violet water. As the evening hours advanced Mrs. Merryfield served delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee. Those participating in the pleasure of the last visit with the Bartletts were Messrs. and Mmes. C. W. Curtis, R. L. Riley, I. M. Knopsnyder, J. E. Butler, Denair Butler, Robert Smith, Van Arsdale Smith, E. Taylor, H. T. Osborn, Ralph Bailey, C. F. Whitmer, George Coe, S. E. Andrews, Sumner B. Wright, Palmer Willets, and A. E. Perris, of San Bernardino. Mrs. Grace Garner, Mrs. Ada Pettijohn, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkerson, Mrs. A. E. Spratins, Miss Thelma Riley, Howard B. Smith, Elmer Boerstler and Harold Watt.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cocking, whose wedding took place in Los Angeles Thursday are in Colton over the week-end to receive the congratulations and best wishes of relatives and friends. They will return to Los Angeles Sunday evening to take up their temporary abode on Trinity street. Occasioning much affectionate interest is the announcement of the marriage of the pretty Angel City girl to Mr. Cocking and their visit here, which is especially fitting not only because the bridegroom is a native of this city, but because the romance of the happy young couple began here two years ago. The bride was Miss Elsie M. Piper, daughter of Mrs. Ira Piper of Trinity street, Los Angeles. She became Mrs. Cocking at a simple ceremony taking place at 3:30, Thursday afternoon in a Los Angeles parsonage.

After more than two years in the army, one year of which was spent in France, George Brown has returned and is a guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. E. Horsefield of Bloomington. He is a nephew of A. M. Brown of this city, well-known Civil War veteran.

FLORENCE.

Most effective in all its appointments was the wedding the other evening of Miss Lida Ewart Dillin, daughter of Mrs. M. L. Dillin, 1712 Santa Rosa place, and Elmer J. Brown of Pomona, the ceremony taking place in the home of the bride, before thirty-five guests. The rooms were bowerlike in a perfect profusion of pink carnations and ferns, the bride wearing white crepe de chine with bead trimmings. A shower of Cecile Brunner buds, sweet peas and maidenhair fern completed the graceful costume. The wedding march was played by Miss Ella Gemmell, Miss Anna Ewart singing twice during the evening. The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. F. Price of Brooklyn-avenue Congregational Church. Later ice cream, cake and punch were served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for Pomona, where they will make their home. Present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Ewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. McNeal, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. F Tyler, Mr and Mrs. Alta Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Campbell, Misses Anna, Margaret and Mildred Ewart, Hubert Ewart, Ralph and Raymond Campbell of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Gemmell and Misses Ella and Ruth Gemmell of Claremont; Mr. and Mrs. J. Stoppel and daughters, Misses Beatrice and Helen; Miss Gipson, Mrs. D Shank, Miss Margaret Rankin, Miss Gail Brown, Mrs. A. E. Dillin and Monte Brown of Whittier.

A prettily appointed wedding, with daisy and fern decoration, was solemnized Saturday evening in the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hey, 7053 Holmes avenue, when their only

Mrs. G. Muller and daughter, Miss Freida, have gone to California Hot Springs for the summer.

POMONA.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Golff have returned from their honeymoon trip which was enjoyed in the Yosemite Valley, the trip being made by automobile. They remained there a week enjoying the beauties of the side trips after which they motored home by the coast route, stopping at various points along the way. These stops included Monterey, San Jose and Santa Barbara.

Members of the Women's Relief Corps social club of Pomona enjoyed a delightful all day meeting at the home of Mrs. A. H. Hill, 755 North White avenue, Wednesday. The hours were enjoyed informally and although the living-rooms were delightful in their floral decorations, the most of the day was spent out of doors. A cafeteria luncheon was enjoyed. The business session was also out on the lawn. Hill added a happy surprise to the day by producing a big freezer of ice cream.

Tuesday being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Leo LeVoy, of Alvarado court, she was made the honoree at both luncheon and dinner parties which made the day brimming full of pleasure. A noonday luncheon was served at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Thurman, 724 West Second street, carnations being used in the table appointments. A 7 o'clock dinner was served in her honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dossett in the Lewis Apartments. Here the motif of the table appointments was in blue with blue hydrangeas and blue hand-painted name cards. A birthday cake completed the pretty effect, being atwinkle with dainty blue candles. Mrs. LeVoy was made the recipient of many pretty birthday gifts. Guests enjoying both occasions were Mr. and Mrs. George Corwin and son of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ed McLaughlin, of Hollywood; Mrs. V. DeBrunner of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Thurman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dossett.

Mrs. W. A. Fox, 250 Columbia, was hostess to the Foreign Missionary Society of Trinity Church, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. C. Pierson, president, was in the chair, Mrs. E. E. Kelley leading the meeting. According to the programme now followed in the foreign missionary societies, the history of foreign missionary work is being studied by decades, yesterday's lesson dealing with the fourth decade. Miss Maurine Kimberlin favored the guests with a delightful vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Olds. The emergency call was presented at yesterday's meeting for the fund for orphans of India, and it is thought the amount will be raised through the Jubilee Bell fund. Anyone contributing $1 to missionary work is entitled to their name on a gold bell to be used in decoration at the Jubilee meeting in Boston in October. This is called the Jubilee fund. The golden bells will decorate old Tremont church duri lration of the fiftieth anniversary of the foreign missionary society, which was organized in Tremont church. Mrs. Parker, one of the charter members, now in her eighties, still lives, and is at present in India. She expects to be home for the jubilee meeting. Interesting, too, local society is the fact that Mrs. E. E. Kelley is a former resident of Boston, and has played the old organ in Tremont church. At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshing punch and wafers.

Mrs. F. M. Egbert and daughter Miss Ada Egbert, 172 Jefferson street, have returned from an outing at Santa Monica and Venice. Mrs. Egbert was away a week and Miss Egbert joined her at the week-end. While at the seashore the ladies attended the summer conference of the church school workers, taking place under the auspices of the Diocesan Board of Christian Education. Although the conference was well attended, the Pomona delegation was the largest of all the representatives. An invitation to make Pomona the meeting place for the fall convocation, which convenes twice a year, was accepted. Among other local people at the summer school were Rev. C. S. Clark, Jr., pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church; Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Burton and Miss Flora Burton.

Mrs. Cecil H. Short, 420 Columbia street, was happily surprised Thursday at the receipt of a cablegram from her husband, stating that he would sail for the United States tomorrow, on board the Finisterre. Mr. Short has been doing Y.M.C.A. work in France for the past year, and it was the intention of Mrs. Short, Master Don Short and their aunt, Miss Eleanor Martin, to go to New York to await his coming. The party then planned to visit in the East till September first. However, now that Mr. Short's sailing orders have come so much sooner than was anticipated, his family will await him at home. Later they will make plans for a delightful outing together.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Ludlum, Philadelphia avenue, were happily surprised by the arrival of Mrs. Ludlum's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dugan, Springfield, Mo., who remained over the week-end. Mrs. Ludlin knew her brother was en route to California, but did not know just when he would arrive in Pomona. The brother and sister have not met before in twenty-seven years and the few days together were a delightful reunion. Mr. Dugan is so pleased with Pomona that he thinks strongly of returning to make his home here. With the Frisco Railroad in Springfield, Mr. Dugan has had opportunity to see a great deal of the country, both East and West. He declares that in all his travels he has seen no other spot with the charm of Pomona.

BUENA PARK.

At the meeting of the Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon Lieut. I. D. Jayres gave a most interesting talk on his war experience, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Mamie Bradley entertained with a motor party on Sunday when the beauties of Santa Ana canyon were viewed, and Modjeska Park was visited. A delightful picnic lunch was served at the latter place. The affair was in honor of Miss Luella Doughty of Los Angeles and was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Robertson entertained on Monday evening at a small dinner party, in honor of their cousin, Mr. Howard Graves.

BELLFLOWER.

Twenty and more were the ladies who united in arranging a stork shower at the Presbyterian Church on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Harry Bouey. Dainty and beautiful gifts were bestowed without a single duplicate, and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. John Gabrielson and her two sons are guests for the summer at the home of her father, Mr. J. A. Stephens, on West Park avenue.

An even dozen covers were laid at the home of Mrs. T. W. Powell at

Use O-Cedar Polish the O-Cedar Polish Way

First, remove mud, dust, etc., from your car by washing with water in the usual way.

If you have used oils, or wax, it is best to use Ivory Soap to remove them.

Pour about 4 ounces of O-Cedar in a pan and add a quart of warm water. Saturate a clean cloth in this and go over the body of the car. Do not attempt to clean too much at a time—take one side of the body or a fender first. Follow by rubbing with a dry cloth. But little rubbing is required to produce a hard, dry, lasting lustre.

"CAPPY RICKS" HERE.

POPULAR MOROSCO SUCCESS TO CAPTURE LAUGHS.

Mason.

"Cappy Ricks," Oliver Morosco's recent metropolitan success, will be presented at the Mason Operahouse for two weeks, commencing tomorrow night.

This atmospheric comedy by Edward E. Rose is based on the stories by Peter B. Kyne, which ran in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post. The production comes direct from its long run at the Morosco Theater, New York, and with those brilliant and highly popular co-stars, William Courtenay and Tom Wise, heading the cast, "Cappy Ricks" is of the most humanly natural comedies.

The story begins on the seventieth birthday of Alden P. Ricks, born a Maine Yankee, and transplanted early to the Pacific Coast, becoming rich and powerful. He is admired and feared after his stormy career in making the Blue Star Navigation Company supreme on the San Francisco water front, and along the whole coast. Woe to any one who got in Cappy's way with ships!

However, a certain Matt Peasley, just a mate on one of his ships, did get in his way, and also fell in love with the captain's daughter. Matt organizes a rival shipping company. The air is charged with charters, contracts, cargoes, deals and business fights. Cappy is to preside at Matt's business funeral. The criss-cross love affairs play their part. Matt comes in with all of Cappy's employees, even his butler, as officers in the rival concern. First, Matt seems the winner. Then Cappy's great skill and resources appear victorious, but the upstart sailor man at last runs the "funeral," and Cappy glories in the fact that it took another Yank to beat him.

The splendid cast, in addition to the stars, includes Helen Lowell, Ysobel Withers, Norval Keedwell, Percival Moore, Eugene Lowe, Elmer Ballard, Philip Lord, Thomas Shearer, Edward H. Horner, Helen Marr and Jacqueline Mason.

Orpheum.

Some time has passed since the Orpheum proffered a musical comedy as a star attraction, but this week it will make up for lost time. The headline act will have Frank Dobson and his Thirteen Sirens. The piece was written by Frank Stammers and is said to be about as brilliant and effective as any that has been put into tabloid form.

Dobson himself, though not a familiar figure in vaudeville, is well known in many other fields of stage endeavor. He started as a chorus man, went into melodrama, then into real drama, and finally has joined his first love, musical comedy. He is versatile, agile, eccentric in his dancing and a good laugh maker. The girls are thirteen in number; they are seen repeatedly in effectively varied costumes. They are said to possess beauty of face and form, can sing and wear gowns, and are all in all one of the best aggregations of feminine pulchritude yet to be exploited on the Orpheum stage.

Another very notable feature of the week is the appearance of the musical act of Brahm van den Berg, the piano virtuoso, who makes his bow at the Orpheum. This noted pianist, who has been heard here in concert, has something to say to the masses as well as the classes, and he has sought in vaudeville the means. He never played with greater success, it is believed, than last week at the San Francisco Orpheum, and it is assured that he will duplicate his success here.

Lew Williams and Ada Mitchell will be seen in a clever patter skit, "June Time," with a good love interest, and Emile and John Nathane will do some artistically clever athletic feats as newcomers, while T. Roy Barnes and and Bessie Crawford, Sheila Terry & Co., and Madge Maitland will repeat last week's hits.

Lloyd & Wells, also remaining, will appear in white-face as Two Gentlemen from Dixie, thus making a complete new act.

The Marion Morgan dancers close their stay with tonight's performance.

Morosco.

The third and positively last week of the biggest comedy success of years at the Morosco Theater begins with today's matinee. "Civilian Clothes" will be taken to New York following the performance Saturday night. Thurston Hall will become

THE SOUL OF THE DRAMA.

An Interview with Henry Miller and Blanche Bates.

BY JAMES M. WARNACK.

"Sh! Be quiet! Mr. Miller is dying!"

Miss Blanche Bates actually smiled while she whispered this injunction to me as I stood in her dressing-room at the Mason, whither I had gone to seek an interview with her and with Henry Miller. Yes, she smiled, the heartless woman, although she afterward admitted that she had never had a stage manager she liked as well as Mr. Miller.

"But, Miss Bates, he musn't die until I have interviewed him! Besides, he must think of all the people out there who have paid good money to see him. However, if he does die, I hope his understudy is here and prepared to finish the performance."

"Evidently I don't need to explain that it is 'Moliere' that is dying," she laughed. "Of course, he has to die before his spirit can be free and before his thoughts can live in the minds of the people. It is so in life, it is so with the great character on the stage. The audience will go away, impressed with the idea of the wonderful things Moliere might have written had he been more free to express himself while alive. But don't let's be serious. My! It's a warm day to have to dress up like a noble woman!"

"I came to ask your opinions concerning the uplift of the drama, Miss Bates. To begin with, what do you think of prohibition?"

"Having been born in San Francisco," she replied, "I confess to a liking for—the verses of Anacreon. I would rather vote for the abolition of bad plays than the prohibition of light wines."

I began to rave about Mr. Miller's "Moliere." I told her I had just heard Moliere tell Louis XIV that he talked like a fish—or words to that effect—and that it did my democratic soul good to hear a genius hand out such a line of talk to a damphool king.

"Mr. Miller is truly great in the part," she said, "and I must say that it was a bold stroke on his part to produce Moeller's excellent play immediately after the signing of the armistice. However, he knew the public was ready for something of the kind. The world has had its fill of blood-lust, excitement is calming down, sanity is returning. 'Moliere' had a big run at the Liberty Theater in New York, where it was first staged last January. After our engagement there we came direct to Los Angelas, because we wanted the people here to enjoy the drama next. You see, I am a Californian by birth and Mr. Miller is a Golden Stater by adoption and we got homesick for God's country.

"As I said, America is getting back to sanity. There was some excuse for purely sensational plays during the war, but now people are asking for something better, for plays with life and light in them.

"The relapse of the theater has not been altogether the people's fault, however. For the last ten years the theatrical managers have been playing with, rather than for the public. They have taken it for granted that they would have their public regardless of the character of entertainment offered. The result has been that a big part of the public has discovered other attractions and distractions, many of them not so wholesome as the theater.

"A generation has almost grown up without any knowledge of the value of the theater as an educational institution. There have been too many indifferent plays, indifferently done. Of course, there was always Mr. Miller, Mr. Belasco, Mr. Frohman and a few others who kept their eyes on the stars and tried to give of their best, but it has been a struggle.

"However, the good old days are coming back. The theater is no longer to be merely a clothes-horse for coming fashions, it is to be the criterion of good manners and good speech, an exponent of the ideal. I do not mean that the costume play is to have precedence over modern productions, although nothing except a costume gives one a chance to yell at another human being—it can't be done in long trousers or a tight skirt."

THE SOUL IN ACTING.

"Miss Bates, what do you consider the secret of good acting?"

"The secret of acting," she replied, "is baring the soul. Every actor, whether he wills it or not, must, to some extent, bare his soul to his audience, and the most important thing he gives to any audience is not what he says or does, but what he is. The actor vibrates his character just as the painting explains the artist more than it interprets the subject of the sketch.

"This, I think, explains why an audience often forms a positive distaste for a hero—it is because the actor's soul is not right. On the other hand, an actor who is 'indestructibly good' at heart, may be able, through his art, to fill his audience with disgust, yet at the same time the deeper admiration for 'the man behind the role' will be manifest."

At this juncture Henry Miller came to the door, perspiring. He had a perfect right to perspire, for he had been dying. I told him that, judging from the applause, his demise must have pleased the audience.

"The death scene will always be popular," he replied, "for death is fascinating, from any angle one looks at it. It is interesting as an abstract proposition, and it is especially appealing in a case where a great character passes out on an exalted plane. As originally written, Moliere's death would have presented a harrowing scene, but we changed that. People like to feel that there is a panacea for the last tragedy—and there usually is."

The panacea idea made me think

NEW PICTURES ON THE SCREEN.

tional numbers which will round out a programme typically Graumanesque.

Superba.

A double bill will hold the boards at the Superba Theater for the coming week.

Harry Carey, the ace of the saddle, will be seen in his latest Universal outdoor melodrama, "Riders of Vengeance," while Chai Hong, the Oriental comedian, who is known as the "Chinese Charlie Chaplin," will furnish the mirth in the rollicking Century comedy, "A Pair of Deuces."

Carey is at his best as Cheyenne Harry, the man who consecrates his life to vengeance when his enemies kill his bride and father at the little church where his wedding is about to take place.

Carey is supported by an all-star cast, including Seena Owen, the former Griffith star, and his well-known flying squadron of cowboys.

For hard riding, fast shooting and real romance "Riders of Vengeance" is even better than "Hell Bent," "Three Mounted Men," "Roped" and "Bare Fists," it is said.

Chai Hong, the "Chinese Charlie Chaplin," was on the speaking stage in China before he came to America. He found no immediate opening here and became one of the house attaches of the Hotel Alexandria. There Julius Stern of the LKO comedy company discovered him and, trying him out for the screen, found him to have real stellar ability, and to be a distinct cinema novelty.

Clune's Broadway.

Sessue Hayakawa, celebrated Japanese star of the screen, has a great dramatic opportunity in his new production, "The Man Beneath," which will be the Clune's Broadway attraction, beginning today. Sessue Hayakawa is in a class by himself as a film star. He has created an individual following in popularity second to no other cinema luminary. He also adds to his great popularity the distinction of being alone in his chosen sphere, that of the interpreter of roles which only an Oriental can successfully portray for an audience of the western world.

Sensational or unpleasant subjects are always avoided, and Mr. Hayakawa carries with him the full support of those who love oriental mystery and beauty, as well as the superb finish of an accomplished actor.

In "The Man Beneath" Hayakawa has a role quite different from any he has previously portrayed, that of a Hindu scientist. The theme of the story is of the blood barrier between races. Dr. Chindi Ashutor, a famous Hindu physician, falls in love with Kate Erskine, a Scotch girl. Although she has more than a passing fancy for the Oriental scientist, Kate realizes that marriage would make them both outcasts.

Helen Jerome Eddy plays the role of Kate Erskine, the Scotch girl, whose love for an alien and the realization of the ban of blood furnishes her dramatic opportunities. Besides the star and Miss Eddy, the cast includes other well-known film players.

In addition to the Hayakawa feature, the third episode of the Houdini serial will be shown.

Victory.

Mae Marsh in what is by all odds her best play in many days, is the promise made by the Victory Theater. She appears in "Spotlight Sadie" starting today.

Given another opportunity to tighten her hold on the affections of those who admire her, through a role that perhaps no other actress could handle as Mae Marsh does, the unusual and quaint-looking star of the screen will certainly be welcomed by all her friends.

The story of "Spotlight Sadie" is one calculated to engross any audience, for it is a page torn from the book of life. The play deals with the story of girls of the chorus, of men with money, of powder and paint, of silk stockings and laces, and brings out the well-known theme that the whole world's a stage.

Miss Marsh is supported by Wallace MacDonald, handsome matinee idol; Mary Thurman, Betty Schade, Alic Francis, Walter Hiers and Wellington Playtor.

There will be several added attractions on the bill.

Quinn's Rialto.

Mitchell Lewis will appear at Quinn's Rialto, starting today, in "Caliber 38," the latest Edgar Lewis photoplay, said to be one of those brilliant bits of dramatic selection for which Mr. Lewis has become famous.

The play is based on a story by Roy Middleton, one of the best-known of the modern short fiction writers, and it contains all the elements of good dramatic construction, but few men would have recognized and made use of the extraordinary opportunity the play affords for pictorial types. The character of the little fat village doctor who does not seem heroic at the opening, but who suddenly, under the stress of intense indignation over an insult offered by a bully to a woman, calmly kills the desperado by shooting six fat 44 slugs through his coat pocket into the bad man's frame, is superb. It is an unexpected and exciting denouement, and it is only one of various episodes in this play that makes it different from the average.

The supporting cast selected is a high-class one, including Hedda Nova, Mary Carr, Lola Pauzdrovna, and many other well-known actors and actresses. The mob scenes in "Caliber 38" are very effective.

Palace.

The Palace bill for this week will be headed by "Beauty-Proof" with Harry T. Morey as its star in the role of Corp. Steele of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. This thrilling story was written by James Oliver Curwood and adapted for the screen by Vitagraph. It has received much favorable comment in the East.

The story is filled with stirring action from the very start and holds the audience's attention. The scenic effects are very beautiful, showing the snow-clad forests. An excellent cast of players supports Mr. Morey, and the picture promises much in the way of entertainment.

Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway in the third episode of "Perils of Thunder Mountain," Vitagraph's newest serial, continue the thrilling pace of adventure set in the preceding chapters.

"Flips and Flops" is the title of the star of the New York production. There has not been a performance of "Civilian Clothes" that has not been sold out to capacity; the play has proved the most remarkable success since "Lombardi, Ltd."

However, New York wants this comedy at once, and Oliver Morosco has decided to give it to them. "Civilian Clothes" will open at one of Morosco's New York theaters during August. And Thurston Hall, who created the role of Capt. Sam McGinnis in the play here, is to create the same role in New York when "Civilian Clothes" opens there.

Mr. Morosco has many other big treats in store for Los Angeles this summer. When "Civilian Clothes" leaves the celebrated David Belasco comedy, "Polly with a Past," will receive its first production in stock here. This play was one of the big comedy sensations during the past two seasons, and has just been released for stock.

The second new play this season will be "The Master Thief," to be presented in the near future.

Majestic.

Packed houses and reservations promising capacity demand for days to come have influenced Manager Corper at the Majestic to extend the run of "The Great Lover," the famous Leo Ditrichstein play, in which Lewis S. Stone is currently featured.

The subtle and sympathetic characterization of Stone as Jean Paurel, the singer, and, incidentally, the great lover, as he is known "behind the scenes," has taken the city by storm. The happy performance of Florence Oakley, as the young prima donna, and the capable work of Byron Beasley, Donald Stuart, Fred Cummings, Bettie Wales, Grace Morse, Louis Morrison, Alice Bromley Wilson, Frances Raymond, Harry Glazier, Jack Rollens, Gavin Young, David M. Hartford and others of the augmented cast has completed the success for which Stage Director Hartford also deserves credit.

Clune's Auditorium.

Many Californians have attained great success in the theatrical world and have become famous along Broadway, but none have ever become more so than Marjorie Rambeau, the Los Angeles girl who went from the Burbank stock company direct to New York and became a star. It has been five years since Miss Rambeau has appeared on a stage in this city, and when she comes to Clune's Auditorium in the "Eyes of Youth" the 21st, she is bound to get a reception such as few stars have enjoyed in this city.

Los Angeles is to be favored by a two-weeks' visit of Marjorie Rambeau. She will appear in the "Eyes of Youth," a play which is particularly adapted to show Miss Rambeau's friends here what she can do. It stands or falls with the cleverness of the actress. Beside the role with which she starts at the opening the play requires her to present four other characterizations with intervening lapses into the original.

Pantages.

Oh, boy! Beginning on Monday, the Camp Dix Jazz Band will be the feature act on the Pantages bill. It is said that after Alexander Pantages had heard a tryout of the syncopatic music-makers, he danced while he affixed his signature to the contract for their services. Full of jazz and pep is the music produced by the Camp Dix outfit. There are eight real musicians in the band, and they play more than two-score instruments between them. All served Uncle Sam at Camp Dix, and when they were mustered out they organized a band of many new features. You can't keep still when you hear them play, and if you enjoy real jazzy music, 'tis said.

Tom Kelly, the "Irish Fashion Plate," is also on the bill, with some new Irish stories and the sweetest of Irish melodies. He is making a great hit on the circuit. Martha Russell and her clever company, who have appeared in this city before, have a new comedy sketch called "Rocking the Boat," the scene being laid on an ocean liner. Rucker & Winifred, two ebony-hued comedians, do a bit in which one plays a Chinaman and the other a real, southern darky. Valmont & Reynen, Belgians, offer an entirely new sensation with their singing in the historical Walloon speech. Hall & Guilda are two exceptionally clever dancers, and give a repertoire which includes the cakewalk, Scotch dances, toe dancing, sailors' hornpipe and whirlwind dancing. The new Gale Henry comedy picture is "The Detectress," with scenes laid in San Francisco's Chinatown district.

Hippodrome.

The women especially will be attracted to the Hippodrome Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. June Elvidge will be seen in the World Film special drama, "Love and the Woman." Miss Elvidge appears in two distinct roles, and the picture is one that holds a special feminine appeal.

The vaudeville bill is especially good, and will be topped by Marlettes Mannikins, an astonishing mechanical novelty. Others are Alma Grant, the diminutive songstress, assisted by Sam Armstrong at the piano— Chief Blue Cloud and Wyona, Indian entertainers; Davis & Evelyn, in refined musical offerings; Stone Manning, in comedy dances, and Marenno, Nevarro & Marenno, in funny equilibristic feats.

NEW YORK TO SEE "THE WAYFARER."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) July 12.—Production of the mammoth pageant, "The Wayfarer," which has been playing to capacity audiences at the Methodist Centenary Exposition here during the last twenty days, in New York, during October, was agreed upon today by officials. Dr. J. E. Crowther of Seattle, Wash., as the author and producer of "The Wayfarer," announced the pageant would be presented with an entire new cast. More than 2500 persons took part in the pageant here.

It was announced the New York production would be under the auspices of the Methodist Church.

"The Wayfarer" is declared by church men and theatrical critics to be the greatest religious pageant ever produced in the United States.

Today was observed as Eastern Asia day with speakers from China, Korea and Japan.

PLAYCRAFTERS' DINNER.

The Playcrafters will meet for dinner at Christopher's, 741 South Broadway, Tuesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. The dinner will be in the nature of a "jubilation" feast over the success of the public performance, an occasion for social converse, and an opportunity to hear some inspirational talks by technicians and critics of the drama.

THE SOUL OF THE DRAMA.

of the recent demise of John Barleycorn, and I asked.

"And prohibition—what do you think of it " Miss Bates glanced at me with suspicion.

"Of course, I have always wished to see the saloon abolished," said Mr. Miller, "but, from a personal standpoint, I consider it rank stupidity to have stopped the sale of light wines, which, partaken of in reason, are beneficial to health."

"Perhaps you view it so because you are a Californian — by adoption?" I suggested.

"My attitude is not geographical," he smiled. "I would feel the same way about it if I lived in Texas."

"You are honest, Mr. Miller."

"And thirsty," he confessed.

Mr. Miller is one of the few lights of the legitimate stage who has never succumbed to the wiles of the moving-picture producer, and he said yesterday that if he ever does it will be "his poverty, and not his will, that consents."

"The silent drama has taken much of the best talent from the stage," said Mr. Miller, "making the production of good legitimate drama both difficult and expensive. Even though many of the stars would like to come back to the old life, it is hard for them to leave, say, a $1500-a-week salary to accept a mere $200.

"I have no particular grouch against moving pictures, although I deplore them, just as I deplore sensational headlines in a newspaper. The vacant expression on the faces of the people in an audience at a moving-picture show is enough to condemn the average picture. A generation or so of pictures, aided and abetted by vaudeville, with no genuine theatrical productions, would have a tendency to produce a nation of idiots."

Of course, Mr. Miller has no quarrel with moving pictures! However, he is to be forgiven his remarks, for he had been playing Moliere—and was doubtless still in the spirit of the part.

Asked what he thought would be the best counter-combatant against the probable puritanical attacks against the theater, following the reaction against salacious productions, Mr. Miller replied: "I doubt if the stage is being attacked any harder than it ever was. The church, although really the mother of drama, as always been more or less jealous of the success of her child. Of course, the church is justified in its attacks on vulgar plays — but the church does not deplore the unclean in the theatrical world any more than does the best element of men and women in the theatrical profession. Certainly the church will never be able to abolish the theater, for the latter is too well established as an institution of learning and art, and a medium for the expression of the highest and best in human nature. I expect to see a change in the attitude of the church toward the theater, rather than any change in the lofty standards of the stage."

"Are you interested in the Greek theater movement?" Mr. Miller was asked.

"Not to any great extent," he replied. "When I shall have learned all there is to know about the modern stage, and have improved on it to the best of my ability, I shall then, perhaps, find time to go in for a study of Greek drama and of the Greek stage."

NEW PICTURES ON THE SCREEN.

the comedy offering, James Aubrey being the chief funmaker.

Symphony.

Norma Talmadge will be the star at the Symphony this week, in "The Children in the House," one of her early productions, which has been acknowledged as being among the very best pictures she has made. The story, it is said, will touch the innermost feelings, showing how the thought of her children keeps an abused wife from leaving the man who was unworthy of her, and joining the one whom she loved. The play runs the gamut of deep emotion—love, jealousy, honor and renunciation, and affords Miss Talmadge many opportunities for powerful dramatic work. An excellent cast of players supports the star.

Another feature of interest on the programme is Tom Mix in a short but lively western drama, entitled "Love in the West."

The latest Christie release, "A Full House," will supply comedy.

Alhambra.

Tom Mix, hero of a hundred hairbreadth escapes and innumerable personal encounters on the screen is returning to the Alhambra Theater today in his latest thriller, "The Wilderness Trail." This Fox photoplay should especially appeal to everyone during this summer weather because its scenes are laid in the wilderness of the Hudson Bay country and it shows wonderful photography of life and romance in the land of measureless snows and grim forests. Colleen Moore, who plays the feminine lead, and an unusually good supporting cast are said to provide the usual vim and sparkle that always identify a Mix picture.

One thing that will make this play especially appealing is the fact that it has no rough dance-hall scenes, no saloon brawls, but is simply a thrilling story of big men and big women told in a highly entertaining way.

The usual good programme of added features rounds out the new Alhambra bill.

Garrick.

Augustus Thomas's powerful drama of married life, "As a Man Thinks," has proved to be such a tremendous drawing card that Manager Halsell has decided to continue its engagement at the Garrick another week even though by so doing he has been forced to pay for a picture previously booked. The attendance attracted to the Garrick in the past week is indisputable evidence that the public will brave hot weather to see a film that they are interested in and one that strikes the popular chord.

"As a Man Thinks," it is stated, has broken every house record at the Garrick which has been made in the past ten months and a count conducted last Friday established the fact that 90 per cent. of the audience was composed of women. It is essentially a woman picture, though Augustus Thomas directed its sarcasm at man. He asks the question, "Should man condemn his own moral backsliding and censure that of his wife?" He answers it by illustrating what would happen if the wife decided that she, also, could seek entertainment from another. So adroitly and so cleverly does the great dramatist solve the problem that nowhere is there an offensive scene.

De Luxe.

If you had invited many fashionable guests to a dinner, and at the last moment made the alarming discovery that the caterer refused to accept your check, how would you get out of your predicament? This was the situation which confronted the heroine in "Good Gracious, Annabelle," the photoplay in which Billie Burke, the famous comedienne, will be seen at the De Luxe today and tomorrow.

The story has numerous situations of dramatic effectiveness in which Miss Burke appears to great advantage.

The star is finely supported by a notable cast of players headed by Herbert Rawlinson as leading man. Others in the cast include Gilbert Douglas, Crauford Kent, Frank Losee, Delle Duncan, Olga Downs and Billy Watson.

The story was written by Clare Kummer and it is a picturization of her celebrated play of the same name.

Tally's.

Alice Brady in an elaborate five-part picturization of Frederic and Fannie Hatton's story, "The Indestructible Wife," will be the feature attraction at Tally's Broadway, beginning tomorrow. This is Miss Brady's first comedy. It is clean, wholesome, and full of action. The star's desire has always been to play a comedy on the screen, and she proves her cleverness of understanding for what constitutes good fun in "The Indestructible Wife."

"Sunnyside," Charlie Chaplin's newest comedy, will be held over for a third week. The showing of this amusing feature for a week at both the Kinema and Tally's theaters and a second week just ended at Tally's has not been sufficent to take care of all who wish to see Chaplin's latest play.

WILLIAM FARNUM GOES ON LOCATION.

William Farnum and his director, Director-General J. Gordan Edwards, are now at Catalina Island making scenes for the William Fox star's latest screen vehicle, "Wings of the Morning" a picturization of the novel of the same name by Louis Tracy.

A company of more than twenty principals accompained Mr. Farnum to the island to participate in some of the thrilling scenes that are to be made in and around the interesting coast line of the famous island.

Several large boats have been chartered to take the company to and from Avalon Harbor to the various locations. It is the intention of the famous screen star to get as much fishing at the island as is possible, between scenes. Some of the locations are an hour's ride by boat, and Mr. Farnum on his daily trips never fails to put his line overboard for the fish. So far, he has been quite successful, landing several big tuna. These are baked for dinner, for the company.

After staying at the island for about two weeks, the company will return to Los Angeles, where several big scenes will be made at the studio, and then to Balboa Beach, where the big ship wreck scene is to be filmed.

GOLDWYNITES BUSY WITH THE SPORTS.

During the July Fourth golf tournament at the fashionable Brentwood Country Club, near Los Angeles, two Goldwynites captured the first pair of prizes. They were Director Victor Schertzinger, who made a net score of 61, winning for himself a handsome silver cup. This was on the morning of the first day's play. Rex Taylor, scenario writer, came in with a total of 64, net, which brought him a silver medal.

There are a number of expert golfers on the Goldwyn staff, and nearly every week one of them is sure to hang up a nice little record for playing the turf game. The brace of prize winners drive out to the green of an evening, leaving the studios shortly after 5 o'clock. They run sixteen holes before the light fails, which is very good, considering the time spent in driving from the studio to the club.

LITTLE COLORED BOY GETS A JOB.

While Gale Henry and her husband-director, Bruno J. Becker, were vacationing at Big Bear Lake recently they happened to meet a little colored boy who said he wanted to be a picture actor. Miss Henry told him to call at her studio when he came to Los Angeles, but she never expected to see him again. However, much to her surprise, the little fellow was ushered into her dressing-room the other day and standing with his hands on his hips in a business-like way, he said:

"Well ah's come back. Can ah be a movie now?"

The little fellow has been engaged for the comedienne's next picture.

GEORGE MELFORD BEGINS "EVERYWOMAN."

What promises to be one of the most elaborate productions ever staged at the Lasky studio will be started next Monday when George H. Melford, the well-known director of Paramount-Artcraft pictures, begins upon the screen version of the well-known modern morality play, "Everywoman." In the matter of costuming alone, this, it is declared, will surpass almost anything that has been undertaken, and the department at the studio devoted to the manufacture of exquisite models will be taxed to the utmost, even with additional facilities, in making the gowns that are to be worn by the hundreds of extra girls as well as the large cast of principals. The scenic department is also working overtime to provide the elaborate settings required for this production. It is now possible to announce a large portion of the cast, as follows:

Violet Heming, Everywoman; Wanda Hawley, Beauty; Mildred Reardon, Conscience; Bebe Daniels, Vice; Mary McIvor, specially engaged to play the role of Youth; Margaret Loomis, Modesty; Irving Cummings, Passion; Theodore Roberts, Wealth; Raymond Hatton, Flattery; Noah Beery, Bluff, etc.

CHANGES AT THE LASKY STUDIOS.

Milton E. Hoffman, general manager of the Famous Players-Lasky studio at Hollywood, has authorized starting the demolition of the original old dressing-rooms at the plant, which have been replaced by rooms in the new concrete structures, while the space they have occupied will be taken up by the rebuilding of No. 1 stage. The old No. 1 stage will be the last of the old landmarks to go.

Another addition to the equipment of the plant is the erection of an elaborate billboard for the publicity department, which is in charge of Adam Hull Shirk. This billboard will be large enough to accommodate a twenty-four sheet and an eight sheet and thereon all the new "paper" gotten out to advertise the Paramount-Artcraft productions will be posted each week so that the players, directors and others can see just what is being done in this regard. The billboard will be a work of art in itself, supported by splendid pilasters and with a handsome frame.

THEY'RE LIKE UNTO DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

Carter de Haven walked into the general offices of Grauman's Million-Dollar Theater yesterday afternoon and presented his card for admittance to the sanctum sanctorium of Sid Grauman. As the office boy read the card, a deathly pallor came over him, his knees quaked, and he eyed Carter with a wild, cautious gaze. Then he quickly slipped into Mr. Grauman's office and in presenting the card, hesitatingly ventured the belief that the gentleman who gave it to him was insane. A big, broad, good-natured smile flitted over Sid Grauman's features as he perused the mysterious card. In the upper left-hand corner was the word "Sid." In the upper right hand corner appeared the word "Carter." In large type across the face of the card was the following wording: "The Grauhaven Brothers," and just beneath, in smaller letters "those two clever boys." In the lower right-hand corner were the words "classy dressers on and off." Then Sid Grauman told the boy to show Mr. Grauhaven in, mumbling to himself that at last Damon and Pythias had been outdone.

DEDICATED TO THE CIVIL ENGINEERS.

The late Richard Harding Davis's widely-read story, "Soldiers of Fortune" which has been selected by Allan Dwan for his first screen production as an independent producer has been dedicated by Mr. Dwan to civil engineers. It seems rather strange at first to dedicate as elaborate a production as this photoplay promises to be, to men of whom so little is known, but Mr. Dwan explains that the underlying theme of the story depends wholly on the activities of these pioneers who have blazed the trail for civilization to follow to the remotest corners of the earth.

In "Soldiers of Fortune," Norman Kerry in the role of Clay, the young civil engineer, will typify not only the accomplishments of engineers, but the many hardships and dangers that these men undergo when sent into remote localities to open the way for the world of progress.

GOLF NOT ONLY GAME NOW AT BRENTWOOD.

A loud wail is heard from the members of the fair sex at the Brentwood studio.

It may be freely translated thus:

"Selfish beasts, men are!

"Of all the men at the different studios, those at the Brentwood are the most selfish. They originated the grand idea of interstudio golf tournaments, but they made them exclusively for men and while other studios are now following along splendidly—for the men—just because those who started the idea did not let the women come into their 'foursomes' even, we'll never get a look-in hereafter, except for the dinner-dances which fortunately entered into the first programme and which, it is to be hoped, will be continued as 'consolation' prizes for the women. And yet these men know perfectly well that—with a bit of practice—and a 'reasonable handicap'—some of us could show a corking good game!"

Sarah Y. Mason of King Vidor's scenario department, is determined not to be outdone by the "nasty men things" however. She has suddenly depelop a craze for the rejuvenated game of ping pong, and with her table, net and other paraphernalia set up in a quiet corner of the studio grounds she proposes to coach Florence Vidor, Zasu Pitts and Julanne Johnson to a point of excellence in play which will enable the team to take on all comers. Moreover, since the East has remembered that ping pong is an "adaptable" game which can be played at odd hours, indoors or out, and which affords great opportunity for exercise and skill, it is certain to reach us here in the West before long.

NEEDED STIMULUS OF THE DEMON TEA.

In making "Common Property," Elliott Clawson's drama of the nationalization of women in Russia, Powell had to employ for several days a large number of Russians from Los Angeles' "little Petrograd."

He found that after 4 o'clock in the afternoon the "extras" became languid and seemed to lose interest in the work.

Then his assistant director found out the reason. One garrulous extra volunteered the information that they needed afternoon tea for stimulant.

Whereupon Powell requisitioned a huge samovar and twenty-five cups from the property department, purchased a large quantity of Ceylon tea from the cafeteria, and thereafter at 3:30 o'clock every afternoon half an hour recess was declared, in which the Russian atmosphere people were served with their favorite beverage, brewed right on the set.

JUST LIKE REST OF US MORTALS.

Florence Vidor, in her capacity of wife, mother and housekeeper, was marketing not long ago at the motion-picture people's favorite store of C. C. Hall in Hollywood. Mr. Hall himself was superintending her choice of a special cut of beef for Sunday's roast, and happening to address her by name, another lady standing near by said:

"Surely this is not Florence Vidor. You will excuse me, I trust, but I have recently arrived from the South, where I knew some of your family. And I have always enjoyed your work on the screen so much that I cannot deny myself this chance of speaking."

Then after hesitating a little, she went on:

"You will be amused, of course, but it seems almost out of place to think of you as buying a roast of beef for Sunday's dinner, just like an ordinary mortal."

"Indeed," answered Mrs. Vidor, with all her housekeeping faculties aroused, "I can assure you I feel a most extraordinary mortal, to be buying beef at today's prices, and but for the visit of some of my husband's relatives my household would have to be satisfied with a much more modest main dish for tomorrow's dinner."

A Bit of Repartee.

Priscilla Dean and Mary MacLaren were discussing fall styles at Universal City the other day.

"I wonder if high shoes are coming in for fall?" asked Miss MacLaren.

"Dear me, no," said Priscilla, "since the country's gone dry everybody's wearing pumps."

Difficult to Prove.

Rollin Sturgeon, the Universal director, used to be a lawyer before he broke into the films by becoming Vitagraph's first salaried scenario editor. Now every once in a while he is inclined to poke fun at his former profession. During the making of Priscilla Dean's latest picture, "Pretty Smooth," he told this story:

A man came running up the street and seeing an old gentleman standing on the corner, he stopped and accosted him in a whisper, "Say, mister, is there a criminal lawyer in this town?"

"Yes," whispered back the old gent, "but we can't prove it."

A Scheme that Worked.

Mary MacLaren is one of the prize raconteurs of Universal City, her favorite type of stories being kiddie jokes that deal with the films. Here is her latest:

A little boy said to his mother:

"I want a dime to give a lame man."

"You shall have it, dear. And who is the lame man?" asked his mother.

"Oh, he's the doorkeeper at the movie show," was the youngster's reply.

Jim's in Wrong.

When James J. Corbett returns to Universal City this fall to start upon a six-reel feature, he had better bring a bodyguard of the toughest thugs he can find in "Lil ol Noo Yawk."

He will find a delegation of impoverished Universal Cityites awaiting him with ire in their soul.

After completing his first serial, "The Midnight Man," Corbett left for the Willard-Dempsey battle at Toledo. His last words were: "Sell your shirt and bet all your jack on Willard."

And there were many of the populace of the world's film capital who did. Hence the warm reception awaiting "Gentleman Jim."

Devises New Thrills.

Arthur B. Reeve, noted as the author of the Craig Kennedy stories, and Charles A. Logue, also a scenarioist of note, have devised some exceptional stunts for Houdini in his third episode of "The Master Mystery" serial, which will augment the Hayakawa feature at Clune's Broadway. An escape from handcuffs and shackles while under water and an escape from jail are among the thrills in this episode of the serial.

BUSY CAREER TO WISE'S CREDIT.

Tom Wise, who is co-starring with William Courtenay in Oliver Morosco's production of Edward E. Rose's successful comedy, "Cappy Ricks," which begins a two-weeks' engagement at the Mason Operahouse tomorrow night, is making his first visit to the Pacific Coast in something over ten years. His last appearance in Los Angeles was with Mary Mannering in "Harriett's Honeymoon" at the Mason some ten or twelve years ago.

Although Mr. Wise was born in England he feels in his heart that he is a "native son." His youth was spent in California. He began his professional career with a small variety company at Dixon, Cal., in 1883, and toured as a thespian by wagon. He gained experience which was valuable up and down the Coast, as a member of Joseph R. Grismer's company, playing in repertoire.

He was with William Gillette in "The Private Secretary" in 1885 and for four years, under Charles Frohman's management, he created a great variety of juvenile roles and there developed into a comedian. In 1908 he played the principal comedy part in the musical comedy, "Miss Hook of Holland," and the following season he co-starred with Douglas Fairbanks in "The Gentleman From Mississippi." It was in this he scored one of his greatest hits. In 1911 he played the title role in "Uncle Sam" at the Liberty Theater, New York, and the following engagements in New York were all personal successes for him:

In 1912 he was a member of the all-star cast in the revival of "Lights O' London" at the Lyric. In 1915 he played in "The Song of Songs" at the Eltinge, and the following season he made a great hit as Falstaff in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" with Viola Allen and Henrietta Crosman.

In 1916 he was in "Coat Tales" at the Cort and in 1917 he co-starred with Mr. Courtenay in "Pals First" at the Fulton. In 1918 he again co-starred with Mr. Courtenay in "General Post" at the Globe, and early in the season just ended he created the part of Mr. Barnum in the play of that name at the Criterion.

LEHRMAN SIGNS UP FUN-MAKERS.

Announcement of the names of some of the players who will appear in his comedy organization has just been made by Henry Lehrman, who is about to commence production at his new Culver City studios on his initial film play for the First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

One of the important acquisitions of the company is Lloyd V. Hamilton, creator of the character of Ham in the Ham & Bud Comedies, and more recently brought to the crest of his success along comedy lines in the Henry Lehrman Sunshine Comedies, where he headed the producing unit which made "Roaring Lions and Wedding Bells" and other successes.

Billie Ritchie is another famous comedian who will in future be seen in the new comedies. He was also under Mr. Lehrman's supervision in the Sunshine organization. Mr. Ritchie was for many years a member of Fred Karno's English companies, appearing in "A Night in a Music Hall" and other vaudeville comedies, and has played leading roles in many amusing productions such as "The House of Terrible Scandals."

Jack White has been signed as a director, with Norman Taurog as his assistant. Both have previously been employed in similar capacities by the producer and are thus fully able to carry out his unique ideas along comedy production lines. The same applies to Henry Symonds, who will also be a member of the producing staff. Camera work on the first picture to be started will be in charge of George Meehan.

In his administrative departments Mr. Lehrman has also preserved his former organization practically intact, so that affairs at the studio are already running as smoothly as if production had been under way for weeks. Al Herman has been appointed general manager of the plant, and other department heads include E. Olin, technical director; E. M. Popper, purchasing agent; A. L. Barnes, auditor, and Edward C. Thomas, publicity director.

"HUCKLEBERRY FINN" IS NOW COMPLETE.

"Huckleberry Finn" is filmed, and the flock of kiddies who helped have gone their various ways. Today the Morosco studio, where the production was made, seems the quietest spot in all this fair city. The final scenes were "shot" yesterday, the youngsters enjoyed their last frolic together, and now those who were accustomed to seeing the lads and lassies at play and hearing their shouts and squeals of joy, feel lost. The life of the party has disappeared.

All the available youngsters in Los Angeles, it seemed, were rounded up for the picture. And Director William D. Taylor saw to it that all the boys were real boys and none of the girls were girly-girls. All had to be bubbling over with real life, or they would not do. As a result, every one of them—and there were dozens and dozens—were pep personified.

They took the filming of the picture as play. They were always laughing and chattering and up to pranks, even when they were supposed to be seriously busy.

And between scenes—how those kiddies did make merry! They skipped rope, played tag, indulged in "Follow the Leader," and until they were halted made "Run, Sheep, Run!" a daily habit. The Morosco studio became one giant playground, and their shrieks of unadulterated joy filled the whole neighborhood.

"Huck" and "Tom"—Lewis Sargent and Gordon Griffith, respectively, in real life—were the leaders in all the romping. For both are chock full of boyish spirits.

And the grown-ups around the studio enjoyed the fun almost as much as the kiddies. Dignified Charles Eyton, studio manager, would chuckle by the hour watching them. And Director Taylor admits he had "the time of his life." It was a welcome change after the grim routine of army life, for he was a captain in the English service.

"We were all kids once again"—Mr. Taylor smiles as he tells of his experiences—"and we were all the better for it." And when the Paramount-Artcraft picture is released, all of us will be able to be "kids for a day."

Some Recompense.

Priscilla Dean, Universal star, finds comfort in the fact that although the country has gone dry

The engine will always have its steam.
The ocean will always have its schooner.
The lieutenant will always wear his bar.
The mule will always have his kick.
The baker will always have his bun.
The sea will always display its foam.
The corpse will ever have his bier.
The field will always have its rye.
The toad will always have his hops.
The hod carrier will always carry his load.
Oysters will always be stewed.
The herring will always be soused.
The cucumber will always be pickled.

a 12 o'clock dinner on Monday, when she entertained that number of Los Angeles friends.

Mrs. H. G. Flint, Mrs. A. S. Sargent, Mrs. Martin Myers and Mrs. Vige Cook of Hynes spent last week at the Levita Hot Springs. The husband went over on Sunday and escorted the visitors home.

REDLANDS.

Mrs. Jennie E. Davis of the Alders, was greatly pleased to learn that her niece, Miss Ruth Hutchinson of Los Angeles, was the winner in the vocal contest of the Federation of Musical Clubs. Miss Hutchinson has sung at many fetes here. She won first in Los Angeles, then the Pacific Coast contest in Oakland, and finally the national contest at Peterboro, N. H. Before her return to Los Angeles she will visit her cousin, Mrs. A. Sidney Jenkins, who is a daughter of Mrs. Davis, and who lives at Ocean City, N. J.

Miss Bessie Johnston, one of the popular young women of the city, and Willis Weismore, who returned just a few days ago from two years' service in France, were quietly married in San Bernardino, but their friends here learned of it in time to celebrate before they could get away from the city. They will make their home in Yucaipa, where Mr. Weismore has taken a position with the water company.

About thirty couples, members of the Sunday-school classes of Dr. J. W. Kyle and Dr. W. R. Heacock of the First Baptist Church, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Prescott for an afternoon picnic at their beautiful mountain home in Mill Creek Canyon, Dreamland. A picnic supper was the chief feature.

The L. W. Clark family, one of the pioneer families of the city, Mr. Clark being for many years the City Clerk, is enjoying a real family reunion. Maj. Howard Clark, of the United States engineers, arrived home from Washington, D. C., on a furlough, after many months spent in France. He was with the California State Railroad Commission until he entered the service. Lieut. Lester P. Clark, also in service until a few weeks ago, now in the northern part of the State with a road crew, is home, as are the three daughters, Miss Claudia, Mabel and Hazel, who are teaching school in the north. All are graduates of Stanford.

A letter has just been received from Rev. and Mrs. Francis M. Price, who left recently for China. They have been at Honolulu for some time, visiting with Dr. Albert Palmer, former pastor of the Congregational Church in this city. Mrs. Price, who was Mrs. Jennie Reeves, expects to meet her daughter, Mrs. Sherwood Moran, in a few days. Mrs. Moran is with her husband in China, he being in a big exporting firm there.

Miss Lucia Smith, one of the popular musicians of the city, has accepted the post of head of the piano department of the Girls' Collegiate School in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Walter McIntosh of this city is again the hostess at Forest Home, and the mountain camp is proving to be the Mecca for those who seek a few hours' surcease from the heated valleys. Motor parties to Forest Home are a nightly occurrence and the young people of this city are taking great enjoyment in the very informal but greatly enjoyable dances given there. Mrs. McIntosh is as ever the ideal hostess, and under her direction a number of charming dinner parties have been given recently.

SOUTH PASADENA.

Dr. H. M. Coulter of 1419 Huntington drive left this city Wednesday to report at the Pacific headquarters of the American Red Cross, San Francisco, preparatory to sailing for Siberia, where he expects to engage in child welfare work for the next year.

Two of South Pasadena's most prominent citizens, Dr. Torrey of 1945 La France avenue, and Rev. Ralph Atkinson of 1023 Fremont avenue, sailed recently on a trip to China. Dr. Torrey is the well-known evangelist, and present pastor of the Church of the Open Door in Los Angeles, while Mr. Atkinson is an instructor in homiletics and pastoral work in the Bible Institute of that city. The purpose of the trip is to hold conferences with missionaries in different sections of China. They expect to be absent until October, and will return by way of Korea.

Mrs. Gladys Thacker Kraus, a former resident of this city, but who is now a missionary in India, has returned for an extended visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Thacker of San Marino.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt O. Kinney have returned from a very pleasant motor trip in the northern part of the State. They were accompanied as far as San Jose by their niece, Miss Margaret Westcott, who was graduated this year from the local high school, and who made her home with the Kinney family during her stay here. After leaving Miss Westcott at her home in San Jose, they went to Palo Alto, where they visited their son Paul, who has been attending Stanford University the past year and has been so prominent in athletics during his first year in college.

Mrs. Ethel Sturges Nollac presented her music pupils in piano concerts at the Y.W.C.A. Auditorium in Los Angeles on Monday and Wednesday evenings. The young people from South Pasadena appearing on the programme were as follows: Florence Opperman, Alice Gertmanion, Marjorie Parmenter, Hilda Reynolds, Alice Jones and Lucile Stonebrook. A number of Mrs. Nollac's Los Angeles pupils also appeared on the programme each evening.

Clifford E. Jope of Garfield, Wash., who has just returned from overseas service, and who has been visiting his brother, Harold E. Jope of Los Angeles, called on friends in this city on Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. John H. Hunter left on Tuesday for a trip to Chicago and other eastern cities. They will also attend a religious conference at Montrose, Pa., where Dr. Hunter is to lecture.

City Health Officer Dr. C. F. Metcalf left recently on a motor trip of several weeks through Yosemite and other places of interest in California.

Speaker Henry W. Wright and Mrs. Wright had as their guest the past week Mrs. Dr. Rose of Groveland, Cal., a sister of Mrs. Wright. In company with a number of their most intimate friends a very pleasant party was formed, which spent the week end at Santa Monica.

Mrs. Ralph Deems entertained delightfully with a five hundred party at the home of her father, W. F. Daggett, last Friday afternoon. Delicious luncheon refreshments were served. The following persons were present: Misses Ruth Salisbury, Katherine Patterson, Mary Doerr, Rebecca Patterson, Mrs. Fred High, Mrs. Robert Daggett, Mrs. Dallas Speers, Mrs. Herbert Lilly, Mrs. William Cottle, Mrs. Hugh Mason and the hostess, Mrs. Ralph Deems.

Mrs. Otto Arnold, 1945 South Marengo avenue, entertained a very pleasant company of friends from one of the Los Angeles clubs at a bridge party. Luncheon was served in the arbor of the Arnold home.

Mrs. E. E. Barden, 406 Monterey road, entertained at dinner on Sunday a number of elderly ladies, intimate friends of her mother, Mrs. Martha E. Wood, who has recently returned from Catalina. Covers were laid for the following: Mrs. S. A. Barden, Mrs. W. P. Brainerd, Mrs. Floyd Watson, and Mrs. Martha E. Wood.

Miss Katherine Smith, 2004 Fletcher avenue, entertained with a very delightful luncheon on Thursday at 1 o'clock. Covers were laid for the Misses Dorothy Treff, Pauline Hammer, Martha and Doris Dunton, Frances May Maddux, and Eleanor Ocheltree of this city, and Miss Patrice Manahan of Los Angeles.

VENTURA.

In compliment to Miss Marguerite Mallory and De Witt Menefee whose engagement has been announced, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dennison entertained at a prettily appointed dinner at their ranch home Tuesday evening, covers being laid for nineteen. Miss Mallory is a niece of Mr. Dennison. The wedding is to take place in the near future.

The fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rains was Sunday, July 6, and in their honor, Mr. and Mrs. William Beattie Allison entertained that afternoon a large gathering of friends. The feature of the occasion was the repitition of the marriage ceremony, with Mr. and Mrs. Rains in the leading role. ayor Malvern Dimmick officiated.

Miss Margaret Gavin of San Luis Obispo visited her brothers, Joe and Jack, here this week, on her way to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. George MacCarty of San Luis Obispo visited old friends here this week en route to Santa Ana.

Hostesses at the E. C. O. Club this week were Mesdames M. Franz, H. F. Serene, C. G. Bartlett. The club is devoting much time and effort towards getting a road built to the cross on the hillside where the community sunrise services are held Easter mornings.

Dr. Dalton R. Smith and bride returned this week from their honeymoon trip. The wedding took place in Alhambra on July 3 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morgan. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Esther Morgan.

There was a gathering of the Day clan at Foster Park on Sunday to celebrate the home coming of Albert Weber who has returned from a long period of overseas service with the A.E.F.

Mrs. Gabriel Solari (Rose Dela Guerra) enjoyed quite a triumph at the fiesta in Santa Barbara last week. Mrs. Solari sang La Naranjara before a large audience of notables at the Belvedere, who showed their full appreciation of the clever young woman's rendition of The Song of the Orange Girl.

At a daintily appointed luncheon, Mrs. C. G. Bartlett entertained the new and old board of the E. C. O. Club of which she is president, on Wednesday. Mrs. Bartlett makes it an annual custom to entertain the incoming and outgoing boards of the club of which she has been president since its founding many years ago. At the luncheon table where the decorations were carried out in pink, places were marked for Mrs. James Mack, Mrs. H. A. Johnson, Mrs. David Morrill, Mrs. J. J. Streets, Mrs. A. L. Burson, Mrs. Frank Shaw, Mrs. H. Serene, Mrs. George Little, Mrs. Hanford, Mrs. C. P. Daly, Miss Kate Weaver, Mrs. Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carne entertained members of the Carne family connections at a party at their home Thursday in celebration of Mr. Carne's birthday anniversary.

Robert Henning, the young son of William Henning of San Francisco, is here for a holiday visit with his aunt, Miss May Henning, and other relatives.

Twenty or more little girls were entertained at a jolly birthday party Wednesday by Miss Charlotte Butts, who was five years old. Miss Charlotte is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Butts.

MONROVIA.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight Hester left on Thursday for a vacation motoring trip to Seattle. They expect to take two weeks to make the journey north, camping on the way, and will spend the summer with friends and relatives near Seattle, returning in time for Mr. Hester to resume his work as head of the manual training department of the high school.

CLAREMONT.

Miss Alice Elizabeth Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brooks, 256 Mills avenue, plans to sail the second week in August for Italy, to accept a position as instructor of English in the Protestant preparatory school known as the Crandon Institute. According to present plans, Miss Brooks will leave Claremont the last of July, in order to visit friends in Iowa City, her former home, before going on to New York. She expects to sail on the White Star Line running from New York to Genoa. Miss Brooks is a graduate of the Iowa University, from which she holds two degrees, and also studied at the University of California. During the past year she has been teaching English in the Madera High School and previous to that time held a position in the First National Bank of Claremont, of which her father, J. T. Brooks, is vice-president.

Miss Helen F. Haury, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Haury, 272 West Seventh street, was hostess at an announcement party Tuesday evening, at which she made known her engagement to Dr. Erwin J. Kintze of Los Angeles. No definite date has been set for the marriage of the two, as Dr. Kintze is in training at the Los Angeles County Hospital since completing his course in medicine at the University of Southern California. He was for two years a student at Pomona College, of which institution Miss Haury is a graduate, of the class of '17. For the past year she has been instructor in chemistry at Pomona College, following a year of graduate work at the State University and a summer course at Columbia University. Miss Haury has many friends in Claremont and also in Upland, her former home, who are much interested in the news of her betrothal.

ANAHEIM.

Ramona Villa was the scene of much gaiety on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Alice Ryan Kennedy and Miss Annie Ryan were joint hostesses at a five hundred whist party. The tournament was exceedingly interesting and when the scores were counted it was found that Mrs. Fred Backs, Jr., had won first prize and Mrs. Edgar Hartung, second. The decorative scheme was carried out in pink and white, and at the close of the tournament a dainty collation was served at the card tables. Their guests included Mmes. R. Melrose, F. Backs, Jr., Welborn Wallop, H. N. Adams, Earl Abbey, E. Borchert, J. J. Dwyer, W. A. Dolan, G. W. Cllosen, C. F. Grim, Leo Sheridan, R. H. Seale, A. B. McCord, J. S. Sheridan, F. A. Yungbluth, Edgar Hartung, Roger Dutton, M. J. Bradley, Henry Kuchel, R. McFadden, W. J. Cole, Misses Sophie and Marie Rimpau and Mrs. A. L. Lewis of Santa Fe Springs.

Beach and mountains trips are all the rage here, numerous parties going to each place. Big and Little Bear and the Yosemite are the favorites, and every day sees several parties starting for a several weeks' trip. Among those who have just returned from Yosemite are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Goodale, Mr. and Mrs. George Dunton, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Beebe; from Strawberry Flats; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mann and family, Mr. and Mrs. V. LaMont, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Adams and family, from Big Bear, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Mauer, Mrs. L. M. Thomas, and sons Travis and Frank Cushman, Misses Mamie Kampling and Mildred Carter.

Returned service men of the Presbyterian Church were honor guests at a welcome home social given by the Ladies' Aid on Tuesday evening. It was a most enjoyable affair and during the evening several interesting numbers were given.

Mrs. W. J. Lake entertained a number of relatives at her home on Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of her father, Henry Heying of Fort Madison, Wis., who with his wife is spending the summer in California; the evening was devoted to cards, and when the scores were counted it was found that Mrs. F. Heying was awarded first prize and Mrs. Al Heying, consolation.

The members of the fire department are planning a "Chicken Dutch Pot" on next Tuesday evening at the home of Walter Amstutz, who lives on the Royer tract. The fire boys have given many of these affairs in the past which have always been so thoroughly enjoyed that this one is being looked forward to.

One of the pleasant affairs of the week was the surprise given to Mrs. H. G. Schmelzer, wife of the pastor of the Lutheran Church, by the members of the Ladies' Aid, on Thursday afternoon. After a pleasant afternoon passed in social conversation, a pretty birthday cake, bearing the requisite number of candles in red, white and blue, was presented to Mrs. Schmelzer. Among the many beautiful gifts received by her was a string of pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eygabroad, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hartranft and family, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnston and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Gibbs and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nagel, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Ross and son, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Wadsworth, Newell Wadsworth, Mrs. Z. Bruce, Miss Dora Clark, Miss Blanche Fulwider, Miss Ruth Crawford and Lloyd Ross formed a congenial party that picnicked at Laguna on the Fourth.

UPLAND.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Billington, in Laurel avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday evening, when their daughter, Miss Susan Jeanette Billington, became the bride of J. D. Mehl. The bridegroom's father, the Rev. John C. Mehl, was the officient. Just before the ceremony, Mrs. Earl Hawthorne sang "O Promise Me," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Neal Hess. The bridal party entered to the Wedding March from Lohengrin with Miss Helen Hartley at the piano. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white brocaded silk and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Geneva Borden served as matron of honor, while Harold Burt attended the bridegroom. The bride was given away by her father. A reception and wedding supper followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Mehl left for Berkeley, where they are to make their home. The bride is a graduate of Chaffey High school and Pomona College, and is popular in a wide circle of friends. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Pomona College, and shares the popularity of his bride. He is now on the War Work Council at Berkeley.

Miss Sylvia Baumgartner, who expects to leave soon for Boise, Ida., to join her father and sisters, was the victim of a pleasant surprise party with which the Misses Ruth and Anna Voth entertained Thursday evening, at their home in Campus avenue. Interesting guessing games were followed by a light supper. More than a score of young people enjoyed the evening.

Mrs. George B. West was hostess at a tea of charming informality, Wednesday afternoon at her home in Euclid avenue. Roses were used

Conservative people buy Nordlinger Diamonds

A Nordlinger diamond is invariably a thoroughly good stone—as good a value as could be obtained in any other metropolis of the nation.

CLEARANCE

WHAT does it mean? The getting rid of a lot of old desirable merchandise that a store can't sell because nobody wants it? Certainly not so at the Paris Store.

Much of the mark-down goods on sale here have come in very recently. And it is quite fashionable and desirable. Wouldn't you rather have NEW goods at clearance prices than old?

Suits, Coats and Dresses at HALF PRICES and Even Less

¶ Dresses at the CLEARANCE PRICES of $16.75, $19.75, $23.50 and $28.75.

¶ Reductions that are Nearly Half Price on Suits now $16.75, $19.75, $23.50 and $28.75.

¶ Suits at the HALF PRICES of $33.50, $37.50, $48.75 and $54.75.

¶ Capes and Dolmans at the HALF PRICES of $17.50, $22.50, $27.50, $32.50, $37.50 and $42.50.

¶ All Serge Dresses that have been as high as $39.75 now $13.75, $16.75 and $19.75.

¶ All Jersey Dresses now $16.75 and $19.75.

We are glad to say that the suits are mostly of tricotines, gabardines and serges; the capes and Dolmans of velours, tricotines and serges; and the dresses, serges, jerseys, taffetas and Georgettes.

The good qualities of trimmings and workmanship are noticeable in all of them. The garments are typical Paris Store garments.

WHITTIER.

To announce the engagement and approaching nuptials of Miss Margaret Matteson, Miss Frankie Knight gave an affair at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Knight, Tuesday evening. Miss Matteson will wed Albert Magill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Magill of Rivera, September 6. The announcement was made in a unique manner by letting the cat out of the bag. Each paper cat bearing the interesting words, "Marguerite Matteson and Albert Magill, September 6, 1919." The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Matteson of East Bailey street, a graduate of the class of 1918 of the local High School, Mr. Magill was in the navy during the war.

Coming as a surprise to many was the wedding Tuesday evening of Miss Edith Graves, daughter of Mrs. Fred Graves, and Lieut. Karl Montague Cowdery solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. E. E. Day officiating. The bride is a graduate of Pomona College, with post-graduate work at Berkeley. Lieut. Cowdery is employed at the Whittier State School. About fifty guests were present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Cowdery are spending their honeymoon at Yosemite, and later will be at home here, 125 North Bright avenue.

A merry vacation party left by auto late this week for the high Sierras by way of Bishop, the party having for several summers taken their vacation trips together. They are Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hazzard, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Alberthon. They will be gone about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Cash and two sons returned this week from a vacation at Oceanside, where they spent a couple of weeks.

INGLEWOOD.

A novel birthday party, in honor of Mrs. F. Blackie and Mr. E. I. Rockwell, both of Inglewood, took place July 6, under the spreading branches of a huge live oak tree at the popular Camp Baldy resort. Mr. and Mrs. Blackie and family and Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell and daughter, Helen, spent the week-end at the camp, and they were assisted in celebrating the day by Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Broderson of this place and Sergt. and Mrs. Mead of Los Angeles, who are spending a two weeks' vacation at the camp. The Rockwells and Blackies returned to their home Monday and Mr. and Mrs. Broderson will return about the 14th.

Prof. A. F. Monroe, director of the high and grammar school orchestras, left Sunday last for a two months' trip through China and Japan.

Mrs. Frank Zillgitt and children are spending a few weeks at Little Bear.

Mrs. Hugh Esheiman and children, Miss Ruth and Claude, leave today to spend the summer with homefolks in Cairo, Ill.

DOWNEY.

On Sunday a delightful affair was given at the home of Miss Judie McKellar, the occasion being the gathering of all the relatives to honor two recently-returned soldiers, Corp. Dudley Newcome and Robert Rowley. The former was wounded at Argonne, the latter saw heroic service on the Italian frontier. The day was spent in a most happy manner. At noon dinner was served under the trees on the lawn, where covers were laid for the following guests: Mr. S. A. McKellar of Bell, Corp. Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley, son Robert and daughters Doretha, Marion and Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKellar and son Sergt. Wallace McKellar; Ensign Dan McKellar; Miss Margaret McKellar; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McGee, Mrs. Magget Cawthon and sons, Carey and Roger, and daughters Roberta and Blanche; Mr. Hull Newcomb and three children; Mr. and Mrs. Will Nance, Miss Betsey Lull, Mrs. Dunlap and son Ollie, and Miss Judie McKellar.

Willis Hunter, who has been spending some time with his parents at their Idaho ranch, has returned to his home here.

GLENDALE.

Many Glendale people spent the Fourth and remainder of the week at Big Bear Lake. Jesse Smith returned from the resort Monday and was very enthusiastic about the mountain trip and the colony of Glendale citizens. He states that not less than fifty people from Glendale spent their vacation there over the Fourth, and mentioned the following who he met or were in his party: Mr. and Mrs. William McMullin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearce, Miss Margaret Brennan, Harry Farnsworth McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salmacia, Mr. and Mrs. Hastings and their son George Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Papineau.

A Glendale party that spent a most enjoyable Fourth at Long Beach consisted of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Douthat and children Dorothy and Charles of Orange Grove avenue, Mrs. Alma Winburn and son Douthat of Searcy, Ark., guests of the Douthats, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McQuown of Orange street, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Fife and children, James, Margaret and Mildred, also Mrs. Margaret Fife of Orange street. They went down in two machine loads and met on the sands where with delicious Arkansas-cured hams and toothsome Glendale fried chicken they enjoyed a most delightful feast, afterward visiting the shipyards and Fort MacArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Hogue and their son Bengy and Mrs. Turk, who have been on a two weeks' camping trip at Big Bear, have returned to their home in Glendale. The Hogues camped at Fawn Skins on the north side of the lake which is quieter than the other side. They went by the way of the City Creek road, which is so hot that they advise tourists to take the longer

For The Bettering of Your Home!

Probably no sale was ever ushered in under more adverse and trying conditions than this—our 39th Great Annual Midsummer Clearance.

Market conditions are anything but favorable to a general price-lowering of merchandise, yet, in view of this state of affairs, every department of this store is participating to a greater or lesser degree in this Midsummer Clearance.

This Clearance means to us a readjustment of our stocks and to you it should mean one of the most choice opportunities of the year for the bettering of your homes.

It means prices that not only soothe the conscience trained to war-time economy, but that give a pleasant thrill that goes with good goods at lessened prices.

A Surprise for you who have in mind the Purchase of Cut Glass

A convention of pretty cut glass pieces has been called to meet promptly at the opening hour Monday at Barker Bros.

Invitations have been extended only to pieces of $5.00 to $6.95 rating and of such social distinction as Berry Bowls, Celery Trays, Footed Nappies, Mayonnaise Boats and Fern Dishes.

The purpose of the assemblage is to facilitate your selection at choice—$3.98.

Thin-Blown Table Tumblers 48c Set of Six

Ice tea time and lemonade season—and the necessary tumblers at so small a cost! The unusualness of the offer necessitates our limiting one dozen to a customer.

SOCIETY.

route. Coming home they took the "Rim of the World" and Waterman Canyon route, which is shaded and so cool that autoists can make more time than by the shorter route.

Miss Loraine A. Harrison, who for several weeks has been the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Baker of 311 West Colorado street, has returned to her home in San Francisco to await notice of the itinerary assigned her, for she has been engaged by the California Syndicate to sing at the moving-picture show houses which it controls up and down the Coast. Whether she will open at San Francisco or Seattle he does not know yet. Mrs. Baker has this week been entertaining her brother, S. Winston Harrison, who has been attending the University of the Pacific at San Jose, but who is going to Stanford next year. She hopes that next month her father will be with her.

Merrill Burke and his bride, who was Miss Bessie Van Oadell, before her marriage, arrived home last Sunday after a two weeks' honeymoon trip by auto, in which they spent several days at Yosemite National Park. They have taken an apartment at the De Luxe apartments, corner of Brand and California avenue, where they will be at home to their many friends.

Mrs. D. R. Callendar and her daughter, Miss Louise Callender, sister-in-law and niece of Mrs. Colin Cable, whose house guests they are, are being much entertained and having an altogether delightful introduction to Southern California. Last Thursday they and Mrs. Cable were luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. Helen Bennet and her daughter Miss Gertrude Bennett of Manhattan place, the luncheon being followed by an auto ride and theater party. Saturday Mrs. Cable entertained for them with a luncheon at which covers were laid for Mrs. Charles Bosserman of La Porte, Ind., Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman and Mrs. L. V. Ashton of Glendale. Monday they were guests of Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman.

RIALTO.

Out-of-door events have been very much in order this week. On Friday Mayor and Mrs. W. H. Glasscock, son Richard, daughters Elizabeth and guests, E. E. Corbin, Miss Bessie Corbin and Mrs. Maud Lackey all of Los Angeles spent a long delightful day in beautiful Cable Canyon motoring home in the cool of the evening.

Epworth Leagers of the First Methodist Church stole a March on Old Sol by starting promptly at 7 a.m. for the mountains, entering their cooling shadows before heat of the day, on Friday. Forest Home, 17 miles beyond Redlands, was their destination and, the place being new to most of the merrymakers, its beauty aroused their enthusiastic delight. At the noon hour an elaborate picnic lunch was enjoyed. A neighborhood group of Rialtons joining the Leaguers at Forest Home, numbered Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sweetman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bohannon, Miss Margaret Bohannon, Mr. and Mrs. George Butler, C. E. McLaughlin and family, Mrs. Anna Smith and T. H. Nichols have just returned from a most delightful drive to San Diego, spending several days at the beach and touring the surrounding country.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tibbot entertained with a prettily appointed family dinner at their home on South street, where as all their friends know, the latch string always hangs outside. The gathering was an all-day affair, all the more delightful for its pleasant infomality enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Needham, Lionel Needham, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Tolle, little Martha Tolle, the host and hostess.

A genuine old-fashioned family reunion was held on Friday at the W. R. Lesh home on North Riverside avenue, the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lesh, who are spending their honeymoon in Southern California, being an especially happy feature. A sumptuous feast was served at 12 m. and supper at 6 o'clock. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Turner and daughter, Hazel of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lesh, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Roberts, Mme. Harriet Roberts, Elizabeth and Mary Roberts, Schuvler Montgomery, A. Lessick, W. R. Lesh and joining the company for the evening only, Mr. and Mrs. James Sanderson.

Miss Claire Taylor celebrated her eigtheenth anniversary by entertaining a group of her school mates with an auto trip to the picture show at San Bernardino, followed by a social hour at her home when musical numbers were enjoyed and cooling refreshments served. The party included Misses Louise Weller, Orvetta Dresser, Verda Hubbard, Margaret Bohannon and the hostess.

MONETA.

Mrs. L. W. Ballard and daughter, Miss Fay Ballard, of Exeter are house guests of Mrs. S. M. Smith. Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Smith are sisters.

Mrs. William Pitman and Miss Rebecca Pitman of Fairmont were guests last week in the homes of the former's sons, W. W. Pitman and T. C. Pitman of this place. Miss Pitman was the dinner guest on Saturday evening of Miss Grace McCleery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hudson and Miss Grace Hudson of Western avenue have taken a house in the Beverly Hills for the summer.

Mrs. C. S. Heisler from Bisbee, Ariz., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. T. H. Bateman of Los Angeles. Mrs. Bateman's sister, Mrs. T. H. Soudan, of Los Angeles, is also her guest.

WATTS.

Dr. J. L. Lamb of Tajauta avenue returned home last Tuesday morning from a five-weeks' trip, visiting with friends and relatives in Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Wyoming.

Mrs. Ella Glascock and daughter, Thelma, of Yakima, Wash., who have been here since last November, left Monday for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Abringer and family of Elyria, O., who arrived recently, are located in the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Scheepperle, 712 Rudolph avenue, who moved to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Opsomer of 856 Hickory street, were agreeably surprised Monday, when their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. Haas and infant, motored in from Seattle, where they have made their home since their marriage, two years ago.

Mrs. Maria Johnson of Claremont, who is spending the summer in Hermosa, left last Sunday after spending a week in the home of her niece, Eleanor F. Bennett, 636 Grape street. During the week, her sister, Mrs. Emma Johnson of El Monte, was a guest for a few days.

WILLOWBROOK.

Mrs. J. S. Wolfe and daughters, Misses Pauline and Virginia, of Pomona were recent house guests in the home of their daughter and sister, Mrs. R. P. Boyd.

Vick Frederickson unexpectedly returned home Saturday from overseas, after active service with the Three Hundred and Twenty-second Signal Battalion.

Roy Haizlim, who has spent the past two years in the United States naval service, located in the Philippine Islands, recently returned to America and is now the guest of his mother, Mrs. F. M. Lemon.

Maj. and Mrs. R. B. McReynolds and family left Saturday for Camp Baldy, where they anticipate remaining for at least ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kevan, Sr., and three children are recent arrivals from Glasgow, Scotland. They are house guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Gray, later expecting to reside in the Berry home on Weber avenue. Samuel Kevan, Jr., who is still in France, expects to join his parents before the close of the year. He had the experience of being twice gassed during the time he served in the world war.

George Warburton, who has been in the navy the past two years, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Ed Bradbury.

HERMOSA BEACH.

Mrs. E. A. Allen and family entertained a number of their friends from Los Angeles and Whittier at their home on Twentieth street and Speedway at a week-end house party. The visitors enjoyed themselves at this beach, among the many pleasures being surf bathing and fishing

Mrs. Thomas Mulroy of Chicago, who is visiting for a few months in Southern California, is enjoying a month's vacation at this beach. She is a guest at the Arrowhead apartments.

Mrs. William Fitzgerald and son and two daughters of Hartford, Ct., are guests at the Berth Hotel for a few weeks. They expressed themselves as being delighted with this beach city as well as Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawk, of Pasadena, were guests at the Arrowhead apartments during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carr and family, of Los Angeles, are domiciled in their cottage on Strand and Twenty-second street for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson and family, of Los Angeles, are spending the summer months in their cottage on the Strand and Twenty-first street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Keller and family, of Los Angeles, are spending the summer at this beach. They have leased a cottage on Fourteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Brinsmaid entertained a number of their friends from Iowa at a week-end house party at their home in this city. There were sixteen in the party. Surf bathing afforded considerable amusement for the visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Stoneman and family, of Phoenix, Ariz., are among the many visitors spending the summer at this beach. The Stonemans were here for two weeks last summer, but have returned to spend several months. Mr. Stoneman is a prominent attorney from Phoenix, and is the son of ex-Governor Stoneman of Arizona.

Mrs. E. A. K. Hackett, of Los Angeles, entertained a few of her friends at a dinner party at the Berth Hotel on Tuesday. There were eight in the party.

SANTA ANA.

Miss Dorothy Delight Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Luella Stewart, formerly of Wisconsin, and Lieut. William Iverson, recently discharged from Kelly Field, were married by Rev. P. F. Schrock, at the bride's home here and immediately left for a honeymoon at Big Bear. Both Lieut. and Mrs. Iverson are graduates of Rippon College, Wisconsin.

Another recent wedding of interest was that of Miss Bessie Bowers, daughter of T. N. H. Bowers, and Lieut. George Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Calhoun, solemnized at the bride's home with Rev. F. T. Porter officiating. Lieut. Calhoun is employed in the Long Beach shipyards and expects to attend a government school in San Francisco. The bride was one of this year's high school graduates.

Miss Ruth Bevis, charmingly entertained her sewing club with a patriotic party, the red, white and blue motif prevailing throughout the enjoyable occasion. The guests included the Misses Elizabeth and Agnes Rudolph, Gertrude and Anna Lieberman, Clara, Armilla, Genevieve and Helen Klatt, Katherine Owens, Florence Debue, Leatha Collier, and Marie Hastler.

Miss Elsie Wingood of Santa Ana became the bride in San Francisco on Tuesday of James R. Daly, a San Joaquin rancher. They will live at Dos Palos. Miss Wingood taught in San Jose for a year following her graduation from Stanford University.

A double celebration marked the last meeting of the Eastern Star chapter, honoring the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown and the birthday of Mrs. W. L. McCleery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baldwin were hosts at an informal dinner party Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hadley and two children of Redlands, friends for many years, who have been enjoying an outing at East Newport.

Rev. W. H. L. Benton early this week entertained Dean McCormick of Los Angeles, Rev. William Shaw of Sierra Madre, Rev. Charles Spaulding of Coronado and Rev. C. T. Murphy, army chaplain from San Diego, with an afternoon of golf at the country club and at his home here.

VENICE.

In celebration of his eighth birthday, young Harry Tibbit, of 23 Carrol avenue, helped his mother, Mrs. Mary Tibbit, entertain a dozen little folks last Wednesday. A huge birthday cake with his very advanced age symbolized on it in red candles was the big feature of the day's happiness. Several original and clever games were conceived by Mrs. Tibbit to make the kiddies lose themselves in the fun.

Last Monday's meeting of the "500" Club was the largest yet held, old members coming back and one or two new memberships being made. Highest scores were made by Mrs. M. Birk and Mrs. Sautter, the points made being 4730 and 3870 in order named.

More than sixty young people of Venice enjoyed the dance given for Miss Ada Carey, daughter of the J. D. Carey's of Venice, recently at the Venice Pavilion. The lovely affair was given in honor of the little lady's fifteenth birthday, and several original features were presented by her clever mother. Among the long list of guests were a large number of Miss Carey's high school friends who are all in a happy vacation mood. Several out-of-town friends were present also.

In celebration of her graduation

The Whist Club met at the home of Mrs. Hoover last week for their regular meeting. As it was the birthday of one of the members, Mr. Charles Allen, a large birthday cake, with all the candles was served by the hostess. All the members were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Felipe M. de Setien of Madrid, Spain, were the honored guests at a dinner party given by Prof. Roy Edwin Schultz of the University of Southern California last week. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Wilkins of New York City, where Mr. Wilkins is in charge of modern languages in the public schools of the metropolis, and Miss Edith Johnson of Tacoma, Wash. Prof. de Setien has recently been appointed professor of Spanish of the University of Southern California.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Ruby Marple and Mr. Roy Wichman which will take place at the Marengo Methodist Church, Tuesday, July 15. The Rev. Mr. John Barnhardt, assisted by the Rev. Bede Johnson will perform the ceremony.

A number of parties of Alhambra people have been leaving for the high Sierras for a few weeks among the mountains. Dr. D. E. Lane and his party left last week, and this week Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ducommun are taking their departure.

Mrs. A. J. Johnson gave a little dancing party last Saturday as a compliment to two returned service men, Mr. James Fletcher and Mr. P. Murphy. About fifteen couples enjoyed the dancing and delicious refreshments that were served.

Mrs. Will Thrall invited the members of the La Tertula Club to her home on Thursday evening to meet her house guest, Mrs. E. Fryer, of Los Angeles, who is her house guest for the month of July. Five hundred was played and a supper served. The house was very lovely with roses and cool greenery. The La Tertula members are Mrs. Thrall, E. Kidder, Mrs. Case Whitford, Mrs. Edwin Stivers, Mrs. Edith Gardner, Mrs. George Elferdink, Mrs. F. V. Nelson, and Miss Marion Kidder.

SANTA BARBARA.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler were guests of honor at an organ recital and tea given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bliss at Casa Dorina, their Montecito home. Mr. Butler is president of Columbia University, and with Mrs. Butler is staying at El Mirasol, Santa Barbara's aristocratic bungalow hotel.

A merry party of the younger set enjoyed Wednesday at Sandyland, the exclusive beach resort near Carpinteria, concluding the day with dancing and a dinner at the Belvedere. Among those in the party included Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Kaime, Miss Gladys Keeney, Miss Margaret Trimble, Miss Edith O'Donovan, Miss Helen Sherk, Miss Dorothy Fithian, Miss Eleanor West, Tallant Tubbs, Brooke Sawyer, Ridgeway Trimble, Duncan Draper, Bevis Longstreth, Ogden West and William Spencer.

Mrs. Edmund Bayliss entertained informally on Wednesday with a luncheon at El Mirasol.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brodie have returned to their San Francisco home after a stay of several weeks in Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Edward E. Paramore entertained with a luncheon on Friday for Mrs. William H. Walker of New York. The luncheon was given at the Little Town Club. Mrs. Walker is a guest at Miramar.

Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor invited a little group of friends to a dinner given at Far Afield, his Montecito estate, on Friday evening.

Mrs. Walter G. Filer of Burlingame, who has Hope Lodge, on Ocean View avenue, Montecito, entertained a small group at a dinner party, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Edward Bright Bruce, who is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Sherman P. Stow at La Patera ranch, Goleta, entertained a little party of sixteen children at El Capitan rancho on Tuesday. The trip to the ranch was made in automobiles.

Miss Dorothy Fithian is entertaining a group of young friends at La Patera today.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence S. White entertained with a dinner party at their Montecito home on Wednesday evening.

SIERRA MADRE.

The influx of summer visitors to the Sierra Madre Canyon and mountain resorts adjoining has surpassed all previous records and Fern Lodge, one of the popular nearby resorts, has been filled to its capacity during the past fortnight.

Miss Gertrude Cook left here last week to attend the summer session at Berkeley.

Mrs. S. Q. Croxson of East Central boulevard had as her luncheon guests last week, Mrs. Harry B. Croxson and son Curtis of Shreveport, La., Miss Elizabeth Bilheimer, Stephen Bilheimer and Mrs. W. H. Croxson of Pasadena.

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Alberta Sommer of this place to William I. Harrison of Hollywood, a young business man of that place, where they will make their future home. The bride has been a member of the younger social set here for some years past.

The summer months will be enjoyed at Redondo by Mrs. W. S. Hull and children, where Mr. Hull will spend his week ends.

Accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Lee, Mrs. F. J. Hart and her sons Harold and Carl left recently for a three months' visit with relatives in Ohio.

Mrs. S. Coppin and daughter Geneva of Portland, Or., were visitors for several days at the home of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. S. Q. Croxson of East Central boulevard.

The week end was spent in San Diego, by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klunk, wehere they visited with several friends

The Realm of Melody--News and Gossip of the Local Musicians.

WHAT IS POPULAR OPERA?

Experiences of the Manager of the San Carlo Organization.

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT.

Let the advocates of advancement in opera rave as they will, the public remains faithful to their traditions. Even high-brow Boston still loves the "Miserere" better than the "Credo" from "Otello" or "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly." They would rather have one night 'neath the lilting sway of Verdi melody than a thousand in the sensuous atmosphere of "Thais" or "Tosca." They prefer the um-tum-tum of "La Donna e Mobile" to the tense harmonies of "L'Amore dei Tre Re." And where, oh where, is the Debussy of "Pelleas and Melisande," and the Charpentier of "Louise," and what boots it whether we hear the latest opera of Mascagni, or Montemezzi's "Le Nave," or Massenet's "Therese" or "Werther," so long as the public still adheres to its first and greatest love, the phonographically familiar recitative and aria.

This, in a general way, is the conclusion of Charles R. Baker, manager of the San Carlo Opera Company, who for the past seven years has endeavored to provide lyrico-dramatic entertainment for the public of this country. Mr. Baker has just returned to Southern California for the summer, after a highly successful season, during which his company toured from Coast to Coast.

The San Carlo Opera Company is now the official advance guard of the musical season in New York. They open their series of performances in September, before the elite of the metropolis have returned from Long Island and Atlantic City, and they do not worry about the absence of the elite because the San Carlo is fundamentally for the people. It aims to give popular opera at popular prices, and its purpose has been fully justified in the gradual enlargement of the company's resources and its scope of activity.

Associated with Mr. Baker in his enterprise is Fortuno Gallo, who has just been knighted Chevalier of the Italian Royal Crown, because of the service he has rendered his native country in Red Cross work and in the spread of Italian music.

The repertoire of the San Carlo Opera Company consisted last season of about twenty operas. The most popular of the productions, strange to say, was "Il Trovatore." Even in Boston this opera drew $900 more than any other opera. "Aida" ranked next in popularity with "Butterfly" third. The honors were divided in the following order among the others: "Rigoletto," "Faust," "Carmen," and "Boheme." The novelties of the company's season were the "Jewels of the Madonna" and "Romeo and Juliet."

FUTURE PLANS.

Next season Messrs. Baker and Gallo expect to give "Fra Diavolo" and "Otello," and will have a feature opera in "La Forza del Destino," a Verdi work, which was revived at the Metropolitan during the past season. All three of these operas will be presented when the San Carlo comes to Los Angeles next spring, according to Mr. Baker. The local season will be for two weeks. Both Mr. Baker and Mr. Gallo were greatly pleased with their success in this city, and firmly believe in the musical future of Los Angeles.

"The love of music and art is most significant for a city's standing," said Mr. Baker. "No community can really be great unless it has its artistic side. In fact a city's greatness is measured by its art standards and development, because these indicate the intellectual wealth of the city, which is responsible for its material prosperity.

"I am firmly convinced of the growth of the love of music throughout the country. No, it is not progressing by leaps and bounds, but it is steady.

"Next season promises to be a great year for the established opera companies. The people of the country will have plenty of money to spend, because of the bumper crops. Where farmers only expected to get fourteen to sixteen bushels of wheat per acre they are getting thirty to thirty-two, and the circulation of money created by this unexpected boom will provide a large share for entertainment.

"The success of a popular operatic organization depends on the economy which is exercised in the conduct of its affairs. We built up the San Carlo from a very small organization, step by step. Each year we retained the singers who were the best and highest-salaried. Little by little we added to our orchestra and chorus, until now our company numbers 100 people—twenty to twenty-five principals, thirty-five in the orchestra and forty in the chorus. We seek to maintain the same standard of quality on the road as we do in New York."

HAS FAITH IN TASTE.

Mr. Baker's words have the force of well-determined convictions. He has studied the musical situation throughout the country from the angle of the people, and has found out what they like. He has tremendous faith in American musical appreciation, but believes that it will only be possible to reach out to the new by keeping a steady foothold on the structure of the known. He regards friendships of long standing in opera as necessary to the individuals as they are in real life, and new acquaintances can only become friends when they are tried and proven. He has based his solution of the operatic problem on his general understanding of the life of the people, and has endeavored whenever practicable to turn over a page to a new theme, without jeopardizing the cause he espouses, which is success in opera.

The testimony has been in his favor. He feels that the "Il Trovatore" episode in Boston is convincing evidence of the fact that an opera company has to adhere to the standard repertoire, very largely, leaving excursions into the domain of the novelties to such institutions as the Metropolitan and the Chicago, which have the funds to support the losses which each new tryout necessitates.

JUST A TRUNK.

BY CLARA J. DENTON.

Bruce Barton, in his story "What Shall it Profit a Man," discourses at considerable length, on the excellent opportunity of judging a man's character by the way in which he packs a trunk.

But who ever saw a man pack a trunk? No one. They never do it, unless, perhaps, now and then, some poor lonely, sisterless, wifeless, motherless or daughterless crusty old bachelor or widower may, now and then, be forced into it.

No indeed, the shrewd fellows are never caught in that way. Pack a trunk, indeed! If business or pleasure pushes one of the helpless creatures into going somewhere, so that the moving of personal equipment becomes a necessity, he tosses a change of linen, some cuffs and collars and his toothbrush into a grip, and after clasping it together, he straightens himself up proudly, exclaiming: "I am ready!" Thus he brings himself down (or up) to the standard of Fannie Fern, the witty woman writer, who delighted our grandmothers, and who declared that whenever she was obliged to shove her Lares and Penates about, she longed to reduce her belongings to "a bandbox and a toothbrush."

Yes, the men certainly have the best of it, and although many women may echo the sentiment of Fannie Fern, how many, think you, would put into actual practice this eliminating wish?

A thorough revolution, both social and economic, would occur if this iconoclastic wish could become something more than a humorous and well-turned sentence. For the tyranny of clothes is a real, and not a fancied one, and would require a force greater than that of Foch and Haig combined to abrogate. It wields its power everywhere, over old and young, large and small, mighty and insignificant, wise and foolish, learned and ignorant, and is always more or less compelling, according to individual idiosyncrasies.

Perhaps aerial transportation, when it has become as common as railway travel, may bring about a revolution in woman's garb, which all the thunders of the clergy and of the would-be dress reformers have been powerless to effect. The latter class of people have been attempting to bring women to the point of adopting a standardized costume to be worn upon all occasions save those requiring more than ordinary display. But, alas! The frequent payment of $30 or $40 for excess baggage by women does not indicate concerted action along this line. But aerial transportation may change all this. To fly through the air with a load of wardrobe trunks may possibly become an achievement, but is not likely to be a desirable one.

But, after all, why pack a trunk? Why should the great human family be continually on the move? Why this incessant tramping up and down the earth in a mad chase for—what? Is it because of that "divine discontent" which the poets and romancers are fond of eulogizing and apostrophizing, and which the students of social development declare is necessary to progress?

If we will compare the two classes of people, those who are strangers to the trunk habit, and rarely pack even a hand satchel for a week-end visit, and those who are up and away somewhere with almost clock-like regularity, I am sure the answer to the foregoing question will be given in the affirmative.

We know that it is good now and then to have an absolutely new outlook, because this brings a change of thought, and there is nothing better for that wonderful mechanism, the mind, than to send it running along new grooves, dreaming new dreams, and erecting new and larger castles in the air.

Therefore, we say frankly and freely, pack your trunk as often as possible and be grateful for the opportunity. The people who never pack their trunks are not the people in whose conversation we delight, their stale platitudes soon weary us and we turn with ever-increasing pleasure to the people who, to use a common phrase, "have been everywhere and have seen everything." Even those unfortunate individuals who are naturally reticent and uncommunicative will often be given a new gift of speech when their eyes have beheld the greater glories of the world.

If one watches a trunk packer closely and carefully, many characteristics will be revealed. A careless, happy-go-lucky person will pack her trunk as she does everything else, thoughtlessly placing a heavy box beside a mirror, a china cup next to an alarm clock, a pair of scissors next to a photograph, and other random juxtapositions, which brook only ridicule.

After all, packing a trunk is much like packing a brain. Things, whether material or immaterial, must be placed in their proper niches, where they'll be soonest available, and she who can do the one with absolute success is quite likely to possess, perhaps not always a brilliant brain, but at least one that is well-stored with that rarest of all qualities, common sense.

CIRCULATION GROWS.

Library Patrons Prefer Poetry, Drama and Essays.

Eight thousand books a day put into the hands of the people of Los Angeles is the record of the Public Library for last month. This is a gain in circulation of 15,000 over the same month in 1918.

Three branch libraries can show 10,007 volumes more issued than in June of the preceding year. The juvenile readers carried home almost 8000 books, 1000 more than in June, 1918.

In the main library, literature leads—that is, poetry, drama and essays are preferred. But science and industry attract great attention and there is remarkable inquiry for books of religious and philosophical discussion. A thousand music scores, and more than 1000 pictures were drawn by card-holders, as well as 3000 magazines. Between 7000 and 8000 questions were answered, and the membership of the library increased by 3375. There are now 122,773 card-holders.

A Surmise.

"What's the hubbub in the inside office?"

"The old man is savage today and the fool office boy let in an agent with a Life of Cromwell."

"Well?"

"I suppose he is selling his life dearly."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

SUMMER MUSICAL HEGIRA.

BY JEANNE REDMAN.

No sooner does the summer migration of eastern musicians to California get well under way, than our own musical personnae make their exodus from town. August seems to be the popular month this season, and northward the direction of their flight.

First let us see who are among the arrivals. Naturally Rachmaninoff is the guest par excellence this summer, and he is to be feted extensively during his stay here. Of course, the Godowskys, whose guest he is to be for a time, will entertain him, and on next Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Thilo Becker will have a reception in his honor. Incidentally the Beckers will probably to among the migrators toward the north, although they have not yet definitely decided when they will go, nor where, but they expect to spend some time at Carmel and San Francisco.

Other distinguished musicians who are here for the summer are Adolf Cassen, director of the Choral Society of New York, and also of the Mozart Society for several years. Mr. Cassen is at the Clark Hotel for the present, and his intentions are, as we understand them, purely recuperative, which can scarcely be said of Carl Venth, who is at Santa Monica, and who, we suspect, is professionally bent. Mr. Venth is director of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, and was dean of the Woman's College at Fort Worth. He will spend some time at Santa Monica.

Also, at Santa Monica on her vacation is a woman well known to music circles in and about New York—Mrs. William Boughton, president of the Chromatic Society of Buffalo.

Among the local musicians who are to enjoy recreation in or about San Francisco are John Smallman, baritone, Mrs. Halbert Thomas, pianists, and Mrs. William Mabee, soprano. The Zoellner quartette, father, daughter and two sons, will probably motor to San Francisco in August, if their present plans hold.

Estelle Heartt Dreyfus has planned a lazy saunter by motor, up the coast to San Francisco, stopping, she says, to read a book under a tree whenever she feels like it. Mr. and Mrs. Dreyfus will leave the first of August. During September they will stop at some mountain resort to do translating and other literary work they have planned, not returning to their studios until October.

Aolph Tandler, conductor of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, will not take an extended vacation this year, but will make week-end trips to Bear Valley and Forest Home. He has a daughter at the latter place, who is recuperating from illness.

Bertha Winslow Vaughn, soprano, whose season at the Egan School is to close this month, is planning to take her rest at Catalina Island, where her son, who has recently returned from service in France, will join her.

Homer Grunn, who has turned out some highly satisfactory work, both with pupils and in writing this year, will conclude his clases at the Egan School this week, and in August will go to his old haunt, at Santa Fe, New Mexico, where some of his compositions have been conceived.

Emma Porter Makinson is rejoicing over the news of Ruth Hutchinson's success at the Biennial at Peterboro. Miss Hutchinson not only won the first prize, but also wide commendation, and has been engaged for the music festival at Lockport, New York. Music clubs will hear her in the East this fall. Mrs. Makinson, her teacher, is to go to Forest Home this summer, to rest.

The mountains have, as usual, called Fannie Dillon to her open air studio, which is on Mt. Wilson.

Gertrude Ross, composer-pianist, is spending her summer at "The Little House of Song," her summer home at Venice. Her daughter is with her, and the two expect to work as well as play.

Helen Brown-Reed, dramatic soprano, who has come recently to make her home in Los Angeles, is at present at Laguna Beach, where she will remain for another fortnight.

J. P. Poulin, director of the Lyric and Ellis clubs, is to go to Seven Oaks in the near future.

Gloria Mayne, soprano, has left for San Francisco, after which she will go to Salt Lake, where she will join friends for a trip to Yellowstone Park.

Carrie Jacobs-Bond, popular song writer, has just returned from an extended trip to Alaska, where she sailed along the Yukon River to Fort Yukon to see the land of the Midnight Sun. She is soon to go to New York, where she will appear at the Lakeport musical festival.

Joins Pomona Faculty.

Rexford D. Colburn, chorus director, organist and lecturer on musical and art subjects, has been appointed to the assistant professorship of piano at Pomona College. Mr. Colburn who is a graduate of Syracuse University, has been head of the music department at Jamestown College in Jamestown, N. D., and for the past four years director of the Normal Conservatory at the State Normal School at Indiana, Pa. He expects to spend the month of August in Seattle studying with Leopold Godowsky.

Sings at Organ Recital.

Paul Gronbech, tenor, of the Davis Musical College faculty, sang at an organ recital given by Charles Demorest Monday evening, and won appreciation with his voice and method.

To Attend Convention.

Kate Beirne O'Rourke, lyric writer and composer, left Los Angeles yesterday to attend the national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to be held in San Francisco the 14th to the 29th. She is to give a talk on the music and musical history of Ireland.

Plan Other Compositions.

The success of their composition, "The Message of the Bells," has encouraged Miss Fannie Dillon, the composer, and Carlton Russell Foster, who wrote the lyrics, to plan collaboration on some very ambitious musical work in the fall. "The Message of the Bells" has proved very popular because of the romantic picture described in the words, which had been set to music of warmth and feeling by Miss Dillon.

Packard Pupils Heard.

Mrs. Harriette Packard presented pupils who have studied with her for a period of one and two years, in a recital programme, last night at her Majestic Theater studios. The pupils taking part were Miss Rose Brizius, Miss Marjorie Bean, Misses Muriel and Lorene Bemis, Miss Gladys Williams, Miss Lucille Plummer, Mme. Roumelia Ena and Messrs. E. S. Weigle and Carneitus Hessing.

In England today, in a few instances, women have had conferred upon them titles in their own right with remainder to their eldest son, but the husband does not share the title.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Askin,
Whose musical courtship recently culminated in marriage. Mrs. Askin was formerly Clara Louise Newcomb. Both are well known in local art circles.

VAN DEN BERG AT ORPHEUM THIS WEEK.

The Orpheum will present the eminent local pianist, Brahm van den Berg, on its programme, opening tomorrow.

Van den Berg has been heard here only in recital, and very infrequently, at that. But on such occasions, his mastership of the piano has been so evident that music lovers have wished that he might have a wider opportunity for expression. Recognized as he is by such masters as Godowsky as a virtuoso, his audiences have seemed too restricted.

Van den Berg has appeared with fine success recently in San Francisco, and his appearance here has been eagerly awaited since it was first announced. His programme comprised classic and semiclassic numbers (including one by Godowsky.) It is announced that any request for a particular number listed will be honored if sent in a day ahead. This will permit those so desiring to secure his interpretation of a certain composition.

Van den Berg is the first of a series of noted musicians that the Orpheum has arranged to present.

STUDYING DANCING ART.

Several of the advanced students of Norma Gould are broadening their work this summer by study and travel. Ruth Wilton, premier in Miss Gould's ballet "The Golden Bough," and Bertha Wardell, graduate of the school and former assistant physical director at Polytechnic High School of this city, are following the summer course at Berkeley. Madelon Quinn is touring the country at the head of her own little company, "In a Bandbox." Gertrude Cope will leave next month for New York, where she will not only pursue the art of dancing under some of the new masters, but will take up the drama, stagecraft, music and languages. All of the young women will later join Miss Gould's unique mountain school.

CHRISTIE COMEDIANS TO STAGE JAZZ RACE.

Using automobiles of the vintage of 1894, the Christie players will stage a thrilling, death-defying race as the comedy feature of the automobile racing programme which will be given July 20 at Ascot Park for the benefit of the Actors' Fund of America.

William Beaudine, Christie director, will pilot the Shimmay Lizard, which was running well shortly after it was built by the Columbus Buggy Company, and named after the discoverer of America—not so long after either. According to Mr. Beaudine, the Shimmay Lizard is alleged to have made one remarkable trip at the rate of sixty miles in six hours without a stop.

The other challenging entry is Bobby Vernon's four-wheeled Cootie, which has an engine, wheels and a steering rod just like an ordinary automobile and should run under its own power, at least once around the track. Bobby Vernon says both cars have one big advantage—they can't go out of the race with tire trouble because they haven't any tires.

Vernon and Beaudine have issued an open challenge to the owners of antediluvian models and it is expected that several prehistoric relics will be dug up to enter the race.

BUT NOT HER BILL.

Bill Sprague kept a general store at Croyden Four Corners. One day Bill set off for York to buy some goods. The goods were shipped at once. While Bill lingered in York the goods reached Croyden Four Corners. An enormous packing case was hauled to the store by the local teamster.

Mrs. Sprague went out to see what had come, and with a shriek tottered and nearly fell.

"Oh, what's the matter, ma'am?" cried the hired girl.

Mrs. Sprague, her eyes blinded by tears, pointed to the packing case, whereon was stenciled in huge black letters: "Bill Inside."

NGLISH LANGUAGE AS SHE IS SPOKE.

nglish as she is spoke is going is a weird and wonderful thing en our 2,000,000 O. D. linguists d up on their native shores to ulge in a vociferous spree of lish foreign. Our grand old gue of the U. S. A., inherited in al parity from George Ade and ing Lardner, went down under the barrage of language tossed at m from a passing fishing smack or ed boat almost before the shores France ever came in view. Cor- ed is no name for what happened to our ancient speech. It is blasted beyond all hopes.

For not even the most patriotic Yank could now bring himself to say "helluva lot" when what he really means is "beaucoup." Not the most steadfast adherent to American institutions can deny the inferiority of "P.D.Q." to "toot sweet." Not a single expert lexicographer but admits that "promenade" means something that no single word in our ancient speech can ever signify. And when mademoiselle who has been to aller chercher vin rouge reports that it's "fini," she says a mouthful that defies reproduction.

When we get home it is clearly our duty to help educate the folks, who have been unable to join the army and see the world. They may have been studying French, but their French isn't our French.

And, clearly, we can stand for a lot of education ourselves. We have much to learn from our brethren who have picked up the spaghetti-far-niente dialect from Italy, or who speak the toreador patois of the Spanish border leave area district, or the vodka jargon of Vladivostok, or the kamerad vernacular of the Rhineland.

Pretty soon the make-up of the American language will be as mysterious as that of army slum, than which nothing is mysteriouser.—[Stars and Stripes.

D. Bernard Gally,
Actor and playwright, who is coming West to star in photoplay and later in his own stage drama, "The Victims."

GIFTED ACTOR TO STAR HERE SOON.

Preparations are being made for the filming of a seven-reel photoplay, "The Wedge," starring D. Brainard Gally, a young actor who has had success in Shakespearean roles, and who toured the country with Mansfield in "A Parisian Romance" during his boyhood days. Coincidentally, rehearsals are being conducted at T.M.A. Hall for Mr. Gally's own play, "The Victims," which is to be produced here in the fall at the Mason. Annette de Foe, the young actress whom Will Wyatt plans to bring before the public as a leading woman, is to appear opposite Mr. Gally in his drama.

"The Wedge," which was written by A. Zeliff, who for some time was connected with the Universal, is said to be a remarkably forceful drama, built around a strong theme. One of the difficulties with which the management had to cope was finding an actor who could look young enough for the part and combine with that the ability for a great portrayal. Finally Mr. Gally was suggested, and they were able to secure his services for the film. Gally has not only been successful as an actor, but also has given his time to writing and painting.

EGAN SCHOOL WILL GIVE ONE-ACT PLAYS.

The Egan School of Music and Drama will present its final performance of the season, consisting of three novel one-act plays, Friday evening at the Little Theater. The programme by the senior pupils of the day drama class, under the personal direction of Mr. Egan promises to be of more than ordinary interest, since the plays are all new, having been presented recently in New York, and were especially chosen by Mr. Egan for their unique qualities.

"Nineteen Hundred and Ninety-nine," played by Irma Dusenbury, Hazel Goodreau and Charles Guess, is a travesty upon the domestic life of the future, from the pen of William C. de Mille. Costumes as well as the situations are of a decidedly futuristic tendency.

"The Florist Shop," one of the noted Harvard plays, is a comedy drama of modern life, with Curtyne Englar, Ruth Webb, Burling Stump, Charles Lang and Harry Robinson making up the cast.

"The Angel Intrudes," a clever satire upon the character of the average girl of today, is played by Lorraine Small, M. F. Molina, William West and Josef Johnson.

SMILE FOR SUCCESS, SAYS MISS CLARK.

Marguerite Clark, starring this week in "Come Out of the Kitchen" at Grauman's Theater, has gone on record with a big boost for smiles, and tells why smiles should and must be included in the stock in trade of any and every successful actress. So here goes for Marguerite's success formula and philosophy:

"It seems to me that most of us, in this age of marvelous scientific achievements and discoveries, do not often enough bring ourselves to believe in miracles or 'magic.' Childish foolishness, say we, loftily. But to me, life itself is crowded with wonderful things—the springtime, flowers, a beautiful sunset, and perhaps, most of all, a smile.

"Truly, I have seen what might actually be called miracles accomplished through the medium of a tiny smile. It is a pet theory of mine that a smile has magic qualities like the fairy's wand to bring happiness, beauty, yes, and even riches . . . for many an actress has smiled her way to fame.

"In daily life a smile paves one's way with kindness and you will find the successful people are the ones who have been able to 'smile, smile, smile' . . . with all their troubles in 'the old kit bag.' Nowhere is this truer than at the studio, where the daily grind becomes most unbearable at times, amid confusion, the unavoidable delay and frequent annoyances.

"Smiling is as natural to an actress as breathing. From her earliest training she learns the value of a happy face in winning the sympathies of her audiences, and an actress who is given a part wherein she is obliged to play a disagreeable part has all the sympathy of her fellow players, for hers is the hardest role."

Miss Clark and her husband, Lieut. H. Palmerson Williams, left yesterday for Catalina Island, where they will remain until next Monday. The Famous Players-Lasky star will have her first real experience as a deep-sea "fisherwoman," and has definitely promised friends that she will catch at least one swordfish and a half dozen tuna.

Association of Ideas.

The most momentous associations sometimes attach themselves to the most trifling things. Thus, at a dinner the hostess said to a sour-faced man on her left: "May I help you to some of the boiled rice, Mr. Smith?"

"Rice? No, thank you; no rice for me," Smith answered vehemently. "It is associated with one of the greatest mistakes of my life."—[Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Joy of My Baby's Health

THAT baby of mine radiates health and happiness like a little roll of sunshine! I never knew how easy it was to take care of a perfectly well baby. Why, he takes care of himself! He just lies in his crib all day and smiles dreamily at the world, and grows like a flower, and gets sturdier, it seems to me, every minute.

It's all because of his food. We used to have so much trouble with milk, when I found I couldn't nurse him!

And then my mother told me that I had been brought up on Nestlé's Milk Food when I was little—so we tried it.

It is really just pure milk, you know, only changed into powder so the tough curds are broken up and it is easier to digest. And it is more nourishing, too, because they add just the right amount of sugar and cereal. All I do is add pure water and boil a minute—and my baby is safe and well.

I know that if your baby has trouble with his food, the Nestlé Company will be glad to help you. They will send you free, as they sent me, a big Mother's Book on how to take care of your baby, and enough Nestlé's Food for twelve feedings. All you have to do is to fill out and send the coupon. Then you can be, with me, the happiest woman in the world—because your baby is well.

Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of milk. Always pure and safe, always uniform, and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of three generations and has today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

FREE! Enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings. Send the coupon.

NESTLÉ'S MILK FOOD

Stomach is Quick to Upset When School Children Are Idle

VACATION days are days of over-eating and under-exercising for most boys and girls. They loll around nibbling at light food, unconcerned whether the fruit is green or ripe.

The result is cramps, skin eruptions, pimples, "summer colds," constipation and diarrhea. The basis of such trouble is an upset stomach, and nothing will give safer and quicker relief than the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is just a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, a formula evolved some 30 years ago by Dr. Caldwell himself. Syrup Pepsin is now used by millions of people and is today the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world.

It is the mildest and gentlest of laxatives. It regulates the stomach and bowels so well that they can soon work normally again without the aid of medicine. And unlike the harsher physics and cathartics, Syrup Pepsin does not gripe or cause discomfort, even to a tiny baby.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter the family size. A free trial bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

THE LIQUOR PROBLEM IN JAPAN.

California's Anti-Saloon League Chieftain Describes Drunkenness and Debauchery in Land of Free Rum.

BY D. M. GANDIER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TOKIO, June 6.—A little over four years ago the writer spent six or seven weeks in Japan, with eyes and ears open to learn what he could of the drink habit and the liquor traffic in the large cities of the empire. During that time only one drunken man was seen on the streets, and the presence of liquor was not specially noticeable in dining cars or other public places. There were signs of a very active propaganda being undertaken by the brewers, and those familiar with the social life of the Japanese said that drinking was on the increase.

The evidence of that increase is now everywhere visible. Not only sake, the native Japanese liquor, but beer, wine, whisky and other foreign liquors are sold at innumerable places. The number of bottles of foreign liquor carried by passengers on trains, especially on third-class trains, is amazing.

SALE UNRESTRICTED.

No one knows how many liquor shops there are in Japan, as no license is required and no record is kept. Foreign liquors pay duty at the port of entry. Domestic liquors pay a revenue tax at the factory. But once these taxes are paid there are no restrictions upon the sale or service of liquors. They may be sold by any person who can sell other things at any time to any person. It is unlawful to sell tobacco to minors in Japan, but liquors may be sold to any one.

Sake shops, which handle all kinds of liquor, are more numerous than any other places of business. And they have learned some of the western tricks for getting business. For instance, the sake dealers have a monopoly of the salt trade in Japan, and of a certain sauce which is as necessary to Japanese as salt is. No one can buy either of these every-day necessities without patronizing a liquor shop. The only telephones easy of access for the public on many streets are in liquor stores.

BREWERS' PROPAGANDA.

Beer advertisements are omnipresent. Some of them are in both English and Japanese; more of them are in Japanese only. In the street cars of Osaka I saw this advertisement in English only:

"'NO BEER NO WORK.'
'Tis an opinion in America.
DRINK KIRIN BEER.
The Best Beer, and Work Best."

Beer advertisements are in all the papers, and some day the effect of this will be seen in the editorial and news columns.

The brewers have not only invested in beer making and selling, but also in a multitude of other enterprises, so that they are closely linked up with banks and other big business. This probably means that in Japan as in America chambers of commerce and similar organizations will be the last to desert the liquor traffic.

INCREASE OF DRUNKENNESS.

Drunken men are a common sight on the streets now and an occasional drunken woman is seen. At the annual conference of the Federated Missions of Japan in 1918 it was stated that the increase in drinking during the previous two years had been four times as great as during twelve preceding years.

A missionary who has been thirty years in Japan stated in the writer's presence that he had seen more men drunk in public during the past two years than he had seen in twenty years before.

A Y.M.C.A. secretary told of the celebration of the armistice last year in Kobe. It took the form of a public dinner attended by several thousand guests. Dinner was served in a large tent in a park. The Governor of the province and the Mayor of the city were present. Champagne, beer and sake were served. The officials took about fifteen minutes for speeches, which were made to the accompaniment of popping corks. But the big entertainment of the occasion was liquor and geisha girls. As this secretary said: "All were not drunk, but so many were drunk it seemed as if all were." It was literally and truly a drunken debauch in a public place, something which was unknown in Japan a few years ago.

Reliable and conservative witnesses report that during the cherry-blossom celebration this spring the parks in Kyoto were infested with maudlin drunks.

STRONGLY INTRENCHED.

It is too late to keep the western liquor traffic and drink customs from getting a foothold in Japan. They already have a foothold, and with the native drink, sake, are rapidly debauching the Japanese people.

It is my judgment that the liquor traffic is today as strongly intrenched financially, socially and politically in Japan as it was in the United States twenty-five years ago.

The problem, therefore, is not how to keep it out, but how to get it out.

EDUCATION NEEDED.

For this a campaign of education among the upper classes is a first necessity. They must learn the facts so they will see what a national menace the drink traffic is. There is a body of progressive leaders in Japan who are ambitious for their country. They are determined that Japan shall take and keep a place among the great nations of the world. They are eager to enlarge the stature and increase the military and industrial efficiency of their people. If they are convinced that the drink habit is injuring public health and reducing the efficiency of the Japanese as a people, the drink traffic will quickly go from Japan.

ENGLAND'S EXAMPLE.

The big stumbling block at present is England. The Japanese have a great respect for Britain's naval and industrial efficiency. They know also that English workingmen drink freely. What they do not realize is that Britain has succeeded in spite of drink, because all of her important competitors were under the same handicap.

The facts learned by scientific investigation and practical experience in many parts of the world, which show so clearly that steady drinking robs children of their right to be well-born and of proper nourishment and wholesome environment in their early years, increases disease, multiplies accidents, shortens life, decreases efficiency and works unmeasured waste of both material and human resources, must be brought clearly before the governing classes in Japan. While doing this prohibition must be made a success in the United States and Canada.

FIVE OR FIFTY YEARS.

If these two things are done, as they can be in the next five years, Japan may do in that time what it took fifty years in America. If they are not done the results of mission work done by the churches in Japan during the past fifty years may be obliterated and there will be serious danger of the Japanese becoming a grossly materialistic people without moral vision or spiritual appreciation. If Japan does not soon destroy the drink traffic, the drink traffic will destroy Japan.

INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS.

The social and industrial problems now facing Japan are enough to make a giant quail. Never before did a nation jump in fifty years from a feudal system hoary with age into all the complex problems of a great industrial nation. Japan has done this and the war has speeded up the process, so that today there are many "narikin"—new-rich—drawing big dividends from corporations which have no souls.

Men and women work from twelve to sixteen hours a day, seven days a week, for small wages, and live in conditions which to the western mind are beyond imagination. Add to this the fact that there is no personal relationship between employer and employees, as there was under the old feudal system, and that nearly all the working class in Japan can now read, and you will see that all the elements necessary for a great explosion are rapidly being assembled. Perhaps liquor will keep the workers sodden and without ambition so that there will be no explosion. But I do not think it will. The ability to read is going to let in enough light to create discontent. It is already showing. With judgment clouded by alcohol this discontent will some day burst forth in anarchistic forms and Japan will be torn with Bolshevism or something worse.

Either this will come or drink will so deaden the people that they will not have ambition enough to struggle, and Japan will lose her place in the sun.

LIFE AND DEATH.

In one of these ways drink will destroy Japan, unless Japan destroys drink. To get this fact clearly before the ruling classes is the problem and the duty of the hour. Five years from now may be too late.

With drink out of the way Japan may be able to do by volition what will otherwise be done by revolution. Present industrial conditions ought not to and cannot remain unchanged. Hours of labor are going to be shortened, wages increased and housing conditions improved. To bring this about without prohibitive increase in the cost of production the best machinery must be used and the efficiency of labor greatly increased. With sober workmen this can be done. With alcohol soaked laborers it is doubtful it if can be done. If it is not done, and that right early, a revolution which will cost more in blood and property than any one can estimate, looms up in the future as a certainty.

If ever a country needed clear brains and sound bodies and a will to control both, that country is Japan. Banishing alcohol will help to produce these fundamental necessities. If the facts about alcohol developed by science and by modern industrial and military experience are clearly presented to the ruling classes in Japan, alcohol will go.

"But how shall they learn without a teacher and how shall they teach except they be sent?" This is America's privilege and duty.

RELATES GERMAN PLOTS IN ARMENIA.

BISHOP TELLS HOW BLOODY MASSACRES IN FAR EAST WERE INSTIGATED.

Secrets of German relations with Turkey were revealed by Rt. Rev. V. V. Kasparian of Fresno in an interview yesterday. Rev. Kasparian is visiting his friend, Rev. Father Adom Melikian of the Armenian church in this city. The two priests met nearly twenty-five years ago at the Armenian mastery of Jerusalem while attending college, and Father Kasparian was then the patriach's interpreter.

"We Armenians at Jerusalem," he began, in Armenian, "had reasons of our own to believe that as far back as in 1899 there existed an alliance between the Kaiser and the Sultan for even at that time some Turks used to boast of the 'day. We did try to let the civilized world know of this, but we were not heard. When the Kaiser paid his visit to the Sultan, he proceeded to Damascus, and there he proclaimed himself a true 'believer of the prophet. A few days later he made his 'triumphal entry into the holy city of Jerusalem and appeared at the German church as a German clergyman and delivered a sermon.

"It is evident that the Kaiser was planning his conquest of the world when he paid his famous visit to the Sultan, especially so at this time because England and France were very strong in Palestine and Syria. He saw the prosperity and position of the Armenians in the Near East; he saw that all mercantile trade, the banking, education and, in fact, everything that was modern in Turkey, was in the Armenians' hands. He saw in them Germany's only possible rivals in the east, and determined to get rid of them, hence the now well-known massacres of 1915."

When he finished speak the father's face was not smiling as it was at the beginning of the conversation. A few moment's silence followed, then he was asked if he knew Aurora Mardiganian, and what he thought of the film, "Auction of Souls."

"Yes," he replied, "I met the girl while she was visiting her uncle at Fresno. I was very much impressed by the meeting, because in 1913 I was appointed by the patriarch of Constantinople to go to Aurora's native city, but at the same time I received a letter from the Armenian colony of Fresno asking me to take charge of their church.

"The film very ably shows the sufferings of Armenia, and it certainly is a credit to the man who made it, and it is a great help to the Armenian cause—but we must remember that many Armenians were not massacred like cattle without showing some resistance. The film ought to include some incidents of the Armenian volunteers, who gave a good account of themselves. The world still remembers the heroic defense of Van, where the Armenians were outnumbered by the enemy and were very short of ammunition, but they fought like tigers. It also ought to include some of the civilization brought to Turkey by the Armenians."

Rev. Kasparian will leave for Fresno in a few days, where he is editor and publisher of a religious periodical.

France Quits Using Bread Tickets.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, June 14.—Use of bread tickets have been discontinued in France, and food cards are now only needed for sugar. The Minister of Food states that the cost of printing and distributing the various cards during the war was nearly $4,000,000.

FASHIONS AND FADS.

White gloves return to favor.

Strings of "seed" beads are worn.

Belted tailored suits are in demand.

Long silk gloves are tucked and piped.

The new lace mittens match one's frock.

Citron colored taffeta is novel for frocks.

Huge Windsor ties are made of rich silks.

Large ivory buttons are very ornamental.

Leather-trimmed suits are promised for fall.

In millinery there is a distinctly Victorian note.

Sleeves are very, very wide and show deep tucks.

Navy veiling with honeycomb mesh is in vogue.

A frock of orchid taffeta is trimmed with white point d'esprit and piped with apple green taffeta.

String belts are seen on accordion-pleated negligees.

The "below-the-waist puff" is favored by fashion.

Hems have a fancy for being embroidery outlined.

Linen and soutache-braided net are often combined.

The oval neck is frequently seen in gingham dresses.

New glove colors for fall are very soft and rich.

Heavy crepe de chine and satin are favored for fall.

Black silk braid trims many of the new street suits.

The standing collar is stolen from the military unform.

Gray and tan suits are worn with suede pumps to match.

The afternoon hat should contrast the eye because of its snowflakey character.

Hand embroideries are once more seen on lingerie gowns.

Articles of tortoise shell, such as beads, are very popular.

Maize is one of the favorite colors among tricolette dresses.

Smart turbans are formed of swirling ostrich plumes.

Taffeta and leghorn is a fashionable hat combination.

Organdie waistcoats are the last word for summer frocks.

Extraordinarily wide brims are shown on the airest hats.

The Camargo silhouette shows a close bodice and a full skirt.

The scalloped peplum is one feature of the Louis XVI styles.

Millinery has been much influenced by the directoire styles.

A tailored costume of brick red bure is trimmed with ecru silk.

Frocks of chiffon many times are made with the material double.

Tiny black patent leather belts are worn with thin tissue dresses.

A smart dress of beige and pomegranate red displays a real cravat.

The afternoon hat should contrast in color with the frock.

Dotted swiss is peculiarly cool [illegible]

It is a fashion to place carelessly at one's girdle flowers of colored silk.

Cool little frocks of checked voile have collars almost to the waist line.

A NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

e negro race has reason to be d of Miss Delilah L. Beasley, book, "The Negro Trail Blaz- has recently come from the book is an interesting, com- history of the negro race alifornia from the days of Este- the African guide who ac- ed the first Spanish explorers to the shore of the Pacific, through the dread years when slavery, creeping from the Southern States, sought to establish itself in California; through the pioneer period and the days of mining booms, on up to and including these later years, and the negro boys who followed Old Glory overseas. Particularly interesting are the copies of "free papers" which Miss Beasley has made directly from the originals in possession of descendants of former slaves.

The book is a compilation of records from the California archives in the Bancroft library at the University of California in Berkeley, where the author was a student, and from the diaries, old papers, letters and personal reminiscences of old pioneers of California.

During the eight years in which the indefatigable author was securing the data for "The Negro Trail Blazers" she visited the home of every negro in California, from the beautiful residences in the cities to the lowliest shack in the far places.

To help her race; to open doors into the arts and sciences for the negro boys and girls, has been the impelling force in the life of Delilah L. Beasley, and this book, which shows how far into the world beautiful many of the negro race have progressed, is the culmination of years of heart-breaking effort.

The book is issued by the Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House.

PLANE OFFENDS HAWK.

Bird's Jealousy Shown When Aviator Performed Stunts.

Are birds of the air jealous of airplanes, a question mooted among naturalists, has been answered in the affirmative to hundreds of Catasaquans who witnessed the antics of a monster hawk that attempted to outdo the stunts of an aviator at Catasauqua, Pa.

The human flier had circled over the town nearly fifteen minutes, when suddenly a pair of hawks appeared at a great height close to the aviator and apparently, according to their position, intently watched the latter's evolutions. Then one of the birds made a dive toward the earth and in the sight of a great crowd of people who were viewing the flier's maneuvers executed a series that soon turned the attention of the spectators from the aviator to the hawk, which did the spiral glide, the loop the loop, the dip of death and many other feats.

The hawk kept up its performance as long as the aviator was in sight, and when the latter flew away the bird rejoined its mate and disappeared amid the applause of the crowd.—[New York Evening Sun.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-Datest:

Bathing caps in lovely colorings, and of thinnest rubberized silk, for the all-over at beaches where there are unbreakable rules as to all-overing to the naked eye.

Frocks of dark-tinted voiles, Georgettes, organdies, for general wear, when you are Hooverizing the family wash.

To retain your suit jacket when asked to remove it—for proper vestee reasons which will not base investigation!

Softly shaded lamps or candles are the only permissible light in homes these summery evenings. Douse the bright electric glims, illumine with the cool white tapers or the colorfully hidden bulbs.

Now is the time to buy:

Lamps of every description, for softly summer-lighting the home. A sale this week makes available many styles in standards, together with shade beautiful and effective, at prices turned surprisingly low.

Sports skirts of the truly better class — Georgettes, silk poplins, crepes, silks, paulettes and even tricotines and tricolettes—a few—at the cost of most ordinary garments. And the country club season but well under way in out-of-doors California!

Something from every department, in that sale at a high-class house—where editorially speaking—a sale is a truly sale of more than ordinary values at less than ordinary cost.

Pearl One!

Of course, you spell it "purl," when you speak of knitting, but this is not knitting, but purchasing pearls. I refer to the well-known but newly impressed fact that there is really nothing quite like pearls for the bride; even though she be a July bride.

And also, there is nothing like pearls for the summer girl. Possibly hers may be but say-so pearls, but they go well with her filmy frocks and then, too, they prove that her neck is so girlish, and even if a bit freckled or tanned, those necklaces but serve to call attention to the youthful lines beneath her girlishly dimpled chin.

Our Stores.

"Do the stores look small to you, after New York?" asked Adeline, when I met her on Broadway, the day after my return.

"Not at all! They look better than ever before," was my truthful reply. "Our stores are quite up to the standard of any—not perhaps as large as some, but they hold up in quality, compare favorably in good taste, and are equipped as well as any, while the attendants give an atmosphere far superior to that in any of the eastern emporiums."

"But, truly, now—are they as up-to-date in merchandise?"

"Indeed they are! I think I may safely and conservatively declare that the goods brought here—or sent—is shown simultaneously with that exhibited in any of the eastern cities. There are slight differences in selection, as would be natural, and this makes it more interesting, as does the choice of individuals in dress create distinction. Even in this choice, I think the facts are in our favor. For example, we are able to wear lighter colors in dresses and in suits than can be worn in New York or Chicago; and in shoes the same is true. This makes for daintiness in women's attire. In millinery, we are inclined to more distinctly mark the change from spring to summer, choosing flower-trimmed hats with impunity, whereas in New York such trimming would be likely to receive a ducking the first day, and would be soot-begrimed after a few hours on the streets. Our merchants have not been slow to recognize the possibilities of our climate and bring to us merchandise appropriate to our use."

A Linen Economy.

Anne is certainly the best of housekeepers! Her ways are so original and at the same time so frugal. Finding two worn places and a tear in one of the good tablecloths, she basted and then carefully appliqued over the spots, two round and one oblong doylies, thus giving the effect of premediated ornamentation! At the same time, the tablecloth will live a prolonged as well as a glorified life. Ingenious, don't you think?

Girls' Book of Beauty.

I am so proud of the accomplishments of girls. I mean practical achievements, rather than frills. Take, for example, the book of home beauty—a magazine put forth by that big furniture store. It is made by girls—the writing done by girls, the pictures sketched by them, the editorial supervision by girls; and—have you seen the latest issue? Clever doesn't half describe it! There's a little story about ranges and refrigerators which is as true as it is good and as ingenious as it is interesting. It begins in the big kitchen at the Mission Inn and ends in everybody's cookery, leading the way along imaginative lanes, in a manner most captivating.

The Sweater Dares.

Imagine a sweater which dares the short sleeve! To be all-over woolly and then to pretend to be cool, by just cutting the whole sleeve question—well, nothing but a sweater would attempt such anomaly. Sweaters always have done dangerous things, however, especially in coloring; but this last move disarms criticism.

Frock Sale.

Right in the height of the season, in the height of the mode, and fractionalized in cost, while at the same time slenderizing, coolering, and beautifying—such are the frock offerings at that popular store for the forthcoming week.

A Close Call.

The question of closing has taken the store world by summer storm; and while several of our stores have kept step with those of the Eastern cities in declaring for all-day Saturday closing during the warm season, it was for ours, of course, to inaugurate a custom. Two of our leading retail dry goods houses have announced that they will close at 1 o'clock on Saturdays during the entire year. There is rejoicing among the hosts of employees, it is needless to say; and also there is an avowed determination to give so much better service that the kindness will reap its deserved reward.

Fashion's League of Nations.

Chemises are very tight fitting.

Street frocks show short sleeves.

Tucked front panels are fashionable.

Sports costumes choose brilliant colors.

Flower-trimmed hats are being revived.

Tortoise-shell buttons are smart on coats.

Rough sports silks appear in parasols.

Smocking is effective on dainty lingerie.

Little children's riding coats are of linen.

Small dotted foulards are favorite materials.

Hats of dotted Swiss are most charming.

Draped veils are promised later in the season.

Pin tucks are much favored for sheer dresses.

Long gloves are again worn in the evening.

Little white taffeta hats are very much in favor.

Filet laces are now being made in this country.

Straight ostrich is the last word in fine millinery.

Looped silk embroidery floss is a favorite trimming.

Colored silk is still very much liked for lingerie.

Dull and bright gold beads are effective together.

A frock of gray organdie is edged with squirrel fur.

Even lavender appears among children's dresses.

Mme. Labarca, the only woman member of the educational commission of three persons sent by Chile to investigate the elementary schools of this country, is head of one of the schools maintained for girls by the Chilean government and is also a member of the Chilean section of the International Committee of Women of the Pan-American Scientific Congress.

Four women were graduated from the farm motors school of the Kansas State Agricultural College this year. For two years the college has offered practical instruction in tractors and farm motor plants. From the beginning women have attended the courses. The number that carry the course on to graduation is expected to increase. According to reports from instructors, the women do good work with farm tractors and farm motors, equal or superior to the men in the classes. There are several hundred women in Kansas who drive tractors on farms.

For the purpose of promoting closer relationship among young women of Canton and encouraging wholesome recreation, the Girls' Club, with 100 charter members, has been formed under the auspices of the National League for Woman's Service. Headquarters already have been opened in the Sawyer House, officers elected and committees appointed. The Girls' Club will be supported by the people of Canton and by the dues of members. Any girl of 16 years or over or a student of the Canton High School is eligible for membership.

and sort of—well, crinkly looking. You know. The corners of her mouth when she smiled, and her eyes when she looked up at you, and her hair, which was brown, but had the miraculous effect, somehow, of being golden.

Jo shook hands with her. Her hand was incredibly small, and soft, so that you were afraid of crushing it, until you discovered she had a firm little grip all her own. It surprised and amused you, that grip, as does a baby's unexpected clutch on your patronizing forefinger. As Jo felt it in his own big clasp, the strangest thing happened to him. Something inside Jo Hertz stopped working for a moment, then lurched sickeningly, then thumped like mad. It was his heart. He stood staring down at her, and she up at him until the other laughed. Then their hands fell apart, lingeringly.

"Are you a school-teacher, Emily?" he said.

"Kindergarten. It's my first year. And don't you call me Emily, please."

"Why not? It's your name. I think it's the prettiest name in the world." Which he hadn't meant to say at all. In fact, he was perfectly aghast to find himself saying it. But he meant it.

At supper, he passed her things, and stared, until everybody laughed again, and Eva said avidly: "Why don't you feed her?"

It wasn't that Emily had an air of helplessness. She just made you feel you wanted her to be helpless, so that you could help her.

Jo took her home, and from that Sunday night he began to strain at the leash. He took his sisters out, dutifully, but he would suggest, with a carelessness that deceived no one: "Don't you want one of your girl friends to come along? That little What's-her-name—Emily, or something. So long's I've got three of you, I might as well have a full squad."

For a long time he didn't know what was the matter with him. He only knew he was miserable, and yet happy. Sometimes his heart seemed to ache with an actual physical ache. He realized that he wanted to do things for Emily. He wanted to buy things for Emily—useless, pretty, and expensive things that he couldn't afford. He wanted to buy everything that Emily needed, and everything that Emily desired. He wanted to marry Emily. That was it. He discovered that one day, with a shock, in the midst of a transaction in the harness business. He stared at the man with whom he was dealing until that startled person grew uncomfortable.

"What's the matter, Hertz?"

"Matter?"

"You look as if you'd seen a ghost or found a gold mine. I don't know which."

"Gold mine," said Jo. And then. "No ghost." For he remembered that high, thin voice and his promise. And the harness business was slithering downhill with dreadful rapidity, as the automobile business began its amazing climb. Jo tried to stop it. But he was not that kind of business man. It never occurred to him to jump out of the down-going vehicle and catch the up-going one. He stayed on, vainly applying brakes that refused to work.

"You know, Emily, I couldn't support two households now. Not the way things are. But if you'll wait. If you'll only wait. The girls might—that is, Babe and Carrie—"

She was a sensible little thing, Emily. "Of course, I'll wait. But we mustn't just sit back and let the years go by. We've got to help."

She went about it as if she were already a little match-making matron. She corralled all the men she had ever known and introduced them to Babe, Carrie, and Eva separately, in pairs and en masse. She arranged parties at which Babe could display the curl. She got up picnics. She stayed home while Jo took the three about. When she was present she tried to look as plain and obscure as possible, so that the sisters should show up to advantage. She schemed, and planned, and contrived, and hoped; and smiled into Jo's despairing eyes.

And three years went by. Three precious years. Carrie still taught school, and hated it. Eva kept house, more and more complainingly as prices advanced and allowance retreated. Stell was still Babe, the family beauty; but even she knew that the time was past for curls. Emily's hair, somehow, lost its glint and began to look just plain brown. Her crinkliness began to iron out.

"Now, look here!" Jo argued desperately, one night. "We could be happy, anyway. There's plenty of room at the house. Lots of people begin that way. Of course, I couldn't give you all I'd like to, at first. But maybe, after a while—" no dreams of salons and brocades and velvet-footed servitors, and satin damask now. Just two rooms, all their own, all alone, and Emily to work for. That was his dream. But it seemed less possible than that other absurd one had been.

You know that Emily was as practical a little thing as she looked fluffy. She knew women.

"No! No. We'd be miserable. I know. Even if they didn't object. And they would, Jo. Wouldn't they?"

His silence was miserable assent. Then. "But you do love me, don't you, Emily?"

"I do, Jo. I love you—and love you and love you. But, Jo, I—can't."

"I know it, dear. I knew it all the time, really. I just thought, maybe—somehow—"

The two sat staring for a moment into space, their hands clasped. Then they both shut their eyes, with a little shudder, as though what they saw was terrible to look upon. Emily's hand, the tiny hand that was so unexpectedly firm, tightened its hold on his, and his crushed the absurd fingers until she winced with pain.

That was the beginning of the end, and they knew it. Emily wasn't the kind of a girl who would be left to pine. There are too many Jo's in the world whose hearts are prone to lurch and then thump at the feel of a soft, fluttering, incredibly small hand in their grip. One year later Emily was married to a young man whose father owned a large, pie-shaped slice of the prosperous State of Michigan.

That being safely accomplished, there was something grimly humorous in the trend taken by affairs in the old house on Calumet. For Eva married. Of all people, Eva! Married well, too, though he was a great deal older than she. She moved to the North Side (trust Eva for that,) and Babe assumed the management of the household on Calumet avenue. It was rather a pinched little household now, for the harness business shrank and shrank.

"Ben says if you had the least bit of ——." Ben was Eva's husband, and quotable, as are all successful men.

"I don't care what Ben says," shouted Jo, goaded into rage. "I'm sick of your everlasting Ben. Go and get a Ben of your own, why don't you, if you're so stuck on the way he does things."

And Babe did. She made a last desperate drive, aided by Eva, and she captured a rather surprised young man in the brokerage way, who had made up his mind not to marry for years.

Babe had as useless a trousseau and as filled with extravagant pink-and-blue and lacy and frilly things as any daughter of doting parents. Jo seemed to find a grim pleasure in providing them. But it left him pinched.

There was nothing domestic about Carrie. She had given up teaching two years before, and had gone into social service work on the West Side.

Jo took to prowling amout department store basements, and household goods sections. He was always sending home a bargain in a ham, or a sack of potatoes, or fifty pounds of sugar, or a window clamp, or a new kind of paring knife. He was forever doing odd little jobs that the janitor should have done. It was the domestic in him claiming its own.

Then, one night, Carrie came home with a dull glow in her leathery cheeks and her eyes alight with resolve. They had what she called a plain talk.

"Listen, Jo. They've offered me the job as first assistant resident worker. And I'm going to take it. Take it! I know fifty girls who'd give their ears for it. I go in next month."

"Away? Away from here, you mean—to live?" Carrie laid down her fork. "Well, really, Jo! After all that explanation."

"But to go over there to live. Why, that neighborhood's full of dirt, and disease, and crime, and the Lord knows what all. I can't let you do that, Carrie."

Carrie's chin came down. She laughed a short little laugh. "Let me! That's eighteenth century talk, Jo. My life's my own to live. I'm going."

And she went.

Jo Hertz was his own master. Free to marry. Free to come and go. And he found he didn't even think of marrying. He didn't even want to come or go, particularly. A rather frumpy old bachelor, with thinning hair and a thickening neck. Much has been written about the unwed, middle-aged woman; her fussiness, her primness, her angularity of mind and body. In the male that same fussiness develops, and a certain primness, too. But he grows flabby where she grows lean.

Every Thursday evening he took dinner at Eva's, and on Sunday noon at Stell's. He tucked his napkin under his chin and openly enjoyed the home-made soup and the well-cooked meats. After dinner he tried to talk business with Eva's husband, or Stell's. His business talks were the old-fashioned kind, beginning:

"Well, now, looka here. Take, f'rinstance, your raw hides and leathers."

But Ben and George didn't want to "take, f'rinstance, your raw hides and leathers," at all. They would always listen, restively, and say, "Uh-huh," at intervals, and at the first chance they would sort of fade out of the room, with a meaning glance at their wives. Eva had two children now. Girls. They treated Uncle Jo with good-natured tolerance. Stell had no children. Uncle Jo degenerated, by almost imperceptible degrees, from the position of honored guest, who is served with white meat, to that of one who is content with a leg and one of those obscure and bony sections which, after much turning with a bewildered and investigating knife and fork, leave one baffled and unsatisfied.

Eva and Stell got together and decided that Jo ought to marry.

"It isn't natural," Eva told him. "I never saw a man who took so little interest in women."

So they had in for dinner certain friends and acquaintances of fitting age. They spoke of them as "splendid girls." Between 36 and 40.

The following Thursday Eva would say: "How did you like her, Jo?"

"Like who?" Jo would spar feebly.

"Miss Matthews."

"Who's she?"

"Now, don't be funny, Jo. You know very well I mean the girl who was here for dinner. The one who talked so well on the emigration question.

"Oh, her! Why, she was all right. Seems to be a smart woman."

"But didn't you like her?"

"I can't say I did, Eva. And I

HOW INDIANS USED TO HUNT.

Separate Sections Set Apart for Families.

Within These Right to Kill Game was Exclusive.

was Taken to Conserve the Animal Life.

[From the Christian Science Monitor.]

Long before the first white man set foot in America, the conservation of certain natural resources was carefully practiced among the Indian tribes of what is now the northeastern part of the United States, as Prof. Frank G. Speck of the University of Pennsylvania was able to show. To the Indian, Prof. [illegible]well says, there was no wilderness. Trackless to the whites, to him all the land was known, and within the limitations set by his knowledge of natural resources all of it was used.

Among the Algonquin tribes each family — in our own sense of the word, a group of relatives—owned a hunting ground of its own, usually from 200 to 400 square miles in area, within which their right to take game was exclusive and supreme. The boundaries of this hunting ground were determined by rivers, lakes, ridges, or other natural features. In some regions, marked by signs blazed on the trees or by cut-out figures in bark representing the animal emblem of the owner.

Often the shape of the family hunting ground was determined by the local distribution of game animals. Thus it might extend from lower lands, where moose were fairly abundant (in virgin forest districts) in a long, narrow strip to the higher regions denuded by forest fires where bears were to be found.

HUNTING GROUNDS PROTECTED.

Each hunting ground was known by its own name, and was handed down by inheritance in the male line from one generation to another. It was protected from trespass, the punishment for which sometimes was the extreme penalty, in certain cases supposed to be inflicted by magic against the trespasser's life or health. Indians passing through the hunting ground of another family usually sought permission, and if by necessity game had been killed, the pelts were delivered or other compensation was made to the owners of the land. It was customary, in some cases, when a particular family had a poor season on its own hunting ground, for it to secure the temporary right to a part of the hunting ground of some neighboring family until conditions improved.

Within each family hunting ground the conservation of the game was looked to with the greatest care. The Indian family knew the approximate number of deer, moose, caribou, otter or beaver on its own hunting ground, and, in the case of some tribes, regulated with strictness the number to be killed each year, so as not to encroach upon the necessary increase. If the season for large game had been bad the family would sometimes restrict itself to a fish diet for months on end rather than endanger the breeding stock.

CONSERVED THE BEAVER.

Beaver, in particular, were most carefully conserved. The number of young and old beaver in each beaver house was known. Before the days of European influence the Indian never destroyed all the members of a beaver family, but took such care of the beaver, as well as of the other food animals on his hunting ground, as the farmer takes of his herds and flocks. Later on, however, the natives realized the hopelessness of conserving their resources where they would have to compete with the hordes of white frontiersmen, so in many regions they undertook to "get all they could before the white man cleaned it up."

The Temagami band of the Ojibways went so far as to divide their districts into quarters. Each year the family hunted in a different quarter in rotation, leaving always the center as a sort of reserve not to be hunted over unless forced to do so by a shortage in the other tracts." Among certain tribes, like the Micmacs, these territories were held together so long as there were sons, grandsons or nephews in the male line to inherit them, and they were sometimes increased by intermarriage or purchase.

The Indians of Kentucky, says Dr. Wissler, "were in the habit of burning off forest areas regularly so as to provide pasturage for the buffalo, thus enticing him to remain in the country." Again, the Indians living in the regions where wild rice grows, were obliged to take certain precautions to protect the rice beds, even to fostering their growth.

The conservation of game in the family hunting ground was the essential fact in the existence of these people, who lived mainly on game, and upon it their lives depended. The use of natural resources by them was relatively small, although the Delaware Indians of Pennsylvania used nearly all of the edible wild plants, and cultivated Indian corn, beans and pumpkins, and even planted considerable orchards.

With his slight knowledge of the world and what it can provide for the needs of man, these Indians, naked savages to our ancestors, and mere savages to far too many present-day Americans, had yet mastered one essential fundamental of a continued prosperity. They knew how to use the natural resources without exhausting them.

TYPHUS IS DECREASING.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

MEXICO CITY, June 12.—The number of typhus cases in the capital was lower during the first five months of 1919 than for many previous years and the Department of Health in a recent statement declares that this marked decrease in sickness is the direct result of its own crusade for personal hygiene.

The capital, with its abnormal population of more than a million, now has no more than 125 new cases of typhus per month, whereas in former years when the city's population was normal, or about 600,000 the number of cases reported per month was between 1600 and

Lamps

A July Event

33⅓ to 50% Savings

—Several months ago the chief of the lamp section, the merchandising manager and writer got their heads together, and said:

—"Let us plan for a great lamp event—a lamp event that will stand out in prominence above lamp events that have previously been announced in the Southwest."

—And so began the preparation that has culminated in this notable offering of lamps which we herewith announce.

—Today, as we prepare the copy, we are asked to peep behind the screens and the artist is asked to make sketches of the lamps—the standards, the shades—just a few of the many offerings.

—And as we look at the lamps with their wonderful standards and shades, and we note the prices, we grow impatient in our desire to tell you the news, that you, too, may share in our enthusiasm and catch the full significance and importance of the announcement.

—Even though we have had many of them sketched and even though we describe a number of them to you; and despite the fact that they are to sell at prices that mean a saving from one-third to one-half over ordinary prices, you must really see them to know why we are giving so much prominence to the event. There are floor lamps, table lamps, boudoir lamps, separate standards, separate shades.

—The Sale begins Monday and continues while quantities last—at the prices, however, we should not have one of these lamps in our possession by Monday night.

The Lamps at $12.95

Complete With Silk Shades—Mahogany Finish Floor Standards

—A limited quantity soft, rich shade of mulberry, gold, blue and rose; style similar to picture; shade 11 inches deep and 22 inches in diameter, trimmed with 3½ inch silk fringe and gold galloon.

—Where have you heard of such a price for such lamps?

The Lamps at $15.95

—have silk dome shades and mahogany-finished standards. Trimmings of blue, old gold, rose, tan and mulberry—(one style pictured.)

The Lamps at $19.95

—have rich silk shades, plain silk, dome top, panel sides, filled Japanese silks, silk gimps to match. The standards are new and graceful. 'Way underpriced.

The Lamps at $29.75

—Tall standard floor lamps, individually modeled shades; priced at a mere fraction of their original figure; standards selected particularly to match the shades.

Table Lamps $13.75

—Standard and shade complete—different styles, paneled and plain, some being pictured; harmonious color combinations. These are away less at $13.75.

Separate Shades 89c, $1.39, $1.69, $1.98

—Sixty of these shades in the 6 and 8 inches sizes; plain and scalloped designs.

—Many different colorings; four different groups at the four prices mentioned; savings are remarkable. Fourth Floor.

Boudoir Lamps $4.45 and $7.95

—With hand-painted parchment shades—two different lots.

—The smaller shades are 5 inches high and 8 inches in diameter; standards are mahogany finished; the larger ones are 12 inches in diameter and 7½ inches high.

—The standards are lacquered bronze and the shades are in colors to match—one of each has been pictured.

Boudoir Lamps at $3.79 and $3.19

—Two different lots, with dressing table standards; ivory and mahogany finished; shades 8 inches in diameter, and in plain colors of blue, rose, tan and mulberry. These $3.79. With the smaller 6-inch shade, the price is $3.19.

Table Standards at $6.95, $3.95, $3.45

—Three different lots of table standards without shades. Two-light standards, 26 inches high, have heavy base and are in mahogany finish. Price $6.95.

—Those 18 inches high, in three different shapes, are priced $3.95.

—Those 14 inches high, in mahogany finish, are priced $3.45.

The People and Their Troubles

6 IMPOSSIBLE WOMEN and 6 IMPOSSIBLE MEN

by JANE DIXON by MARTIN CASEY

VI.—The Spendthrift Man

[Copyright, 1919, by the Evening Telegram. New York Herald Co.]

Spend and the world spends with you.

Go broke and you go alone.

If you chance across one of these lonely men who have gone broke spending, ask him how impossible a fellow the spendthrift really is. But equip your ears with deleters before you listen.

Ask a woman who has squandered her shining hours of sun on a spendthrift.

Ask her after she has sacrificed, after she has given of the best there is in her. Such a woman will never admit there may be six impossible men. To her there is one—one leader of the pack, one bell-cow of the herd, one high-flyer of the flock—the spendthrift.

It takes a wise man to spend money wisely—a man with brains, with balance, with breeding.

A fool cannot make the difference between a five spot with an 0 after it and a five spot without the 0.

There are men with whom spending is no longer a pastime. It is a disease, an appetite, like cocaine or opium or strong liquor.

When spending reaches the habit stage it is quite as difficult to cure as either dope or drink. It has its grab. It sticks closer than a poor relation to the plethoric pocketbook.

Broadway, New York City's street of easy come and easy go, coined an expression. The expression is for the tight wad, the man who has the first nickel he ever earned and holds it against all comers. Broadway calls him a "hard-boiled egg."

The hard-boiled egg is certainly not an admirable type. The best we can do for him is to despise him. His is an aggravated form of selfishness.

As to the spendthrift:—

Which is the more selfish—to have saved more than we should or to have spent more than we could?

Pretty much of a fifty-fifty proposition, is it not? A case of the pot and the kettle.

Not long ago I listened to a discussion, rather intimate, concerning a fellow who has the good fortune to be very much liked. The salary of the fellow is by no means Morganarian. Multiplied, it would never give Rockefeller an uneasy moment. And he belongs to a profession wherein money lasts about as long as a nickel's worth of ice on a July sidewalk.

Said the first man:—

"Joe is a great card. He went over today and hit the chief for a thick slice of the weekly stipend. Had a pressing date with his dentist. The chief came through. What do you reckon Joe did with the money?"

Said the second man:—

"That's easy. He blew into Maillard's and sent the largest living box of candy to some girl in the Bronx."

Said the first man:—

"All wrong. He galloped into Bowe's and sent the largest living bunch of orchids to some girl in Brooklyn."

Said a woman, all woman, who heard the conversation and happened to know the scenes from back stage as well as from the audience side of the picture:—

"Joe is a fool. He is selfish. He needs every cent of that money. His family needs it. He has certain obligations he is bound, as a man, to meet. Those orchids were a sop to his pride and pride is always selfish. If I were the girl in Brooklyn and knew Joe, I would return the orchids and tell him that some time when he succeeded in getting his feet on earth again I would be glad to hear from him."

Said the first man:—

"Oh, Joe's all right. He's temperamental. He's full of the old romance."

Said the woman, all woman:—

"Let him tell that to his tailor."

And here endeth the story.

A boy and girl in a small town had been keeping company for some time. The boy had no money, but he had an uncanny genius for making it, a genius quite out of keeping with the boundaries of the town. One evening, walking home from a dance, under the silver-spangled arches of the maple trees, he asked her to marry him.

"Ethel," he said, "I love you. I want you to be my wife. I've been wanting to ask you for a long time, but I never seem to get enough money together to make the break."

"You mean you never keep enough money together," corrected the girl.

"I reckon that's it," the boy admitted. "Water will stick on a duck's back a whole lot easier than money sticks in my pockets. Maybe if we were married and I had responsibilities, I could do better. I'm sure I could. Will you take a chance?"

"Yes, I will," said the girl. She had been clerking in the town's biggest department store for several years, and anything seemed easier to her than hauling out heavy bolts of goods or boxes of laces and trimmings for fussy women. Besides, she was very fond of the boy.

The next evening they walked quietly to the little brick church and were made man and wife. The boy had ten dollars and a hole in the sit-down part of his trousers. The girl, you see, was considerable gambler.

The boy made money. There were so many things to get and do just at first, housekeeping and all that, he could not keep a stray dollar from one day to the next.

Finally, by hiding it away from himself, he managed to get together a few hundred. One evening he failed to appear for supper.

The girl was frantic. She imagined all sorts of impossible things. After five feverish days of hysterical effort to locate him, he turned up in a city a little way distant. A friend from the home town ran across him in a cafe buying wine for every one in the place. The strange part of it was he did not drink himself. He derived his fun from buying. The friend induced him to return home.

"I couldn't help it, Ethel," was his excuse. "I saved a little money and the blamed stuff burned me. I simply had to go out and spend it."

"I, too, had saved something," said the wife. "It went to the telephone company and the cabmen trying to find you."

Since that day the boy has had more ups and downs than a thermometer in a Turkish bath. He has made three fortunes in the oil fields and scattered them. One season he brings the girl back to visit the folks in a French touring car and the next they trundle in on an Erie local.

"When Mat make the money I rush out and buy everything in sight—enough clothes to last me for a long while, and anything else I can get from him," the wife confided to her best girl chum. "If I do not get it quickly I never get it at all. I've tried my best to put something away for a rainy day, but the worst of it is I have become just as big a spendthrift as my husband. The disease seems to be contagious. I don't dare think what the end of it will be. Of course, I haven't been happy. Who would be, living from hand to mouth, as we do, a smart hotel one week, a cheap lodging house, the next."

"Can't you cure him?" asked the chum, who, being a thrifty soul herself, could not quite grasp the situation.

"Not as long as there is a dime left to drift with," was the answer. "Marrying a spendthrift to reform him is a lot like marrying a drunkard to reform him. If he can't reform in order to marry you, the chances are ten to one against his doing it afterward.

"If I had it to do over again and Mat came to me with that ten-dollar bill and a hole in his trousers, I'd tell him to return when he could show me he meant serious business and a bank balance that belied his spending instincts. In the first stages of young love, he might have been cured. The chance of losing me might have broken the spell. Instead, I put a premium on his foolishness. Now he is a hopeless case. I have become a habit and so has spending. A helpless case."

If a spendthrift comes to you and murmurs the sweetest story ever told, be from the dear old State of Missouri.

He is the sweetheart who, unless properly checked, will develop into the husband who disappears with the pay envelope, leaving it to friend wife to square it with the grocer for another week.

He is the man who goes out, buys a dozen silk shirts and allows his landlady to struggle with the rent collector.

He is the weakling who, when the snows of life's winter begin to swirl and blow, stands shivering on the corner waiting for some charitable soul to come along and give him a lift.

Save reasonably and world is with you. Spend foolishly and write yourself on the list of impossible men.

VI.—The Spendthrift Woman

[Copyright, 1919, by the Evening Telegram. New York Herald Co.]

"RICHES are for spending, and spending for honor and good actions; therefore, extraordinary expense must be limited by the worth of the occasion; for voluntary undoing may be as well for a man's country as for the kingdom of heaven, but ordinary expense ought to be limited by a man's estate and governed with such regard as to be within his compass."

Just let that little thought from the immortal Bacon seep through your skulls, girls—it's something for you who are spendthrifts to ponder over.

You should worry when daddy or hubby doesn't see fit to tighten up on the purse strings. Very well, go to it! That's the way with most of you—while the going is good you're going to go the limit just as long as there's a jitney left in the exchequer. If you're a spendthrift nothing is going to stop you until daddy or hubby goes stone broke and then the rude awakening.

It's back to the pots and pans, then, back to the old humdrum household duties that you came to despise after hubby's bankroll began to fatten, or rustling after a job after poor old dad announced to the family that his affairs had gone to smash, and he was as busted as a Dresden china piece that had toppled from the roof of the Woolworth Building to the sidewalk.

But until calamity hits you straight in the eye, scattering the shekels continues to be your favorite pastime. What care you how hard dad or hubby slaves to garner all the coin in sight, just as long as you get the wherewithal to satisfy your selfish cravings? You should worry.

Indulgent fathers with heaps of money are perhaps to blame for the great army of spendthrifts to be found the length and breadth of the land today. They abound everywhere. You'll stumble over them in the tea rooms in the afternoon, at the matinee, in the Fifth avenue shops and in the department stores, squandering money like deep water sailors of the old school just ashore after a whaling voyage in the South Seas. They'll purchase anything that strikes their fancy, provided their purses will stand it.

It's all very well for Tillie Getrox, who was reared in the lap of luxury. Old Man Getrox made his pile before Tillie made her first tweet in this world, and from her girlhood she knew he had so much money that he could tile the floors of their palatial home with twenty dollar gold pieces and paper the walls with greenbacks and still have enough to pay the taxes.

There was so much mazuma in the Getrox family and the old man was such an indulgent parent in granting Tillie her every wish that she came to look upon the long green as one of the commonest things under the sun. And so, you couldn't blame Tillie, in a way, for becoming a spendthrift. The old man helped a whole lot in getting her that way. Besides, he had so much of it that Tillie's squanderings didn't make any appreciable dent in his bank roll.

But it's Birdie who never knew what luxury was that takes the medal as a champion spendthrift when she lands a live one. Up to the time she made her good catch she was holding down a twelve dollar a week job at the ribbon counter in a department store or banging a typewriter in a downtown law office at the munificent wage of fifteen per. It doesn't matter which. She lived with her folks in a modest flat in Harlem and chipped in her stipend each week to help the family make ends meet. What little she had left was spent for clothes and luncheons and an occasional movie show.

It wasn't until fair-haired Roger came into her life that she got her first taste of a really good time. He held a good job in a brokerage office, earned a fairly large salary and augmented his income by an occasional flyer in the market when tipped on certain stocks.

He was a good spender, and nothing was too good for Birdie. The best seats for the leading Broadway shows, dinners at the bon ton restaurants and expensive gifts he lavished on her—all raised Birdie to the zenith of happiness. Their courtship was an unending round of pleasure, and then that momentous evening when Roger popped the question and they became betrothed.

They selected a fashionable apartment on the upper west side, at a rental which Roger figured was somewhat too steep, but inasmuch as Birdie had set her heart on taking it, she had little or no difficulty in overcoming his mild objection. And figuring that Birdie knew more about homemaking than he did, he turned over the major part of his savings and told her to go ahead and furnish it as she thought best.

Although she knew just how much Roger earned and what he had in bank, she went the limit in everything she purchased for the new home. It was a a wonderfully novel and delightful experience—to be able to spend lavishly—the first opportunity she had ever had in her life.

And on the day they faced the parson and each in turn murmured, "I do," there was such a crimp in Roger's wad that it resembled a piker's bank roll. But that didn't feaze Birdie. Before her wedding day she had started out as a spendthrift, and her insatiable greed for fine things overshadowed any thought she may have entertained about Roger's depleted finances.

Like most spendthrifts, she looked upon her husband as a means for providing the things she wanted. And, like many husbands buckled up to spendthrifts, he was simp enough not to call a halt, even though he saw ominous clouds looming up on the horizon. He knew just how he stood, but, being so wrapped up in Birdie, he determined to be game and go through with it. And he did. Her every whim he satisfied until there wasn't a nickel of his savings left.

And when, several months after her marriage, he was tipped on a certain stock, he found it necessary to borrow money to make the play. He won, and Birdie togged herself out like a Parisian model. There was never any thought in her mind of laying a dollar aside for a rainy day. It was spend, spend, spend, whenever she cajoled the easy-going, good-natured Roger into separating himself from the cash. And when there was none to be had and Birdie had set her heart on acquiring a new hat or gown, it was a case of digging into her house allowance money.

So finally, they found themselves in debt, and when Roger's firm went to the wall and he found himself out of a job and up against it so hard he didn't know what way to turn, poor Birdie found herself the most miserable creature in the land. It was a good time while it lasted, but where there's a limit to the bank roll there comes an end.

You see, girls, in order to be a spendthrift you must have money or credit. If, perchance, you have a bank roll of your own, or earn a fat salary, go ahead and be a spendthrift. That's your affair. But where do you queenies come in to blow the hard-earned coin that hubby forks over?

The trouble is that many of you simply regard him as a shekel-getter, whose duty is to hand over the coin and let you do with it as you please, and no questions asked. It's a case of what's yours, is mine, and what's mine is my own. Easy come, easy go.

Perhaps most husbands are to blame for their wives being spendthrifts. Some of them have so much money that they don't care a hang what their better halves do with it, but it's the fellow with a stated income who is out of luck when his spouse takes it into her head that she wants everything in sight. Some of 'em, if presented with the universe, would want the sun, the moon and the stars. They're never satisfied, and if the average spendthrift could have every wish gratified she'd have to hire a couple of warehouses in which to store all the stuff she would like to buy.

There is hardly a woman in the land who isn't more or less of a spendthrift. It's a characteristic of your sex. For how often have you meandered through a department store and come across something that you had no need for and yet purchased because it was at a bargain price? You'd probably be ashamed to 'fess up. But you've done it, nevertheless, and you'll continue to do it while woman remains woman. That's improvidence for you, and no getting away from it.

Spendthrifts impossible? Absolutely, particularly those who squander their husbands' money when it should be going into the bank, or be used for home necessities. And many a man has come to financial ruin, many a home has been broken up, because of a SPENDTHRIFT WIFE.

IT'S NOT THE WAY.

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

How to Manage a Wife.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A young man who is about to be married has asked me if I can give him a few pointers about how to manage a wife.

Surely, son.

In the first place, remember that no man should be permitted to get married until he can prove that he has kissed the Blarney stone. Flattering a woman before marriage is a matter of taste and discretion. Flattering her after you marry her is a matter of self-preservation.

Always remember that women do not care one rap for deeds. Words are the only thing that count with them. A man may slave himself to death trying to make life easy and luxurious for his wife. But if he tells her that she is getting fat, or is too old to wear a sport hat, or praises another woman's taste, she will doubt his love, and consider herself a martyr to matrimony.

On the contrary, if he assures her every day that she is getting younger, and more beautiful, and that no other woman compares with her, he may starve her and neglect her, and mistreat her, and she will still consider herself the luckiest of her sex.

In the second place, son, never forget that you can lead a woman anywhere, but you cannot drive her an inch. If you wish to be master of your own house acquire the reins by subtlety and not by force. Don't try the bluff of the domestic tyrant. Women called that long ago. Wives will not take orders, but they will accept suggestions, and if you want your wife to eat out of your hand make her believe that she thought first of doing the thing that you want done.

In the third place, son, remember that, while a man frequently recognizes his faults and reforms them, a woman never does. She may be beguiled into doing better, but she never admits that she did wrong.

Criticising a wife's faults is like casting a boomerang that comes back and annihilates the one who threw it. Matrimony is no place for candor for a man. It is an opportunity for tact to do its great and perfect work.

To tell your wife that her new gown is a nightmare, and her hat a millinery horror, means that you will have to buy her new ones. To accuse her of being high-tempered will precipitate the storm that you dread, but if you will tell her that she is of the style that looks best in simple clothes, or praise some particular dress, she will wear it until there isn't a thread left of it, and if you dwell upon her marvelous self-control she will bite her tongue off rather than say the sharp words that rise to her lips.

In the fourth place, son, never forget that women always try to live up to their blue china. Therefore, praise your wife for the virtue you wish her to have and she will acquire it.

If you desire her to be economical, do not knock her because of her extravagance. No woman economizes because her husband grumbles over the bills. Instead, she revenges herself for grudgingly-given matinee money by going downtown and buying a Paris frock.

But if you proclaim from the housetops that she is a second Hetty Green, and that you do not know what you should do if heaven had not blessed you with a wife who was such a marvelous financier, she will pinch every nickel until the buffalo squeals with agony, and a canary bird will starve to death if given the run of your garbage can.

Likewise, if you desire to feast sumptuously every day, never criticise your wife's cooking. Instead, boast that she is a chef who is worth her weight in gold, and she will make a burnt offering of herself over the kitchen stove, trying to sustain her reputation.

In the fifth place, son, give your wife a square deal. In money and liberty. It is the idea that their husbands are not playing a fair game with them that gets on women's nerves and makes them peevish and unreasonable. Tell your wife the exact size of your income. Let her see that you are not holding out on her, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred she will be perfectly satisfied with what you can give her, no matter how little. Make her feel that she is your real business partner and that what she does helps, and she will cheerfully work her fingers to the bone for you.

In the sixth place, son, show your wife some appreciation. Jolly her along. Never forget that you are her audience, to which she is playing, and that if she gets the glad hand from you it makes things worth while, and if she doesn't she asks herself, what's the use.

There isn't much that's exciting in cooking, washing, sewing and baby tending, and if all of the reward that a woman gets for her life labor is a knock when things go wrong and dead silence from hubby when they go right, it isn't much wonder that she gets disgruntled and feels like throwing up the job.

Remember, that a wife is the only laborer on earth who works for her board and clothes, and is yet expected to congratulate herself on having gotten a good thing, and to be thankful for the privilege of being a slave.

So, as you are strong, be merciful. Give her a tip now and then. Take her to a play. If you can't buy her fine clothes, and jewels, and automobiles, walk her by a show window and pick out the glad raiment you would adorn her in if you could. Women are simple creatures and the knowledge that their husbands would like to see them

WOMEN'S WORK AND WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY LADY JANE.

Philanthropy and Civics Club.

The dinner-dance, planned by the Philanthrophy and Civics Club, to be given at the Elks' Clubhouse, Tuesday evening, promises to be the most popular affair of the season. Members of the Hospitality Committee are: Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McGarry, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Valrance, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Rose, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hook, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fagan, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Strohm, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Muccia, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott M. House, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ramp, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Feder, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Pyle, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Saake, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grayson, Mr. and Mrs. B. Y. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sherrard, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mace, and Messrs. Calvin Wood, Ernest J. Jaeger, Roland Schoettler, Thomas Abbott, Jess Wood and Raymond Harris.

At the regular meeting, Tuesday, Mrs. John Burton and Miss Paula Dunnigan will be the speakers of the day. Mrs. Burton will speak on "Reconstruction Days in the South," and Miss Dunnigan will talk about "Reconstruction Work in 1919."

University Book Club.

The University Book Club finished the year with a picnic, followed by a programme of dances by the pupils of Mrs. Sara Rea, storytelling by Mrs. Dessa Fultz and a selection of songs by Mrs. John Timmons. There was a meeting of the executive boards, both of the past and the coming year, at the home of the new president, Mrs. P. H. Brady, 1426 West Twenty-seventh street, Tuesday.

Entre Nous Club.

The first summer luncheon of the Boyle Heights Entre Nous Club will be at the home of Mrs. Kate Barnard, 2525 East Third street, at noon Wednesday. There will be a short programme and a social afternoon. Plans for the coming year's work will be discussed.

Women's Medical Fraternity.

Kappa Chapter, Alpha Epsilon Iota, the woman's medical fraternity, finished its year's work with a banquet, July 2. It was the largest meeting of the year, since many of the members have returned to Los Angeles after doing war work for the past two years.

Dr. Louise Richter, who has been lecturing for the government for the past year, told of the unusual phases of her work. Dr. Eleanor Seymour spoke in the interest of the League for the Conservation of Public Health. Dr. Nannie C. Dunsmoor, treasurer of the organization, gave a talk on "This Year's Work" Dr. Laura Bennett read a paper, in which each member's idosyncracies and hobbies were properly discussed. This was followed by a lengthy report of the recent national meeting, by Dr. Augusta Zuber, who was the official delegate from Kappa Chapter.

Woman's City Club.

Monday the programme at the Woman's City Club will be a discussion of the referendum on the community property law. The speakers will be Dr. Jessie A. Russell of the Women's Legislative Council, and E. M. Leas of the Title Insurance and Trust Company. Luncheon at 11:45 a.m. will be at the headquarters of the Men's City Club. Non-members will be admitted to the meeting, which will be held at 1 p.m. in Hamburger's Auditorium.

Business Women's Civic Club.

Miss Irene Evans, retiring president of the Business Woman's Civic Club, was presented with a handsome gavel, suitably engraved and carrying with it a wealth of good wishes and the appreciation of the members for her three-years' devotion to their interests, last week. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. May Reynolds Fitch, a charter member. Miss Evans will be succeeded by Miss June Belham. Next Monday night S. C. Graham will address the club on "Capital and Labor" at 8 o'clock in the lecture hall of the Public Library.

Woman's Progressive Club.

The women of Inglewood Acres have recently organized a progressive club, under the direction of Dr. I. C. Barkman, who has offered her home as a meeting place for the first two meetings. The election of officers was held last week and the following were elected: president, Mrs. Alice Proctor; first vice-president, Mrs. Lottie Schorer; recording secretary, Mrs. Gretchen Brunner; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marie Guthrie; treasurer, Mrs. John Brown. Dr. Barkman spoke of club work in general terms. Mrs. John Brown will have the next meeting, and those following, until the completion of the clubhouse. The club is planning an auxiliary for young people, with a view to education and advancement. The members of the auxiliary are: Dr. I. C. Barkman, Mrs. Alice Proctor, Mrs. Lottie Schorer, Mrs. Gretchen Brunner, Mrs. Marie Guthrie, Mrs. John Brown, Winnie Alexander, Mrs. Albert Wallace, Mrs. Mary Galligher Mrs. Sophia Malfet, Mrs. Josephine Ingraham, Mrs. Dora Warner, Mrs. Bertha Hazelton, Mrs. Emma Berkeley and Mrs. Eva Mannix.

Neighborly Club.

The Neighborly Club, which was founded by the First Emerson New Thought Church, has opened a Cottage at 629 College street, where work will be done for those in need. This club has for three years been occupied in making garments for babies, coming in touch with the mothers chiefly through the schools. Every afternoon at the above address the club members will welcome anyone needing their help.

Community Center.

Mrs. Mary Gray is director of the School of the Open Gate, in the hills above Beachwood Drive, which she is financing. She is also head of the Community Center, which had its formal opening last Thursday evening at 1717 Garfield place. Dr. Finch Strong lectured on "The Keynote of the New Age;" Rev. Robert K. Walton spoke on "Reconstruction," and Mrs. Mary Gray on "Education." The meetings are under the asupices of Krotona Institute.

Y. W. C. A. Swimming Classes.

The nurses from various hospitals began instruction in swimming Friday evening, at the Young Women's Christian Association plunge. The class is open to all nurses in the city. A course of six lessons will be given, which will include advanced work. Children's classes began Saturday, at 10 a.m.

HAD A TOO FURLONG.

A well-dressed stranger strolled up to a colored prisoner, who was taking a longish interval of rest between two heaves of a pick.

"Well, Sam, what crime did you commit to be put in those overalls and set under guard?"

"Ah went on a furlong, sah."

"Went on a furlong? You mean you went on a furlough."

"No, boss, it was a sho nuff furlong. Ah went too fur, and Ah stayed too long.—['Tenshun, 21.

Black satin, elaborately embroidered, makes a stunning frock.

This week Grauman's offers Marguerite Clark, one of the most famous darlings of the screen, supported by that prince of lovers, Eugene O'Brien. The story, "Come Out of the Kitchen," presents the servant problem in a most delightful manner. Wonderful music will greet you with Arthur Kay, leader of the orchestra, and "C-Sharp Minor" at the organ.

Hand-made jewelry is surely [illegible] just now, and nowhere have I seen more delightfully original and beautiful designs than are created by Cooper & Stairr, 6th floor, Brack Shops. They have a stock of handmade pieces and will make over your old jewelry into new and novel

We all love to possess diamonds and to wear them brings highest pleasure. If by chance you don't wear them, you should really make them count for something—at least you can turn them into money. Mr. [illegible] buys diamonds outright and pays the present high prices—and is most courteous—whether you sell to him or not—so you needn't hesitate to see him. He's at room [illegible] Title Guarantee Bldg., 220 W. Fifth st.

The safety of one's personal property is a problem these vacation days when families are moving out for the summer and leaving their homes unguarded. But many are relieving themselves of personal worries on vacations by bundling their silverware and bulky valuables into a trunk, case or box and leaving it for safe keeping in the largest storage vault of the Guaranty Trust and Savings Bank, at Spring and Fifth streets.

Your furs should be remodeled now or soon, at least, as it's going to be quite a problem to get it done after the middle of August. Ormond, the very clever designer, 728 W. Seventh, will please you greatly—as his ideas are those of a creative genius—and you can trust your most precious furs to him with the assurance that they'll return to you lovelier than before.

A linen Tam-o-Shanter with a gay wool tassel is smart to wear with sport togs.

Truly, "There's no place like home" if it contains some of the "good looking" furniture which I saw in Robinson's Art and Gift section. A tiny gate-leg table in brown mahogany, and a tea cart with drop leaves and extra trays were rivals in interest of some hand-carved mahogany lamp standards which were beautifully executed.

If you are not glad you certainly ought to be that you saved your old ostrich feathers. They are all the rage again. Take them to Vallely & [illegible], 440 South Broadway, sixth floor, opposite Bullock's. They will clean them and make them into the latest modes. They also will remodel your marabout, too.

Don't you always feel a thrill of satisfaction when you can make a garment "almost new" again? At the [illegible] de Paris they are showing a lovely lot of vestees in organdie, net and linen, tucked or trimmed with lace, which would do much toward freshening up a suit or sport coat.

A sport dress of green silk jersey is trimmed with bindings of black grosgrain ribbon.

Your eyes mean so much; why not have them attended to? You will find Mr. Landen's restful, airy optical shop equipped with the most modern appliances and will be pleased with the careful and scientific examination he gives you. Sixth floor, Brack Shops.

You've really been waiting for just this delightful event—real French pattern hats, some of the lovliest, most desirable chapeaux ever created, many valued as high as $50 and $60—are to be offered this week by Mandel's at $15. Think of it! Extraordinary? Yes, for a sale is an unheard of thing in this exclusive shop, 733 S. Hill, south of Alhambra Theater. They showed me such a lot of smart sport and semi-sport hats and street hats which will be sold at $10. Those are wonderful values. A shipment of smart blouses, many filet trimmed and high neck models have just been received.

Colored embroidery on collar and frills makes a white voile blouse unusual.

"Lip reading is becoming popular." Did you know that Miss Case, the principal of the L. A. school, gave a paper on Lip-Reading, by request at the Society of Progressive Oral Advocates, held in St. Louis recently? Well, she has just returned with the latest, up-to-date ideas of teaching this fine art. Go to see her at 1005 Story Bldg.

The "Nestle Permanent Wave Home Outfit" and the Nestol Treatmen for Babies are the most interesting things I've discovered lately. Mme. Lillie Koschat, eighth floor, Brack Shops, will explain all about it. Phone 13370. You know, she has the famous Nestle Permanent Wave Machine which employs all of the modern Nestle implements. No chemicals are necessary with this wonderful process, which does not make the hair brittle, nor does it harm it in the least. One can have any kind of wave one chooses, even schoolgirl curls. By the way, one should have a Nestle comb.

While on your vacation, you'll appreciate a permanent wave—it's so convenient! Harriet Hunter has the very latest machine, the "Waltz," which makes six different-sized waves—and curls the hair with steam—air-cooled — no chemicals used. Miss Hunter is a licensed operator, and assures you that waving will not harm your hair. 720 Brockman Bldg. Phone Main 5262.

Camisoles that also serve as waistcoats are convenient and practical.

Do you know that you can have your corsets remodeled? You can—and beautifully, too—at the little French shop of Mme. Frances, 660 S. Alvarado. She also sells the famous Barcley corset, which carries a twelve-month guarantee. They are creating some charming frocks and sport skirts here—as chic as can be—the organdy frocks are dreams. Phone 52140.

Do you realize the wonderful psychological effect of renewing your draperies? At Lyon-McKinney-Smith's, 737 South Hill, there is a splendid drapery department, and just now they have some remnants in very best values, which would do for small windows. You should really see them before selecting yours. I noticed some charming marquisettes, chintz and cretonnes.

Do try one of those wonderful Lemonine Ice Packs, which bleaches and clears the skin of all discolorations such as tan, sunburn, moth patches, etc. Bring this notice and get a regular $1 treatment for 50 cents. Call or write the Follicide Shop, 822 West Seventh. Main 647. Open Saturdays.

Jet and crystal beads are used with telling effect on silk evening gowns.

Why have your vacation marred by sunburn, tan and freckles, when you can use the Key to Beauty Bleach? This is sold by K. Jevne Co., and Anna M. Bergeron, the manufacturer, who is a skin specialist and electrolysist. Top floor Haas Bldg. She gives personal advice.

Your crowning glory—your hair—keep it from becoming dull and falling out by eradicating dandruff. Dora Dean gives one of her marvelous $1 treatments for 50 cents, with this notice. 331 W. 8th, at Zan's.

Aliceen's French vanilla and lemon chocolate creams are the best ever—and only $1.50 a pound! They're home-made, too. She is now serving a most satisfying and dainty cold luncheon for sixty cents, including salad, drink and dessert—quick service. Fourth floor, Brack Shops.

Staying here all summer? You—men and women—can begin lessons in lip-reading any time, said Miss Anderson, principal Pacific Coast School, 608 Citizens' National Bank.

Collars and cuffs of organdy on net serve to heighten the charm of plain dark frocks.

Mae Martin works marvels for your hair—she gives a dollar treatment for fifty cents with this ad. 509 Consolidated Realty Bldg., 5th and Hill. Pico 866.

New picture moldings have just been received at the Art Novelty Shop, 250 South Broadway. The acme of perfection is guaranteed.

Black evening gowns are said to be in high favor in Paris.

The Lamp Shop has added to its wonderful stock of lamps a complete electrical department. They have had so many calls for things electrical that to please their many patrons this seemed necessary. Don't buy a vacuum cleaner until you have seen the Apex at 621-23 S. Hill.

It is not possible to have the great musicians always with us—often we are miles away from them and yet we long for their sweet presence. I thought of this when at the Smith Piano Company the other day. I heard that so many fine Victor records were to be sold at popular prices. Think of having Caruso, Farrar, Scotti or Galli-Curci sing for you in your own home! There will be many others—so don't fail to go to Ninth and Grand and hear them played.

By the way, there's nothing in the way of a light sport wrap which compares with those swanky knitted scarfs which have pockets, and a belt attached in the back. These are in china blue, old rose, peach, and many other charming colors. In this interesting woman's department at Mullen & Bluett's, you'll also find some very modish scarfs in brush-wool—these are two and one-half yards long and quite wide—and come in checks and many colors. These sell at $7.50. They are showing some lovely all-silk sweaters in navy blue and black, $37.50 to $60. And don't forget their natty bathing suits.

A natty morning suit of coral homespun has a belt of coral beads.

In Elsie's last letter she speaks of the beautiful bags they are carrying in Paris. These are of silk, trimmed with tiny ostrich tips, forming ruffles. I immediately thought of the Cawston salesroom here, at 723 South Broadway, where they are showing the very newest ostrich fancies, and these same little bags, in delicate shades to match the gown. Don't fail to visit the Cawston Ostrich Farm in South Pasadena, where these are made.

A permanent wave is exactly like naturally curly hair when properly done, but it takes a world of experience to do it right. Hudgen's Permanent Wave Shop, located on fourth floor, Brack-Shops, 7th and Grand, has been waving in Los Angeles since 1912; it's the largest exclusive permanent wave shop west of New York and guarantees satisfaction. Phone 62863 for appointment.

Ruffled frocks are now very popular.

For the tiny babe—here's a real bargain! Such a complete layette—such splendid values, too—at $12.85! Here it is: three shirts, three bands, three slips, three gowns, two booties and one cashmere sacque, twelve diapers, two woolen Gertrudes and two nainsook Gertrudes. The Baby Specialty Shop, 734 S. Hill. They will be glad to show them to you.

Does "house-frock" suggest untidiness or ugliness? It should not—and it never will if you wear "Williams-Wear" house and garden dresses, which are nifty and neat, lovely and practical, original in design—and are not factory made! The conservation dress is unusually attractive and always looks spick and span. 734 S. Hill.

Afternoon frocks show an increasing tendency toward short sleeves.

Isn't this a glorious opportunity to buy distinctive clothes? That most exclusive shop, the Unique, 725 S. Broadway, will offer this week the lovliest frocks as low as $19.50 and $24.75! You'll be surprised when you see the smart and nifty capes and coats at one-third and one-half off!

Too Fat? Too Thin? Not exactly well? You can be brought to normal weight and measurements and be vastly improved in health by the Reiss System—without drugs or starvation. It's intensely interesting, too. 802 Title Guarantee Bldg., 220 W. Fifth st. Phone 67815.

One of the quaintest tea rooms you've ever seen, is the Vanity Fair, 937 S. Hill. You will be delighted with the splendid service, luncheon a la carte, and most delectable table d'hote dinners, at one dollar and twenty-five cents. Phone 62954.

Has your early summer hat become a little bit shabby? Take it to the original Make Over Hat Shop, 688 S. Alvarado, across from Westlake Park and have it made over or freshened up!

Simple frocks of crepe de chine are extremely popular.

Those very effective scalp treatments which give special attention to the nerves at back of the neck may be had at the Rosemary Beauty Parlor, 6th floor, Brack Shops.

Airy draperies add much to the cool appearance of the home. See those exquisite materials at Beeman & Hendee's! They make up plain curtains free. Home of Polly Primrose frocks and rompers. 948 S. Hill.

ROBINSON'S MID-S MM

EDITORIAL

Today the announcement is doubled in size and devoted to a great annual event for which many have been waiting.

The Robinson Midsummer Clearance Sale opens tomorrow morning.

It is an extraordinary occasion, whereby summer stocks are cleared away at greatly reduced prices.

In the great stocks of Robinson's many odds and ends remain to be marked down at this time. But an even greater bulk of new and useful goods comes to us from manufacturers with whom we co-operate.

Factory shelves must be clean at this time of year and the surplus stocks of many producers of the better class of commodities are shipped to us to be sold during our Midsummer Clearance Sale.

There is scarcely a department in the store that is not offering some things at reduced prices tomorrow.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws its beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, speaking to an audience that overflowed the Cort Theater in Chicago, enthusiastically praised the work in France of the Salvation Army. He said:

"I was fortunate to be able to spend a short time in France and there I saw the Salvation Army workers as near the front and the firing lines as they could get. I saw them at work living up to the ideal of the helping hand. An army is not simply made by drillmasters but by those who make the mothers at home feel that their boys are being taken care of as well as if they were at their own firesides. This work you of the Salvation Army were doing.

"You have not always had credit for the work you have done, but the 4,000,000 soldiers who have seen your worthy and splendid work will be your stanch friends. They will always wish you good luck.

"I am glad to express appreciation for the way the Salvation Army helped our army get ready for war. It helped our men to be clean in mind and body and clean in soul. Do not forget that the best men make the best soldiers. The Salvation Army was a powerful factor in making the men of our army the best in every sense."

Not to be outdone in progressiveness by their occidental neighbors, Filipino girls walked right into well-paying jobs as "conductorettes" on the new auto-bus lines established at Manila to supplement the war-time shortage of street cars in that city. In spite of the initial shock conveyed to the conservative element of the islands people at the appearance of native girls in positions hitherto filled exclusively by men, information reaching the United States Department of Labor indicates that the experiment has been pronounced a marked success, the directors of the company having expressed themselves as being highly gratified with the results, and the girls, with their 40 pesos a month jingling in their pockets, being equally delighted.

A few energetic women decided last summer that Roswell, N. M., needed a central meeting place and a room where women and children might rest. A large number of country women made Roswell their shopping center, and there was no place where they might rest when they wearied of shopping. Then the home-demonstration agent of the United States Department of Agriculture located a six-room cottage almost opposite a leading hotel. The building was in wretched condition but the location was good. The rent was $25 a month and there were no furnishings.

The woman's club of the town gave $85 for initial expenses and its members also donated much of the furniture. The City Council voted $12.50 for upkeep and a canvass of business men resulted in a large number agreeing to pay $1 a month toward the care of the place. The owner of the house, as his gift, had the rooms papered, painted and cleaned.

The matron, with her mother, uses the rear room for housekeeping and a portion of a large room, known as the children's playroom, is curtained off for their bed. One of the duties of the matron is to care for all children whose parents desire to leave them there while shopping. The building is used as a meeting place, restroom and lunchroom by a number of clubs, rural people, and working girls. A committee of nine, known as the community house board of control, meets monthly and transacts business.

WHAT CONSULS SAY.

The exports invoiced at the consulate at Dairen, Manchuria, for the United States, were valued at $37,301,400 during 1918, and at $21,189,191 in 1917. Shipments of soya-bean oil amounting to 257,863,427 pounds, valued at $36,496,061, as against 198,534,626 pounds, valued at $19,740,640, in 1917, accounted for practically the whole increase.

Before the war England was entirely dependent upon Germany for certain chemicals, especially those manufactured for medicinal purposes. However, such progress has been made that it is believed that not only will England be independent of Germany in the future, but will be able, provided the cost of production can be lowered, to develop an export trade.

The Yokohama Specie Bank of Yokohama, Japan, is planning to open branches in Rio de Janeiro and some of the other cities of Brazil. This is said to be one of the most important financial institutions of Japan, and has branches in the leading cities of the world.

Crop prospects are excellent in the Malaga consular district. The rains which began in November came regularly throughout the winter, and there was no excessive cold during the growing season to retard germination. Although it is very early to say much about the olive crop, reports indicate a very abundant formation of fruit. Barring complications, before the olives are gathered in October and November, a larger yield is promised than the good one of last season.

From 1912 to 1918 the value of automobile exports from the United States rose from $25,657,294 to $110,138,831. Shipments to Latin America increased 708 per cent.; the value of similar exports to Europe in 1916 was ten times that of the shipments in 1912. The highest point in this trade was reached in 1916, when shipments were worth over $120,000,000, and consisted principally of motor trucks for war uses. Notwithstanding the restrictions imposed by the United States government during the war, exports during the fiscal year 1917 amounted to $118,377,047, in 1918 to $110,138,831, and during the first nine months of the 1919 fiscal year to $75,800,000.

It cannot be said that Holland looks with great favor upon the Dover-Calais tunnel project, for it is felt that much of the fast freight and passenger traffic that formerly found its way over Holland between England and Germany will now be diverted in such a way that the chief Dutch cities, including Amsterdam, The Hague, and Rotterdam, will not receive the benefit of this fast service, and of all incidental advantages which go with it.

The Banco Vitalico, a banking institution of Rio de Janeiro, organized in 1916 with a capital of 100,000 paper milreis (about $25,000,) subsequently raised to 200,000 milreis, than to 500,000 milreis, and recently to 1,000,000 milreis, has just published a statement that the earnings of the institution for the year 1918 amounted to 330,078 milreis (about $82,519.) and that a dividend of 10 per cent. had been declared and distributed among the shareholders.

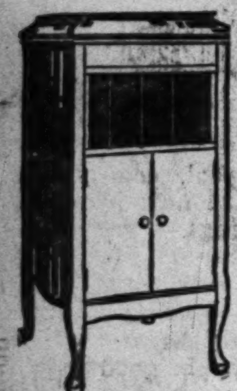
It's Only Fair to Call to Your Attention the Fact That

Prices on Columbia Grafonolas Will Soon Advance



—And these advances will amount to 10% to 15% more than present prices.

—The moral is obvious. If you have any idea of purchasing a grafonola at any time in the future, carry out your ideas in the present! By so doing you will effect a wise saving on the expenditure.

You Cannot Act Too Promptly!

—Without mentioning the exact date on which the new pricing will come into effect, we may say that it is so very soon that to hesitate in deciding just when to buy may mean that you will wait too long.

A Payment of Five Dollars

—will hold any machine in our Phonograph Department for you until it is convenient to make further payments. Then, too, you may have a machine placed in your home for so small a payment as $10.00, with $8.00 monthly payments until the full amount has been paid.

The Present Prices Begin at $90.00

—and go up to $225.00; the increased prices, soon to come into effect will greatly change these markings. So act quickly—'twill be well worth your while to come to our Phonograph Department today.

July Furniture Sale

Demanded Furniture at These Lowered Prices in the Face of a Notable Scarcity

—To one well acquainted with market conditions, we need not say that furniture is scarce and going higher in price. Indeed, in many cases manufacturers give retailers no satisfaction as to when deliveries may be expected.
—Small wonder, then, that we enthuse over the offerings in this July Furniture Sale!
—It is only because we began long ago to prepare and to assemble the merchandise that we can offer it at these lowered prices.
—The revived interest in the building of homes in Los Angeles makes this sale a timely event.

—All Furniture Sold on the Liberal Payment Plan.

"More New Garments Than Ever" With An Electric Sewing Machine

—The speaker was buying some dainty fabric, and we overheard her say to her companion, "Yes, I have more new garments than ever before, since I purchased my electric sewing machine." And she went on to explain that the "reason why" was because she could now sew at home, quickly and without becoming tired; that the money she formerly spent in having things made, went into new materials for garments which she herself fashioned.

Recording the Arrival of Beautiful Pottery

—Thankful may we be that we dwell in our own good country, during the twentieth century—not in Egypt or Pompeii, two thousand years ago; for at that early period beautiful pottery decorated only the homes of the wealthy. Today, lovely pottery, much of it in reproductions of the wonderful ancient designs, can be purchased at prices so low as enable it to adorn even an humble cottage.
A NEW SHIPMENT—Just placed on display, presents many novel designs in vases, flower bowls, jardinieres and the like, wrought in Rozanne, Mastique, Donatello and Rosecraft ware.
VASES AT $1.75, $2.00, $2.75 and $3.50.
FRUIT BOWLS at $2.75 and $4.25.
JARDINIERES at $2.25, $2.50, $2.75, $3.00 and up to $6.00.
HANGING BASKETS AT $2.50 and $3.75.

The Seamstress

Laboring questions? Why, yes'm, of course I've thought about 'em. Yes'm, I have—some. Yet and still, I don't have much time to think about anything but my work. You see I'm so busy all the time. . . .

Ma'm? Why I reckon they somewhat don't get what is coming to them. I reckon you will always find selfish, hoggish people to deal with and I reckon for them folks it is a good thing to have laws to protect the working girl or such.

But my land. Laws ain't agoing to help people from being mean on the inside. The trouble is, that, it looks like to me, that the working people sometimes don't never know when to stop asking for things. You see they is more than the rich what is hoggy and selfish.

Oh law, when the workers gits money they seem to git right careful with it, the same as them what has always been rich and they want to rule the same and it is human nature, I reckon. . . .

Yes'm, it's the way it is. It looks like that the more folks has the more stingy they get. And the ones what are pore now needn't make so much fuss about it; because they get the same way the minute they git money and have got a chanct to boss a little.

Well, it reminds me of a story my ma used to tell about a old pore woman she used to know.

"If ever I git rich," that woman says to ma, "I ain't going to be stingy. I am agoing to help the pore. I sure am."

Well, something come up that that woman got money a long time after that. And ma was a watchin' her the same as anybody will when a woman makes a brag like that. She knowd her right well, and she had her doubts.

Well, ma saw her afterwards and she had kep' on watchin' if she was agoing to carry out what she said.

Ma'm? Well, no'm, indeed she didn't. Ma went to her and asked her for something for the church and then somebudy else went and asked her for something for the Red Crosst.

Well, that woman wouldn't give a thing. When ma asked her, says she:

"Yes, I know, I thought when I got money that I would give it away a heap to the pore. But when the Lord gave me the money, he took away the desire."

Don't that beat you?

Well, and so ever sence I've been a little suspicious of them what hadn't nothing to give (and knew they was safe in saying it,) abeing so generous minded.

And then my pa used to say when we was all at first studin' out Socialism, that if you was to divide everything up even in this world, why, it wouldn't be no time till the industrious ones and the smart ones would have it all again.

No'm, I don't think it is worth while for me to worry about the smart people being able to make more money than I do. I can't never see how the ones the Lord give more brains can be made to divide up with me. I reckon—

Ma'm? Why you can drape things all you want to. Yet and still, the little straight dresses with panels are good style yet. Now in one dress I saw I thought it was a good idea because it sort of combined the two styles.

It was a black satin dress. I reckon you think I'm crazy about black satin. I'm always atelling you about some black satin. Well, it's a mighty safe choice and can't never be a cheap one because good black satin costs money and cheap black satin always shows itself.

Well, this skirt had four panels, one in front, one in back, and one on each side. Instead of letting them fly loose they were turned under and sewed at the bottom. And the under skirt, I mean the drop skirt, was in French blue, and so the color of that showed pretty high up between the panels.

Well, and then the waist was the plainest little thing you ever saw.

It had a plain little high standing turnover blue collar what come down round in front, and they was a string belt made of the two colors and a little bitsy bow at the side.

Ma'm? Why I was just acoming to that. The sleeves was open a little, so many are nowadays. Then the corner was turned up again and tacked. It was lined again with the blue.

Well, they's one thing that seems to be the matter with the working people. And you can't hardly blame them. And it looks like to me that they don't need nothing to drink now to git 'em 'toxicated.

You know enduring this war they got used to having their wages jump and jump. Well, it had to come, I reckon, because living was so high. Yet and still, the price of sewing didn't go up like other things, I took notice.

Well, the price of labor kept a jumping and the price of living kept a jumpin', and now the laborers don't want their salaries to jump down until the price of living jumps down.

Well, the one what pays the laborers can't bring down the price of living until the price of labor goes down and there you are!

Well, now 'course it's natural for the labor people to grumble about profiteers and capital making too much and that they ortn't to want such a profit and all like that.

But as far as I can see cuttin' up and resentin' and revolution ain't adoing the Bolshevikis no good. It's just a tearing down their country and making 'em starve. It hasn't got 'em any better rulers than what the Czar was and it looks as though they will all come to the dickens.

Well, I wouldn't know what to tell 'em to do about it. But Lonny says (that's my husband,) that until the Lord gives us all the same amount of smartness, whether it's good or bad smartness, they ain't no use to make yourself miserable over what won't do no good.

And I don't reckon they is anybudy what's got the cheek to think they can tell the Lord how to make folks.

EDUCATIONAL.

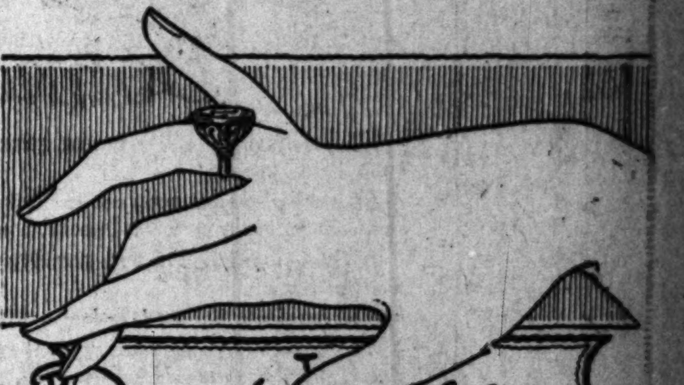
In the graduating class of 1919 at Pomona College was a young woman, Miss Manila Seaver (who was born, by the way, during the late Spanish war, and was named in honor of the capital of our then-acquired Philippine possessions.) Miss Seaver, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Seaver of Pomona, is the sixth member of her family to receive a degree from Pomona College. The five brothers and sisters who have preceded her have all attained honors. The first, Miss Georgia Seaver, who graduated with the class of 1904, is the wife of Dr. R. E. Thomas of Phoenix, Ariz., and has achieved the crowning honor of motherhood to two charming little daughters who attracted much attention as they marched in the college procession with their mother on alumni day. The second graduate from the Seaver family, Frank Roger Seaver of the class of 1905, was senior lieutenant of the United States ship Pueblo during the world war. The third member of this family, Byron D. Seaver, class of '08, is a successful lawyer in Los Angeles; the fourth Dr. Homer C. Seaver, class of '11, served as first lieutenant in base hospital No. 30 with the American Expeditionary Force in France, and the fifth member, Miss Estella Seaver, class of 1914, is assistant supervisor of physical education in the Los Angeles schools.

Cornell University graduated 333 young men and women at its fiftieth commencement. The graduating class was the smallest in many years, this being attributed to its many members in war service.

Presiding for the last time at the Tufts commencement exercises, President Hermon C. Bumpus, whose resignation becomes effective in September, conferred the college's degrees on 261 undergraduates, twenty-eight of whom were women students of Jackson College. To forty-three members of the sophomore and junior classes who left college to join the colors war certificates were given. Seven honorary degrees were also awarded. There were no degrees given in the medical department because all the members of the class of 1919 were graduated at mid-year.

Prof. William Conger Morgan of Reed College, Portland, Or., who is an instructor in the University of California summer session, which opened in Los Angeles last Monday, observed in an address before the student body: "We have been told that the three R's—'readin, 'ritin' and 'rithmetic—have, in these modern days, developed into 'Rugby, raffia and ragtime,' but, in spite of frills and foibles, during the test of the past five years, no group in all the field of activities has done such service as our college and university men. If men in other colleges had enlisted in military service at the same rate as did the students and alumni of my own college—and I doubt not this applies to all colleges—the United States would have had ten million volunteers."

Two hundred and fifty-three young men and women received degrees at the annual commencement exercises of Boston University. Of this number, 215 were graduated from the undergraduate schools and the other thirty-eight from the graduate school. As usual, the exercises were held in Tremont Temple, and the procession to the hall was led by the university marshal, Prof. E. Charlton Black. President Murlin presided, and the customary commencement address was given by Sir Robert Alexander Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, whose theme was "The Individuality of the Canadian People."



Ring Watches,

A RICH article of adornment and utility is the ring watch.

No more striking conception has appeared in Jeweldom and we can safely say it has created a veritable sensation among the particular women who seek the unique and the beautiful.

Brock and Company have these ring watches — round and rectangular — in diamond and platinum settings, the rectangular with calibret sapphire and navette stones, the round with pear-shaped diamonds.

The watches set in these rings are perfect timepieces.

And, speaking of watches, we have a corps of expert repairers who render highly satisfactory service.

Lift Off Corns!

Doesn't hurt! Lift touchy corns and calluses right off with fingers

Apply a few drops of "Freezone" upon that old, bothersome corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting. Then shortly you lift it right off, root and all, without pain or soreness.

Hard corns, soft corns, corns between the toes, and the hard skin calluses on bottom of feet lift right off—no humbug!

Tiny bottles of "Freezone" cost but a few cents at drug stores

A Clearaway

In which Garment Prices Have Been Greatly Lowered

Suits $23.50 to $37.50
Dresses $8.50 to $13.50
Dolmans $24.50

—With the waning of the season, garment prices have been lowered so materially that buying becomes a matter of economy.

—It's not that the garments are any less desirable. It is only that the changing style panorama calls for a constant moving of the garments in hand to make room for the new garments that are on the way.

—No season must find us with garments of a previous season on hand. In fact, the Garment Section does not wait for seasons.

—The garments that are here longer than sixty days must give way.

—So this July clearaway has affected ever so many garments. Prices, in many instances, have dropped so low that a comparison would surprise you.

—Beginning Monday, we announce the following lowered prices:

Suits at $23.50
Suits at $32.50
Suits at $37.50

Wash Dresses at $8.50
Silk and Wool Dresses $13.50
Dolman Coats at $24.50

—In regard to the suits—we have serges, gabardines, Poiret twills and fine tricotines.
—Conservative and modified styles.
—Belted and vestee styles, plain or braid trimmed.
—Garments that have stood high throughout the season from the standpoint of tailoring, fit, finish.
—Choice of sand, tan, rookie, gray, navy, in these groups at $23.50, $32.50, $37.50.

Wash Dresses Lowered to $8.50

—Very pretty dresses, these, of voile, gingham and the much-desired English prints.
—An unusual variety of styles and colorings.
—Some of them have ruffles, and there are plainer styles.
—Collars and cuffs of voile and organdie.
—Some are lace trimmed, others have tunic and surplice.
—Dresses that have been marked higher—in this July clearaway at $8.50.

Smart Frocks $13.50 of Silk or Serge

—Here are taffeta, crepe de chine and serge frocks that are so much underprirced; made with tunics; some fluted.
—Dresses desirable for afternoon and street wear.
—There is a choice of navy blue, black, tan.
—The price lowering is very striking at $13.50.
Third Floor.

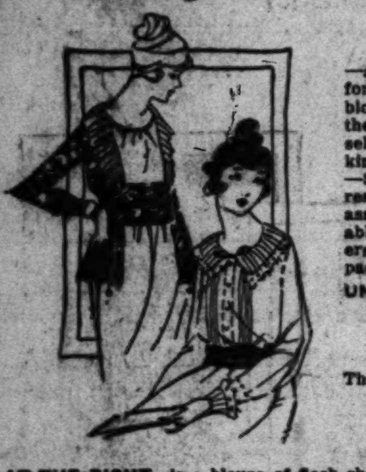
Dolman-Coats Lowered to $24.75

—Those rich wool velours and silvertone dolmans—some of them priced nearly double, all of them greatly lowered at $24.75.
—They are fully lined with exceptional quality of silk. With their voluminous sleeves and large, crushy collar, neat cuffs, they are much to be desired. Wantable colors are in the assortment. Third Floor.

Crepe Georgette

Blouses

That Call Forth Admiration



—And no doubt one important reason for the wonderful popularity of our blouse department, is the fact that there's an unusual diversity of models selected; and only a very few of each kind.

—Such care in selection has naturally resulted in our always displaying an assemblage of unusually lovely, wantable blouses, that go out to new owners almost as fast as they are unpacked.

UNIQUE INDEED—is the blouse at the left of the "picture." 'Tis of dark blue crepe georgette, over which a leafy design in white, wends its way.

There's a wide sash of the blue crepe, that loops gracefully at the back. The pleated collar and cuff edging and the vestees are of white crepe. Priced $12.50.

AT THE RIGHT—is a blouse of flesh shade crepe georgette. A charmingly girlish touch is given by the round, pleated collar of white crepe, edged with Val. lace, the cuffs matching the collar. Tiny tucks cluster at each side of the front opening, adown which run fine pearl buttons. —Priced $7.95. Third Floor.

Children's Sweaters $4.45

For Folks of Two to Four

—Come in fiber, and in nice, wantable colors, such as coral, blue, Copenhagen, tan, American Beauty, etc.

Sweaters for Girlies

Of Eight to Fourteen

—These are the slip-on sweaters that girls of 8 to 14 like so well. They are to be had in tan, green, rose, blue, coral.
—They are priced $4.95 to $7.45—those at the highest price having collar, belt and cuffs of contrasting colors. Second Floor.

A Limited Number of Very Fine

Odd Room Size Rugs

At Remarkably Lowered Prices

—Very large room size rugs in a limited quantity—eleven, all told—have been underpriced for a quick disposal, beginning Monday.
—These rugs are perfect; and for those who have odd size rooms to fit, the opportunity is important.
—Note the quantity, the sizes and the lowered prices.

—One 11.3x15 Body Brussels Rug	$94.95
—One 11.3x15 Seamless Brussels Rug	$53.75
—One 9x15 Body Brussels Rug	$75.75

—One 9x15 Seamless Brussels Rug	$42.25
—Three 11.3x12 Seamless Brussels Rugs at	$42.25
—One 9x20 Wilton Velvet (without border)	$52.75
—One 6.9x12 Wilton Velvet (without border)	$29.75

Fourth Foor.

Chinese Matting Rugs

—They are cool and good looking, and they seem to fit in with summer furnishings. Closely woven, stenciled designs and variously colored. They are so moderately priced.
—6x9 matting rugs, $3.95. 9x9 matting rugs, $6.50. 9x12 matting rugs, $7.95.

Size 7x9 Seamless Brussels Rugs at $31.00

—This is a very much demanded size, and the designs and color combinations are suitable for living-room, den, dining-room or bedroom.

—They will give long service; are easy to keep clean and the price is an attractive one—$31.00.

ARTHUR LETTS
The Broadway Department Store
BROADWAY, FOURTH AND HILL.

The Broadway Department Store will be open Saturday mornings—until 1:00 o'clock every Saturday in the year.

Are You a Busy Housewife?

—Busy, day by day, preparing the meals for hungry kiddies and "Daddy?"
—Canning the fruits that now fill the markets so temptingly?
—Making ready the goodies for the week-end outing?
—Sewing?
—Gardening a bit?
—Church work?
—Club work?
—Often too busy to spend an hour coming down town, two hours in shopping, a fourth in going home—tired, too, and with dinner to get ready?
—All probable.
—Why do you not let us save the down-town traveling, the shopping, by merely stepping to your telephone, calling our Order Department, and enumerating your needs?
—Our personal shoppers, intelligent, carefully trained, courteous, will do your individual shopping for you individually—with as much care as you would do it yourself; and delivery will be on the first truck going in your direction after purchases have been made.
—The two-deliveries-a-day service is now in force—eight o'clock a.m., 2:40 p.m.
—Second Floor.

All the Way from Ireland 36-inch New Colored Dress Linens at $1.50

—It's been a long, long time since we have had the opportunity of securing linens of any description from the Emerald Isle.
—We deem it quite an achievement, therefore, to be able to announce for Monday these much-to-be-desired colored dress linens at $1.50.
—You may choose from pink, Copenhagen, light blue, Nile green, old rose, heliotrope, tan.
—We would emphasize the fact that these linens have been thoroughly shrunk, ready to be made up into the coolest of summer dresses.
Wash goods section, Second Floor.

Newly Arrived Cotton Mercerized Pongee Shirting at 50c

—Novelties that will attract attention—cotton pongee with a highly mercerized finish, desirable for shirts for men or boys—moderately priced at 50c a yard.

36-inch Longcloth 35c

—A fine, full-bleached longcloth, finished extra soft for the needle—a chamois finish desirable for underwear and for babies' clothes. Moderately priced at 35c yard.

81 x 90 Seamless Sheets at $1.85

—Note the quality of these seamless sheets—full bleached—and then note the price and the size. All are indications that one should purchase a supply. Second Floor.

This is Important News 70 x 88-inch All-Linen Pattern Cloths at $7.50

—If you knew the condition of the linen market as well as we know it, you would catch some of our enthusiasm over these all-linen pattern cloths at $7.50.
—It will be a long, long time before cloths like these will be offered in the market to sell at a like price.
—Circular designs, size 70x88 inches.
—Those who need linens should take advantage of this opportunity.

70-Inch Damask At $1.00 Yard

—A mercerized, extra weight, cotton damask in spot, lily and chrysanthemum patterns, underpriced at $1.00 a yard.

20-Inch Napkins At $2.50 Dozen

—Two hundred dozen to offer; mercerized, hemmed, ready for use; 20x20-in. size; $2.50 dozen.

Huck Towels $2.40 Dozen

—Size 17x36 inch; closely woven; plain white; soft, absorbent huck towels for home or hotel use.

Bath Towels at 35c

—White Lily" 18x39 inch bath towels, plain white, absorbent, with corded borders; marked higher; featured Monday at 35c. Second Floor.

Summer Wash Frocks That Possess Unusual Charm

—have been assembled in the Wash Garment section on the Third Floor.
—Gingham, soft and so smoothly finished it is "cool" to the touch, fashions many.
—Voile, sheer and fine, that drapes and hangs so gracefully.
—In such a wealth of beautiful designs and color combinations we could not begin to even suggest them all. But there are many frocks of gingham in those crisp-looking tiny check designs, in pink and white, blue and white, etc. Soft-toned combinations of pink and green with silk stripes criss-crossing; delicate blues; dove grays; and other delightfully summery shades.
—For a picture story of the charm of the styles presented, we chose the two models shown.

OF PINK AND WHITE CHECK GINGHAM—is the one frock; the skirt straight-lined, but laid in graceful pleats. The long collar, cuffs and pockets are of fine white organdie, trimmed with pretty edging. Priced $9.95.

FINE TISSUE VOILE—fashions the other frock. Pink, green, white silk stripes and fine lines of black form a fetching plaid design. The vestee, long collar and cuffs are of fine white organdie, lace edged. Priced $12.50.

OTHER WASH FROCKS, EACH WITH A FASCINATION ALL ITS OWN, PRICED $5.95 to $19.50.

Third Floor.

Silk Duvetyn Soft, Lustrous, Stately

—a marvelous fabric that comes newly from American looms of amazing efficiency, yet the richness, the depth of texture of which should proclaim it comes from the hand looms of the Old East.
—No great stretch of imagination is required for one to picture mentally dark-browed Syrians placing the perfect silken strands that give Duvetyn its steady, unglinting lustre.
—Yet, these patient peoples know it not!
—Duvetyn comes from the magic looms of today—from a background of myriads of needles; comes from the atmosphere of commercialized art, passes through that of modern display and selling systems, into—what?
The screen, where fancy flits from age and age and clime to clime, and the apparel of women makes and wrecks thrones with its rich artistry?
SILK DUVETYN MIGHT HAVE DONE ALL THIS—Verily, 'tis rare enough, lovely enough!
—It comes in plain and other weaves, under the one name; is 36 to 40 inches wide, and its price is $12.50 a yard.

Novelty Paulette

—too, is a wondrous silken weave, coming in Santiago, bisque, mahogany, henna, taupe and black. It is 48 inches wide and its price is $10.00 a yard.

Satin Tricotine

—is a perfectly new sports satin, more lasting, doubtless, than regular satin, and that comes in all of the present wanted colors. It is 40 inches wide and is priced $5.50 a yard.

Novelty Knitted Jersey

—has a heavy, corded effect, and is well liked for sports coats, coming, as it does, in brown, green, purple and being 36 inches wide. Price $4.50.

Tricolette

—is one of the scarcest of silken dress weaves now on the market, yet we have a good assortment of colors. It is 36 inches wide and priced $6.50 a yard.

Moire

—One of the much-liked weaves, and one that will be seen in the advance fall frocks, is 36 inches wide, and priced $2.75 a yard.

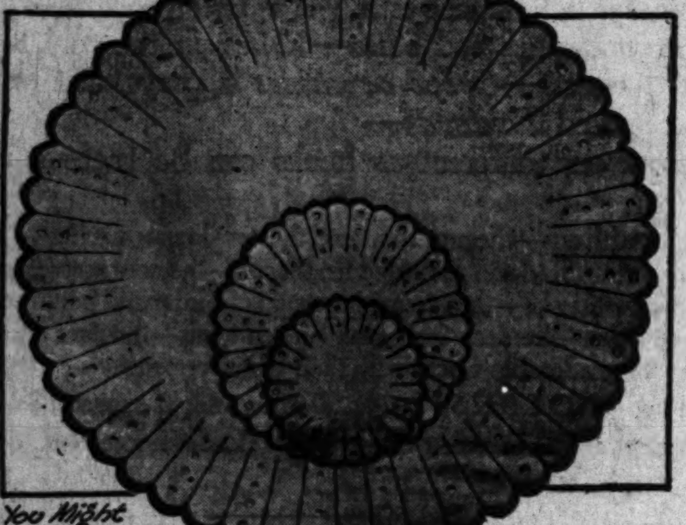
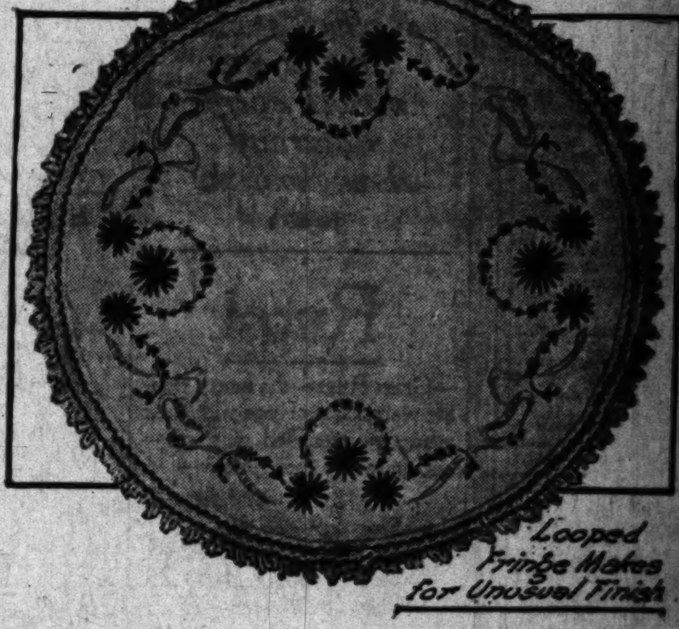
Build Your Luncheon Set On An Easy-Stitch Plan



You Might Work This By the "Rule of Thumb."



Looped Fringe Makes for Unusual Finish

NO LONGER is the luncheon set reserved for luncheons only. Such is the charming informality of it and the appreciable economy of it, both from a viewpoint of the small space that it requires in the linen closet, and the small cost of laundering it, that it is being carried over to the family dinner time with entire propriety.

Hence thrifty housewives are constantly annexing to their store of centerpieces and dollies and table mats. Also, they are choosing the sturdier stuffs and the easiest possible stitches to build the everyday luncheon sets of. The set offered today is an ideal suggestion for everyday use, and for the very practical unbleached muslin, or crash—and then the easy stitches. Which last, following this simple design, are guaranteed to make quick work of the piece.

But just a word, tho, about the transferring. Unless you have a long as well as a wide experience in such things, you are calculated to stand aghast at the prospect of repeating a motif twelve times to achieve a centerpiece. It isn't nearly so difficult as it appears to be, tho. It simply means pinning the corner of the given twelfth to the middle point of your material so that the sector may be easily swung round on a pin "axis." Then securing it and your carbon paper firmly to the material, finish tracing one motif, and drawing a faint line along the left boundary line of the sector, to act as a guide toward making the "repeat" exact. There is little that you need be told about transferring the dollies.

Have you tried working with fiber silks? In white they have the advantage over the other variety in being yellow-proof. And if you decide to develop your luncheon set in old blue crash, for instance, what a charming chance to employ the white. Especially economical is the blue-and-white scheme, and ever so effective with blue china.

If you start out on a "ground" of white or tan, tho, there is plenty of opportunity to do your stitchery in more than one color. Old blue and black might be distributed with enviable charm atop of unbleached muslin, for instance. And again, there is the delightfully interesting combination of purple and blue. Tan suggests a treatment in brown and woodsy green. And then you may choose the beautifully adaptable gray as a background and touch it up with a warm orange or the luscious azalea.

When it comes time for finishing touches you may rest content with the distinctive severity of a wee hem plus two rows of prim stitches, or you may prefer a bit of looped fringe so happily suggested by that centerpiece with the lazy daisies and the French knots in its make-up. By all means, have the fringe of the same stuff that you put into your stitching. Then treat it to some supplementary stitching all its own for the sake of contrast, as well as in the interest of keeping the strands close and the loops intact.

Verily, we are getting back to the primitive, at least if we are to judge by the general trend of our embroidery stiches. There is simply no resisting the lure of the easy stitch; nor is there any disputing the charming effects that it is capable of. Certainly this bit of a centerpiece with all the radiating straight lines and the buttonholed edge and the graduating dots is effective. Likewise it is self-evidently easy to work. So very easy, in fact, that if you have any eye at all for lines, you might develop it by the "rule of thumb" and so obviate the necessity of any transferring at all.

Fancy it in a scheme of two blues, will you, navy on "old"?

TO MAKE THE WEE ACCESSORIES APPEALING

He may rebel at just plain bib, that youngest man of the house. But touch it up with a pair of colorful bunnies or a jolly big cat, and he'll probably plead with you to let him wear it. However, they are but two of a number of very fetching touch-ups to put on the belongings of the youngest set. You may have them all on this page next Sunday.

HOW TO MAKE CUTWORK

LUNCHEON sets, dresser scarfs, dollies—all sorts of linens—look so thoroly good when cutwork is used on them. It may be that the reason more people do not undertake this attractive variety of needlework is that they simply think it is as hard to do as it may seem on first looking at it.

Cutwork or "Richelieu" work is really simple to execute, demands no great amount of patience and is pre-eminently satisfactory in its results.

Select suitable linen—a fairly fine linen with "body" should be chosen—that is, one that is closely woven. An untwisted flax thread should be used, as a twisted thread does not lie so even and flat. Two thicknesses will be required—the finer one being the same thickness as the thread of linen. Next obtain the pattern and transfer it.

Now that we have all the materials, the work begins! Work round the pattern an ordinary running thread, not making the stitches too big. This is to strengthen the material after it is cut. The finer thread should be used and the little straps across the parts which will eventually be cut away should be worked as you come to them with the running thread.

The straps are worked thus: Take the thread across and pick up a little stitch way beyond the pattern line. Then bring your thread back, take up a small stitch, take the thread back again so that you have three threads lying together. Now work blanket-stitch (or simple buttonhole-stitch) over these three threads, taking care not to catch up any thread of the linen itself. The blanket-stitching will then bring you back to where you left off the running thread. When working the straps take care that the linen is held straight and is not stretched on the cross.

Some of the straps are shaped like a Y when the Y is required to hold in position corners which would otherwise curl up. To follow these Y's, proceed in the following manner: Make your three strands from one arm of the Y to the bottom or tail of it, as it were. Work halfway down this long strand, then branch off, making the three strands for the other arm of the Y. Buttonhole this arm from the material back to the center of the long strand, and then work along the second arm to the material. This insures a neat joining at the middle of the Y. This may sound complicated, but if you follow it step by step with your needle it will not be nearly so difficult as it may read.

When you have run around the pattern with the thread and worked the strands, you may then proceed to work the pattern itself. This is done by working the ordinary blanket-stitch with the thicker thread, taking care to keep the stitches all the same size and to lay them evenly side by side and not huddle them on top of each other. The straps should also be made to lie quite flat as you work over the ends of them.

When the work is complete, cut away the linen lying underneath the strands. A very sharp pair of small scissors should be used, and while cutting close to the buttonholing or blanket-stitching, be careful not to cut away any of the embroidery threads.

Now here is a bit of warning: Never use a knot at the end of your cotton. Fasten your thread by taking a small back-stitch and pulling it tight. When possible, always finish off your thread on the right side of your work, so that the finishings will be covered by your blanket-stitches. This insures a neat back and makes the fastenings secure. Of course you can introduce some solid work in the way of initials, monogram, etc.

Now, with the directions before you and materials in hand, see whether you will not be able to do cutwork just as well as if you had had a practical demonstration.

To Hang the Negligee Upon

ONE'S prettiest negligee often suffers from the jabs of a hook, but it can have as dainty and unique a hanger as the most fastidious would want if a small hoop is taken and covered with shirred satin ribbon. With a dainty bow to top it off around which tiny rosebuds are twined, it has a delightfully feminine appeal. A small loop of the ribbon is the means by which it hangs. Worked up in pale blue and peach color it would be a pleasing addition to the trousseau or the hope chest or just to the everyday wardrobe. Being round, this hanger will not spoil the shape of the sheerest creation.

SOME POINTS IN FILET CROCHET

BEFORE the advent of the delightful filet sweaters, there was many a needlewoman who knew not, nor cared to know the principles of filet crochet. Now everybody wants to know how. And for the benefit of them, here follow some principles of filet crochet.

The work imitates the old filet lace, a lace with square meshes and interwoven figures and designs in the meshes. To make the filet you must follow a patern, forming open meshes for the background and solid meshes of double crochet for the pattern.

As a foundation, crochet a chain of three times the number of meshes which you will have for the first row of whatever pattern you intend to follow a pattern, forming open meshes turn; then make a double crochet in the seventh chain from the needle. This makes your first mesh. Now make two chains and a double crochet in the third next stitch of the original chain, which makes your second mesh. Continue making two chains and a double in every third chain until you reach the end, when your first row is finished. Before turning the work to start the second row, make five chains and then turn and take a double crochet above the next to the last double, and so on. When you come to the end of a row, take your double crochet in the third of the chain of the five beneath. To make the solid meshes as they occur in this design, merely take a double in four successive stitches, instead of skipping two chains in the double.

To increase meshes at the end of a row, as will at times be necessary, you use the following method: To increase one mesh crochet seven chains and take a double on top of the very last double. To increase two meshes, make nine chains, take a double in the seventh chain from the needle, chain two and make a double on the very last double of the row below.

To decrease the number of meshes in a row make slip-stitches, one in each stitch of the last mesh of meshes until you reach the mesh where you desire to start your new row. Then proceed with five chain-stitches and your double crochet as usual.

Of course you will require practice on simple designs before you can expect to work up to a successful sweater. Still, if you've set your heart on the sweater, and you know how to manipulate the knitting needles, there is a variety of ways to introduce the filet touch. You might make a simple collar of the crochet, a belt and cuffs, perhaps. The stole collars in filet are especially effective on the knitted sweaters of silk or wool.

For Goody Two-Shoes

VERY fetching and very convenient to slip into the traveling bag is a stenciled set of shoe trees and linen bag to put them in.

Make a perfectly flat bag measuring about 15 x 18 inches and provide it with an envelope flap, a big button and buttonhole. Let it be of crash or oilcloth or cretonne. The last stuff, tho, hasn't, of course, stencil possibilities, but if you choose your cretonne with a bold design, you can do charming things to the motifs by working them solid with heavy silk or wool. Then you might paint the trees in a color to match the ground of the cretonne, outline one of the smaller motifs on the points of the trees and fill in with oil paints.

The same scheme follows when you choose to decorate the unfigured bag with a stencil. There is a particular charm about the bag of gray crash or oilcloth when it's bound with orange grosgrain, treated to a vivid orange stencil; then the trees are given a coat of gray, likewise stenciled in orange, and finally touched up with perky little bows of the orange ribbon.

And if it is to be a "best" set to be used on occasion or to go off to the fancywork booth of the bazaar, it might be fashioned of silk. Citron-colored satin decorated with velvet cut-outs in black and purple and bound with a black velvet ribbon ought to result in a delectable accessory.

Or, pray, what do you think about an all-velvet bag for more appropriate weather? Let it be black bound with a vivid silk and boldly appliqued with the same. Or you might treat it to colorful wool stitchery.

There is one gift suggestion for you, little lady with the nimble fingers.

Silk Stocking Rugs

IN THESE days when the life of one's silk stockings is so uncertain, it is decidedly comforting to know that there is something useful which crippled ones can be made into! A movie actress discovered it and others were quick to use her idea. Silk stockings are cut into narrow strips and crocheted into floor rugs, with a buttonhook if you like. For the bathroom or for the colonial bedroom, one made of the remains of pastel-colored stockings would be charming indeed.

A New Flower Box

THE shops are showing quantities of lovely flower homes. Here is one which can be easily made by man, woman or child! Construct a wooden box about eighteen inches long, eight inches wide and six inches deep. Call one length the front and the other the back. On the back build up a lattice work about ten inches high. Line the box with tin and paint the exterior white. Plant in it some ivy vines and see whether it is not one of the most picturesque flower pots you ever saw!

Put One of These Around Your Hat

THERE is a perfect magic to the colorful hatband. It has power to make a stupid hat positively dashing. It can rejuvenate an old hat into unbelievable newness. Just about this time the sports hat that has been on the go since early spring, begins to show it. Try a bright bit of banding on the weary headpiece, and see if it doesn't take a new interest in life.

Nor need the band be an elaborate thing or difficult to make. It might go like this: two-inch unfigured ribbon of taffeta or satin, grosgrain or velvet, with two rows of stitched squares arranged alternately, checkedboard effect, and worked up with silk or cotton or wool, whichever contrasts most effectively with your ribbon.

Divide the ribbon band in half on the length with a faint penciling. Then mark it off with two-inch spaces. Now "fill" alternate spaces with over-and-over stitching. If you haven't any particular color scheme in mind, what do you think about this ultra-modish one: tea rose on jade? Or you might like to keep to the checkerboard suggestion and try black on red squares. It would be ever so fetching on a black hat.

Make Your Summer Dance Frock

THE summer dance frock is always a problem. It has to endure more beauty-sapping wear and should cost a great deal less than the winter evening gown. Then it must be lovely to the eye and yet lack heavy trimming. Well, here is a suggestion for you if you are trying to solve this problem yourself. It is as charming a bit of apparel as you ever saw and you can make it yourself. The charm of it is its colorfulness and its originality.

The skirt is made by joining bands of chiffon about five inches wide. Starting at the hem there is a pink, then comes a band of faintest nile green, and then comes a lovely pale blue. Then the cycle begins all over again with the pink and continues until the skirt is built up to the waist line. You will wonder how these are fastened together so that it does not look like a patchwork quilt. Well, they are fagotted together. The waist is perfectly plain, comes down rather low over the shoulders and has puffed sleeves that end considerably above the elbow. There is a triple sash to go with the triple scheme of the whole dress. Narrow two-toned ribbon is used. A pink, green and blue narrow ribbon—all with silver backs—go about the waist and end on the side in very long loops and ends. They are finished at the waist line with small pink satin roses.

This rainbow dance frock is fully entitled to claim honorable mention among Things Beautiful in every line. No dress you could plan would be more reasonable in price and offer such a charming result. Then just think of the distinction of having a whole hand-made dress!

—begins its second week of Furniture Promise on Monday at Bullock's—

—And if this first week is a criterion by which one may judge—then —The "A. B. C.'s" of Bullock's July Furniture may be epitomized in the one word VALUE—and you may emphasize that as forcibly as you please—

—Furniture Promise has already spelled Furniture Opportunity to many who participated during the week just ending—

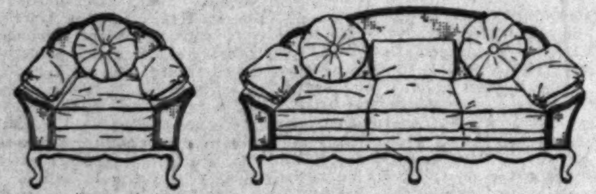
—For to buy such furniture (in many instances) at a trifle over present wholesale quotations—is certainly provocative of all the emphasis one can express—

—The furniture that has been assembled is good furniture—nothing but good furniture has been admitted—much of it is exquisite in its character—so strong and fine and beautiful in detail and design—particularly the period pieces—

—And the quantity and variety reaches a very wide range—with ample representation for every room or nook or corner in the house—both in suites and single pieces—

—A few illustrations are shown—Perhaps they will suggest a Furniture Need—At least they should arouse your interest to see ALL of the splendid furniture that is here—and that will initiate the second big week of impressive Furniture Values—at Bullock's—beginning—Monday.



This Chair $112.50 and Davenport $225.00

—This chair and davenport represent the newest and highest accomplishments in beautiful furniture.

—Unusual and distinctive in design either one of these pieces should give a tone of luxury to any living room.

The Times Literary Page Books and Their Makers

CONDUCTED BY GORDON RAY YOUNG

MANY NEW SUMMER NOVELS.

Stories by Mary S. Watts, John Galsworthy, Will Levington Comfort and Others.

"From Father to Son."

I think Mary S. Watts got tired of this story before she finished it—"From Father to Son" (the Macmillan Company.) And that she, of all the people who write, should have stumbled into the writing of a conventional war novel is further reason for deploring the great war and wishing to see the Kaiser hanged. When I read "The Rudder" I pronounced—a reviewer is always pronouncing and mispronouncing—her to be without a rival among her sex as a writer of novels, and the number of lady writers is like that of the locusts that plagued Egypt.

"From Father to Son" is a good novel. It is shimmeringly ironical and full of excellent characters, excellently revealed. Though Edith Gheradi, nee Rudd, very nearly dominates the story in spite of its title: and Mary Ballard arouses more sympathy than Steven Rudd—the one man of her fiction who seems to have seduced Mary S. Watts into loving him. Mrs. Watts, the ironical, witty, sardonic Mrs. Watts, gives Steve melodramatic ideals and carts him off to Greenwich Village to be a successful writer of little plays. By the happy endings of De Maupassant and the Polyannish qualities of Dostoievsky, I shall never again praise any woman writer until she is dead—then she will probably communicate through a ouija board and spoil everything.

I still insist that "From Father to Son" is worth reading for those who like very serious fiction—the kind filled with obscure humor and quick thrusts. There are a multitude of characters, and all of them sustained, unfolded, from the drunken Eugene Rudd—a real gentleman, and perfect Wattsian character—to Mr. Sackett, ex-whisky dealer; from Stillman, railroad magnate with no antecedents, to Lawson Rudd, great wholesale druggist, honorable himself, but with his family fortune founded on a vicious substitution in the Civil War. When Steve learns the truth inadvertently through an old diary of one Dr. Vardaman, the boy blows up and turns author. True enough, we were warned that this was coming by the fact that he was the only one of the Rudd family that read any of the books in the Rudd library, by the way he jumped the slippery little Cuban who wanted his invoices changed to beat the customs officers, and by the fact that Steve dabbled his fingers in ink while at college. But Greenwich Village and one-act plays!

Mrs. Watts's women are a delight, for she is a very subtle person, and subtlety is needed in telling the truth about ladies. She has never before presented such an array of characters, or at least given such attention to such an array, and each stands out with marked individuality. Edith, the lean, dynamic sensible girl, the thoroughbred, who marries a German officer and catches him with a serving maid under her own roof—and doesn't make a scene; Hester, her lounge-lizard of a sister with her hooks out for the son of Stillman, and the enormous black cat that is so effectively like a muff when she embraces it; Mary Ballard, who, with her mother, is shunted from one relative to another, and lives nobody knows how, who is not embarrassed by helping a drunken man to his room, and who, after getting the man she has made a dead set at in love with her, throws him over because she does love him — those are characters worth looking into.

"Saint's Progress."

I suppose we shall have to consider "Saint's Progress" (Charles Scribner's Sons) as Mr. Galsworthy's Mr. Britling. He has written two or three books full of war, but this is the first real war novel, and is told to picture the reaction of certain war phases and developments on Edward Pierson, man of God and the cloth, who finds war-time life turning up disconcerting problems to him. It is interesting, if not significant, to note the attention to spiritual themes among the British novelists—and the lack of it among the Americans. Curates and parsons and vicars and rectors, bishops and wearers of dalmatics never have been as prominent in our fiction as across the water. Edward Pierson is a vicar, the father of two motherless girls, Gratian and Noel, whom he has tried to keep shelteringly under his protective wing. Gratian, an energetic girl, is married to a free-thinking, free-speaking physician who has some love and a little pity of Pierson—the kindly, sensitive vicar, who refuses to climb out from the cotton and camphor balls of the Victorian days and look life between the eyes.

In his youth Pierson came nearest perhaps to getting a glimpse of "life" when he looked into the eyes of his pretty cousin, Leila, a girl who faded away in South African rumors—and returns in the story's progress very nearly to take from Noel the leading place in the book. The shock of Pierson's life comes to him through forbidding Noel to marry a young officer whom she has known but a few weeks. By his priestly standards, the acquaintanceship has been too short. The officer is suddenly ordered to the front, marriage is impossible in the few hours that remain. He goes. He does not return. Noel takes all the blame and the baby is born. It is Pierson's adjustment to that situation that gives the story its title. And Leila re-enters the story through love of a man who loves Noel. Leila is more of a woman, of a real woman, than any of the other characters, and perhaps inadvertently evokes more sympathy than the authorially petted and justified Noel, for though Mr. Galsworthy, in novels as in plays, takes a very determined attitude of noninterference, he has deliberately been very tender and considerate of Noel.

The story is much better than its ending. Galsworthy like many another author cannot bring himself to leave his favorites unhappy; and when he attempts the tragic ending he usually commits willful murder. "Saint's Progress" ends sweetly and repugnantly. It is the bitter flavor of Leila's passionate life that gives the book an abiding quality.

"The Yellow Lord."

There is nothing that irritates so much as the man who seems to have a "message" that you don't quite get. It is traditional form to say that he hasn't made it clear, to insist that he is a bit chaotic, nebulous, and not in the least to acknowledge that one's own equipment is a little inadequate. For some years I have been regarding Will Levington Comfort as a man with a cryptic message and telling my troubles to a public that probably doesn't care a hang about either my opinions or Mr. Comfort's—though it misses a great deal by ignoring him.

Mr. Comfort is one of a handful of Americans who write for something beyond mere words, beyond mere money, who is driven by a propulsive inner urge to wrestle with the angel at the ford Jabbok—and in the scheme of things it is vastly better to have written his failures than Harold Bell Wright's successes. Mr. Wright, I understand from evidence certainly not in his books, aims to give the world a message; but Comfort's evidence is all between his covers. Look them over: "Rutledge Rides Alone," "Down Among Men," "Red Fleece," "Lot & Company," "The Last Ditch," and the autobiographical "Midstream." There are books of rough, outlandish material, carefully chiseled—Mr. Comfort gives the impression of chiseling his sentences—and full of a spiritual something that, as I said above, irritates practical reviewers.

Even when he writes a purely adventurous novel, as "The Yellow Lord" (George H. Doran Company,) and has taken himself by the shoulder and said to himself: "Here, I'm going to forget about souls and things, and hyacinths, dreams and symbolism; I'm going to write a story like Anthony Hope or McCutcheon would if they knew anything about the seas and far places thereof," he can't get both feet down to earth, solidly. He keeps his toes on the ground most of the time, but springs up, snatching at the visions just beyond the groping finger-tips. And he does it beautifully. Mr. Comfort has always failed beautifully—if he has failed. I wouldn't call "The Yellow Lord" much of a failure. It is one of the best written adventure novels we have, in spite of a certain topographical vagueness and the banality of love at first sight.

When Bowditch, a typical adventurer of the conventional status—educated and on his uppers—goes to Magdelena Island, where the Yellow Lord, somewhat epileptic or worse, rules over the earth's greatest tea island, he encounters a queer plot and a beautiful girl. It is quite usual to accuse everybody these days who tries to put dignity into an adventure story of having come under Conrad's influence; and there is something Conradian about the way in which the characters of Catten, Comitu and Maj. Holt of this story are presented and unfolded; and it is the unfoldment of Catten's character, rather than the consciously hectic plot that gives the story its finest interest and greatest suspense. Mr. Comfort has made Catten convincing, much more so than many of the incidents and most of the plot—though adventure plots are never more convincing than fairy-story plots; and fairy-story plots have as inexorable unity of impression as any other kind of plots. Whoever fails to believe that had better look more deeply into the matter.

I like "The Yellow Lord" in spite of a great deal about it that does not contribute to the liking. I like such expressions as "the double-cross was twisted to a swastika," "the demon of fury took him," "the idea of death came to me as a sheltering wing, a dark, soft, deep, black wing. It was slow to fold me in—that was the agony."

Incidentally, Chireen Holt is the most attractive, most understandable, of all Mr. Comfort's women—though she belongs to the same family as the others; and Mr. Comfort's women are always mystics. He is a mystic himself . . . and I don't understand them or him, but if I had to pick out the American author of the most spiritual ideals, I would hesitate a long time before discarding the name of this ex-soldier, wanderer, wayfarer, erstwhile roughneck and adventurer who knows the sordid of life and never ceased to love the beautiful.

"Red Friday."

George Kibbe Turner has a penchant for prophecy. "Red Friday" (Little, Brown & Co.) isn't his first venture. He tries to get the reader excited over what is likely to happen if the Bolsheviks get their tentacles on the United States, but his manner of narrative is tedious, his exposition wearisome. In deliberately choosing a pacifistic ex-preacher as narrator he has presented a realistic character perhaps, but a dull one certainly.

In December, 1919, Plangonev, the brains of the Bolsheviks, comes to America and makes an alliance with a multi-millionaire. The millionaire is to grow richer and Plangonev is to see the other capitalists crushed out. The plot crushes the industrial world between high wages and high taxes, and the millionaire divides a percent of his profits so the "Red" can carry on their propaganda.

Not having much interest in economics, and considerable in the way books are written, I won't venture to say what I think of Mr. Turner's theories; but I don't know how he would have gone about it to have written a less entertaining book for the casual reader. The grand climax in which the millionaire's daughter saves herself, her country, civilization, and I don't know what all else, doesn't even have a kick in it; for it is indeed such a book as a pacifistic ex-preacher might have written without surprising anyone.

TENNYSON'S "MAUD."

There was sold last month at the Anderson Galleries in New York, as part of the famous collection of C. F. Gunther of Chicago, the original manuscript of a portion of Tennyson's famous poem "Maud." It consisted of twenty and a half pages, and the chief interest in the manuscript was in the unpublished portion, which consisted of entire verses. There were also numerous alterations and deletions of importance. It sold for $1950, and it is interesting to note that this same manuscript sold in London twenty years ago at Sotheby's for £111. At the time the Hon. Hallam Tennyson wrote to the London Times, expressing his father's great indignation at the sale of the manuscript, which he had presented to a friend. Tennyson had already written to Sotheby's demanding the name of the owner, which they declined to give. If this manuscript had been complete it would probably have sold for $10,000.

FIRST EDITION.

Word appears to have gone out to first-edition collectors that the initial edition of Brand Whitlock's "Belgium" will soon command a substantial premium. D. Appleton & Co., the publishers of the book, report that there is a constant call for copies of the first edition, a demand, which, of course, they cannot meet, as the book already is in its third printing with the fourth well under way. Apparently, too, most booksellers have sold their original stocks, for the publishers state the demand for the work has been so great that more than 50 per cent. of the retail trade reordered within the first week after publication.

FRENCH WRITES OF WAR.

Commander of British Forces During 1914 Tells Bluntly What He Thinks of Fellow Officers and Kitchener.

1914. By Field-Marshal Viscount French. Introduction by Marechal Foch. Houghton Mifflin Company.

When Field Marshal French wished to rally the men who had retreated from Mons to make their stand at the Marne, the tired, worn men, he did not line them up and make a speech. Few things are more dramatic and simple than his account of that incident: "Every man of them, except a small proportion of horse holders, was lying fast asleep on the ground. Accompanied by the brigadier (Chetwode,) I rode into the midst of the sleeping mass, my horse picking his way through the recumbent figures. They hardly stirred. I was anxious to say a few words to the men, and the brigadier asked me if he should call them to attention. I said, 'No, let them rest,' adding that I would talk to them for any one to hear who happened to be awake and not too done up to listen. I thanked them as they lay there on the ground, for all they had done: I told them of the situation and of our hopes of complete victory. A few men tried to struggle up; others, half awake, leaned on their elbows and drowsily listened. I hardly realized that they had heard anything of what I had said." But he had reason afterwards to know that they heard and remembered accurately.

This account of his command in the first year of the war by Field Marshal French is an epochal book, a soldier's book, and will be the basis of controversy for years to come. French speaks his mind, careless of who is living and who is dead. His principal attack is against Kitchener, upon whom he puts the brunt of the blame for the bungling. He says that Kitchener arrived in France and "assumed the air of a commander-in-chief," and only the support of the British Ambassador and the resistance of French impressed upon "K of K" that he had made a mistake.

"I further remarked that Lord Kitchener's presence in France in the character of a soldier could have no other effect than to weaken and prejudice my position in the eyes of the French and my own countrymen alike. I reminded him of our service in the field together some thirteen years before, and told him that I highly valued his advice and assistance, which I would gladly accept as such, but that I would not tolerate any interference with my executive command and authority so long as His Majesty's government chose to retain me in my present position."

That statement and others like it in this book will jar "official" England more than all the Zeppelin bombs dropped during the war. French also says that both Kitchener and the French wanted him to stand and fight before the Marne was reached, and he refused: "The demand that we should stand and fight was not only urgently repeated, but was actually backed by imperative messages from the French President, and from Lord Kitchener and the British government, yet at this very moment Lanrezac was actually throwing back the left flank of the Fifth Army and widening the gap between us. At the same time Lord Kitchener was assuring the home government that our losses were comparatively small, and that all deficiencies had been made good. French calls Lanrezac "the most complete example, among the many this war has afforded, of the Staff College 'pedant' whose 'superior education' has given him little idea of how to conduct war." Lanrezac was the French general chosen to support the British.

The English field marshal does not conceal his dislike of Gen. Horace Smith-Dorrien who made the most brilliant stand on the retreat from Mons. French denies that there "is a semblance of truth" in the statement that Smith-Dorrien was encouraged in that stand by headquarters, and says that he ordered the valueless action abruptly broken off. Another dig at the same general runs thus: "Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien gave it as his opinion that the only course open to us was to retire to our base, thoroughly refit, re-embark, and try to land at some favorable point on the coast line. I refused to listen to what was the equivalent of a counsel of despair."

French admires Joffre, Foch, Sir Douglas Haig, Asquith and dedicates his book to Lloyd George, and many others who served with and under him; but he does not hesitate to speak his mind about anybody. He thinks Kitchener would have been better in the field than in the War Office, and deplores the manner in which Britain scattered her energies by sending troops to fated Antwerp and to Gallipoli. He says that the War Office (Kitchener) was in constant communication with Joffre, and did not always take the time or courtesy to inform him of what plans and decisions had been projected and reached, so that he was often in the dark.

The book does not seem to have been designed as a controversial document, but it so frankly outspoken that the more sensational features attract attention from the vivid narrative and explict description. It is very nearly needless to point out that "1914" will be a basic book for all future historians, as well as subject of debate for the next half century.

BOOK NOTES.

Octavus Roy Cohen.

A young man who has found it pays to be an author is Octavus Roy Cohen of Birmingham, Ala., who has forsaken a career as a lawyer to devote all of his time to writing. Mr. Cohen believes he had more short stories printed last year than any other American writer, no less than 119 of his stories having been published during 1918. His first story, written in 1913, was printed in the Blue Book. In the short space of five years he became one of the highest paid of American story-tellers. Mr. Cohen's full-length detective story "The Crimson Alibi" has been one of this season's successes and George Broadhurst is launching it in dramatic form. The Saturday Evening Post has been printing some screamingly funny stories of the southern citified darky by Mr. Cohen and Dodd, Mead & Co. will publish the best of them in September under the title "Polished Ebony."

Roosevelt.

From the house of Alfred A. Knopf comes a book on Roosevelt entitled "Great Heart" by Neil Macintyre, with a foreword of Gen. Leonard Wood. The book gives a comprehensive view of the entire career of Roosevelt, yet it is unique in that it groups together under separate chapter headings the most thrilling of his experiences as a hunter, naturalist, teacher, rough rider, explorer, police commissioner, citizen, statesman, President, etc. thus making an absorbing series of narratives as well as a complete biography.

Ian Hay in Hollywood.

In a letter to his publishers written from Hollywood, Cal., Maj. Ian Hay Beith writes: "I am enjoying a much needed holiday, and spending most of my time in and around the Lasky studio, where they are making a film of 'The Admirable Crichton.' My friend Cecil de Mille is producing it, and I am consulted as the expert on English customs. It is great fun and easy work. Next week we are going off to an island in the Pacific to do the shipwreck scene."

The Peregrinations of a Poem.

One of the poems contained in Arthur Guiterman's book, "The Laughing Muse," has received a great deal of original publicity in London and New York owing to the fact that two people other than the author claim to have written it. The volume was published by the Harpers in 1915, and the poem in question is entitled "Strictly Germ Proof," the first verse reading:

"The Antiseptic Baby and the Prophylactic Pup
Were playing in the garden when the Bunny gambolled up;
They looked upon the creature with a loathing undisguised—
It wasn't disinfected and it wasn't sterilized."

Quite innocently Punch reprinted these verses as original. They were also offered to Puck in 1908, but their publication was stopped because some one happened to remember that they were Mr. Guiterman's. In May, 1908, they were likewise offered to the New York World, but Mr. Pulitzer soon discovered that they had already appeared over Mr. Guiterman's name in the Woman's Home Companion two years previous. Having found out the name of the American plagiarist, Mr. Guiterman is doing a little detective work on his own, trying to locate the English culprit who sold the poem to Punch. Mr. Guiterman's last book of verse is "The Mirthful Lyre."

"GERMANY OF THE FAR EAST"

QUESTION. By Thomas F. Millard. The Century Company, New York.

Mr. Millard says that he is not nonpartisan. He has for years been a resident in and a student of the Far East, and he believes that Japan is deliberately and successfully—with a system of propaganda adopted from Germany—hoodwinking the world, and particularly America. Japan, he points out, is utterly monarchial; the autocrats controlling every phase and department of the government, and are able to make the nation at will assume any attitude, believe anything. One of the most surprising revelations contains the information that the famous "Bushido" spirit of the Japanese the muchly advertised "chivalry" (somewhat related to kultur,) is of very recent origin, and is not something long ago implanted in the race. This statement is made: "Bushido was unknown until a decade ago. The very word appears in no dictionary, native or foreign, before the year 1900. Bushido, as an institution or code of rule, has never existed. The accounts given of it have been fabricated out of whole cloth, chiefly for foreign consumption."

Mr. Millard is very bitter though not excited. He says that Japan studied German ways and means of government and propaganda and copied her as closely as possible, with special reference to being all things to all men and reserving as secret her purpose until the opportune time. The opportune time came with the Great War, and Japan rushed in to grab China—with many loud protestations that she wanted nothing for herself; an attitude that has changed to one of wanting every thing from Germany's South Sea colonies to the whole of China.

He says that Japan formerly felt America was a second-rate power, one that might be defeated; but now she is wiser—and more determined than ever to hoodwink America since the chances of getting the better of her by force have gone glimmering. One of many examples Mr. Millard offers of the way Japan plays diplomacy—with soft promises to attract attention from her clutching hand—is contained in the message which Marquis Okuma telegraphed to America when Japan invaded China: "As Premier of Japan, I have stated and I now again state to the people of America and of the world, that Japan has no ulterior motive, no desire to secure more territory, no thought of depriving China or other peoples of anything which they now possess. My government and my people have given their word and their pledge, which will be as honorably kept as Japan always keeps promises." Perhaps it has been.

Under the heading of "The Corruption of a Nation," Mr. Millard purports to tells the story of how Japan has mercilessly fastened upon the whole of China, restoring drug and opium traffic the better to demoralize the people—at the same time getting profit for her own merchants; how she has grabbed practically all the sources of wealth that could be had without trampling on the toes of Allies, and has got a strangle hold on China's finances.

Mr. Millard thinks that America should come to the help of China, and do it chiefly by finance; but that American bankers should keep entirely away from Japanese participation and methods.

The book is a large one, full of matter, and a companion to the notable "Our Eastern Question" which Mr. Millard issued a few years ago. The important point that he seems to have had in mind is that since Japan now realizes she cannot hope for an alliance with Russia, Germany or England that will make her the military equal of America, her sole chance of success is to hoodwink America by propaganda and "closer friendship," by joining in business deals with prominent and influential Americans so that these will discourage and suppress unpleasant statements and facts—such as fill "Democracy and the Eastern Question."

THE MEN WHO WRITE NOVELS.

George Gordon, pen name for one of the men that make the literary section of the New York Sun worth reading, has written, edited, compiled and otherwise put together, an unconventionally entertaining biographical, and somewhat bibliographical, book on "The Men Who Make Our Novels" (Moffat, Yard & Co.) Mr. Gordon appears to have appealed to the authors for material about themselves, used what the considerate offered him, and scrambled about wherever opportunity offered for whatever else he could find. Naturally he has prejudices, pro and con, and he hasn't been taught—which is the same as Prussianizing—to keep his opinions to himself. The result is highly enjoyable. There are few things more pleasant than impertinence that doesn't hit one's self. Mr. Gordon has got in all the authors of importance, and nearly all of those unimportant. He begins with William Dean Howells (who, he thinks, suffers from modesty) and rushes along with Booth Tarkington, William Allen White, Ernest Poole, Joseph Hergesheimer, Rupert Hughes, Winston Churchill — but the list would include forty-seven names.

Mr. Gordon, from no sense of timidity, however, has used so many opinions of so many other people, that it is only occasionally that one captures him cutting out on his own initiative, as, for instance, thus: "So far as I can make out, Mr. Ernest Poole, though more of a novelist than those magazine fellows, has been acclaimed beyond his just deserts: he is not a great novelist in the sense that Mr. Wells is great, that Mr. Conrad is a novelist. He writes well of certain charming old men, twilight figures, and of a certain restless and ambitious type of women." Mr. Gordon, after poking fun at Henry Sydnor Harrison, he says with impudent unconcern for "literary style" and that other thing called "taste:" "I shall not attempt to criticise Mr. Harrison or his work lest I run amuck and be shot down like a mad dog." Yet in more sweeping moments, he can in referring to Harold Bell Wright and his meager equipment, deliver himself thus: "Bunyan was a tinker and taking the language of tinkers, the vernacular of byway and tavern, moulding it to his uses, he immensely enriched our speech. John Millington Synge wrote under the roofs of those whose talk is racy of the soil, rugged and strong as the bare hills on which stray sheep nibble among the gorse. Mr. Wright sat at the feet of the prosaic, his English not so much of the earth as mine, and missed a golden opportunity; he tells of the West, the W[illegible] where men are free to grow [illegible] weeds, rank and prolific; the W[illegible] where women are gaunt and [illegible] withering slowly in the wind; [illegible] West where younger sons and [illegible] throats go to seek fortune—in [illegible] lifeless copy of exercise books."

"The Men Who Make Our Novels" is raw and robust, full of healthy [illegible] and bad manners, enlighten[illegible] entertaining, and outside the [illegible] circle of "criticism," but worth [illegible] dozen books that are properly [illegible] the circle.

Why do the Latter-day Saints Build Temp[illegible]

By DR. JAMES E. TALMADGE

Of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Chr[illegible] Latter-day Saints; Salt Lake City, Utah.

Note: For free copies of other articles of this series, send [illegible] to the author.

The Latter-day Saints are known and distinguished as a Temple-building people. They, in common with religious bodies in general, build houses of worship, which for the different sects range from humble chapels to great churches, imposing synagogs, spacious tabernacles and stately cathedrals; but for none of these edifices is the claim advanced that they are Temples in the true and specific sense of the term.

Be it remembered that Temples are not designed for purposes of general assembly or congregational worship as are church buildings in general, but for the administration of sacred ordinances. It is both interesting and instructive to note that this characteristic applies alike to heathen temples and to exclusive sanctuaries reared to the name of the true and living God. In pagan temples of olden time, the altar of sacrifice stood at the entrance; and though devotees thronged about the altar, none but the officiating priests were admitted to the actual shrine within the temple itself.

So also with the Tabernacle of the Congregation, which was a portable sanctuary, constructed by the Israelites in their migration from Egypt; and so with the imposing Temples of Solomon, Zerubbabel and Herod, in each of which were spacious courts enclosed by outer walls, with altar and other equipment, within which courts the people congregated; but the sanctuary itself was a relatively small structure, reserved for the most holy ordinances and ceremonial ministry. Similarly the Temples erected and maintained by the Latter-day Saints are reserved for the solemnizing of sacred ordinances, and are distinctively other than meeting-houses used for public worship.

True to the Divine commission laid upon Israel, the Nephite colonists erected a Temple on the Western Continent as early as 570 B. C., about thirty years after their exodus from Jerusalem. The Book of Mormon informs us that this structure was patterned after the Temple of Solomon, though greatly inferior in size and splendor. (2 Nephi 5:16).

The Latter-day Saints build Temples because they are commanded so to do through the direct word of modern revelation; and in this divinely imposed labor they recognize the purposes of God with respect to the salvation and possible exaltation of mankind.

The laws and ordinances of [illegible] Gospel so far as required [illegible] vation—specifically the [illegible] exercise of saving faith in [illegible] Jesus Christ, true repentance, [illegible] mission to baptism by [illegible] at the hands of one having [illegible] ity, and to the higher [illegible] the Spirit by the authoritative [illegible] position of hands for the [illegible] of the Holy Ghost—these [illegible] ments may be met and the [illegible] effects thereof secured by the [illegible] ing without Temples. As indicated above, Temples not for the benefit of the living alone. Existing Temples are maintained for the salvation and exaltation of both living and dead; the ordinances administered in behalf of the dead outnumber many fold the administrations for the living.

Vicarious service for the departed is peculiar to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, rightly so, for to this Church the commission for this high ministry been given. In the last chapter of Malachi we find a vivid description of the condition of mankind in the last days, and prophecy of gladsome promise. April 3, 1836, in the first Temple erected in modern times, that Kirtland, Ohio, a glorious manifestation was given to Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery, in the course of which Elijah ministered in person to the two modern prophets, saying:

"Behold, the time has fully come which was spoken of by the mouth of Malachi, testifying that he (Elijah) should be sent before the great and dreadful day of the Lord come, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers, lest the whole earth be smitten with a curse. Therefore the keys of this dispensation are committed into your hands, and by this ye may know that the great and dreadful day of the Lord is near, even at the doors." One of the largest stage settings ever built in any motion-picture theater in the entire country is now being constructed by Managing Director Harry Leonhardt and Stage Manager Whisler of the California Theater, and will be shown for the first time next week during the run of Dorothy Dalton's new Ince sensation, "Other Men's Wives."

This is the summer dress for the big theater, and the originators of the idea promise that they are going to turn the immense stage of the beautiful house into a veritable sylvan glen that will bring to those in the audience the breath of the forest and the splash of waterfalls so realistically that they will feel like they have been transported to the cool mountain tops.

Over 580 yards of cloth were used in the making of the immense cyclorama or back drop and borders, and as the set stands it took over three quarters of a mile of half-inch Manila rope to hang it, as well as about 115 yards of linen tape lines to hold it in place on the battens.

HOW TO BECOME SHIMMIE EXPERT.

Now that shimmie dancing is becoming a sporting proposition, no one can afford to win the Brown Derby at a wiggle contest. The man who would shake a wicked waistcoat at a jiggle match must go into training.

At least this is the opinion of Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, Universal City comedians. Here is the training schedule for the would-be shimmie champ:

Eat eleven bowls of gelatin at every meal.

Rub the chest with powdered nettles every night before retiring.

Wear poison ivy leaves between the feet and the socks.

Spend two weeks in a sanitarium where there is an extensive St. Vitus Dance clientele.

Study the life and habits of the jellyfish.

Put yourself in the mental attitude of a golf ball and bounce from afternoon tea to tea.

Work yourself into a violent perspiration and then turn an electric fan on your back.

Teach your teeth to chatter to music.

Exercise on a bagpipe.

AYS CARRANZA INSPIRED RAID.

General Denies Villa was at Columbus.

Troops Responsible for Outrages.

Bandit is Hope of War-Torn Republic.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TON (Tex.) July 8.—Gen. Potrero, who was former active service as an officer in army, makes what purport some interesting disclosures in authorized statement here. According to Gen. Potrero, many of things that have been written Villa are untrue. He says:

has been said for and Francisco Villa, Mexico's alleged bandit. I personally served him for a period of three years know that Pancho was in Chi city, Mex., on the night of Columbus raid; I also know that paid the sum of 10,000 to accomplish that raid. You ask why. Simply because he to force the United States into Mexico after Villa, a man he could not handle himself, whom all Northern Mexico re and protects. Carranza be unable to do away with Villa, to embroil him and the States so as to do away with stumbling block, one which keeps from applying his cut methods to the northern part Carranza soldiers also did all of on the Texas border near Fordyce and Brownsville. I vouch for it that no Villa man ever been in the United States, for the purpose to steal or Whenever such has been, the has been a Carranza man has been highly paid and hor threatened.

is in my opinion, and in opinion of all of Mexico's north population, the savior of Mexico, the one man who gives a deal to all classes when his are obeyed, but who does not to pour out wrath upon the of those who fail to observe was said a while back the murder of a British subject of Villa's camps. I personally witnessed this killing and that it was done in self-defense and to protect a Mexican sooner the United States and assists Villa to bring back to normal the better world will be. If given the support by his neighbors, will straighten out Mexico to where decent people will decent living conditions and a square government and one intelligence and power.

has made but one since coming into power, robbing all business of its With Villa's present backing, he can clean up Carranza outfit and place Mexico she belongs, providing he the moral and substantial support of all American government."

MANS MAKE BID FOR ITALIAN TRADE.

TO ESTABLISH PRE COMMERCIAL RELATIONS ARE STARTED.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

June 2.—Already German has been exercising itself in an endeavor to win back trade, which annually to nearly $200,000,000— and imports.

have recently been in Italian papers which to establish the idea in the that had Germany been in the matter of Italian at the Peace Conference, would have secured all that asked. This has been in by many prominent Italians purely a subtle bid for Italian anticipating the re of friendly commercial between Italy and Germany.

among the interviews ap in Italy were those of Prince and Count von Bern. The former was married to and maintains in Italy one most celebrated villas. Italians that it was his object Italian favor when he said: is an Italian town and to Italy. All its inhabitants except a small minority. in Fiume is Italian. In and Hungarians living in more favorable to Italian Jugo-Slav rule."

von Bernstorff seeks in his intended for the Italian to forgive Italy for allying with Germany's enemies. He that had the ancient German been won, Italy would have forgiven but that the new is ready to forget the past over again.

interview, given to the d'Italia recently, has been in the same light as that of von Bulow, while Italians of it, "We prefer to trust than alternatives."

Bernstorff failed to arouse enthusiasm among the for the proffered forgiveness.

the Germans have not been in Italy. Already German are finding their way into the markets. A Milan newspaper announced that a large of German jewelry had at the frontier destined all parts of Italy. German products, tourist guide stationery have been on in shop windows for weeks of them were pre-war stock, for the greater part is new.

AVIATOR PREPARES TO DO SIX-REELER.

The arrival at Universal City of Lieut. Locklear, U.S.A., the daring aviator to whom flipping from one plane to the other in mid-air is but an incident in the day's work, has been the event of the week at the big studio. Locklear was specially engaged by Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, to make a sensational six-reel aerial melodrama from a story by Jacques Jaccard, which is temporarily titled "The Winged Trail" or "Cassidy of the Air Lanes."

Locklear brought with him a retinue of seven persons and three airplanes. Two will be used in the scenes for the picture, while the third will carry the cameraman and director. Jacques Jaccard, who wrote the story, will direct the spectacular production from the scenario prepared by George Hively.

Two other new feature productions have been launched this week at Universal City. Harry Carey started production on "The Eternal Savage," a story originally called "Pay Day," which was written by the western star in collaboration with Jack Ford, his director. Kathleen O'Connor, who played opposite James J. Corbett in his recently completed serial, "The Midnight Man," is to be Carey's feminine lead. Other notables in the supporting cast are J. Barney Sherry, Harry Van Meter, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Duke R. Lee, Joe Harris, Johnnie Cooke and Ted Brooks.

With Kenneth Harlan and Helen Eddy in the featured roles, George Seigmann is producing a six-reel melodramatic photoplay from Kenneth B. Clark's original story, "Who Knows?" In the supporting cast are Henry Barrow, Willis Marks, Clyde Hopkins, Edna Shipman, Gertrude Astor and Anna May Walthall. Doris Schroeder wrote the continuity.

Monroe Salisbury and company are still in the San Bernardino Mountains taking final scenes for "Sundown Trail," the J. G. Hawks story, which Rollin Sturgeon is producing. As soon as Salisbury finishes "Sundown Trail" he will start on "The Altar on Little Thunder," under Douglas Gerrard's direction. The story, originally written by Elliott Peake, is being reconstructed by F. McGrew Willis.

Dorothy Phillips continues to enjoy a summer vacation after finishing "The Right to Happiness," under Allen Holubar's direction. In the meantime the scenario department is combing the market for a suitable starring vehicle for Miss Phillips, and "The Right to Happiness" is being cut and titled.

Florence Turner, former Vitagraph star, has started to direct and star in a series of one-reel comedies, the first of which is temporarily titled "It's E. Z."

Eggs and "Ham."

Lloyd Hamilton, a leading member of Henry Lehrman's new comedy organization, and universally known as "Ham," has been living at the beach during the summer, and last week arranged to cook an "al fresco" breakfast on the sand with a party of friends. To the comedian was delegated the responsibility of bringing the eggs for the party, but a blow-out on the way delayed him, and it began to look as if the breakfast would be eggless.

"Well," said someone at last, "we'd have some ham and eggs if we only had Ham."

TOM MIX BECOMES SUPER-FISHERMAN.

Over in Catalina, there is a paper called "The Catalina Wireless." It makes a business of spying on the Tuna fishermen. Tom Mix, the famous William Fox cowboy star, went over to Catalina Island for a week-end, last month and for the first time in his life, fished for tuna. This is how the editor of the Catalina Wireless describes Mix's first catch.

"Tom Mix—born in the saddle, fed on the heart's blood of taratulas, and to whom the smell of six-powder is but the gentle fragrance of the desert rose; wild horse tamer, badman gentler and screen hero. This was the combination picked out for a sea tenderfoot, by one of Catalina's big game tuna this week.

"With a 'fellows, see that my estate is properly divided if I fail to come back tonight,' and the two-fisted smile of the unconqured, straight into the early sunrise heads the Mix-er.

"All goes merrily for a spell. The ship is steady, the kite sails off to leeward and with startling lifelikeness the bait skips along over the rippling surface of the sea. 'Gee! this is great!' And then out of the shattered mirror surges a ferocious monster of the deep and strikes with the killing power of a mountain lion.

"You never saw T. M. 'pull leather?" No. Well, there was no terror in that startled look, the open mouth and the humped back, but I'm a-tellin' you if so much of the line had not spun off the reel like a shaft of August lightnin' that Mr. Fish would have had a wild rider clinging about his fishy neck. No time to yell for help, or shoot, or figger what to do. Just cling to the bending rod and stare in open-eyed amazement at the fast vanishing line.

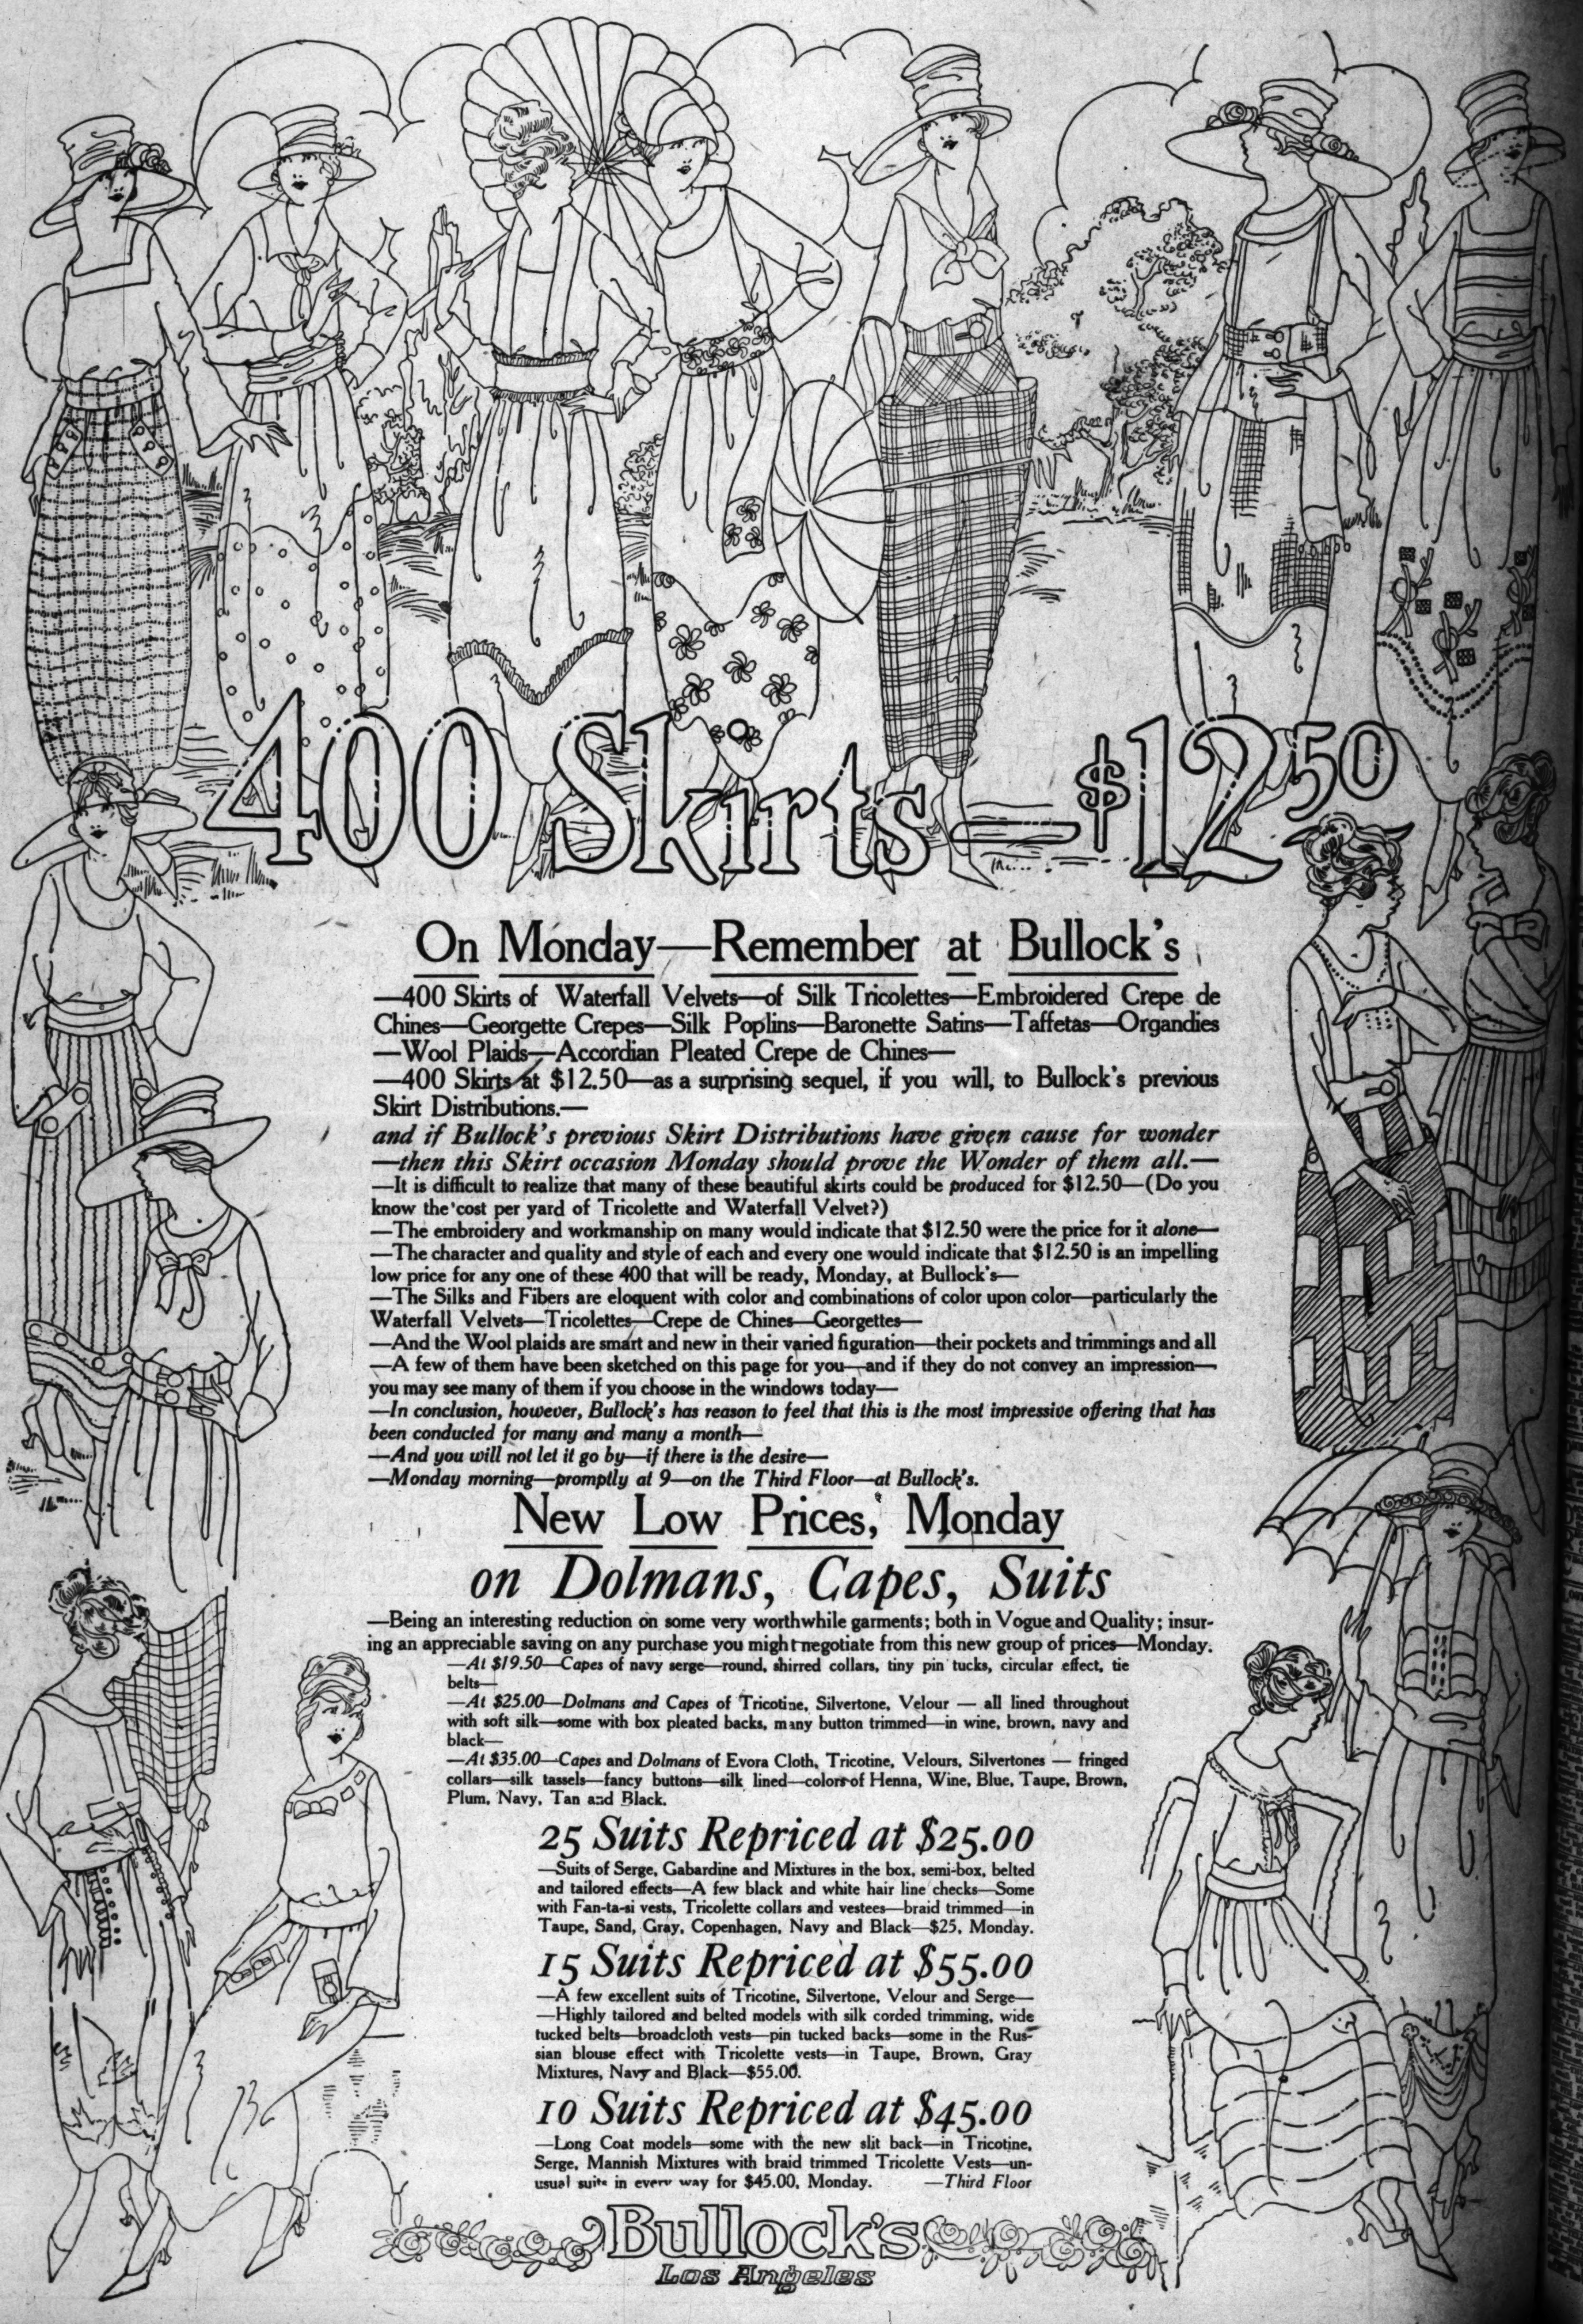
'But that first irresistible run over, with time then to seek advice from smiling, gloating friends, the fight was on. 'Give it to him, Tom.' 'He's rushin' weaker every time you get him up.' 'It's only an hour and forty minutes. 'Quit fiffin' and go get him.' 'Sure, it's a big one; bring him up where we can see him.' 'Baitin' you, no, not on your life, pardner, we just naturally want you to be decorated with one of them tuna buttons.' 'This is your fish; just keep the slack line out of his way and the darn thing will swim up to the boat.' And so the battle raged; and he wasn't no tenderfoot, and it was a damn good fight, and Tom won, but it wasn't no walkover, and wait till you see the picture. Some fish, believe me."

Old Army Autos Bring Double.

ROME, June 10.—The American army reaped a harvest in Italy when it disposed of its surplus equipment. Automobiles which sell for but $900 when new in America brought $2000. Typewriters which sold for $100 in the United States were bought for $200. All the material was second-hand, the automobiles having been used on the Italian front. The importation restrictions and the scarcity of material is the cause attributed for the high prices.

FAVOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

PARIS, June 12.—Impressed by the great majority in the Chamber of Deputies in favor of full civic rights for women, the authorities of the city of Paris and the Department of the Seine, have largely widened the opportunities for the employ of women in the departments of the City Hall and the prefecture. Herefore women were employed at the City Hall in inferior clerical positions only. The competitions for all the higher office positions including the heads of bureaus have now been opened to them.



400 Skirts—$12.50

On Monday—Remember at Bullock's

—400 Skirts of Waterfall Velvets—of Silk Tricolettes—Embroidered Crepe de Chines—Georgette Crepes—Silk Poplins—Baronette Satins—Taffetas—Organdies—Wool Plaids—Accordian Pleated Crepe de Chines—

—400 Skirts at $12.50—as a surprising sequel, if you will, to Bullock's previous Skirt Distributions.—

and if Bullock's previous Skirt Distributions have given cause for wonder—then this Skirt occasion Monday should prove the Wonder of them all.—

—It is difficult to realize that many of these beautiful skirts could be produced for $12.50—(Do you know the cost per yard of Tricolette and Waterfall Velvet?)

—The embroidery and workmanship on many would indicate that $12.50 were the price for it alone—

—The character and quality and style of each and every one would indicate that $12.50 is an impelling low price for any one of these 400 that will be ready, Monday, at Bullock's—

—The Silks and Fibers are eloquent with color and combinations of color upon color—particularly the Waterfall Velvets—Tricolettes—Crepe de Chines—Georgettes—

—And the Wool plaids are smart and new in their varied figuration—their pockets and trimmings and all

—A few of them have been sketched on this page for you—and if they do not convey an impression—you may see many of them if you choose in the windows today—

—In conclusion, however, Bullock's has reason to feel that this is the most impressive offering that has been conducted for many and many a month—

—And you will not let it go by—if there is the desire—

—Monday morning—promptly at 9—on the Third Floor—at Bullock's.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS—
WARTS AND MOLES.

Pulling a few stiff hairs from the face may start a serious growth. Let me demonstrate free of charge how pulling, cutting, using wax depilatories and the so-called hair removers promote growth of hair on the face. My electric machine is the only known method of killing superfluous hair, fuzz warts and moles, without destroying the surrounding tissue. This machine destroys 300 hairs an hour. I have had 19 years' experience and devote all my time to the work. A binding guarantee that any hairs or moles I treat will never return. Many L. A. satisfied customers will testify to my skill as an expert. Open all day Saturday.

MRS. F. A. SCOTT,
Suite 407 Bumiller Bldg.
Over Bootery.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR—

HUMILIATING AND UNSIGHTLY.

There is only one method known today of permanently removing superfluous hair, and that is Electrolysis (electric needle.) This process in the hands of a reliable and expert operator insures absolute satisfaction. I stand back of my work, and guarantee any hair treated by me will be permanently destroyed, leaving no scars.

LEARN THE ART OF SINGING—
SAVE THIS ADV.
SPECIAL SUMMER CLASS IN VOICE CULTURE.

Voice culture is an asset that can not be overestimated from a health standpoint alone. The deep breathing required makes red blood, quiets the nerves, and gives correct poise to the body.

It requires only a little intelligent study, time and money to equip you to take your place as a singer.

By learning to use your breath correctly, you will be greatly gratified at the interest your audience will take in your singing. Your voice will be heard farther, the tones will be sweeter, and you will not fatigue, but will enjoy the singing as much as your friends.

It is our object to master all of the elements that are necessary for a singing artist to know, including diction, phrasing and interpretation. Only the best music is used. Not a song is learned that could not be used at a dignified concert.

I am giving a special rate in voice culture and singing for the summer. Voice tried free of charge, and will tell you frankly if it is worth your time and money to study.

I am especially interested in young people's voices and give a special rate to high school students or public school-teachers.

We have monthly recitals for the benefit of the students, also a sight singing class, to which students are admitted free. Come and talk it over. You will not regret it, and it may mean much to you.

SEAGER-CLARK & CO.—

We are offering for your consideration some of the best bargains you will find in Los Angeles at this time in used motor cars.

We are taking these cars in trade on new Jordans, and in every instance they have been owned by some private individual who took some pride in their car—which means that you are buying a reliable car from a strictly reliable firm.

We put these cars through our shops, paint them if necessary, recover tops and when sold, they are delivered, ready for work and an absolute guarantee goes with them.

We will be glad at any time to take your car in on anything we may have that will suit you better and can assure you that you will be treated with courtesy due you whether you buy or not.

The following cars are now ready for delivery:

1917 Stearns-Knight 8, all new tires	$1450
1917 Chandler sedan, a beauty	$1750
1919 Columbia 6, 5-pass., mileage 6400	$1350
1919 Jordan sport, marine, 4-pass.	$2450
1919 Jordan sport marine, 4-pass.	$2650

MEXICAN THUG HAS HUN BEAT.

Army Major Says Cruelties Surpass Teuton.

Americans Forced to Flee by Foreign Passports.

Organizer Here Seeking Aid for Citizens' Rights.

That many American citizens who have recently left Mexico, after seeing their property confiscated, were compelled to come out of that country on French and British passports, is the statement made yesterday by Maj. John G. MacDonnell, field secretary of the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico, who is in Los Angeles to enlist the support of local business men in the association.

"I was provost marshal of the First American Army in France and I saw many distressing evidences of German ingenuity in cruelty," said Maj. MacDonnell, "but for downright deviltry the Mexican thug and bandit surpasses the Teuton. Many of the cases which have come to my attention could not well be recited in public. Fair-minded citizens of America have long been trying to secure the assistance of the government in defense of American citizens in Mexico, and I believe that the administration has at last reached the end of its patience. The news from Washington is encouraging and I think it is only a question of a few weeks when the United States will intervene on behalf of her citizens in Mexico.

CARRANZA BLAMED.

"Every opportunity has been given Carranza to establish a stable government in the southern republic, but he has demonstrated his inability to cope with the situation and to control the actions of his people. America owes it not only to herself, but to the world at large, Mexico included, to establish more wholesome conditions south of the Rio Grande. The misery and want among the rank and file of the Mexican people is beyond description.

"We have been properly interested in helping Bolshevik-ridden Russia and in seeking to rehabilitate the Balkans, but we have still greater reason to do something for oppressed Mexico. This association is endeavoring to keep itself in touch with Mexican affairs and with the government of the United States concerning all matters affecting American rights and property and is preparing to vigorously prosecute such legitimate steps as may be necessary for their protection."

CITIZENS SUPPORT.

Among the prominent citizens of Los Angeles who yesterday joined the association, and who have promised their active support to the organization, are the following: Stoddard Jess, president of the First National Bank; J. F. Sartori, president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank; M. N. Avery, president of the Guaranty Trust and Savings Bank; Henry S. McKee, president of the Merchants' National Bank; A. J. Waters, president of the Citizens' National Bank, and the following bank officials: M. S. Hellman, W. H. Longyear, E. T. Pettigrew, J. M. Rugg, W. J. Doran, E. S. Pauly, E. D. Roberts, J. R. Matthews, S. F. Zombro, Robert R. Rogers and R. P. Hardacre.

"Many other citizens have telephoned to me, or visited me in my office, 1015 Security Building, pledging their sympathy and support," said Maj. MacDonnell. "Many of those who have communicated with me have told stories of unnamable indignities which they suffered at the hands of the Mexicans."

Maj. MacDonnell will be in Los Angeles for a few days and will then go to San Francisco in the interests of the association.

MEXICAN UNIVERSITY PLANNING EXCHANGE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) July 12.—An exchange of students and professors between the University of Mexico and the University of Texas, University of California and University of Arizona has been arranged. The plan had its origin with Dr. J. N. Macies, head of the University of Mexico, situated in the City of Mexico. Accompanied by F. Montano, professor of English in that institution, Dr. Macies has just finished paying personal visits to the California, Arizona and Texas universities when they conferred with the respective university authorities on the subject.

In each instance the plan met with approval and it will be put into effect this fall. In the beginning about eighteen Mexican students will be distributed among the three universities that have entered into the arrangement and each of these institutions will reciprocate by sending six students to the University of Mexico. The number of professors to be exchanged has not been decided upon as yet. It is the belief of Dr. Macies and all other parties to this arrangement that it will be the means of promoting a better feeling between the two countries.

BAKERSFIELD MAN FAILS TO BREAK WILL.

DR. McKEE'S BEQUESTS UPHELD BY OHIO COURT—PASADENA WOMAN PRESENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CINCINNATI (O.) July 12.—After a trial extending over a month and thirteen hours of argument by attorneys, the jury in Judge Stanley Matthews's common pleas courtroom today after twenty-nine minutes' deliberation returned a verdict sustaining the will of the late globe-trotting author and scientist, Dr. E. S. McKee. The suit to break the will was filed by James R. McKee, a brother, of Bakersfield, Cal., who alleged undue influence on the part of Mrs. Florence Ruth Brown, formerly of Norwood, and former soloist at the Sinton-avenue Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Brown is married and now lives in Stockton, Cal.

Under the will Mrs. Brown was given one-third of Dr. McKee's estimated $35,000 estate. Numerous red-hot love-letters and notes which were alleged to have passed between Dr. McKee and Mrs. Brown were introduced in evidence, as also were many remarkable love essays and poetry written by Dr. McKee. The verses were used by Attorneys Freiburg and Geoghan and C. C. Benedict, representing James McKee, to support their contention that Dr. McKee was not mentally responsible. Dr. McKee died at Quito, Ecuador, in 1916, after a world-encircling tour intended by Mrs. McKee, the doctor's wife, to break the relations of Dr. McKee and Mrs. Brown. This tour started at Los Angeles. His former wife, Mrs. Anna Louise McKee, who secured a divorce from him a few months before his death, was a witness for the brother. She had no financial interest in the outcome of the suit as she received a substantial sum as alimony at the time of the divorce. Mrs. McKee came on from Pasadena, Cal., to appear in the courtroom and if possible face Dr. McKee's admitted female favorite.

PLAY WITH GUN FATAL TO BOY.

Romero Lari, Thirteen, Slain in Tussle for Weapon.

Man Who Loaned Weapon is Held by the Police.

Who Held Fatal Revolver is Puzzle to Detectives.

Romero Lari, 13 years old, of 3220 Barranca street, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday afternoon while he and three of his boy playmates were struggling for the possession of a loaded revolver. The shooting took place in the Los Angeles River bed near the San Fernando road. According to the story secured from the boys by the police, they were all struggling for possession of the revolver in order to shoot at a target when the weapon was discharged. The shot pierced the boy's heart, killing him instantly.

Detective Sergeant Blue who went to the scene of the shooting took to the East Side police station the boys, who were William Babcock, 12 years old, of 2058½ Dayton avenue, James Kemper, 9 years old, of 46 San Fernando road, and Clyde Statham, 12 years old, and also Henry Fletcher, 25 years old, of 3526 Arroyo Seco avenue, the owner of the revolver. All except Fletcher were allowed to go home. He was held charged with criminal negligence in permitting the boys to use his revolver.

According to statements made by the three boys, they were playing in the river bed when they met Fletcher, who was shooting at a target with a .22-caliber revolver. The boys all joined in the sport and took turns shooting the revolver. Fletcher, according to their statements, was watching them and loading the weapon.

When the boys were about ready to start home, a quarrel arose as to whose turn it was to shoot. All four reached for the revolver and in the struggle it was discharged. The police last night were unable to establish who held the revolver when the fatal shot was fired.

The body was taken from the river bed to the Cresse Undertaking Company, 5860 Pasadena avenue.

NEW ISSUE

We Offer Subject to Prior Sale

150,000

Shares (par value $10.00) of the Full Paid and Non-Assessable Capital Stock of the

Atlas Petroleum Corporation

CAPITALIZATION: Organized under the laws of the State of Delaware.
Authorized $5,000,000.00
Unissued ....250,000 Shares
Outstanding (including present offering) ....250,000 Shares

PROPERTIES: Comprise about 33,300 acres of oil and gas leases located in Marion County, West Virginia, and in Kimble, Sutton and Edwards Counties, Texas. The West Virginia acreage is proven territory in the prolific Mannington District. The Texas holdings are located upon the well-known Edwards Plateau, and were originally selected by oil experts for Benedum and Trees of Pittsburgh, more than a year ago. The Edwards Plateau is believed by numerous geologists and oil operators to overlie the southwestern extension of the Pennsylvania formation which has proven so productive in the Central Texas fields.

DEVELOPMENT: There are now seven producing wells upon the West Virginia properties. Well No. 8 is drilling and there are locations for at least eleven more. Three locations have been selected on the Texas properties, the material and equipment for which are on the ground and operations are being conducted as rapidly as possible.

EQUIPMENT: The properties of the Corporation both in West Virginia and Texas are equipped with standard rigs, casing, cable, strings of tools, automobiles, motor trucks, warehouses, etc., etc. In fact everything necessary to complete the work now under way.

APPRAISAL: A conservative estimate of the value of the assets of the Corporation suggest a book value for the stock comparing favorably with the price of the present offering.

FINANCIAL: The Corporation has no bonds—no preferred stock—the financing arranged for will provide cash for future development, and, the $2,500,000.00 unissued stock will suffice for the contemplated acquistion of additional production, leases and their proper development.

SCRIPPS'S RESIDENCE DISPUTED IN COURT.

WED AS CALIFORNIAN, FIGHTS DAMAGE ACTION AS OHIO CITIZEN, 'TIS SAID.

The legal residence of Robert P. Scripps, the wealthy publisher, is a matter of question in the action of H. B. Steele and his wife, Della Steele, brought against Mr. Scripps for $75,000 damages because of an automobile collision in which the Steeles were seriously hurt. A motion, on behalf of the plaintiffs, to have the case transferred from the Federal Courts to the Superior Court of San Diego county will be argued before Judge Trippet tomorrow.

The action was originally filed in San Diego county, but on motion of Mr. Scripps was removed to the Federal Court, diverse citizenship being claimed. Mr. Scripps declared he was a citizen of Ohio.

Now the Steeles want the case sent back to San Diego, on the ground that Mr. Scripps accepted the jurisdiction of the State courts, and that on March 20, 1917, two days after the accident, he obtained a marriage license in Los Angeles county, stating he was a resident of Miramar, San Diego county.

YORK AND READ GIVEN MEDALS AT CENTENARY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) July 12.—Sergt. Alvin C. York, this country's greatest war hero, and Lieutenant-Commander A. G. Read of the NC-4, were the idolized favorites at the Methodist Centenary Expasition today.

Separate receptions were accorded the heroes in the Coliseum, which was crowded to the doors. Sergt. York, in response to his introduction said:

"I wish I could make a fine speech to you, but I am not a speaker. I'm just a plain mountain boy from Tennessee. All I have to say about the war in France is in honor of God, for without his help we would not have won.

"I live and practice a full salvation, and I believe in continual prayer. While I was in France I prayed continually to God that I might come home without a scratch from the Germans, and I did."

Lieutenant-Commander Read, in response to his introduction, commented on the lack of enthusiasm over flying in this country as compared with that manifested in England and France. He modestly stated that the entire Navy Department de served credit for the success of his venture in crossing the Atlantic.

The men were presented with medals struck in their honor.

Livingstone, President of the Boy Scouts of America; Mrs. August Belmont and Mrs. Mary Roberts Rhinehart.

Changes necessary to be made in existing policies so that men will retain their insurance after returning a civil life, will be considered by the committee.

AUSTRALIAN COAL IS IN FEDERAL CONTROL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MELBOURNE (Australia) July 12.—Regulations have been adopted under the War Precautions Act, putting under control of the Prime Minister the entire coal output of the Australian commonwealth. The regulations further empower the Federal government to fix wages and conditions of employment in the mines and establish the price of coal.

The step was taken in order to avoid a strike of the miners in New South Wales.

HOME FOR BURIAL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, July 12.—The body of Miss Stella Long, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Long of this city, arrived here this morning. Miss Long lost her life by drowning while in bathing in the Laird Slough, near Modesto, Thursday afternoon. The Long family were taking their vacation, spending some time with Mr. Long's brother and family at Modesto. The tragedy came at the end of a day's outing given in honor of Miss Long. The young woman was a student in her first year at the Whittier High School, last year. The funeral services will probably be held Monday.

CONGRESS' DRY POWER DENIED.

Untermyer Says it Can't Define Intoxicants.

Question of Fact Solely up to Jury, He Asserts.

House Paves Way for Battle to Begin Tomorrow.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The right of Congress to define intoxicating beverages was denied today by Samuel Untermyer, a New York lawyer, in testifying before the Senate judiciary sub-committee, which is considering prohibition enforcement legislation.

Mr. Untermyer told the committee that neither under the War-time Prohibition Act nor the constitutional amendment could Congress say that any particular percentage of alcoholic content constituted an intoxicating liquor. Both the act and the amendment, he argued, left this as a question of fact which could be determined only before a jury.

In support of his contention that beer containing 2.75 per cent. alcohol was not in fact intoxicating, Mr. Untermyer submitted affidavits, reports on scientific experiments and similar data, much of which was used in behalf of the brewers in the recent 2 3-4 per cent. beer cases in New York.

"My quarrel," Mr. Untermyer said, "is with your attempt to convert anything you please into intoxicating liquor. The war-time Prohibition Act applies only to intoxicating beer and 2.75 per cent. beer can be shown not to be intoxicating. An extension of that act under the guise of an enforcement measure is not within the power of Congress."

POWERS LIMITED.

Similarly, he said, the dry amendment limited Congress to prevention of the manufacture or sale of intoxicating beverages.

Chairman Sterling asked if Congress had no authority to prohibit the manufacture or sale of even liquids containing no alcohol whatever, but such as might reasonably be employed to cover evasion of the laws against intoxicating beverages. The witness asserted that such power did not exist and any attempt by Congress to define intoxicating beverages would be an invasion of the rights of citizens engaged in the manufacture of such lawful, non-intoxicating beverages as might fall within the classification thus made.

"Then Congress is powerless to enforce its own laws or the constitution," said Senator Overman.

"It is powerless to forbid the manufacture of anything that is not in fact intoxicating," the witness said.

Mr. Untermyer estimated the amount of 2.75 beer now held by the 1200 brewèries over the country at 1,000,000 barrels.

PREPARES FOR REAL BATTLE.

General debate on the prohibition enforcement bill—twelve hours of it—was concluded today in the House and advocates and opponents of the measure made ready for the real battle that will begin Monday when it is taken up for amendment.

Prohibition leaders admitted tonight that it was doubtful whether a vote would be reached before Saturday.

"There will be a fight on every line of the printed text," they said, first of which will be over an attempt to split the three-part bill, so as to take up separately a straight measure for enforcement of the war-time law.

Representative Igoe, Democrat, Missouri, startled some of the prohibition advocates by suggesting that they raise no point of order against a proposal to let the House vote on an amendment to repeal the war-time law.

This action had been expected and half a dozen were known to be ready with the contention that such an amendment was not in order.

GOES TO HEADQUARTERS.

Mr. Igoe, in charge of the minority attack on the bill reported out by the Judiciary Committee, seemed to sense the desire of the prohibitionists to step forward and crush any such move. He went, therefore, to headquarters and asked Chairman Volstead of the Judiciary Committee, in charge of the bill, to use his influence among prohibition members so as to let the question be placed before the House for a decision.

"In view of the fact," said Mr. Igoe, "that the prohibitionists contend the majority of the people are in favor of enforcement of wartime prohibition, will you not give the House a chance to vote on a straight-out repeal?"

"That is a question I cannot answer," Mr. Volstead replied. "I haven't had time to consider it or to take the matter up with those who would have to be consulted."

That was all that was said on the subject. But it was enough, opponents of the bill said, to show that the repeal motion would have no chance in the House.

HIGH PRICES TO STAY, OSBORNE PREDICTION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Continuation of high prices may be expected at least until Liberty Bonds are paid off, Representative Osborne, Republican, California, predicted today in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record.

"There is every reason to believe the purchasing power of money will continue relatively low and that the cost of things necessary to existence wil continue, as measured by money, relatively high," he said.

Fleece Victims Out of $1,000,000.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—John McSherry, describing himself as a salesman and alleged by the police to be a member of a gang of "wire tappers," who are credited with fleecing victims out of $1,000,000 in Buffalo, was arrested here today. One of the principal victims of the Buffalo gang was Michael Connelly, a Montreal contractor, who claims to have lost $125,000 betting on a horse race in a bogus poolroom in Buffalo last December.

TOWNLEY NOT ALLOWED TO ADDRESS THE JURY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

JACKSON (Minn.) July 12.—The defense completed its case at noon today in the conspiracy trial of A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert, Non-Partisan League leaders, charged with conspiracy.

After the jury was excused until 2 p.m. the defense asked Judge E. C. Dean to permit President Townley to make part of the address to the jury. Townley did not take the stand in his own behalf. Attorneys for the State protested vigorously to Judge Dean against Townley being permitted to argue the question of his guilt or innocence to the jury and took the position that he could not do so, as he has not been admitted to the bar.

District Judge Dean, after denying a motion to dismiss the case refused at noon to permit the defendants' attorneys to address the jury this afternoon on behalf of Gilbert and also refused to permit Townley to make a separate argument in his own behalf.

WILL STANDARDIZE HANDLING OF FRUIT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WALLA WALLA, July 12.—John W. Langdon, president of the Walla Walla Commercial Club and leading orchardist of the Northwest, just home from an eastern trip during which he assisted in the organization at Pittsburgh of a $125,000,000 corporation which is buying up big orchard and vegetable tract properties in Washington, Oregon, California and other parts of the United States, said here today that his organization will standardize the growing, grading, packing and marketing of fruits and vegetables and that it will prove of more benefit to the growers of the Northwest than any other movement in recent years.

Mr. Langdon also announced that 15 or 20 eastern capitalists would visit and investigate Walla Walla in the near future with a view to locating several big manufacturing plants here.

MILK PRODUCERS OF VALLEY ORGANIZED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, July 12.—Organization of the milk producers of the San Joaquin Valley was virtually completed here early this afternoon when directors of creameries, said to represent sixty per cent. of the commercial milk production of the valley, brought in reports from their concerns, ratifying the sale of properties, valued at $280,000, to the San Joaquin Valley Milk Producers' Association, it was announced by officers of the organization.

Only two creameries, represented at the meeting, were not ready to make a definite sale These are the Danish creamery of Fresno and the Kings county creamery, it was announced.

INVESTIGATION OF THE SHIP BOARD PLANNED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Investigation of the operations and expenditures of the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation by a special House committee was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Walsh, Republican, Massachusetts in agreement with Republican leaders.

The resolution provides for "an investigation of contracts, leases, expenditures, receipts and any and all transactions of the United States Shipping Board, the Emergency Fleet Corporation and any other corporations, firms, individuals, or agency in any way associated with or controlled or regulated by the said board of Emergency Fleet Corporation."

The resolution was referred to the Rules Committee, which will be asked to make it a special order of business after the prohibition enforcement legislation is disposed of.

ANNOUNCEMENT
To the Stockholders of

Ranger Oil Company
Rex Oil Company
Consolidated Oil Investment Co.

We are happy to announce that the Balentine Well on the Pleasant Grove Church lot at Ranger [illegible] completed successfully, and was reported Saturday flowing 6000 barrels a day, with a chance for [illegible] production when drilled deeper.

During the past week the Wagner well at Desdemona was completed, and last reports stated that well was flowing 15,000 barrels a day.

LARGE EARNINGS

At the present rate of production from these two wells the earnings of the Ranger Oil Company will be increased approximately $20,000.00 a month; that of the Rex Oil Company $10,000.00 a month, while the Consolidated Oil Investment Company will receive practically $40,000.00 a month from its holdings in these wells. This should be further increased in a short time, as the No. 2 Balentine well, located 100 feet [illegible] No. 1, is now drilling at 1000 feet and should come inas big as the present well within the next [illegible]

ON THE PLEASANT GROVE LOT

The Fain well, directly south of the Perkins, and between that well and the Turner well, which [illegible] showing for a big well, is now reported drilling at about 2000 feet, and should be completed within [illegible] As the Ranger Oil Company and Consolidated Oil Investment Company each own about 1-32nd of all the [illegible] that will be produced from this well, this will mean a further increase in earnings of [illegible] $12,000.00 a month, should this well come in flowing 6000 barrels a day. The drillers on this well are [illegible] pecting to carry the 8-inch casing clear to the oil sands, which would give a capacity of [illegible] the regular tubing used in the other wells.

STANLEY-KIMMELL-RALSTON

On the Stanley-Kimmell-Ralston royalty, in which the Ranger Oil Company owns large [illegible] rigs are up and more than half of them drilling, and two dozen wells are reported on the [illegible] ing for tankage and pipeline facilities.

During the past week Taylor No. 1, northwest of the Texas Chief, on this royalty, came in [illegible] 2500 barrels daily. Northwest of this well the No. 1 Evans is on the sand and showing for [illegible] One-half mile east of the Texas Chief the Falcon Company's well has been drilled 10 feet in a [illegible] and the well is showing good. As this is on the east edge of this royalty it proves all the [illegible] tween it and the Texas Chief.

West of the Texas Chief the Jewel V. Company's well came in last week, flowing 3500 barrels. [illegible] pipe line facilities are provided it is predicted by oil operators that there will be more than [illegible] daily production on the Stanley-Kimmell-Ralston royalty within the next 30 days, and in 60 days [illegible] be doubled. This would still further increase the income of the Ranger Oil Company [illegible] month.

DENNISON ROYALTY

On the Denison royalty, in which both the Ranger Oil Company and Consolidated Oil [illegible] pany have large holdings, which contains over 3000 acres, about 25 wells are now drilling, [illegible] pleted within 90 days, and as the first two wells on this royalty came in recently flowing [illegible] day, it is impossible to estimate the ultimate earnings from this property when the 300 [illegible] be drilled, are completed.

CRUSE WELL

The Cruse well at Ranger, located directly north and offsetting the Perkins lease, in which [illegible] Oil Company owns 1-48th of the total production, and the Corner School well, located [illegible] and the big Danley well, in which both the Consolidated Oil Investment Company and the [illegible] pany each own 1-64th of the production, should be completed within 60 days, and it is [illegible] that both of these wells will be large ones.

PARTON ROYALTY

Four wells are nearing completion on the Parton royalty, located directly south of [illegible] Norwood gushers, and these wells will add materially to the income of both the Ranger [illegible] the Consolidated Oil Investment Company.

The Albers well is reported Saturday looking better than the Perkins, and the O. J. [illegible] of the Norwood, is reported to have come in Friday at 5000 barrels a day, while the [illegible] three miles west of Perkins, was reported showing oil flowing over the top of the derrick. [illegible] of these wells will add greatly to the income of the Consolidated Oil Investment Company, [illegible] interests in the three royalties.

REX EARNINGS

The Lulu Pearl Oil Company is drilling a second well, west of the Texas Chief, at [illegible] this well is almost sure to be a large one, and as the Rex Oil Company owns 1-48th [illegible] this company, its earnings should be greatly increased when the well is completed.

The Watson well was connected up with the pumps during the past week, and additional [illegible] be completed on the Harrison lease within the next few days, which will still further [illegible] ings of the Rex Oil Company.

HOLD YOUR STOCK

It is the sincere advice of the officers of your companies that each stockholder refrain [illegible] his stock, and benefit by the large dividends and enhancement of the stock value, which [illegible] from the large production we already have, and from the new wells which will be [illegible] to time on all of their various holdings.

However, we anticipate that some of our stockholders will wish to avail themselves [illegible] assist in this we are arranging to list the stock on the Los Angeles, Honolulu and other [illegible]

Completion of other wells will be announced in the same public manner as has prompted [illegible] ment, it being the policy of the officers to keep all stockholders fully advised as to the [illegible] companies.

Reason.

familiar with the build- denies that material high—sufficiently so to put on certain extremely im- of building. There is of course—one not related to the producer's ideas of profiteering.

Lumber is especially high. Five price increases have fallen on the Los Angeles market since April 28. More may follow before this summer is very much advanced. In fact, reports pointing in this direction are already current; and the lumbermen themselves are not venturing a guess as to how the price of all lines of building lumber, particularly laths and shingles, may ultimately go.

This price-soaring is worldwide and not merely local. The direct cause, according to the best-posted authorities, is the operation of the ancient law of supply and demand. The European war, of course, is the real offender. America, along with the rest of the world, is simply paying the price of destruction.

England and France are today enormous buyers of lumber in the American market. Britain's orders, according to market reports, exceed 6,000,000,000 feet in the Pacific Coast markets alone. One need not be a very close analyist to understand the extent to which an order as immense as this will affect the American market, especially as this country's legitimate building needs have already drawn reavily on the home supply.

It will be well to remember these things when disposed to rant at the local lumber dealer for his inability to balance his prices with pre-war days. It will be well, too, to view the situation in the light of pure reason, and make every day count now in the accomplishment of whatever building plans you may have in view. There is something more than attempted alleviation of present-day unrest in the government's "build now" campaign. It is a simple lesson in practical economy.

IN NORTH WILSHIRE.

The construction of five bungalows will be started soon by the Janss Investment Company on their North Wilshire tract which consists of thirty-five lots on Maplewood avenue between Van Ness avenue and Wilton place. The same company reports the following recent property sales at Belvedere Heights: To B. Randall, dwelling, $3600; to L. M. Russell, dwelling, $1150; to C. Gato, building lot, $850; to Glen Wilch, dwelling, $1450; to E. C. Sturgeon, building lot, $750.

MANY FINE HOMES NOW GOING AHEAD.

ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS REPORT NEW STRUCTURES FOR WEALTHY CLIENTS.

Indications are that this summer and fall will see many notable additions to Los Angeles' select residence sections, homes which have been in contemplation for some time and which their owners are now eager to proceed with. Local architects and firms combining building and architectural designing report a larger number of the finer class of dwellings in prospect than this city has known in several years. These structures are intended particularly for west end districts, Windsor Square, LaFayette Square, Hollywood, and the foothill sections, extending to the Palisades of Santa Monica, where several costly and artistic homes will soon be under way. They will range in price from $20,000 to $50,000.

Among the new homes soon to erected in the Palisades section Santa Monica will be those for John Parkinson, Los Angeles architect; Henry I. Lea, internationally known engineer, who recently purchased a site of forty-acres in Rustic Canyon from the Santa Monica Land and Water Company, and Mary Pickford, whose site is on the Palisades bluff overlooking the ocean.

Four attractive homes will soon be erected in various residential districts for clients by Frank Meline, who has already prepared the designs. One of these is for Raymond C. Thorne of Chicago—a residence of the Spanish renaissance type of architecture which will soon be erected on Lexington road, Beverly Hills, where the owner has purchased a five-acre knoll site. The house, containing seventeen rooms, will cost approximately $50,000. It will have terraced gardens, a group of fountains and a Spanish courtyard.

Another of these homes is for W. A. Holt, advertising manager of Bullock's, at 515 Irving boulevard, Windsor Square. It will be of the colonial type of architecture, will contain eleven rooms, and cost about $20,000. A home also of the colonial type will be built by the same firm for Mrs. A. J. Vereyen at the corner of Selma and Laurel avenues, Hollywood. This house will contain fourteen rooms, and will have a site of two acres. The Italian renaissance style of architecture has been selected for the home being built for Mrs. J. H. Myers at the corner of Sixth street and Lorraine boulevard, Windsor Square. It will have twelve rooms and will be surrounded by an Italian garden.

H. M. Pembroke of Los Angeles is building an attractive colonial style home on Manhattan place from plans prepared by Ross Gordon Montgomery.

SAYS HE OVERLOOKED PASSPORT FORMALITY.

Trinidad Leon, a Mexican, charged with illegally entering the United States without a passport, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Stephen G. Long, yesterday, and in default of a bond of $500 was committed to the County Jail. The preliminary examination was set for next Saturday.

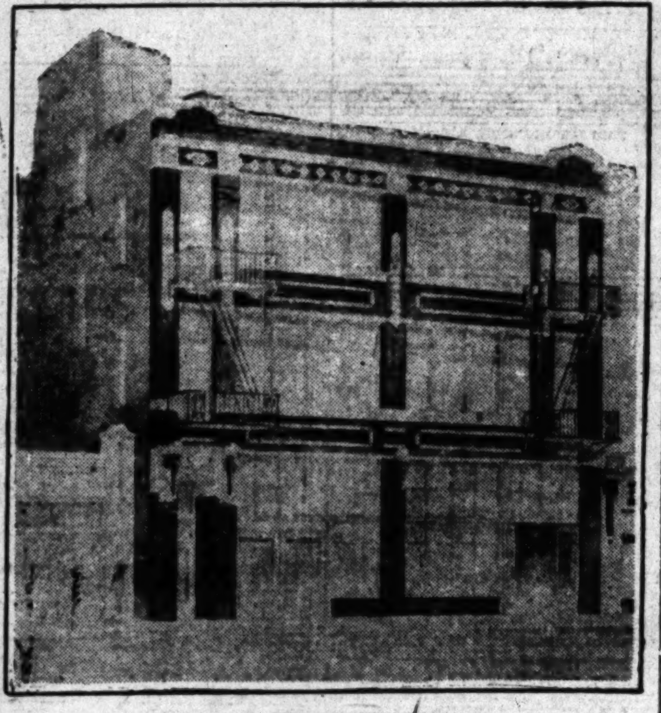
Leon says he has not been in Mexico for several years, but working on the American side in the Imperial Valley and elsewhere. He was picked up at Calexico.

TO HANDLE SALES.

Local Realtor will Dispose of Chateau Thierry Property.

O. A. Vickery, Los Angeles realty broker, has been made local selling agent for Chateau Thierry, a residence subdivision adjoining Long Beach, recently opened by George W. Hughes, one of the beach city's pioneer developers. The property comprises 250 acres fronting for a mile on Long Beach boulevard, extending from Wardlow road north to Downey boulevard. It was part of the Bixby ranch holdings, and is ten minutes by automobile from the municipal pier, Long Beach, and fifty minutes from Los Angeles.

Streets will be oiled and graveled, and there will be cement walks and curbing, with wide parking space planted with shade trees and arranged with ornamental lights. Water, gas and electricity will be installed. According to Mr. Hughes, contracts have already been made for twenty-five houses to be built within twelve months. Mr. Hughes selected the name Chateau Thierry to commemorate the victory of the American troops at that place in France.



Factory for Wagner-Woodruff Co.

New building on West Eleventh street for electric fixtures firm; Train & Williams, architects.

FOR ELECTRIC FIRM.

New Building Being Erected on West Eleventh Street.

In course of construction on a site at 814 and 816 West Eleventh street is a new building being erected for the Wagner-Woodruff Company, manufacturers and dealers in electric lighting fixtures, which, when completed will add a noteworthy commercial structure to this city. The plans, which call for a class C building of three stories, were prepared by Train & Williams, local architects. The Edwards & Wildey Company has the building contract.

The building has a frontage of fifty feet on West Eleventh street by a depth of 120 feet. The front is of enameled pressed brick and cream mat glazed terra cotta, with art glass tile. It will have an unusually large window area. It will be equipped with electric freight elevators with car and platform nine feet wide by twenty feet deep to accommodate trucks delivering goods to and from the building. The structure has been designed with a view to perfect sanitary arrangements, with unusually high ceilings and drinking fountains on each floor. The Wagner-Woodruff Company will maintain its present display rooms at 830 South Olive street.

BUSINESS LEASES.

Brokers Report New Tenants in Several Downtown Buildings.

The W. Ross Campbell Company, through F. B. Nellums of its sales and leasing department, reports leasing two storerooms at 729 and 731 South Los Angeles street to the Cahn-Nicklesburg Company of San Francisco, wholesale shoe dealers, for a local branch. This property is owned by J. J. Davis.

The same company also reports these leases: To Haywood Brothers & Wakefield Company, through R. O. Helm for Richard F. Bennett, a warehouse building at 842-44 Traction avenue; to the Troy Laundry Machinery Company, through J. T. Barrett for Kellow & Brown, a building at 428 Boyd street for storage purposes; to Poulsen & Brooks, through L. Charles Holland, for Max Livingston, a loft at 110 North Los Angeles street.

IMPERIAL MEETING.

A meeting of the Imperial Valley Land Owners' Association, of which Joseph Simons is president, will be held at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on Friday afternoon, July 18, at 2 o'clock. Persons having interests in the Imperial Valley are invited. The subject to be discussed will be irrigation and land assessment.

NEW BUILDING FOR PLAZA SETTLEMENT.

CHURCH AND EDUCATIONAL STRUCTURE TO RISE ON HISTORIC SITE.

The Plaza Community Center at the corner of Marchessault and Olvera streets will soon have a new building to replace the present wood structure, according to an announcement made yesterday at the office of the Goodwill Industries of Southern California, a benevolent organization affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Train & Williams, local architects, have been commissioned to prepare the plans, which will call for a church building to provide for religious worship and educational activities. It is expected that the cost will approximate $150,000.

While such a building has been in contemplation by the church authorities for some time, the question of finance was not settled until the recent gift of about $200,000 by Charles V. and Jeannette B. Munger, which made possible the purchase of the historic Arcadia de Baker Building at Main and Arcadia streets by the Goodwill Industries of Southern California. This gift made available money which could be used for the construction of a new building for the Plaza Community Center. The Goodwill Industries, which have stores at 113 Marchessault street and at First and Rio streets, will move into the Baker block within a few weeks. In connection with its welfare work, the organization will handle salvage on a larger scale than heretofore, in view of the fact that the Red Cross recently abandoned this feature of its work.

BUYS AT BEVERLY.

Eastern Man Acquires Home From King C. Gillette.

King C. Gillette millionaire razor manufacturer, has sold his suburban home at Beverly Hills to Jess W. Speidel of Wheeling W. Va., head of a china manufacturing company. The consideration is understood to have approximated $150,000. Stanley F. Anderson handled the transaction.

The property, facing on Sunset boulevard, includes a fine residence surrounded by four acres of grounds. It adjoins the Beverly Hills Hotel property, and is one of the show places of that vicinity.

Mr. Gillette is building an eight-room bungalow on the Beverly Hills Hotel property which he will occupy.

NEW ORCHARD PLAN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, July 12.—Final steps are being taken in the organization of the Terra Bella Community Orchards, a corporation being formed under N. F. Wilson, manager of the Wilgray farm interests for co-operative development of a large tract of land under the Terra Bella irrigation district. The plan is for a company with 1000 shares, each share representing one vote which will be given for each unit of the farm plan. When land in the colony is sold a per-acre assessment will be made for development purposes. A board of fifteen members will control the expenditure of this money.

BUYS BEACH LOTS.

Edward J. Sullivan of Los Angeles has just purchased from the Duckworth family of Selinas, Cal., a tract of forty-two lots at Carmel-by-the-Sea, for subdivision purposes. The property is near Point Lobos, Pebble Beach, Del Monte and the Carmel Mission.

HOTEL ADDITION.

Plans are being prepared by Elmer Gray, local architect, for an addition to the Beverly Hills Hotel which will include a ballroom, new private dining-room, motion-picture theater and schoolroom. The building will be 40x100 feet, and will open off the lobby of the hotel on the west side.

SEVENTH-STREET LEASE.

W. W. Mines & Co., through E. W. Ross of its leasing department, has leased the building at the northwest corner of Seventh and Flower streets to William A. Steffen, a former New York milliner. The lease was made for Philip L. Wilson, owner.

ROADS TO BRING A REALTY BOOM.

Realtors Call Highway Bonds of Vast Benefit.

Big Tracts are Now Subject to Development.

Population Influx Expected with New Highways.

Realtors familiar with the history of Southern California's land development foresee the greatest period of land settlement the country south of the Tehachepi to the Mexican border has yet known as a direct result of the passage of the $40,000,000 highway bond issue. That such a large sum expended by the State for road improvements will, as the new highways are completed and old ones put in shape to bear heavy traffic, bring within the opportunity of subdivision large tracts not now accessible is one of the early benefits pointed to with satisfaction by Los Angeles realty men.

They are confident that highway development of the magnititude contemplated in California will result in steady and substantial increase in the State population, particularly in the well-advertised sections of Southern California, and that the effect of these newcomers, hailing principally from States where land-owning is a habit of mind, will be to precipitate a growth of widespread proportions. This growth, as they point out, will mean that many large tracts which are yet to be broken up and subdivided will at once come within the range of settlement, that new towns will spring up, new school and business conditions be created and a tremendous stimulus given Southern California's urban and interurban life.

The development history of this section during the past ten or fifteen years will be repeated, as they foresee these prospective benefits. In proof of this they point to the phenomenal development which has come to Los Angeles, Ventura, Riverside, Orange, San Bernardino, San Diego and Imperial counties with the advent of good roads. Without the present system of developed highways, which has brought Los Angeles within a day's automobile ride of all the chief points of these seven southern counties, progress would have been as backward in this section, they contend, as it is in those Western and Southern States which today lack a developed and co-ordinated highway plan.

The great scope of California's road-building venture, with its early prospects for vast development, is better understood when it is known that the money available for these improvements considerably exceeds the $40,000,000 recently granted by the people of the State. In addition to this sum there is $3,000,000 voted in 1915-16 to be matcher by $6,000,000 more by the counties. To this should be added $8,000,000, of which $3,600,000 is now available, granted by the Federal government to aid in building forest and commercial roads. This makes a total of $51,000,000 to be expended on California's system during the next ten years.

Here is another item to be included with the general fund to develop the State's highways. The 1909-10 Legislature, and later the people themselves, voted for the first road bond issue of $18,000,000 for two trunk roads, one on the coast and one inland, the idea being to have tributaries to all county seats. This sum, however, was not sufficient and in 1915-16 the people voted for an additional $12,000,000 as well as the $3,000,000 or one-third of the $9,000,000 to be completed by counties for laterals. Thus, during the ten year from 1909 to 1919 the State has appropriated $73,000,000, to which should be added the $8,000,000 Federal funds, making a grand total of $81,000,000 for the State highway system.

DAILY THE OPPORTUNITIES FOR A REAL ADVANTAGEOUS BUY ARE BECOMING MORE EXCEPTIONAL, LUMBER AND MATERIALS CONTINUE TO MOUNT. THE EARLY WINTER INFLUX AND RETURN FROM SUMMER PLACES WILL MAKE INTELLIGENT SELECTION A BURDEN BY SEPTEMBER. WE, THEREFORE, URGE THE ADVISABILITY OF INSPECTION NOW. OF PROPERTIES LISTED BELOW, EACH REPRESENTS MORE MONEY THAN THE PRICE ASKED AND EACH FROM ANY STANDPOINT IS AN EXCEPTIONAL BUY.

$26,000.
ONE RARE OPPORTUNITY, ONE REAL HOME. SUPERLATIVES HAVE BEEN EXHAUSTED IN THE DESCRIPTION OF MERE HOUSES.

Houses that have been constructed only for commercial gain. In the selection of a HOME one naturally desires every point carefully considered, from some other angle than that of profit to the builder; hence we offer this establishment as one practically flawless to the most discriminating and exacting. It combines all the individual features that one expects to find in a house commanding such consideration. The various hardwoods used throughout are exquisitely finished, the fixtures are hand wrought and of distinctive design. The main rooms are spacious in size and balanced in elegance. The bathrooms are Pompeian in their luxuriousness, and the entire result is a striking illustration of what indifference to construction expense, and artistic judgment can accomplish.

Its appeal to the practical mind will be in such facts as location value, positively the finest, the one or two vacant parcels in this vicinity being held at $10,000 each; again, the fact that heavy cable is worked throughout the cement foundation to insure permanency; also all walls being finished with noncrackable treatment; the roof is of red tiling. These and innumerable additional features make this a property quite out of the ordinary and distinctly one of the better sort.

$25,000.
A HOLLYWOOD HOME THAT IS IDEAL IN EVERY RESPECT. MOST BEAUTIFULLY FURNISHED AND ON A LOT THAT CANNOT BE DUPLICATED AT ANY PRICE.

10 large sunny rooms, 3 bedrooms and 2 baths with large sleeping porch; maid's room and bath downstairs; most exquisite sun parlor commanding a view that cannot be equaled. Located close to the mountains in Hollywood's most exclusive section. Shown by appointment only.

$12,500.
BRING A REPUTABLE BUILDER WITH YOU TO APPRAISE AND INSPECT THIS RESIDENCE. HE WILL VERIFY OUR STATEMENT that the house alone cannot be duplicated for the price asked, and consider the location, in the very heart of the most exclusive district in Wilshire. This home is practically new and combines these attractive features found only where the plans and construction have been under the owner's supervision. The rooms are light and exceptionally large and nothing has been omitted that would lend comfort and charm to a real home. The living-room is extraordinarily spacious and opens on a courtyard with aviary and fish pool. There are four sleeping chambers, two sleeping porches and two tile baths upon the second floor. The maid's quarters, with separate entrance, are upon the first floor. The garage is of two-car capacity. The house is finished entirely in white cedar and hardwood. The construction throughout will satisfy the man who knows, and our eight years' experience has never allowed us the opportunity of offering a more pronounced bargain.

$11,000.
AN OPPORTUNITY BEYOND COMPARISON ON WESTMINSTER AVENUE. THIS BARGAIN IS ALMOST NEW AND COULD NOT BE DUPLICATED FOR $2500 MORE THAN PRICE ASKED.

The house is of the chalet type, containing 3 large bedrooms with extra large closets and sleeping porch, also 2 tile baths and shower. A most exquisite reception hall, living-room, dining-room and breakfast-room; also maid's room and bath. Garage for two cars. Shown by appointment only.

$9000—
A BEAUTIFUL CEMENT CHALET NEAR THE FOOTHILLS OF HOLLYWOOD. THIS PROPERTY IS $1500 UNDER VALUE. WILL BE SHOWN BY APPOINTMENT.

10 large sunny rooms; 4 nice bedrooms and bath; attractive living-room; dining-room and library, all finished in hardwood; nice breakfast-room and kitchen; basement with good furnace and automatic hot water heater. Exterior is cement plaster with red tile roof. Fine 60-foot lot with good garage. Don't fail to see this. A most exceptional opportunity, in an excellent location, north of Hollywood blvd. and near Franklin.

$7500—
THIS SEVEN-ROOM BUNGALOW IS WORTH $9000. IT WILL SURELY BE SOLD THIS WEEK. DON'T FAIL TO SEE THIS BARGAIN AT ONCE.

In the North Wilshire district, on a high and sightly terraced lot, in a beautiful neighborhood. A delightful view of the mountains and practically all of Los Angeles obtainable from its large spacious porch. The living-room is of extra large dimension, beautifully finished in hand-rubbed woods and Tiffany fixtures. The dining-room is finished in birch with casement windows and French doors opening on to the porch. Adjoining this there is a breakfast-room finished in white enamel. The kitchen is large, light and airy, with every modern convenience incorporated; built-in ice box. There are three sleeping chambers and large tile bath and shower. The fixtures throughout are most elaborate and would grace a residence costing upwards of twice the amount asked for this. The bungalow is equipped with gas furnace and Pittsburgh water heater. It is a most complete and ideal home.

A COLONIAL HOME
of Beauty, Charm,
Dignity.

In absolutely the best looking, most [illegible] residence block in Los Angeles; paved street, lovely shade trees, and surrounded with high-class homes, on a par with this one. This delightful residence contains ten rooms, including 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, sleeping porch; a great abundance of cedar-lined closets; storage rooms; every possible convenience is incorporated in this most desirable home. It is impossible in cold type to give you more than a mere suggestion of the charm of this place, but one look—at the pleasing exterior, then the arrangement of the spacious downstairs rooms, all opening onto a beautiful patio, together with the sunny, cheerful sleeping-rooms above, will convince you that it's just the place you've been looking for. Double garage, with two finished rooms and bath; lot 75x150.

Just a word as to value—the house itself cost more than $25,000 to build, and the lot is worth $7500; a total valuation of $32,500, which we can deliver to you for $25,000. An unusual opportunity to purchase a most desirable home at such a sacrifice.

FOR SALE— GLENN'S
WEST HOLLYWOOD SPECIALS.
Never before have I been so fortunate in securing such a rare selection of brand new 5, 6 and 7-room colonial homes, ranging in prices of $4500, $5000, $5250, $5500, $6000, $6250 each and every one of these are modern to the minute. Also a selection of 5 and 6-room homes, built before the advance cost of labor and materials. Priced at $3650, $3750 and $4350. Some possessing individualities all their own, while others have distinctive features in sizes of lots, views, etc. Allow me to suggest to you not to delay coming out and making a selection NOW for the supply is rapidly diminishing. Some of the above homes are costing more today than 30 days ago and two of the owners gave orders to advance their prices $250 on July 15, 1919. This is a note of warning which the observing home buyers know to be true. These homes can be secured on as small first payment as $500 to $2000 and will accept a liberal portion of Liberty Bonds at par. See "GLENN" today and you will make money by saving money in buying now at 7447 SUNSET BLVD., at Gardner Junction. All cars stop at office door.

IT IS HERE—LISTEN!

A San Francisco man, visiting Los Angeles, is owner of a beautiful two-story building on Hollywood boulevard, west of the Christian Science church. We could not really repeat in print what he has to say concerning our city, but forgive him, knowing he is from that dear Frisco. The point we wish to emphasize, however, is that the gentleman just recently thought enough of Hollywood to select choice lot and built thereon a beautiful home. We have received instructions to sell at once this HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD PROPERTY containing 9 spacious rooms, finished in mahogany and ivory, for the ridiculous price of $7500. Good for three days only.

FOR SALE—

"KEEP THE 19TH FOR BURBANK."

It will pay you to be at Burbank next Saturday, the 19th.

At 2:30 p.m. on that day we open for sale BIGGAR'S CENTRAL ACRES—a beautiful 40-acre tract of land, at the corner of Central ave. and Main street—cut into 56, big roomy lots of about an acre each. Gas, telephone, electricity and city water are available—each acre has a share in the pumping plant—all the water you want at the bare cost of pumping.

What a site for your home one of these acres will make. For fruit, for garden, for alfalfa, for poultry, there is nothing better in all California. Think of an acre in such a location, with such fine conditions for $1000. Who would be cooped up on a city lot, with such acres to be had? Can you wonder we are busy answering calls for our folder describing the property—calls from city dwellers and calls from the country.

MAKE RESERVATION NOW.

On CENTRAL ACRES we offer you the pure air, the [illegible], the wide outlook of the country, with modern city conveniences. Better get your copy of our folder right away—have us run you out to the property—select your acre and reserve it until the 19th. Get in early Monday—it's the only safe way. Reservations made by mail. Property unconditionally guaranteed as represented.

REMEMBER, on Central Acres we can build you modern, plastered house, five room and sleeping porch, complete with one of these acres, for $2700. Can you beat it?

BURBANK—THE SECOND HOLLYWOOD.

Burbank is the second Hollywood—it stands where Hollywood did a dozen years ago—just on the eve of big development. And Central Acres, from its location, must be the center of that development.

Burbank has a superb location in the foothills—elevation—glorious views—fertile granite soil—the finest climate in Southern California, free alike from clammy fogs or excessive heat—has pure, soft water—iron-clad restrictions as to race—TO KEEP IT THE 100 PER CENT. AMERICAN COMMUNITY IT NOW IS. Burbank is a place you will be glad to live in—proud to claim as your home.

BURBANK IS NEXT.

You know what happened in Hollywood—you know what happened in Glendale. Suburban acres in these places became valuable city lots. And Burbank is next. Just as fortunes were made in Hollywood and Glendale, so fortunes will be made in Burbank. But the only time to get full benefit is NOW. Come in or call us up Monday sure. Delays are dangerous.

FOR SALE—

OLD
GETS
KWITCHERKICKING

Old Hi Cost and his comrade Profiteers instantly vanish in the face of this Plan which provides free all the fried chicken, corn on cob, melons, and good things of life without money and without price.

You can strike and holler all you're a-mind to, but you cannot get two onions out of a pot which contains but one. Neither will Legislation help you. Only in a family garden can you perform that miracle. Each grain of corn is a promissory note for 200 more grains of corn in 90 days if you are prepared to collect it—and that is some usury—yes, yes—200 per cent. in 90 days.

I (the Man in Texas fellow) am writing you today about these Little Garden Farms in Walking Distance of thousands of jobs and only 17 minutes from 6th and Hill streets by a 5-cent car, and free irrigation water forever. Regular 40-foot, level lots, $180 up. Acres $750 to $850. You can come to the end of the Edendale car line (west on 6th st.) anyday or Sunday or go from this office.

You must put us to the test.

You must learn the facts of this offering.

Over one-third has been subscribed in eight days.

The free irrigation water is better than free land.

You only have to pay for land once, but the irrigation bill runs on forever. When you can wet your alfalfa, corn from a ditch without cost then your poultry and your garden pays.

Come today. Tract office open until dark.

FOR SALE—46 ACRES, ALL OR PART. This beautiful ranch is situated in the foothills of the San Fernando Valley, only 10 minutes' drive from the center of Hollywood through Laurel Canyon. There are 25 acres in apricots, 6 years old, with heavy crop this year, and many other varieties of fruit. There are 15 acres of hill land valuable for home sites. Ranch fronts 1-4 mile each on two main roads. There is an ideal bungalow site with beautiful sycamore trees. Two tracks run through the property. Here is a site for a lovely suburban home with an income assured. The views are superb, the climate delightful. Owner will sell all or part on easy terms. The price is right. Buy it all and sell off what you don't want to use. We are exclusive agents. Ask for Mr. Grigg.

A pretty little improved home ranch of 5 acres in Pacoima near San Fernando, only three-quarters of an hour drive from Los Angeles. It is set out to lemons 4 years old and alfalfa planted between the rows; also variety of fruit trees. There is a new and attractive 6-room California bungalow, also garage, dairy house, chicken and rabbit corrals and houses. Owens River water on the ranch delivered in underground cement pipes. It lies 1½ blocks from San Fernando blvd., with auto bus service half-hourly. This is an attractive little home ranch and the price is right. Owner will sell or exchange for home of equal value in Hollywood or North Wilshire, or would take good lot in part payment. Ask for Mr. Grigg, with

ONE EXCEPTIONAL BARGAIN.
FINE LEVEL ACRE $975.
AT BEAUTIFUL ARCADIA,
600 FEET ELEVATION

In the heart of the beautiful San Gabriel Valley along the famous Huntington drive, are a little over four acres of soft, mellow loam, ideal for citrus fruits and home gardens.

Only 35 minutes from 6th and Main, an abundance of cheap water and all city conveniences.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY to realize the "Home of your Dreams." You can reach the business district of Los Angeles by street car as quickly as from Hollywood or the Melrose and Western districts, and you can get an acre for less than the price of a lot there. Have your own family orchard, berries and fresh green vegetables the year round. Plenty of room for beautiful flower gardens and a swimming pool. Magnificent view of the mountains and valley. Cooling breezes from a snow-capped Old Baldy.

If you are looking for the cream in an acre home place at one of the lowest prices ever named on an Arcadia acre take advantage of this at $975. Small payments accepted. GUY M. RUSH CO., 318-322 Story Bldg. 10783, Bdwy. 24.

FOR SALE—

FEW PIECES
CHOICE ACREAGE
IN CAPAY GRANT,
SACRAMENTO VALLEY, CAN BE HAD AT $175 AN ACRE.

Here is an exceptional opportunity for the man who wants an ideal farm and who wants to enjoy ideal suburban life.

The Capay country has every advantage and attraction the most idealistic farmer can desire. It is located in the very heart of one of the most prosperous farming sections of all California. Some of the most beautiful fruit, grain and stock farms in the State are located in this section.

The land for the most part is a rich, black silt, absolutely free from alkali and bumbo. It produces almost phenomenal crops of alfalfa, of almost all kinds of grains and of vegetables and fruits. The fruit trees here are almost entirely free from blight of all kinds.

EVERY 80 ACRES HAS ITS OWN
ELECTRICALLY OPERATED PUMPING PLANT.
THE PRICE OF WHICH IS INCLUDED IN THE COST OF THE LAND.

You simply turn the switch and the water from your own well flows into your ditches. It is the ideal irrigation system, absolutely independent, economical and supremely satisfactory.

There are splendid, hustling business towns close by on almost all sides, reached by splendid roads so that the Capay farmer has abundant and ready market for all his crops practically at his door. The beautiful Sacramento River is right close by, which means the pleasures of boating, fishing and swimming. Excellent schools, a splendid class of neighbors and every advantage to contribute to the enjoyment of rural living is already here and established. Electricity is available for light and power.

Land such as this, with similar and even inferior advantages in other parts of California, commands very much higher prices. There are only a few limited pieces of choice acreage available now at the low price of $175.00 an acre. Easy terms can be arranged.

OIL SHORTAGE IS INCREASING—

No better investment can be made now than test holes in new territory. The country needs all the oil you can find, and you have a safe and sure market.

But don't resort to old-fashioned methods of drilling, with large and expensive machinery; never forget the cost of a hole increases in the approximate proportion to the "square of its diameter."

So drill smaller diameter holes with the latest and most efficient portable machines ever built for territories from 800 to 2500 feet deep. Write us for particulars and circular.

HAVE YOU $2000 CASH?—
Possibly you have this amount and have been looking all over the country for a place to put it where it will make you a comfortable living, with the possibility of getting 100 per cent. of your investment back again when you get tired and want a rest. Now we don't need a commission bad enough to sit here in our office writing an adv. that will catch the man or woman with this amount if we thought there was a possibility of them losing it. If you will take this little confectionery that the former owner spent 8 years in and made a lot of money, we will assure you of an income of not less than $250 a month at the very least, as long as you remain in this store, then when you get tired, come in to us and we will turn it over for you. This place is just fine for a man and his wife. It's the best small store on our list, and will positively be sold this week.

URGE POWER TO FIX PRICES FOR RESALE.

TRADE COMMISSION SAYS LAW AS INTERPRETED BY COURT SHOULD BE AMENDED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Renewed recommendation that manufacturers be permitted by law to fix and maintain resale prices, subject to review by disinterested agency, was made by the Federal Trade Commission today in a special report to Congress. Existing laws which have been interpreted by the Supreme Court in the case against Colgate & Co., and in the other test cases to prevent fixing of resale prices should be amended, the commission believes, with a view to removing the present complexity in the business world, to promoting the efficiency of manufacturing and commercial institutions and to serving the interests of the consuming public.

Under the commission's recommendation, first advanced in a report to Congress last December, manufacturers desiring to fix and maintain resale prices would file with an agency to be designated by Congress, descriptions of their articles, contracts of sale and the price schedules to be maintained. The disinterested agency would be charged with the duty "upon complaint of any dealer or consumer or other party at interest" to review the terms of contracts and prices.

The commission's recommendations, the report said, were based on the following conclusions:

That producers of identified goods—identified by trade marks or trade practice—should be protected in their intangible property right of good will, created through years of fair dealing and of sustained quality of merchandise;

That the unlimited power, both to fix and to enforce and maintain resale prices may not be made lawful with safety; and

That unrestrained price cutting is not in the public interest and tends eventually to impair if not to destroy the production and distribution of articles desirable to the public.

"There must be a common ground," the commission's report said, "wherein the rights of producer, purveyor and consumer may each be fully secured and equity done to all. The Supreme Court has made it clear that, in the present state of the law, the maintenance of a resale price by the producer is a restraint of trade and is unlawful.

"Such being the judgment of the Supreme Court, the Federal Trade Commission has enforced the law, even though it may have appeared to operate inequitably in some cases. In its enforcement of this rule, the commission has been mindful that the cutting of a recognized resale price on well-established and identified articles has been, at times, indulged in for unfair trade purposes. When so unfairly used, such price cutting is attempted to be cloaked as lawful competition and justified by the Supreme Court decisions.

"Thus both price maintenance and price cutting under certain conditions are found to be unfair and business men are perplexed."

LOS ANGELES SEES BIG INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

LARGE NUMBER OF PROPOSED PLANTS ARE LIKELIHOOD OF NEAR FUTURE.

That Los Angeles is destined to secure its full share of factories is evidenced by the large number of proposed plants, most notable of which are the $20,000,000 Goodyear Tire and Textile factories, to be erected on the site of the old Ascot race track at Slauson avenue and extending from South Park avenue to Central avenue, utilizing approximately 500 acres of land for their various activities. These industries will employ not less than 8500 people and will absorb the available cotton grown in the States of Arizona and California in the production of high-grade tires for automobiles, aeropanes and trucks, not to mention the many textile fabrics which will be produced. These factories will be constructed with the especial object in view of utilizing long staple cotton, which variety is grown exclusively in the Salt River Valley in Arizona and in the Imperial Valley of California.

Of the great area of lands in the United States upon which cotton is grown, only a very limited proportion, estimated at not to exceed 400,000 acres, is suitable for the production of long staple cotton, which is the only kind that can be used successfully in the manufacture of card tires and fabrics, requiring extraordinary strength. For this reason it commands a price of about 30 cents a pound more than the short staple or ordinary cotton grown in Texas and other Southern States.

OWNS 1000 ACRES.

The Liberty Long Staple Cotton Company owns outright 1000 acres and has under option 4000 acres additional of land in the heart of the Great Salt River Valley, Arizona, especially adapted to the growing of the longest and strongest fibered cotton grown anywhere in the world, and in the same general locality where the Southwest Cotton Company, a Goodyear project, has now under cultivation approximately 30,000 acres of this same long staple cotton, no short staple cotton being grown in the Salt River Valley.

Experts in the growing of long staple cotton agree that with a market price of 50 cents per pound, and utilizing the present highly paid labor, an average net earning of $100 per acre per annum is not unreasonable. Cotton growers in the Salt River Valley of Arizona are now contracting this year's crop at 60 cents per pound, while the price for the year 1918 was from 70 cents to 82½ cents per pound. A fair average yield is 450 pounds of lint cotton per acre, or a little less than one bale of 500 pounds to the acre.

The Liberty Long Staple Cotton Company has created an original bonded indebtedness of $200,000, secured by a mortgage or deed of trust to the Title Insurance and Trust Company, trustee, of Los Angeles, California, and which is a first mortgage lien upon all of the property of the company, as now owned and as hereafter acquired. These bonds are known as first mortgage 7 per cent. convertible serial gold bonds, and mature serially beginning January 1, 1924, at the rate of $10,000 per annum until January 1, 1928, and thereafter at the rate of $15,000 per annum, until January 1, 1933; they bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of January and July of each year. The company agrees to pay the normal Federal income tax of 2 per cent. on the amount of the bonds, thus leaving the investor 7 per cent. net on the investment.

BONDS OFFERED AT PAR.

These bonds are now being offered by Robert Marsh & Co., Inc., at par and accrued interest. Of the moneys received from the sale of these bonds, $120,000 is to be paid to the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank as trustee for use as a development and operating fund, and all disbursements therefrom are to be first approved by the Corporation Commission of the State of California, thus assuring the due, proper and economical expenditue of the company's moneys.

Adequate provisions are made and provided for a sinking fund for the payment and retirement of the bonds, and options of exchange and conversion into stock of the company, or for lands of the corporation, are ganted under conditions fully set forth in the mortgage or deed of trust, which is a matter of public record.

The estimated earnings of the company are ample to care for all its expenditures, including the interest on the bonds, and to pay all sums required to be paid to the trustee for the sinking fund. In fact, were the company to farm-let its lands after the development of water, the rentals alone would suffice for such purposes.

E. A. Weber, manager of the house and lot department of W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., announces that he has obtained through a trustees' sale the exclusive sales agency for Wellington Square, a subdivision between Washington and West Adams streets, south of Lafayette Square. Thirty lots in this subdivision he says have been sold to builders, and twenty-five houses are now in course of construction.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN A DYNAMO.

Will H. Hays, Who Guides Destinies of Great Party, Tremendously in Earnest and Handles Business with Machine-like Rapidity—Has Cordial Manner Like That of Old-time Politicians.

BY MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

A slender, boyish-looking man; an alert, quick-moving man, who walks with a long swinging stride, clutching a big black portfolio; such is the stranger's first impression of Will H. Hays of Sullivan, Ind., chairman of the Republican National Committee. As he crosses a hotel lobby there is a general stir. Men who have been lying in wait rush forward to intercept him at the desk, where he grabs a mass of telegrams and mail and turns with a smile to find himself surrounded.

Some one relieves him of the portfolio (he's the kind of a fellow people like to do little things for,) and he begins to shake hands. It is a long, shapely hand, and he gives it with a cordial clasp. He does not say "What name?" in the manner of the old-time politicians; he gets it instantly, and it is filed away in his head with a shapshot photograph of the person it belongs to. He has a thin, long face, with a nose that had already achieved a fair length when it took a notion to add a section and tacked it on successfully. His well-shaped head is covered with thick, dark brown hair. The eyes are brown too. They are steady, responsive eyes, that sadden or brighten with the play of the owner's quick emotions. His voice is a little nasal, but in conversation pitched low. On the platform it grows a trifle shrill, but it carries, and the effect of what he is saying is not spoiled. When he strikes a conversational tone in a speech he plays with his voice in an interesting fashion, or maybe it plays with him, and he can utter the name of Abraham Lincoln in a way to bring tears.

IS IN EARNEST.

Hays is tremendously in earnest, and his capacity for work is enormous. Unfinished business is a torture to him. While changing his clothes in a hotel bedroom he talks to visitors, keeps the telephone going (he is the slave of long-distance connections,) nibbles a sandwich and reads and answers telegrams. What he didn't clear up at his last stop is the black portfolio, and he will begin reading correspondence and dictating answers the moment he has made a flying catch of the last car of the train he is scheduled to take. He can work twenty hours a day for a long stretch without apparent fatigue, and in the Congressional campaign last fall he made a record of fifty-nine consecutive nights on sleepers.

While he answers to Will or Bill, his real name is William Harrison Hays. He has always signed himself Will, perhaps from a feeling that there is something hifalutin and ostentatious about William. When a friend suggested that he should give thought to the appearance and dignity of his name in history, he wrote it out in full, studied it quizzically and then dropped the slip of paper into the wastebasket.

WORRIES STATESMEN.

The ways of Hays are interesting because Hays, who is the most unconscious person alive, is different. He is unlike any other politician now in the public eye, and it tickles me to think how he must puzzle and worry some of the grand, gloomy and peculiar statesmen of his party who feel that theirs is the God-given right to hand the people what they think the people need. Hays is not like that. He thinks in terms of the whole United States, and he continues to be interesting and impressive even after you know him pretty well and call him Bill and have begun to be disappointed and chagrined because you can't find any green or yellow streaks in him. He looks like a college senior, but often, when you've been chaffing him and talking nonsense, he suddenly grows serious and talks like Aegyptus, who was old and knew 10,000 things.

Indiana has produced a great number of politicians in the 103 years of her existence. She has one President to her credit and more Vice-Presidents than any one cares to count. Thomas Taggart and Harry S. New have served their respective parties as National Committee chairman. As both Taggart and New attained seats in the United States Senate, a National Chairman from Indiana may be considered to be within range of whatever lightnings play over the commonwealth. There are Republicans of seeming sanity who say that Hays is marked for high place. Being a Democrat, who voted twice for Woodrow Wilson, I shall express no opinion on this grave matter beyond predicting that Hays will call the Republican National Convention to order next summer with the nomination for Governor of Indiana in his pocket. If the delegates fail to agree on Wood or Taft, Johnson or Harding, Goodrich or any other favorite son—but Hays is a mighty good fellow, and I don't care to lose his friendship!

BORN IN INDIANA.

Hays was born at Sullivan, Sullivan county, November 5, 1879. His father was of the Scotch-Irish stock that has figured so largely in Ohio Valley history. John T. Hays practiced law for forty years in the same office, on the square opposite the red brick Courthouse at Sullivan. The office was expanded two years ago to a handsome suite with mahogany furnishings in a new building opposite the old site. All of John T. Hays's letter books from the day he began his practice and copies of most of the pleadings covering his professional career are preserved by his sons, Will H. and Hinkle. The father was an indefatigable worker, a man of probity, with the highest standing at the Indiana bar, and his practice was not confined to his own county, but intruded upon neighboring circuits. There is coal under much of the wheat and corn land on the lower Wabash, and coal and railroad litigation has lent variety to the business usual in country law offices.

Will Hays was not an athletic youngster, and as there was little for a boy to do in Sullivan he spent his leisure, from about his tenth year, browsing in his father's office, or watching the trial of cases in the courtroom. An Indiana lad learns politics as he learns the way to the best swimmin' hole and the place where the paw-paws ripen first. So when he was 16, young Hays attended his first national convention in St. Louis and saw McKinley nominated. Whether he there highly resolved that he would one day call a national convention to order is not known, but from that experience dates his entrance into politics.

A PRESBYTERIAN.

Born into the Presbyterian faith, it was natural that Will should attend Wabash College at Crawfordsville. Wabash was established by God-fearing New Englanders to the end that humanities might be brought to the attention of the young men of what was then a new commonwealth. Wabash is one of those foolish institutions where students are expected to study or go home. It has never tried to be a university or anything but just a college. Besides being a place of substantial educational standards, its Americanism has been from the day it opened its doors 100 per cent. There is a bronze tablet on the walls that recites the names of the graduates and undergraduates who answered the call to arms in 1861. And President George L. McIntosh, who is as Scotch as his name, declared at the beginning of the recent war that if necessary he would nail up the doors of the college until the Kaiser had been put out of business.

Hays not only got all there was to get out of his college, but he got a good deal out of Crawfordsville itself. The town has been called the Hoosier Athens, not because of the pernicious activity of the Greek letter fraternities in occasionally painting up the town, but because it has from the beginning been a place where people loved literature and frequently proved it by writing books. As I was born in this town I shall not scruple to brag of it as a place chockful of what Riley used to call culturine. And Wabash College is an institution where young gentlemen may learn to write Governors' messages or even messages to Congress, and to impart to their public papers the grace and vi[illegible] of real literature. Hays did all this and more; he found and married a wife there, the daughter of Judge Thomas.

AS AN ORATOR.

Whenever there was an oratorical contest forward he entered the lists, and where he did not win the first prize he tied for first place. Receiving his A.B. in due course, he went after an M.A., and won it with a thesis he called "A Discussion of the Negro Problem, Including Law Brief on the Legal Status of the Negro." This essay did not shatter the foundations of the earth and it has never been published; but it is an honest job, well larded with quotations and authorities. He didn't need a master's degree particularly; it could be of no use to him in the practice of law at Sullivan; but he went out for it and got it, and getting what he goes for is one of the ways of Hays.

On the day he was 21 Hays voted and was admitted to the bar. Sullivan county had long been a Democratic stronghold. There was not much chance that a young Republican, no matter how promising, would ever get very far with Sullivan as his home base. Hays was a candidate for Prosecutor in 1902, this being a mere matter of routine, as every two years the nomination is wished on some young Republican lawyer to allow him to figure as a sacrifice hitter on the score card. Hays was defeated, the fact that his father had been elected to the same office as a Republican away back in 1872 failing as a precedent for William. Undismayed, he became county chairman in 1903, and he displayed such zeal as an organizer that "Jim" (now Governor) Goodrich called him to the capital to run the speakers' bureau. Any man who can handle, as Hays did, a bunch of temperamental Hoosier orators so they won't burst out sobbing if switched to Boonville or Rising Sun when they fully expect to spout to the larger and more critical audiences of Indianapolis, Evansville or Fort Wayne, is clearly destined for immortality.

LIKES POLITICS.

Hays was liking politics so well that in 1906 he tackled the county chairmanship again, and elected one candidate to the General Assembly and the Sheriff. He was district chairman for four years, widening, by house-to-house visitations, his knowledge of the fried chicken and quince preserves that grace the tables of the honest husbandmen of the Wabash Valley. Then, in 1914, he was stung by having the State chairmanship conferred upon him. Republican fortunes were at a low ebb. The Hoosier Progressives were sliding on their own cellar door, and not at all anxious to kiss and make up with the haughty Republican boys in the next yard. There was talk of cutting the Republican State convention to a half-day session, but Hay played it for three days, winding up with a love feast around the old totem pole. That no element of picturesqueness might be lacking, he went to Cincinnati and borrowed a real elephant from the zoo, inscribed it with the legend "G.O.P., I am back already," and sent it through the streets of Indianapolis to the strains of joyous music. Continuing in the chairmanship through the campaign of 1916, he carried the State for Hughes by 7000 votes. This was an achievement. The Democrats had never had a better organization, and they waged battle with vigor and intelligence.

When America went to war, Hays failing of acceptance for the army because he didn't weigh enough, became chairman of the State Council of Defense. He organized Indiana against the Kaiser with as much enthusiasm as though the great war lord headed a Democratic ticket. If anybody in Indiana didn't do something toward winning the war it was because Hays couldn't find him.

GETS ANOTHER JOB.

He was enjoying himself, making Indiana a center of war activities, when fate handed him another job. Chairman Willcox of the National Committee resigned. Hays was not a member of the committee and he was not a candidate for the chairmanship. The reactionary element thought the vacancy offered a brilliant opportunity to frame things for 1920 by selecting a chairman who would walk blindfolded. The contest at St. Louis was a very pretty little affair. Hays took no part in it, remaining at Indianapolis on his war job. He wasn't at all anxious for the chairmanship. He is a home-loving man, and to do the job right meant constant travel. When the reactionaries found it impossible to land John T. Adams of Iowa in the place, it fell to Hays, on his record as an organizer and harmonizer. Reports had gone abroad that the man from Sullivan preferred the peace pipe to the tomahawk, and all things considered this was promising. Hays and I were discussing Walt Whitman in an Indianapolis restaurant when he was called from luncheon to receive notice over the telephone of his appointment. He came back, and we finished up Whitman before he went out to meet the newspaper men.

He was quickly in motion, attending conferences in every part of the country, getting ready for the Congressional campaign. Heartened by the result last November, he at once began digging trenches for the contest next year.

PARTY SENTIMENT.

Hays has a sentiment about his party, and he wants it to stand for big things. His feeling about America is that of all boys of his generation who met in the streets of their towns men who had seen Lincoln face to face. He is folksy, as we middle westerners use the word. He is a provincial character, without airs or affectations, who likes to visit the neighbors on porches and knows all the children in town. His next door neighbor is Mr. Claude ("Cuppy") Stratton, one of the inside doorkeepers of the Indiana Republican Grand Lodge. "Cuppy" is a strategist, and when he and Bill get together with a pitcher of buttermilk on the Hays porch the Democratic party is in peril. A churchgoing person and for fifteen years a Sunday-school teacher, a friendly soul, Hays finds delight in doing things for the folks he knows and likes. Through four years of constant meetings, in which we have discussed practically every man in public life, he has never "knocked" anybody. When I have swung the hammer he has smiled a wistful little smile and said: "Oh, well; that fellow got off on the wrong foot that time," or "You mustn't lay that up against him." About the meanest term I ever heard him use is "lotus-eater," a Tennysonian epithet extremely neat and illuminating as he applied it.

Two men have warned me that Hays is an untrustworthy person, prone to deceive the unwary. One of these was a Democratic candidate for Congress, smarting from a defeat that he held Hays responsible for, and not without reason, for Bill certainly gave him a licking. The other case had reference to myself. I was told that Hays had prevented my appointment to the State Council of Defense. In fact, he twice offered me a place there, and on another occasion joined with Gov. Goodrich in urging me to take the secretaryship. Small town stuff. I throw it into the sketch merely to give it moral tone.

GOOD LISTENER.

It was one of the ways of Hays to listen. He is indeed a master of the neglected art of listening. If some one addresses him in a crowd that person has his full and undivided attention. Standing or seated, he is a little restless, lifting one shoulder with a characteristic, curious heave, but the brown eyes are intent upon the speaker, not impatiently, but with a friendly, deliberate interest that invites and inspires confidence. He will say, with his winning smile, "This is just between ourselves:" but in saying something which obviously is an expression of personal opinion, not to be quoted, he speaks his mind freely, and having once said that the matter is confidential, he does not again refer to the obligation of silence.

If Hays should essay the role of liar he would be a dismal failure. Before he could lie successfully he'd have to get a different pair of eyes. If you broach a matter that he prefers not to discuss, he says so, though I do not recall that he has ever evaded a question that I have put to him in frequent talks that have covered well-nigh every phase of politics, with tangential dashes into literature and religion.

Hays has given a hard jolt to the old idea that a politician is necessarily a crafty person, stealthily operating the wires of a mysterious machine from a secret chamber. With a pink parasol tilted over one shoulder, he rides the battle-scarred Republican elephant right up Main street, preceded by seven brass bands. Of course, there are secret conferences, and journeys that don't get into the papers, for he is far too wise to scorn the assistance of the veteran medicine men who cling to the old style boiling the dog in the dark of the moon. He would rather attach to an organization one man with agile legs who knows how to round up votes than a dozen of the rumor-bearers and rainbow-chasers who invest a headquarters.

CAN TAKE HINTS.

Not too proud to take hints from any quarter, Hays may have profited from a contemplation of Thomas Taggart's methods in managing the Democratic party in Indiana for a quarter of a century. Taggart made friends and kept them. He is a man who awakens and holds affection, just as Hays does. No one who kicked Taggart ever knew that he knew that he had been kicked. We have had in Indiana in both parties politicians who spent much time in fighting enemies within their own camp, and while in a few instances they arrived at the goal of their ambition they did so only through the magnanimity of their fellow-partisans. Hays, like Taggart, is a conciliatory person. He does not hate anybody. There may be those he distrusts or dislikes, but he will waste none of his energy in hatred, which is exhausting and not conducive to that tranquillity of temper which is essential to successful political management.

Hays's sole ambition is to be a success as the executive head of his party. He maintains a strict neutrality as between Presidential candidates, potential or active, but is earnestly engaged in trying to get the elephant in shape to give a smooth and perfect performance in 1920. He has reduced his idea of the best way to build an organization to this formula: assimilation; no elimination. He exhorts all who would know the joy of Republicanism to come in under the big tent while there is yet time.

"The Progressive schism was a significant thing," I said. "It's a mistake to underrate its importance." And he answered: "Right! The doors are wide open. We not only want their votes but we want their full co-operation in formulating policies, in doing the work the Republican party has got to do to realize the full promise of America.'

We were motoring to Sullivan out of Crawfordsville, where he had gone for commencement and to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of his college. He unbuckled the bulky portfolio and read mail and letters as he talked. Scarlet ramblers in a dooryard, a fine field of wheat, a creek spanned by an old covered bridge caught his alert eye and evoked his appreciative comment.

NEED OF THE SOUTH.

"The South? Yes. We have heard continually that the South needs the Republican party. That's true enough, but it's just as true that the Republican party needs the South. The Republican party as a national party can only function properly when it serves the nation and not a section of that nation. I am anxious for everything possible to be done to provide in every section the fullest chance of political self-determination. I want the Republican party to win on its merits as a national party in such fashion as will bring a final dissipation of any possible remaining influences of Civil War prejudices.

"One by-product of the war that is of inestimable value is the new realization it has brought to all the people of America as a nation. Men of South and North fought in France as soldiers of America, not as northerners and southerners, and they are coming home with a new and proud consciousness of all that America means in the world."

We skirted the edges of the Hoosier melon belt. Ralph Lemcke of Indianapolis, County Treasurer-elect, and Samuel Dowden, the Boy Orator of Decatur county, who were of the party, fell into acrimonious dispute as to which is the nobler pabulum, watermelon or cantaloupe. Hays's vote won for the cantaloupe as more delicately flavored and tidier to eat from the vine.

TALKS OF LABOR.

We grew serious again and Hays talked of labor. "Mere profit-sharing is not sufficient for labor. I urge that a real effort be made to develop a reasonable method for honest and efficient labor to acquire a stock interest in the business to which they are expected to give their best efforts. It is the one just and best way for both the employer and the laborer.

"We have been saying in this country 'Live and let live.' That is not enough. I say live and help live. Just as vigorous and thorough must be our efforts to make certain for the business of the country that opportunity and encouragement which will insure its development and growth on which the prosperity of the country depends. Business must have sympathetic help, and not antagonistic curtailment. It must be treated with an appreciation of its fundamental importance, and not as a demagogic shuttlecock."

Hays believes that politics is an exact science, to be practiced in the eyes of all men, and that the side that offers the best programme will win if the people are told about it. Mistakes are to be avoided because mistakes are unscientific and costly. With all the impression he creates of nervousness, he is capable of sitting still a long time and thinking. He thinks out a problem quicker than the average man because his wits work faster. This is not his fault; but it calls for rapid functioning on the part of an adversary. He believes in playing the game straight, and he wants the Republican party to deserve support and victory by not trying to fool the people. For the simple reason that this is a democracy he thinks every one entitled to vote should take a hand in politics, not merely riding on the wagon, but helping push it along. How to get young men interested in politics is a matter that engages his constant attention, and he is enthusiastic as to the beneficent influence of women in public affairs. While he would prefer that all should enroll under the Republican banner, he insists that everybody join some party and do his or her full civic duty.

FOR THE RIGHT.

"Right" is a great word with him. In conversation, when something is said that hits him hard he points a long finger at the speaker and exclaims "Right!" with jubilant emphasis. Another favorite word of his is "Absolutely," which he pronounces in Hoosier fashion, with exaggerated stress on the "lute." There is no middle ground, no half way, timid foolishness about Hays. He knows what he thinks and he expresses himself in terse English without quibble or equivocation.

Hays is a Hoosier of the Hoosiers. Not for nothing has he swallowed his sassafras tea every spring from earliest boyhood. The essence of the Indiana soil is in his blood, and he can light on both feet anywhere between Lake Michigan and the Ohio River and feel himself at home. His philosophy and sentiment are those of James Whitcomb Riley; his humor is that of George Ade and Booth Tarkington. He is a good deal like Ade in his dry way of saying a funny thing. If Ade, Tarkington and Hays could be got round a table, with Gov. Allen and William Allen White of Kansas, the humor of the corn-belt would find its complete expression. Vice-President Marshall should not be excluded from this company, as he speaks much the same language, though, of course, with a Democratic inflexion.

HAS MANY WARNINGS.

Hays receives about a hundred warnings a week to safeguard his health, which is excellent in spite of his frail appearance. Some enemy told him that golf would be a good thing for him to cultivate, and he has played five times, twice with me. He is the worst golf player in the world. His idea of an afternoon of relaxation is novel, to say the least. He rushes from the lunch table into a fast runabout, gripping the inevitable portfolio. The car stops at the first hole of the nearest country club. He springs out and swats the ball. He begins to talk enthusiastically of things in nowise related to the philosopher's sport. If a ball eludes his search for the moment he cheerfully throws down another. The leisurely caddies are appalled by the speed with which he moves over the links. Once he beat bogey on the Woodstock links at Indianapolis, but that was his first time on any course, and it was a case of sheer luck. At the last hole he springs into his machine and is off for town. He says he can ride a horse, but he doesn't. No horse is fast enough for him.

Both his parents died within the present year. For a long period it had been the established custom for the two sons and two daughters of John T. Hays to dine every Sunday noon in their father's house at Sullivan. Will would travel 500 miles to keep that tryst. He speaks of Helen, his wife, and Billy, their boy, in a way that warms your heart and makes you feel yourself a member of the family.

A fellow of charm is Hays; a likable chap, a comradely man, whose impulses are all generous; an optimist with his feet on the ground and his head in the stars. His ideals and aspirations are as sound as well-ripened corn. He does with all his might what his hands find to do, and as just now he is bending every energy and giving the best thought of his restless, vigilant mind to unifying and energizing the Republican party, he is a figure to reckon with in the immediate future of America.

BUILDING BOOM ON IN ORANGE COUNTY.

SANTA ANA, FULLERTON, ANAHEIM HIT RAPID IMPROVEMENT STRIDE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, July 12.—Orange county is now in the midst of a building movement which bids fair to increase as time goes on, for building is still behind the demand. Santa Ana's building permits during the first six months of this year totaled nearly a quarter of a million dollars, a 33 1-3 per cent. increase over the same period of last year. June permits totaled $55,619, as compared with $32,035 for June of last year.

Included in the permits for the past six months are six new business buildings, $12,000 brick store at Fourth and Broadway for Walter L. Moore; a $7500 machine shop for the Kaufman spotlight factory, a $12,000 garage for O. L. Halsell; a $10,000 warehouse for the California Packing Corporation; a $9000 brick office building for Carden and Seaman, and $5000 garage for Robert McFadden. Also were included eighteen new residences costing between $3000 and $7700 each.

Not included in this total is a $5000 garage building at 428 West Fifth being erected by E. D. Waffle, and a new garage to cost approximately $10,000, which will be erected at Sixth and Sycamore by the Orange County Garage Company. Assurance is given that the new $150,000 hotel will be started within a short time, the Christian Science Church plans a new church, and the First National Bank will soon start work on a new five- or six-story office building on the southwest corner of Fourth and Main streets.

At least four new rural school buildings will be erected this summer, costing around $15,000 each. They will be built at Bolsa, Greenville, Olive, and Villa Park, and contracts for three of the structures have already been let. Several new residences are being erected around Placentia, including two for Frank Anderson and his father costing about $3500 each.

Considerable building is also under way at Balboa, Newport, Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach, and Seal Beach. COPPER

Copper metal is now quoted around 21c per lb., and 25c per lb. is predicted before the end of July. These prices indicate that the surplus of copper metal is steadily diminishing and the market for copper securities appears to be stronger than at any time since the signing of the armistice.

Our Statistical Department has prepared an interesting analysis of the copper situation. A copy of this report will be sent free upon request.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Goodyear Financing is Announced: Bond Situation; Review.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The long expected announcement of the $6,000,000 offering of preferred stock in the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California was made yesterday afternoon from the office of the company in the Washington Building, following, a few days before, of the filing of articles of incorporation of the $20,000,000 corporation and the completion of the legal plans for the formal launching of the concern which is to mean so much to the industrial future of this city.

This stock will be informally available to buyers in Los Angeles and over the Pacific Slope beginning tomorrow, but the formal selling campaign accompanied by an advertising barrage will not begin until later in the week, probably on Thursday.

A syndicate composed of ten of the strongest bond distributing houses in the city has been organized to handle the issue in Los Angeles and San Diego including Cyrus Peirce & Co.; the Blankenhorn-Hunter-Dulin Co.; Torrance Marshall & Co.; W. R. Staats & Co.; Security Mortgage Co.; Frank & Lewis; Perrin, Drake & Riley; Stevens, Page & Sterling; Aronson & Co., and Stephens & Co.

The new company is capitalized at $20,000,000, of which $10,000,000 is unpreferred stock and $10,000,000 in common stock. The Pacific Coast and Pacific export business in 1918 amounted to $13,000,000, but it is the prediction of officers of the company that by the time the whistle blows for the first day's work, about a year hence, the Pacific Slope business will be running at the rate of $25,000,000. Already this year it shows a probable total of nearly $20,000,000, an increase of about $7,000,000 over the 1918 showing.

There seems little reason to doubt that the original $6,000,000 preferred issue will be snapped up locally in short order, and this movement will be the leading feature of the bond market for the next few days. Preparations are under way for the early beginning of actual construction work upon the big plant at Ascot Park: the incorporation has been completed and all of the preliminaries necessary to the financing operations accomplished. Accompanying the announcement of the preferred stock issue is another one to the effect that the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron will buy from the California company $3,000,000 of the common stock at par.

The Goodyear company has been developing for several years immense cotton plantations in the Salt River Valley, Arizona, and this has been another potent reason for the location of a factory near to the source of this supply. Heretofore the cotton has been transported east to Connecticut for milling, then back to Akron for manufacture, then a part of it back to the coast again as manufactured product. A cotton mill will be erected here as a venture separate from the rubber factory and thus by the whole plan Goodyear will make some real short cuts toward higher efficiency in manufacture and distribution.

The new stock is 7 per cent. cumulative, tax exempt in California; exempt from Federal normal income tax, non-assessable; dividends payable January, April, July and October 1. It will be redeemable as a whole only at 105 during first five years and thereafter at 110 and accrued dividends.

The proceeds of the stock sale—$6,000,000 preferred, and $3,000,000 cash paid by the parent company for common—will be used to build and operate the factory, which will have a capacity at the beginning, of 3000 tires a day. The western factory will use the identical patents, trademarks and formulas of the Akron company. March, next, is the probable date of the factory's completion. Meantime, Akron will supply the local selling organizations with goods at wholesale, so that purchasers of the stock will be entitled to dividends from the time of registry of their purchase.

The great success of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in the United States, through its Canadian factory and in the export field, has created much interest in the announcement, recently made, of a new factory in Los Angeles. The directors who are handling the preliminary details are: J. C. Drake, president Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank; Harry Chandler of The Times; H. W. O'Melveny, attorney; J. F. Sartori, president Security Trust and Savings Bank; Lee Phillips, vice-president Pacific Mutual Insurance Company.

The territory in which the new factory and sales organization will operate includes the States of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and the Territory of Hawaii.

Trade Review.

According to a review by the National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago, "business sentiment has undergone a remarkable transformation during the past sixty days. Even a month ago the temporary stagnation of activity because of the price question was clearly in evidence. This has at last been succeeded by the realization that the factors responsible for the present plane of prices are so universal and so long standing as to leave little hope for lower levels except after a long period of time, perhaps years. Meanwhile depleted stocks of goods everywhere have been subjected to an insistent and undiminished demand, with the result that prices in many instances have advanced to new heights. Along with this there has been a marked increase in buying for forward delivery, a fact which attests the strengthening belief in the stability of values. Finally, the unprecedented activity in the promotion of new industrial and trading concerns seems to denote a strong confidence in the soundness of present opportunities and in the permanency of our state of prosperity."

New High Mark.

The past week was one of the most remarkable in the history of the Los Angeles clearing house because of the volume of business passing through that department. The total for the six days is $46,316,256.03 an increase of $15,142,481.01 over the corresponding week in 1918. Three days the clearings were over $8,000,000 and yesterday, the short day of the week, was the heaviest in point of transactions, with a total of $8,480,951.63. Monday was the lightest day with $6,353,761.99. Tuesday and Wednesday were in the $7,000,000 class and Thursday, Friday and Saturday ran more than $8,000,000 with steadily growing totals. Heavy crop payments and business along practically all lines throughout the city is responsible for the showing, which if maintained for the balance of the month will result in establishing a new record.

As It Looks in N. Y.

A Hutton wire yesterday said that the week's close was marked by a "shortage in goods, and sharply rising prices." The army is said to still retain $121,000,000 worth of food stuffs and the Quartermaster Corps is blamed for not putting the surplus on the market. There is growing demand for American coal abroad where the European supply is short and a new export record is expected to be established. The peace demand for goods of all kinds is growing and in the opinion of close observers will soon pass the peak established under the pressure of war conditions. A further evidence of the recognition of the fact that no decline is to be expected for some time is found in the reported intention of the Ford interests to raise the minimum wage scale in effect at the plant to $7 per day.

Westward Ho.

It is no new suggestion in this column that great eastern concerns are more and more seeking western capitalization. They have come to understand the desirability of building up strong financial connections in the West and are realizing that it means not only the introduction of new life blood in the form of funds which have never hitherto been tapped, but also the establishing of firmer bonds of trade relationship. Along this same line of thought it is interesting to note the trend towards replacing short term notes, and even long term bonds with well secured preferred stock issues. The public is more and more appreciative of this form of investment. One reason may be found in the high price level upon which practically all of our commodities are based. A bond or note yielding 5 1-2 per cent. is not nearly so attractive from a purely investment standpoint as it was a few years ago because $5500 per year income upon a $100,000 capital is not equal in purchasing power to more than $8000 before the war. Accordingly more income is imperative and many are seeking this through the channels provided by issues of preferred stock. An attractive offering of this kind is now being made, by the Blankenhorn-Hunter-Dulin Company, in the form of a $17,500,000 issue of the Steel and Tube Company. This is a 7 per cent. offering and constitutes the total preferred stock outstanding. The bonded indebtedness of the corporation is $16,747,500 and there is $42,450,500 in common. The Blankenhorn-Hunter-Dulin concern is gradually branching out and taking on new departments, having shown a remarkable increase in business since the first of the year. The staff is now nearly complete except for a few men who are still in the military service and whose places are being held for them.

Big Business.

Not many eastern concerns, no matter what their financial status, are handling the volume of heavy and exclusive business passing through the counting rooms of several Pacific Coast Companies. A notable example is Blyth, Witter & Co., which is the sole distributor of the recent $3,500,000 issue of Globe Mining & Milling, preferred, and which is handling the Pacific Gas & Electric issue for $5,000,000. Mr. D. T. Babcock, resident partner of this concern which has recently established offices in Seattle and New York is convinced that the trend of financing is swinging steadily from the East to the West especially in relation to our own enterprises. The Los Angeles and San Francisco investors are sufficiently strong to swing deals which a few years ago would have been considered out of the question without eastern help. "Our house," said Mr. Babcock yesterday, "has been among the pioneers

IMPETUS GIVEN TRADE ON NEW YORK 'CHANGE

TEMPORARY CHECK TO ADVANCE BY STRINGENCY IN MONEY MARKET.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Many further indications of general improvement in important lines of trade and industry, in addition to normal peace demands, gave fresh impetus to the trading on the stock exchange this week, the advance, however, checkered at one period by renewed stringency in the money market.

Call loans mounted to 17 per cent., and as much as 20 per cent. was said to have been paid in isolated cases, but normal rates were soon restored, although banks and other financial institutions issued further warnings against excessive speculation.

Dealings covered the widest range of any period since the second stage of the bull markets.

Rails, especially reorganized or low-priced stocks, experienced a revival of the previous month's inquiry.

Noteworthy factors in the industrial situation, included United States Steel's favorable tonnage report for June and the strength of coppers, which was concurrent with several advances in the price of the metal and kindred shares.

International conditions found their clearest reflection in the weakness of exchange on London, Paris and Rome and in further enormous exports of gold to South American and Spain and to Japan and other Oriental points.

LOCAL PRODUCE MET WITH READY DEMAND.

DEALERS BUY UP THE HOME-GROWN CANTALOUPES FOR SHIPPING PURPOSES.

The local produce market was active and strong yesterday and all commodities offered met with a ready demand owing to the first-class quality of most of the arrivals. The market was well cleared before the close of the session with the exception of some soft arrivals which in most cases were unfit for local consumption. Local dealers refused to consider anything but first-class stock and most of the soft fruits and vegetables were bought in by the peddlers at the close. Shippers and retailers swarmed the floor because the quality of all offerings was superior to any arriving during the past ten days.

Cantaloupe dealers suffered considerable losses owing to the poor shape in which most of the arrivals appeared on the floor and prices made a sharp decline of from 25 to 50 cents per box despite the scarcity of cantaloupes at this time of the year. The majority of the offerings consisted of Friday's holdovers which were in poor shape. There were a few crates of good home-grown stock in evidence but this did not last long as the early dealers on the floor bought them up quickly for shipping purposes. Very few cantaloupes have been shipped from the local market during the past month as all the stock arriving has been too soft and wasty.

Watermelons appeared in good condition for the first time this month and prices made a sharp advance of from 1 to 1½ cents per pound owing to the heavy demand for all the stock offered. The poor, soft and wasty stock has been all cleared off the market and from now on dealers expect to handle first class melons. Homegrown stock is beginning to come in in sufficient quantities to supply the local demand and if the stock continues to arrive in the same condition as it did yesterday prices are expected to make moderate advances during the next ten days.

A large shipment of cherries from Salem, Or., arrived on the market and were in good demand throughout the whole session. Good stock opened at from 16 to 17 cents per pound and a further advance of a cent was noted during the latter part of the call. This is the first shipment of first-class cherries to arrive on the local market since the Beaumont shipping season closed.

About fifteen hundred carloads of peaches will be shipped to eastern cities this season from the San Joaquin Valley. This will be a record for the valley. These predictions were made here this afternoon by prominent peach packers and shippers. Packing will be started next week, it was also announced. Shippers estimated that fully 85 per cent. of the valley peach crop had already been sold to the eastern trade. Shipment of Thompson seedless grapes will be under way before the end of next week from this district.

The vegetable market was weak despite the light arrivals of all varieties of stock. Tomatoes suffered the heaviest losses making a sharp decline of from 50 to 60 cents per lug box. The drop was mostly due to the poor quality of most of the stock offered. Wholesalers expect homegrown stock to appear in large quantities at the beginning of next week and predict a sharp decline in prices. Lettuce appeared in better shape than for some time but prices held about steady and there were very few transactions in this stock.

Other fruits and vegetables closed about steady.

RENEWED FIRMNESS IN COTTON MARKET.

REPORT OF COMING SHIPMENTS TO HAMBURG ARE LARGELY RESPONSIBLE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—The cotton market has shown renewed firmness during the past week. The reactions which followed the recent government crop report and preceded the holidays, have not only been recovered but new high records have been established for the life of the present contract with October deliveries selling at 35.20 cents, compared with 31.85 cents, the low level of the previous week, and 19.25 cents, the low point reached on the decline of last spring.

Reports that the Shipping Board was preparing to supervise direct shipments from Philadelphia to Hamburg as soon as cargo was available seemed to be largely responsible for the strength of the New York cotton market this morning. There was also active buying for Liverpool, Japanese and domestic trade account and after opening firm at unchanged prices to an advance of 30 points active months sold 50 to 60 points above last night's closing figures with October touching 35.55 cents and January 35.29 cents. Realizing at these high records was sufficient to cause reactions of several points but there was continued buying on the expectation of an increased European demand.

There were reactions of 25 to 37 points later in the morning under realizing but the close was up slightly at 35.18 cents for October and 34.96 for January, or 15 to 30 points net higher.

Duquesne Light Company owns or controls properties conducting the entire central station electric light and power business in the City of Pittsburgh and throughout the major portions of Allegheny and Beaver Counties, Pennsylvania.

Properties operated by the Duquesne Light Company and its subsidiaries form a single inter-connecting system which serves a total population estimated to exceed 1,100,000 located in the heart of Pittsburgh district.

Franchises with minor exceptions are in the opinion of counsel unlimited in time or for 999-year periods.

Bonds are secured by first mortgage on all property owned in fee, and in addition by deposit of virtually all the stock of company's subsidiaries.

Property owned in fee will include the new Cheswick Power Plant to be constructed from the proceeds of these bonds. This plant will have an initial installed capacity of 60,000 kilowatts, costing about $11,000,000.

New Cheswick plant, together with Brunot Island plant, which has a present capacity of 120 kilowatt hours, represent alone an investment largely in excess of this total issue of bonds.

Bonds are followed by $5,941,000 7% preferred stock, and $18,226,000 8% dividend paying common stock.

EARNINGS

Great Western Power Company of California First and Refunding Mortgage 6% Bonds

Dated March 1st, 1919. Due March 1st, 1949.

Price 97 and Interest
To Yield 6.22%

Exempt From Personal Property Tax in California

These bonds, of which there are $4,000,000 outstanding, are secured by a General Mortgage on the entire system of the Great Western Power Co. and are an absolute First Mortgage on the new 53,000-H.P. Feather River Hydro-Electric Generating Station now under construction. The bonds are additionally secured by pledge of $5,261,000 underlying First Mortgage bonds, being more than one-sixth of the total Underlying bonds in the hands of the public. This is the only mortgage of the Great Western Power Co. that covers all property now owned or hereafter acquired, and no further underlying bonds may be sold to the public.

This issue is followed by $4,818,000 Convertible Debentures and by Capital Stock, whose aggregate present market value is more than $13,000,000.

The Company owns and operates an established and increasingly successful electric light and power business, serving San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, and forty-five other municipalities, with an estimated population of 1,350,000, or nearly half the population of the State. In the past seven years the Company's connected load has increased from 135,000 to about 280,000-H.P. A recent report on the Central California power market discloses a present demand of over 30,000-H.P. in excess of supply, and a probable normal increase in demand of over 25,000-H.P. per year.

Net earnings for the year ended April 30th, 1919, were about twice the annual interest charges on Total Mortgage Debt, including this issue (without benefit from the proceeds of this financing.)

Constituting an absolute First Mortgage on the most modern portion of the Great Western Power Company's plant and an obligation of a large, well managed and successful enterprise, we consider these bonds unusually attractive and recommend them for investment.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Starting at a moderate pace, today's brief session of the stock market soon became active on renewed buying of speculative shares, especially tobaccos and motor accessories.

Later the movement embraced equipments, shippings, steels and miscellaneous issues, also low-priced rails, with Denver and Rio Grande preferred the feature at a gain of virtually five points.

United States Steel was variable at the outset, but developed marked strength toward the close, gaining almost two points, while Crucible Steel made a sudden rise of six points.

Coppers were not very responsive to the 21-cent price quoted for the refined metal, although Anaconda, Utah and American Smelting hardened with the general list in the sweeping up rush at the end.

The more prominent features were American and Lorillard Tobaccos, United Cigars, Ajax Rubber, Kelly-Springfield and Keystone Tires, United States Rubber, Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, Gulf States Steel, Central Foundry, Pennsylvania Seaboard Steel and several food shares. Sales amounted to 82,500.

The bank statement presented no noteworthy change, actual loans showing only a nominal increase despite the week's active stock dealings, while an increase of about $26,650,000 in reserves reported only a partial recovery of the preceding week's large contraction.

Trading in bonds lacked special feature, but Liberty issues and underlying bonds of secondary transportations were steady to firm. Total sales (par value) aggregated $4,375,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

FACTS ON TEXAS OIL STOCKS

We believe there is a REAL OPPORTUNITY to make money in TEXAS OILS, but unless the INVESTOR gets correct, UP-TO-DATE INFORMATION he is unable to discriminate between the genuine purchases and those that are counterfeit.

With the boom started when Sam Fowler's Well came in last July and returned FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS for every HUNDRED DOLLARS invested, and further accelerated by the BURK-WAGGONER, which sold out to New York parties for TWO MILLION DOLLARS, returning $3,333.33 for each $100.00 invested, hundreds of companies of mushroom growth came into existence. If you want to play SAFE, GET THE FACTS. We have them at our office or can get them for you.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

in this development, and we are only at the threshhold."

Going, Going, Gone.

The $80,000 first mortgage 6 per cent. serial bonds of the Visalia City Water Company, advertised exclusively in The Times were oversubscribed before 9 o'clock on the morning of the date of publication. The Visalia Company is a conservatively operated municipal money maker and the bonds priced at par and accrued interest moved in jig time. The proceeds are to be applied to refunding. A big issue which has sold fast is the Dominion of Canada $75,000,000. This is largely oversubscribed and the allotments will be made on Monday. Originally offered at 97 the market yesterday on this issue was 97 1-2 at 97 3-4.

The Stock Market.

The stock market yesterday was less active than on any day of the week, the interest apparently concentrating, outside of the business in Union Oil, which involved the sale of 434 shares at the "pegged" price of $157.87 1-2, in a few of the low priced mining listings. Ten thousand shares of Adams Mining went under the hammer from 2 1-4 to 2 5-8 cents; 14,000 shares of Big Jim started at 14 cents and sold up to 14 1-2; Nellie Mining was at 8 cents Gold Ore Mining at 3 1-2 cents and Richmond Copper at 21 cents. United Eastern and Tom Reed were firm but comparatively inactive at $4.65 and $1.56. In the oils there was considerable strength but not much activity. Associated sold in a small block at $92; United and Jade were a trifle soft, the former selling down from 56 1-2 to 56 1-4 and Jade going over at 26 cents. Union Sugar and Los Angeles Investment featured the industrials, sugar selling a quarter under the Friday close of $45 and L. A. I., being at 47 1-2 cents for a total trading operation of 875 shares. There was no change in the government bond price.

(Total Authorized)

THE STEEL & TUBE COMPANY OF AMERICA, INC.

7% CUMULATIVE PREFERRED STOCK
PAR VALUE $100 PER SHARE

Dividends payable quarterly on the first days of January, April, July and October.

EXEMPT FROM THE NORMAL FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Redeemable as a whole or in part at 110 and accrued dividends on 30 days' notice.

The Steel & Tube Company is one of the three largest manufacturers of steel pipe and tubular goods in the United States. Its properties are entirely self-contained and independent, the Company owning and operating all the units from raw materials to the finished product.

CAPITALIZATION

With the issue of this stock, the proceeds of which will be used for refunding and working capital and to complete certain construction work the Company will have outstanding the following:

Bonded Debt	$16,747,500
7% Preferred Stock (this issue)	17,500,00
Common Stock	42,450,500

EARNINGS

Earnings of the properties for the last three years make the following showing:

Year to Dec. 31.	Sales	Balance for Dividends
1916	$30,083,525	$6,246,152
1917	43,218,016	6,836,730
1918	58,058,598	8,622,200
The dividend on the preferred stock		$1,225,000

amounts to and was thus earned over seven times last year.

The Company has orders for pipe which will take the entire finishing capacity until November next, and the demand continues active at good prices. Net profits for the current year are estimated at considerably above last year's figures.

ASSETS

The financial statement, after giving effect to the proceeds of this issue, shows net current assets of $31,-346,648, or over $132 per share of preferred stock.

Total asset values for the preferred as carried on the books, amount of $70,837,409, or $405 per share.

After deducting depreciation reserves, net tangible assets for the preferred over all liabilities are equal to $359 per share.

The agreement under which the preferred stock is issued provides among other things the following:

No cash dividend shall be paid on the common stock which will reduce working capital to less than the total par value of outstanding preferred stock.

No additional notes or funded debt (except General Mortgage Bonds authorized under the 1918 mortgage,) or stock ranking ahead of or equally with this issue can be created except with the consent of the holders of 75% of the preferred stock.

An annual sinking fund beginning 1920 of 3% of the total amount of preferred stock outstanding is provided for the redemption of preferred stock, which may be purchased in the open market up to 110 and accrued dividends, or, if not so obtainable, is to be retired by lot at that price.

Extraordinary Offering

Books open tomorrow (Monday, July 14th,) for subscriptions to the unsold portion of a $200,000.00 issue of the

First Mortgage Convertible 7% Serial Gold Bonds of the Liberty Long Staple Cotton Co.

owning and operating 1000 acres of the most choice Long Staple Cotton land in the famous Salt River Valley of Arizona.

These bonds, offering as they do absolute security with maximum yield, are a most desirable investment and bear indorsements and approval from both Los Angeles and Phoenix of practical cotton men and engineers (names gladly furnished on request) as well as ourselves.

SECURITY:

The bonds are a First Mortgage on 1000 acres of land in the famous Salt River Valley, the center of the long Staple Cotton Belt of Arizona, together with all improvements, water developments, crops growing or harvested and at the completion of this financing the security behind the bonds will be in excess of two dollars for every dollar invested.

GUARANTEED INCOME:

The Company has decided to lease, under most advantageous conditions, 500 acres of their holdings on an ABSOLUTE GUARANTEED RENTAL providing more than the amount necessary for interest on the bonds.

The other 500 acres will be planted to Long Staple Cotton and, using as a basis the average figures of every cotton grower in the valley, the company should earn upwards of $60,000, or an amount equal to four times the interest on bonds, this being in addition to the rentals realized from 500 acres.

LONG STAPLE COTTON IN THE SALT RIVER VALLEY

Among the large industrial corporations who have invested vast sums in Long Staple Cotton Projects the Goodyear Rubber Co. are perhaps best known, operating as the Southwest Cotton Co., capitalized for $8,000,000. They own approximately 30,000 acres throughout the Salt River Valley, which earned for them upwards of $4,000,000 last year. They are adding to their holdings after a practical test of the industry covering three years.

Land on which Long Staple Cotton can be grown is limited. The best is in Arizona. Practically no Long Staple Cotton is grown in the South. Manufacturers—especially tiretread and fabric manufacturers—must have the Long Staple Cotton, hence the difference in price—30c for Short Staple, 70c for Long Staple.

After an exhaustive study of both the physical and financial conditions confronting the Liberty Long Staple Cotton Co. we strongly recommend the issue and urge the friends and customers of this house to enter their subscriptions.

VALIDITY of Issue certified to by Title Insurance and Trust Co., Los Angeles, Calif.

DEPOSITORIES: First National Bank, Los Angeles, Calif.; Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, Los Angeles, Calif. Phoenix National Bank, Phoenix, Arizona.

All applications will be filled in the order of their receipt and we reserve the right to pro-rate any subscription in the event of an over-subscription.

Circular descriptive of the issue will be mailed on request.

BALLENTINE WELL

PLEASANT GROVE CHURCH LOT

Came in yesterday at 6000 BBLS. DAILY. It is believed this well will be flowing at a decidedly greater rate by Monday, like the Waggoner, which came in at 2500 bbls., and increased to 15,000 daily.

INCREASE EARNINGS

Officials estimate that the Waggoner & Ballentine wells have added (at the present rate of production) $10,000 per month income to the Rex Oil Co., and $20,000 per month to the Ranger Oil Co.

CITRUS REVIEW FOR WEEK.

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(Offices of the Fruit World.) The slowing up of Valencia shipments to a daily average of 46 cars the past two weeks has enabled the markets outside of the auctions to clean up in good shape and has also helped to reduce diversions to auction centers. The trade throughout the country that had its attention diverted from Valencias during the peak of the movement of Imperial Valley cantaloupes and early Georgia peaches are again calling for Valencias. As a result, prices have advanced fully 50 cents per box the past three days in eastern markets.

F.o.b. quotations are now on a basis of $4.25 to $4.75 on best grades.

Shipments are gradually increasing and for the next several weeks are expected to run close to 125 cars daily. It is thought that the markets can readily absorb that quantity of Valencias notwithstanding the fairly heavy movement of peaches from Georgia.

Latest estimates on the coming crop of oranges indicate a yield of navels equal to that of the season just closed, or around 18,000 carloads. Valencias are reported to have suffered a heavier loss from dropping than have navels, but it is far too early for estimates of value. Central California districts promise a navel crop about 10 per cent. heavier than the season just closed.

Advices from Florida state that big prices are being paid for early oranges on the trees, ranging from $2.75 to $3 per box.

LEMONS.

The hot weather in the middle western markets the past week has enabled the trade to clean up on holdings of California lemons and orders are again pouring in on shippers. Eastern markets are also showing more activity and there is every indication of increasing business from that territory as the Middle West hot wave is traveling eastward and should spur the trade on to greater activity in lemon purchases.

F.o.b. quotations are on a basis of $5 to $5.50 per box.

Sales of foreign lemons in eastern markets are heavy. Riciopp Ripes ranged from $2.65 to $4.50, averaging $3.45; Verdellis $4 to $4.50, averaging $4.25 in New York on Thursday of this week.

Friday, July 11th, 10 a.m.

Telephone report just received from the well states that the showing of oil is increasing hourly and considerable more gas also, going through a sand that didn't show so much when the hole was made. Leaving the well stand now to see what oil will develop. The driller seems very much elated over the prospects and can only account for the sand not showing up more before by the heavy pressure of water that was kept in the well when we drilled through it.

FORD STOCK TRANSFER BRINGS IN LARGE TAX.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Indications are that the Federal government will collect something more than $50,000,000 in income tax revenue in the event of the materialization of the reported arrangement for the acquisition by the Ford interests of most of the minority stock in the Ford Motor Company.

This is the informal estimate of experts in the Treasury Department who were consulted tonight on the assumption that the shares of stock being turned over were valued at $20,000,000 in 1913 and are now estimated to be worth about $100,000,000 and in the assumption that the minority stockholders would receive in the neighborhood of $80,000,000 profit on the transaction, that being the difference between the 1913 value and the price at which the stock has been sold by them. It is the idea of treasury experts that the income tax would be paid on the basis of the income having been received in 1919 at the 1919 income tax rates.

RULES FOR HANDLING OF WHEAT ANNOUNCED

PROVISION IS MADE FOR SETTLING DISPUTES BETWEEN GROWER AND BUYER.

There has been considerable complaint that private dealers have not been dealing fairly with wheat growers in regard to grade, dockage and prices. The United States Grain Corporation announces that it will enter into contracts with buyers and in the contract there is a specific section dealing with the matters of grading, dockage and prices.

The section is as follows: "The miller (or dealer) in buying wheat from the producer shall purchase on the proper grade and dockage, at the terminal most advantageously reached, less freight, and less a reasonable handling margin. The miller (or dealer) shall keep a record showing all purchases from the producer, name of the seller, date, quantity, grade and dockage fixed and price paid and reasons for fixing grade under No. 1, including test weight, and on all parcels of wheat on which there is a dispute as to grade and dockage or price between the miller (or dealer) and the producer at the time of delivery, a notation thereof shall be made upon the records of the miller (or dealer) and a sample shall be drawn by the producer and the miller (or dealer) and forwarded in a proper container to the vice-president of the Grain Corporation in the zone in which the purchase is made, for his use in the determination of the dispute. The determination of the vice-president shall be final and conclusive unless an appeal from such determination be filed within ten days with the United States Wheat Director, by either the producer or miller (or dealer.) In case of appeal the decision of the United States Wheat Director shall be final and conclusive. The miller (or dealer) shall keep a copy of this section prominently displayed at his place of business."

In case of growers selling to private agencies when disputes occur, the grain corporation will be glad to act as a mediator. A sample of wheat of at least three pounds should be sent to the Grain Corporation, 343 Sansome street, San Francisco, with card enclosed, giving the following details: date, shipping point, price paid, name and address of buyer, name and address of seller; number of bushels under dispute; grade and dockage fixed by buyer; grade and dockage claimed by seller. To make certain that excess moisture is not a factor, at least part of the sample must be forwarded in an air-tight container. The Grain Corporation will promptly on receipt advise both buyer and seller of their opinion as to the proper grade and dockage. On samples in which there is a dispute, the Grain Corporation will express its opinion as to the relative values of such sample as compared with the guaranteed basis standard No. 1 price.

REFINED COPPER IS NOW 21 CENTS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Refined copper was quoted at 21 cents a pound by one of the leading selling agencies today. This represents an advance of 1½ cents for the week and 6½ cents over the low price of last month.

In trade circles further advances were predicted for high-grade copper. Germany, it is understood, is in the market for enormous quantities of the metal.

BULLS HAVE ROMPING TIME IN GRAIN PITS.

NEW SET OF BUYERS PUT OATS AND CORN TO THE HIGHEST PRICES OF SEASON.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 12.—The best bull market of the week was experienced today with oats in the lead, advancing to highest of the season and all grains closed practically at the top of the day with December corn and all oats the highest for the season. Gains on corn were 1¾@5 cents, the latter on December, and oats 2¼@2¾ cents higher. Enormous offerings were absorbed by a new set of buyers in oats while in corn shorts were the best buyers. Kansas City corn gained 1¾@6⅜ cents, the latter on September and had a strengthening influence here. Oats there were 2¼@2¾ cents higher, while Minneapolis oats were 1⅝@2½ cents and in Winnipeg 2⅛@2¼ cents higher.

Higher prices were made for all grains and provisions the last week, with corn 7¾ cents up on July, 10⅞ cents on September and 2½ cents on December. Oats gained 8@8½ cents, rye 9½@10¾ cents and barley 3¾@4 cents.

A badly oversold condition developed in December corn, and with heavy covering by shorts and a marked increase in the outside buying, prices advanced rapidly to a new high on the crop, selling at $1.65, or 1 cent over the old top. July and September were inclined to lag and failed to get into new ground.

At no time were prices as low as the previous day's close and December closed within ⅛ cent of the top at $1.64⅞, while July was $1.94⅞, or 1 cent under the September. Longs are getting out of the July rapidly and many reinstated with purchases of December.

Increasing damage reports on oats with a wild wave of short covering and also buying by commission houses with country connections swept aside all opposition and prices advanced 2⅛@2¾ cents and closed at the top with September at the best figure ever known for that delivery and all at the best prices on the crop. July and September closed at 79 cents and December at 81 cents.

PRICES ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE SHOW GAINS.

CARBIDE CARBON, AMERICAN SHIPBUILDING AND EDISON ADVANCE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, July 12.—Prices on the Stock Exchange showed gains ranging from fractions to one point higher. Carbide Carbon showed a good volume of dealings on an advance of ¼ to 84½. American Shipbuilding rose 1 point to 128, and Commonwealth Edison a point to 113.

The motor issues continued in favor with traders as shown in the activity which now prevails in the motor industry as a whole. Mitchell Motor retained its early advance of 4 points to 54.

The packers issues were moderately active with no change in quotations of material significance.

Continental Oil & Refining Company

(A dividend paying and producing oil company, now on an extensive drilling campaign in the heart of the richest oil bearing fields in the U. S.)

Their well now drilling in the heart of the Burkburnett Field, Texas, is surrounded on all sides, within from 500 to 1500 feet by wells producing from 2,200 to 5000 barrels of oil daily.

This well is expected in July 25th and an investment in the shares of this company should not be lost sight of at this moment.

Because of the basic safety of this investment coupled with the large speculative possibilities accorded this company—and the handsome dividend return—we believe this stock an ultra attractive investment at present price.

Do you know that the OIL BOOM in SOUTHERN TEXAS is only just beginning: that leading geologists of the State predict that deep oil sands will be reached at approximately 3000 feet? That test wells are being sunk in a great many sections and from which gushers are liable to be brought in within the next ninety days in Southern Texas, at which in time property will go to fabulous prices?

We Do Not Sell Stock

A part of our story:—During 1912-14 a prominent California Banker visited TEXAS and selected 8000 acres of land in KINNEY COUNTY for agricultural and grazing purposes. Through this land the survey has been made for the irrigating ditch running from the DEVILS RIVER, which when completed will furnish irrigation for this land and 250,000 acres in adjoining counties. Upon investigation we found that the Government and State Geologists show by the geological maps that the OIL STRATA RUNS DIRECTLY THROUGH THIS LAND and shows a direct line of OIL BELT from RANGER & BURK-BURNETT to the wonderful TAMPICO OIL FIELDS in Mexico. WE SECURED A CONTRACT FOR THE PURCHASE of this land which we are by this notice, beginning the SALE of the first unit of 1000 acres with a guarantee by the banker referred to, that from the sales, he will set aside a portion of the money which to drill well No. 1 on a reservation of 400 acres of the 8000, and agrees to divide the profits from gas or oil produced with those purchasing acreage in this tract, for a period of twenty years.

WANTS A BILLION.

Representative Robison of Kentucky asks for an increase of $1,000,000,000 to present Federal Aid Road Act appropriations; while Representative Ferris of Oklahoma believes that $400,000,000 should be added.

Many of the Rocky Mountain States Representatives have fathered measures which would provide for the sale of public lands for use in road improvement, one of the most important of these bills coming from Senator Phipps of Colorado.

There are a number of bills which call for special appropriations for the construction of national park thoroughfares, memorial roads and military highways.

Delegate Kalanianole of Hawaii contends that this territory should participate in the distribution of the money appropriated under the Federal Aid Road Act.

ABOUT THE FORESTS.

Senator King of Utah believes that the national forests should be returned to the Department of the Interior, instead of being administered by the Department of Agriculture, which arrangement, it will be remembered, traces back to the Roosevelt administration, when the change was made to meet the wishes of Gifford Pinchot, the then chief forester. A powerful sentiment undoubtedly exists for the return of the forest reserves to the Secretary of the Interior.

"It is interesting to note in analyzing the measures that the demand comes from all sections of the United States," comments Chairman George C. Diehl of the A.A.A. national good roads board, "showing that the movement for national highways is a genuine growth and that the roads question has passed beyond sectional stages."

ECONOMY MARK SOUGHT AFTER.

PRIVATE OWNERS ARE GOING OUT AFTER MARK SET IN THE CAMP CURRY RUN.

The record made by the Briscoe when it won the trophy in its class in the economy run to Camp Curry, Yosemite, last May, has made a mark for Briscoe owners to shoot at, according to the Frank O. Renstrom Company, State distributor of the Briscoe. The last of these so far heard from is Walter M. Avis of Pomona, who, traveling in his Briscoe roadster, recently made a trip to San Francisco, going north by way of the valley road and returning over the Coast route. His average gasoline mileage for the entire trip was 29.9 miles.

M. W. Zander, Briscoe agent at Pomona, last week on a gallon of gasoline made 40.8 miles with four passengers acting as observers. He reports to Earl V. Abbott, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Frank O. Renstrom Company, that he has at this time orders for three times as many Briscoes than he is able to secure from that company.

GOSSIP AMONG AUTO BUILDERS.

All are Wondering What the Lelands will Do.

Several Manufacturers will Build Additions.

Important News for Buyers of Commercial Cars.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DETROIT (Mich.) July 12.—The long awaited announcement of what the Lincoln Motor Company has "under its hat" is expected almost any day now. The company has made its final settlement with the government for the herculean war work it performed and is now in an independent position. President Leland and his son, however, have been working out their plans on their new product for some time, but it is only of late that these plans have advanced sufficiently to render it possible to begin buying materials in large quantities.

STILL A SECRET.

Efforts to learn just what kind of a car the new product will be are met with the reply "We don't know as yet." In fact, no one really knows whether the company intends to manufacture automobiles, airplanes, motors or tractors. It is taken for granted, however, that Henry M. Leland, the creator of the Cadillac, and the dean of the Detroit automobile industry, with a magnificent plant at his disposal, must just naturally return to his old love. And as a tribute to the genius of the famous engineer, the auto world confidently assumes that the new car will take front rank among the standard automotive vehicles.

Two more models of Clydesdale trucks, Nos. 32 and 42, have been launched by the Clyde Car Company. The new trucks embody the same constructional features of all the heavy-duty Clydesdales. They are one ton and one and one-half ton capacity, made to fill the demand for a staunch little truck for delivery work and lighter loads.

DOUBLE OUTPUT.

Continental Motors Corporation will expend $1,000,000 in building a power plant and manufacturing buildings in Muskegon and replacing machinery in the present buildings by more modern equipments. These improvements, it is expected, will effect a 100 per cent. increase in production at Muskegon. It is predicted that the corporation's report for the fiscal year ending October 31 will show a substantial increase in earnings. The company's stockholders now number about 5000, having increased approximately 33 1-3 per cent. during the past year.

Less than $3,000,000 of the company's preferred stock is outstanding at present, a considerable amount having been retired. Common stock to the amount of $14,000,000 is in the hands of the public.

BIG EXPANSION.

Construction of a building to contain 132,518 square feet of floor space has been begun by the Reo Motor Car Company. It is intended to change the production plan, increase the pay roll by 1500 men, alter the factory entrance and convert the former tractor plant into an exclusive motor making unit.

The new building will be located in the center of the factory group. It will be used as a machine shop With the completion of this building, the motor department will be transferred to the former Buick plant. The motor plant will employ 1200 men, or 500 more than have been previous employed.

NEW TREASURER.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the General Motors Corporation held Thursday for the purpose of making changes in its financial organization, M. L. Prensky of Detroit, for the last three years comptroller of the General Motors Corporation, was elected treasurer, vice, H. H. Rice, resigned. Frank Turner, of Flint, assistant comptroller of the Buick division of the General Motors Corporation, formerly comptroller of the E. I. Dupont DeNemours & Co., was elected comptroller of the corporation, succeeding Mr. Prensky. H. H. Rice, retiring treasurer, was elected vice-president and wil devote his entire time to industrial research. J. H. Noble and A. Badley of the comptroller's staff, were appointed assistant treasurers of the General Motors Corporation.

These changes have been made with a view to centralizing the financial and accounting organizations of the corporation to keep pace with the rapid expansion of its business.

CARS BURNED.

Fire of undetermined origin that started in a boxcar at the loading docks of the Paige Detroit Motor Car Company early this week, destroyer sixteen automobiles, valued at $25,000, and a truck belonging to the Paige Company and seventeen railroad freight cars. H. M. Jewett, president of the Paige Detroit Motor Car Company, said the automobiles were covered by insurance.

The treasury department has published a modification and addition to regulations No. 47 under section 900 of the revenue act of 1918 to the effect that a truck chassis is an automobile and not a part. This is retroactive to February 25, 1919. A tax must be paid on all chassis sales trucks at three per cent., all others at five per cent. except sales to a State or its subdivisions. The tax must be passed on to the buyer from the maker. If the buyer further manufacture the article by adding a body he is the manufacturer of automobiles or trucks as heretofore and must pay a manufacturer's tax to the Federal government.

SOME CREDIT.

He may take as a credit, however, against the tax he is required to pay the government and which is figured on his selling price the amount of the tax the maker paid on the portion of the completed article made by the manufacturer and which tax was passed on to him. For example, if the dealer buys a chassis from the maker and the body from the dealer and then unites the two he is responsible to the government for a tax of three per cent. if it becomes a truck or five per cent. if it becomes a passenger car, but the dealer pays the government the amount of the entire tax, less what the maker paid.

Gross earnings for the Studebaker corporation in the six months ending June 30 are placed at approximately $4,200,000. Production figures for the six months were practically 17,000 cars. Schedule for the current year calls for the production of 40,000 cars.

Briscoe Motor Car Company of Jackson, has just awarded a contract for $1,000,000 worth of sedan bodies to the John H. Bohent Company of Lansing.

Oakland Motor Car Company is turning out 265 chassis daily. This is the largest output in the company's history.

How to Ride on a Surfboard.

Above, Vance Veith and Miss Eleanor Fields racing for the beach on the Hawaiian type of deepsea flivver. Below, the same pair enjoying a battle with the breakers.

SURF-BOARD RIDING IS SOME SPORT.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

Surf-board riding is one sport on which the beaches along the ocean have a monopoly. A man or woman can swim anywhere there is water, provided they are not particular as to the kind of water. Practically every town boasts some water hole. Small boys have even been seen swimming in the Los Angeles River, which might be called imaginative swimming.

But the best and dryest swimmer in the world can only do surf-board riding where there are breakers, the latter being absolutely necessary for the motive power that propels the board.

Surf-board riding is nothing more or less than laying or standing on a board while a breaker propels it up onto the beach.

The sport was first discovered and exploited in Hawaii, where the breakers come rolling in for miles trying to break without ever quite doing it. For some years the sport was thought to be native to the islands, our breakers being considered too rough and of too short duration for the sport.

DISCOVERED.

A few Luther Burbank souls, of whom Vance Vieth claims to be one and Freeth undoubtedly is another, tried out the sport here, and found that with a few modifications it could be transplanted to our native sands, and accommodated to our breakers.

The first requisite for surf-board riding that a bather should possess is the ability to swim. You need not know how to do the fancy crawl or the overhand trudgeon or the froglike breast stroke, but you must be able to paddle around. For the first thing a would-be surf-board rider must be prepared to do is throw his or herself with wild abandon upon the breakers, trusting to their many playful duckings on their capricious route to shore. But you can safely try surf-board riding if you can dog-paddle around. It is not necessary to go out over your depth. It is merely necessary to stop yourself flip-flopping against your will when things go wrong.

THE BOARDS.

The next requisite is a board. Two kinds are used. A small board about four feet long, and a foot and a half across, and a big piece of redwood about eight feet long and tapering from four feet across at its nose down to foot and a half at its narrow end. This later board is usually about an inch thick. The smaller board is sometimes curved up at the nose to give the breakers something to catch a hold of, but this curve is more ornamental than useful.

Now when is the best time for surf-board riding? Any time that the breakers are not breaking with a boom and casting spray all over themselves. When breakers start throwing water in their own faces, they will throw you and your little board into the sky and scrape your sun-burned nose on the sand below.

Low tide is all right if you enjoy a gentle push, but the best time is between tides when the breakers are of medium height and have a long roll.

VENTURE FORTH.

Having secured your board and made sure that the ocean is in placid humor, you are now ready to venture forth. If you are a beginner or a woman without an escort who would killingly kiss the dust off your shoes, you have a small board. The question now is how to get the board through the surf.

A small board can be tossed over the wave while you jump. Or you can hold it high above your head and make the splashing leap. Or you can use the narrow edge to cut the breaker with. The problem is easy with a light board.

Now the question is when to catch the breaker. The right time is just as the top of the wave caps over and the water starts the downward shoot. You should now be lying on the board with your tummy, your graceful limbs trailing behind like a frog's legs.

As the wave comes on kick your legs up and down. This is to set the board in motion, and relieve the breaker of the necessity of cranking you up. The wave may get disgusted and leave you floating in its wake. It has little use for lazy persons.

THE SHOOT.

As the swell breaks it will shoot your little board down in front of it. Your weight being well back, the nose is elevated and the water catches this and shoots you shoreward. Now all you have to do is hold on and yell at unsuspecting bathers to get out of your way. This they will be glad to do if they see you, for the same reason that they are glad to get out of your way when you're in an automobile

Surf-board riding is becoming so popular that some of our more progressive beaches are seriously considering putting up signs, "Stop, look and listen for the surf board," and enforcing rules making all boards carry horns.

HARD TO STEER.

The surf board is rather hard to steer, although something can be done in this line by rolling on the opposite side from the direction you want to go. If the lady you are heading toward is beautiful or the man stronger, a safe precaution is too simply roll yourself and the board on your side. This will untangle the board from the wave and prevent black eyes and biting tongues.

Surf boarding is sometimes fraught with upheavals. If instead of sliding down the swell, the breaker comes down ca-slap on the board, you will do several flips in the water. About all you can do is let go of the board. It is lighter than you are and the breaker will get it out of your way. Usually the ocean does that for you. When you start rolling over and over, exposing your legs to the air and eating the sand, a good thing is to strike out with right and lefts in windmill fashion. This will stop your

REO

Speed Wagons Keep Moving

It is a well established fact that Reo Speed Wagons are on the job more hours per week than other makes of cars of the same capacity.

A record of 200,000 miles of suburban stage work with a Reo without being off the run for any one period of twenty-four hours is an example of their efficiency and reliability.

With Reo Speed Wagons there is no need of reserve equipment, as they are so accessible that repairs, adjustments or replacement of worn parts can be made quickly and easily.

Their operating cost is quite a bit less than ordinary and this combined with their greater speed in making deliveries makes them the most economical motor transport for loads up to 3000 pounds.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) July 12.—The Bankhead Pathfinding Commission that inspected the various routes from El Paso to San Diego and Los Angeles, Cal., has been called to meet in the city of Washington, Tuesday, July 15. This commission will consider the data, maps and questionnaires that have been furnished them; also the notes that they proposed using when they made the trip from April 22 to May 9. This commission is composed of Messrs. A. G. Batchelder of the American Automobile Association, Maurice Eldridge, engineer of the United States roads department, and C. B. Beasley, clerk of the Postoffice and Post Roads Committee of the United States Senate.

Mr. J. A. Rountree, secretary of the Bankhead National Highway Association, has written to all parties interested in the establishment of the Bankhead highway from El Paso to the Pacific Coast, urging them to forward all maps, data and questionnaires to the commission at Washington at once. If they have any additional data, to also forward the same.

After the pathfinding commission reaches a decision, they will make their report to President T. S. Plowman, who will call a meeting of the board of directors thirty days after it is received and they will pass upon same, and the route will then be established from Washington to the Pacific Ocean.

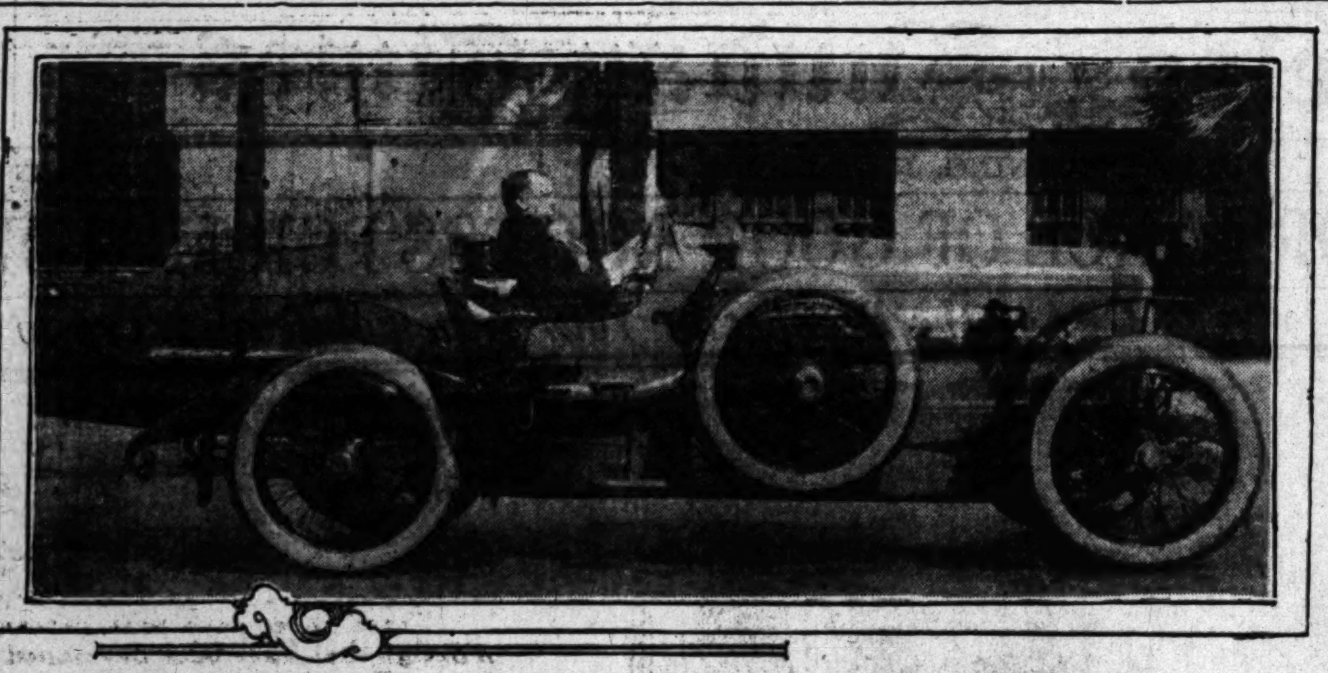
Reports show there is much interest and rivalry among the people over the western division of the Bankhead national highway. They are anxious that the location be made as early as possible.

BIG PRICE PAID AT THE FACTORY.

COMMON LABOR COSTS SO MUCH THAT PRICE OF MACHINES IS SURE TO STAY UP.

With ranchers of the Middle West offering as high as $15 a day in efforts to secure sufficient labor to harvest the wheat crop, clerks are leaving their desks and workers in the factories are quitting their benches for the fields, so potent is the lure of this unheard of wage for this class of work, stated F. H. Harris, wholesale salesmanager of the Greer-Robbins Company, distributor of Hupmobile and Chalmers cars, who last week returned from the East. When traveling through southern Kansas he passed by thousands of acres of wheat waiting for the harvest.

"From what I learned there are no workers in the automotive factories—even the most unskilled—who receive less than $5 a day. Packers of parts, which is the work of unskilled hands, receive $5.25 a day. Of course, skilled labor receives far more for a day's wage. These facts give some idea what it costs to produce an automobile as compared with pre-war figures, and because of the high production costs there are no manufacturers who see the slightest chance for any reduction in the price of automobiles," he said.



"Easy on the Throttle, Boy; You're Going Through Orange County."

Side view of the classy new Packard twin six built specially for Jesse Lasky in the shops of the Earle C. Anthony, Inc. It is modeled almost exactly after Ralph de Palma's famous Packard "909," but is a stock chassis slightly shortened.

SIMILAR TO DE PALMA'S.

When that cream colored streak of lightning which Ralph De Palma drove around the Santa Monica road race course in new record time came to California it created a desire in the hearts of many men for such a car and Jesse Lasky, whose motion-picture productions are known wherever motion pictures are shown, was the first to place an order for a duplication of the body on a Packard twin-six chassis.

An aviation type motor such as Packard built for the racing car was not procurable so a standard twin-six chassis was used by shortening the wheel base. With this as a foundation a new body was constructed and finished in the shops of Earle C. Anthony, Inc., which is as near a replica of the car as was possible to produce with the minor changes which Lasky required to make the car a two-passenger affair instead of for one only.

The long stream-lined body required hours of work to hammer out the curves; even the exhaust pipes and new manifolds which they required consumed much time as they, too, had to be made by hand.

The car as it stands finished serves a double purpose. It can be stripped of its patent leather fenders and auxiliary third seat and converted into a racer in a very few minutes. For touring it has two roomy seats in the body and a third attached to the right-hand side. A top, of new lines and design was built in the Anthony trim shop in such a manner that it can be taken down and stowed away in the carrying compartment of the body. Two small windshields from which the pyralin sheets can be removed in a twinkling afford protection to the eyes when touring.

Wire wheels, of course, were used and two extra ones are carried, one on either side of the car just back of the front fenders. Under the long rounded tail is a gasoline tank with a capacity of forty-three gallons, enough to tour to San Francisco with a generous surplus left at the finish.

The car was tried out on the boulevards a few days ago and showed enough speed to suit any motor fan who wants to tour fast and more speed than some of the racing cars of today would show over the same roads.

It is probable that the car will be entered in the proposed races at Ascot Park on July 20, in which motion-picture stars will be the drivers. Just how fast the car will turn the oval at Ascot is being kept very quiet, but its resemblance to the fastest car in the world will doubtless make it a favorite of the field.

TAKE HOLLYWOOD AGENCY

A brand new firm, composed largely of young men, has taken over the agency for Hudson super six automobiles in Hollywood and has already launched an aggressive campaign which promises to augment the already large number of Hudsons already seen on the streets. The new firm is known as Booth, Cleveland, Audet Company, Inc.

The personnel of the new firm is Franklin Otis Booth, president; Edward S. Cleveland, vice-president; George C. Audet, secretary-treasurer; Harry Chandler and E. N. Martin, directors. Mr. Booth is a newspaper man, while the other two active members of the firm have both been engaged in the automobile business for a number of years, Mr. Cleveland having been associated with the Walter M. Brown Company, Stutz agents, and Mr. Audet with other Hudson agencies.

For the present the new Hudson agency will be located in the Mt. Olive Garage, on Cahuenga avenue, but plans are being prepared for the erection of a handsome home of their own on Hollywood boulevard, work on which will be started in a short time.

Starting as it does with plenty of capital and experienced automobile men at the helm, the Hudson car is sure to be even more popular in Hollywood in the future than it has been in the past.

CHROME VANADIUM STILL EXPENSIVE.

Although there has been an appreciable reduction in the price of carbon steel, the price of chrome vanadium used extensively in the automobile industry remains where it was during the war, and with little likelihood that there will be any reduction, according to John B. Rauen, secretary and treasurer of the United States Spring Company.

TAKE BIG TIRE AGENCY.

Following out their advertised policy to market Oldfield tires only through tire distributors and dealers, the Oldfield Tire Company has appointed Arthur Hess and L. H. Sacket local distributor of their product, under the firm name of Hess & Sacket, Inc. Both men have been residents of Los Angeles for many years, and have many friends and business acquaintances.

Mr. Hess has been for twelve years, and is yet, interested in the plumbing and heating business, and has just closed the plumbing and heating contract for the new $5,000,000 California Hotel—the biggest contract of its kind ever made in Los Angeles. He is a Thirty-second Degree Mason, member of Al Malaikah Temple and the Jonathan Club.

Mr. Sacket, who will be the active manager of the tire business, has been distributor of the Affordable Truck, and also interested in a tire business for the past three and one-half years. He was credit and traffic manager for N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Company for nine years.

The Oldfield Company will still maintain their warehouse on Los Angeles street, to serve the distributors in this and other counties of Southern California and Arizona.

When interviewed, Mr. Hess said, "Yes, we are certainly pleased to be Los Angeles county distributor for Barney Oldfield's tires. We tested them on both pleasure and commercial cars. We even tested the regular pneumatic tires on trucks, with heavy loads. We consulted some of the leading vulcanizers—the tire men who know best—and we are convinced, as is everybody else who knows tires, that Barney Oldfield knows how and is building the best tire on the market today. That the public also believes it is shown by the fact that the Los Angeles branch sold over $40,000 worth in June, and reports indicate that considerable over $1,000,000 worth were sold all over the country. I have known the Oldfield organization intimately ever since they started the shop on Hope street, and learned to trust every one of them, from Barney Oldfield himself down to the service boys. When you can trust the individuals to give you a square deal you can trust the product they make, if they know how to make it, and Barney Oldfield and his associates in Cleveland, O., do know how."

In explaining why they selected the Oldfield tire, Mr. Sacket said, "If Barney Oldfield could only talk to each automobile owner as he talked to us, Oldfield tires would be on every man's car."

SAYS JUNK PILE IS FINAL TEST.

See What Cars Predominate in Establishments.

Most Popular Car on Road is Very Seldom Found.

Old Type of Heavy Car Seems to Predominate.

"The final test of the usefulness of a motor car is to be found by a little investigation of yards of the various automobile wrecking companies of Los Angeles. A few moments spent in looking over the 'junk-piles' of some of the big establishments along Main street will prove interesting to almost any automobile owner and should prove enlightening to some automobile engineers," declares an official of the Los Angeles branch of the Ford Motor Company.

"The predominance of Ford cars on any road in the world long since ceased to be a matter of comment in the automobile industry. It would be only natural, therefore, to expect that Ford cars would predominate in the wrecking yards. When you consider that something like one-third of all the cars that are in use are Ford, it is only natural to imagine that a similar proportion might be expected in the junk heaps.

"As a matter of fact, the contrary is true. In spite of the immense preponderance of Fords, it is a fact that you very rarely see a Ford that finds a final resting place in a junk yard. It is rare to see a 'dead' Ford as to see a dead mule, and the tradition used to exist among farmer boys that mules never did die.

"The cars that you find most frequently in the wrecking yards are the heavy car types, most of them of antiquated origin. They were built in a day when weight was held essential for strength, but their weight and power failed to keep them out of the scrap heap. As soon as they were a little out of style, they were of little use, for they were too expensive for a man in moderate circumstances to operate, and the man of wealth wanted something up to date.

"With a Ford car, the story is entirely different. It is a fact that a Ford rarely goes to wrecking yards except as a result of some terrible smash-up that completely destroys it. Ford repair parts are so cheap, and the car can be fixed up and repaired so easily that they simply do not rest in the junk yards. They are picked up immediately, repaired, and put into use again. Particularly in such a time of Ford shortage of cars as has existed during the past few months, every available Ford car was sought out eagerly by Ford dealers.

"It is a fact that there are quite a number of Model N Fords in use in Los Angeles today. The Model N was the car that preceded the Model T, and as there are more than 3,000,000 Model T's running in the world today, you may imagine that the N types are not exactly late models. But they still seem to be giving excellent satisfaction, and promise to avoid the hands of the junk collectors for some time to come."

More Economical.

Prospective bridegroom (in furniture shop:) These prices make me give up all thoughts of marriage. I now realize it'll be cheaper to let her sue me for breach of promise.—[London Opinion.

A Bit Awkward.

The over-crowded condition of Whitehall is responsible for this incident. The chief of a certain government department was engaged in a room containing the typists of his branch, when to him there hurried a very prim and proper official. "Oh, Mr.—," said the latter, "have you a room in which I can squeeze a lady typist for a few days?" Then a giggle from one of the listening flappers and the broad smile on the face of the chief caused Mr. Prim to blush vividly!—[London Opinion.

BROKEN GLASS IS PROMINENT.

Booze Bottles Spread Around on Our Pavements.

Tipplers Vent Spite in Most Nasty Manner.

Club Cars Kept Busy Picking up the Fragments.

Evidently those caught with a large supply of empty bottles on hand after July 1 are getting rid of them by plastering Southern California with cracked glass instead of cracked ice, according to the prodigious number of telephonic complaints being registered at the Automobile Club of Southern California regarding glass on the highways.

Outside of the fact that the complaints evidence a numerical excess of the remains of beer bottles and and certain small flasks, there is also evidence advanced of the carelessness of early morning milkmen and garbage collectors, as a large number of the calls received at the club daily are registered shortly after the breakfast hour.

Employees of the Automobile Club, driving signposting trucks and inspection cars, have been instructed by Secretary Mitchell to stop at all times and sweep up the glass, and lately this is taking up a lot of valuable time which might be spent in regular club business, it is stated.

Motorists are asked to continue telephoning the touring bureau of the organization for the purpose of reporting the glass nuisance, and if it proves necessary, the club will institute a special means of keeping the boulevards and city streets as clear of smashed bottles as possible, stated Mr. Mitchell.

JOHN DE PALMA MAY BECOME A DEALER.

GOES TO EASTERN FACTORY AND IS LIKELY TO BLOSSOM OUT AS LOCAL AGENT.

After considering the Metz Six from a distance, Jack De Palma, brother of the well-known racing driver, left for Walthall, Mass., to get a close-up of the Metz.

"De Palma was very much impressed with the prospects of the new Metz cars," says Clinton M. Du Bois, California distributor, "and in order that he might go into every part of the car's construction and to get acquainted with the factory before he made any decision regarding taking over the local agency. He left some days ago for the factory and whether or not he will represent the car in Los Angeles depends entirely upon what he learns there. We have had several dealers anxious to get the agency, but we much prefer to get a man as well known as De Palma take over the agency for this car which we know will be as big a winner with the public as De Palma's brother was with world records."

But the Automobile Club is operating its bureau upon a co-operative basis, with no profit and very slight overhead expense, in that all other departments are housed under the same roof. Furthermore, each of the nineteen branch offices acts as a touring bureau and service dispenser as well as an insurance representative to see that all members receive the quickest action possible.

NOT LIKELY.

It is highly improbable, say club directors, if the efficiency system as worked out by the organization for "an hour to any point" can ever be duplicated in America, for the reason that insurance companies do not operate exclusively in the interests of the motoring public, as does the club's Inter-Insurance Exchange.

At this time the club's territory, thus governed, includes that portion of the State lying from the Imperial Valley and San Diego county northward to Tulare and San Luis Obispo counties. This territory exceeds in area that of several New England States, and yet the club is able to adjust a morning's insurance loss of no matter how many cars, within a reasonable limit, before the sun has begun to set.

Even the Dealers Themselves Had to Get Right on the Job.

Brown & Sturtevant, Briscoe dealers in Ventura, heard that a shipment was coming to Los Angeles and, when they found that they were to be allowed a pair of cars from the shipment, they came down and helped unload the machines themselves and then drove them home to Ventura, where they were immediately delivered.

HE FINDS IT TOO HOT IN THE EAST.

BUSINESS IS GOOD AND EVERYBODY IS PROSPEROUS, BUT NO COMFORT.

Whenever it gets too warm in the "great big East" our old friend, A. F. Smith, gets aboard the first limited and streaks out for the Pacific Coast. Smith is now the western sales manager for Globe tires, and he says from the way these tires are going out here he doubts if he will ever get a chance to see the East again. Smith is one of the few remaining old guards in this territory. Reeves Gartzmann, manager of Hawley King & Co., distributors for Globe tires in this territory, is another charter member.

"If you want to live where the whole outdoors seems like a boiler factory then pack up your grip and have your mail forwarded to some eastern address," says Smith. "Every place you go in the East there is a hustle and a bustle. Business is better than it has been for years. The Globe Tire Company has already been forced to double its facilities for production in order to keep abreast with the demand, and it was only through their heavy purchase of raw materials that they are able to keep up production."

The outlaw, Jesse James, whose adventures probably caused the invention of the dime novel, lived, was captured and was killed in St. Joseph, Mo. The motoring Penrod will, of course, want to tour there. Volume Seven, Automobile Blue Book.

AUTO DEALERS GO TO WORK.

When motor car dealers on a warm July day will don overalls and unload automobiles from a freight car and then "service" them in order that they may drive them away to satisfy insistent customers, it is not only evident that they are live ones, but it also emphasizes the car shortage, in the opinion of Earl V. Abbott, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Frank O. Renstrom Company, State Briscoe distributor.

Last week E. F. Brown and A. M. Sturtevant, who compose the firm of Brown & Sturtevant of Ventura, Briscoe distributors for that territory, came to Los Angeles "hoping against hope," as one of them put it, that they might secure more Briscoes from the Frank O. Renstrom Company. The morning of their arrival the company had been apprised that a shipment of Briscoes was ready to be unloaded at the Santa Fe terminal. When informed of this and promised two of the shipment, they offered to get on the job in order to expedite their movement.

After donning overalls, they made their way to the terminal, unloaded the cars, drove them to the Renstrom branch, where they "serviced" them, and within a short time were on their way to Ventura. "This instance finds a parallel in the East only, on a greatly larger scale, where dealers or their representatives are almost constantly at the Briscoe factory, ready to take such cars as they may cajole the sales manager out of," declared Abbott.

A UNIQUE ORGANIZATION.

If care exercised in forming an organization, is any criterion, real accomplishments are to be looked for from the Western Motors Company, California distributors for the new Kissel "Custom-Built" six pleasure cars and Kissel motor trucks. Gilbert Woodill, Los Angeles manager for the Western Motors Company, is an ardent exponent of the new idea of real service in merchandising.

In hunting around for a truck sales manager Mr. Woodill, contrary to usual procedure, did not seek a man of long training as a truck salesman or as a truck mechanic. He wanted a man who had the buyers' conception of a motor truck, and who as truck sales manager could get the broader viewpoint. Imbued with this idea, Woodill selected Campbell Scott.

From 1910 to 1914 Scott was general manager for the Bowers Sign Company. In this capacity he built up the largest independent outdoor advertising plant in the West. From 1915 to 1916 he was assistant general manager of the Greenwood Advertising Company, manufacturers of electric signs, motor-driven flashers and electric specialties. This company had factories in Knoxville, Tenn., and in Los Angeles. Later, Scott became sales manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Greenwood Advertising Company.

The "Kissel" truck has always stood very high in the motor truck world and is said to be rendering very efficient service in almost every conceivable capacity on the Pacific Coast. It is made in five models—three-quarters, one and one-half, two, three and one-half and five-ton, so that almost any conceivable transportation need can be met with the "Kissel."

The problems of a sales manager of automobiles are somewhat different from the problems of a truck sales manager. Woodill measured the problems of both and picked T. A. Tibbot as passenger-car sales manager. Tibbot has been connected with the automobile business for the past fifteen years. His first connection in Los Angeles was with the Lord Motor Car Company, handling the E.M.F. This identification began in 1910 and lasted for four years. Following his connection with the Lord Motor Car Company, Tibbot went with the Studebaker Corporation branch of Los Angeles, with which he was identified for three years. He left this company to identify himself with Hawley King & Company branch, handling the Oakland. At this time Gilbert Woodill, who is now local manager for the Western Motors Company, was manager of the Hawley King Company branch here.

After two years and a half with the Hawley King Company Tibbot became identified with the local Buick agency, with which he continued three years, giving up the connection to take charge of the sales for the Western Motors Company. Tibbot is very enthusiastic about the prospects for the "Custom-Built" Kissel in Los Angeles. The reputation which the "Kissell" enjoys for mechanical efficiency emphasized by late improvements, and linked with a degree of smartness which reflects custom building, the "Kissel" should make the Kissel a very popular line here.

During the past week the showrooms at Eleventh and Flower have been visited by a great many automobile enthusiasts, who have been anxious to see the much-talked-of "Custom-Built" jobs. An especially-arranged lighting system throws a brilliant light to even the remotest corner of the spacious showroom, and has brought many evening window shoppers to admire the three models which are on display.

A NEW INTERCITY RECORD.

Although California long ago legislated against excess speed on the highways and the motor car dealers of the State agreed to refrain from intercity speed runs, there seems to be nothing against trials of this kind in Pennsylvania. At any rate, J. M. Eyler, a prominent insurance man of Pittsburgh, recently succeeded in making the run from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia and return in twenty-two hours.

The run was made as the result of a wager made by C. F. Mason, of the Mason Oil Company, of Pittsburgh with H. A. Friday of the American Sales Company. Mr. Mason had bought a used Franklin roadster and did so much talking about the performance of the car that Mr. Friday told him he would put the car to the test on the wager of $2000 that it could not be driven to Philadelphia and back, a distance of 624 miles in twenty-four hours.

It was "put up or shut up" for Mr. Mason and he was not to be suppressed in his praise of the car. The stipulation was made that the car should be driven just as it was, without any preparation, alteration or repairs. Mr. Mason reserved the privilege of getting Mr. Eyler to drive the car as Mr. Eyler had been over the road previously and held the record in a Franklin car.

According to reports of the run received by Ralph Hamlin, of Ralph Hamlin, Inc., Fraklin distributors in Southern California, the used Franklin was of the roadster type equipped with a winter top and carried three passengers. The average speed of the car was thirty-two miles an hour and the gasoline mileage was 20.7 miles per gallon. The only extra equipment carried was a can of gasoline. Upon the conclusion of the run, Mr. Eyler had become so enthused on the subject of wagers that he offered to repeat the performance immediately without stopping to rest for a $5000 stake. He seemed so fresh that there were no takers to his proposition.

Absecon, N. J., was the site of an old Indian mint of pre-Constitution days. Wampum was extensively manufactured there. Its name, meaning Place of Swans, was given on account of the flocks of these birds which in the early days frequented the town.

The Car You Buy Should be Modern, Not Merely New.

There never have been greater improvements in design than have been developed in the last three years. They have given to motor cars entirely new driving qualities. Among these developments are:

The two stage carburetor, which gives a touring range for economy and an emergency range for a whirlwind of power.

The hot spot manifold, which, in these days of poor gasoline, is essential to even combustion.

The scientifically balanced crankshaft, by which all vibration at all speeds is removed.

The spiral gear drive, which gives both strength and silence to the rear axle construction.

Improved chassis lubrication, by which some 25 of the usual 35 grease cups are eliminated.

The only way you can appreciate the difference these improvements make is by actually driving a car yourself.

This we invite you to do without the slightest obligation to buy.

Good Tire News Flies Fast

So wherever you go, you hear it. "Goodrich has THE Tires".

Praise and enthusiasm over it is in the air. Dealers, chauffeurs, garage men, are talking it—passing along the message, "Goodrich is making the strongest, best tire the rubber industry has produced."

* * * *

And Goodrich is. The triumph speaks in the figures on the Goodrich Square by which Goodrich asks you to judge Goodrich, and all other tires.

* * * *

Square the price of any tire with the Goodrich List Price. Square the mileage backing it with Goodrich's More-Mileage Adjustment—6,000 miles for Fabrics—8,000 miles for Silvertown Cords.

* * * *

That will tell you about tire values, and show you why thousands of tire users are flocking to share in the superb service of these big, husky, More-Mileage, Goodrich Tires.

The Foxy New Model.

Los Angeles seems to have gone nearly crazy over the new Oldsmobile models which have just arrived and one of which is shown above. The face is that of A. D. Plughoff of the J. W. Leavitt forces, who is in Los Angeles to discuss the new models with the out-of-town dealers this week.

TIRES WIN LOTS OF BIG PURSES.

MAN IN CHARGE OF THE RUBBER IN THE PITS IS OF MUCH IMPORTANCE.

No figure at the speedways is more familiar than that of Hubert Lime, the tire expert of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. He is one of the oldest hands of the racing game, and is well acquainted with all the angles, mechanical as well as tire, in connection with racing. He for some time was mechanician for Dario Resta, one of the kings of the speedways.

As practically all of the big drivers use Goodyear tires on their racing cars, Lime's work plays an important part in the winning of thousands of dollars of prize money, for on account of their long acquaintance with him and their confidence in his ability to take care of their needs, his expertness in mounting tires has helped them to win many a prize. He will be seen at all the big races this year, looking after the tire interests of the racing drivers.

SEE IT FIRST IN THE BLUE PRINTS.

CAR OWNERS LOOK OVER DESIGNS ON PAPER AND THEN WORK IS DONE.

Seeing how it looks on paper first is the way customers may place their orders now at the Bentel Shops. The drafting department has been enlarged to include even windshield blueprints, so the owners of the car may have an exact picture of how the job will look when finished.

"If an owner comes into our shops now and wishes a new body, we show him just how it will look on his particular chassis," said George R. Bentel. "This is made possible by an important addition to our drafting department. We have an engineer who has been doing this sort of work in the East for fifteen years. The advantage of this drafting system is obvious. When an owner comes in he usually has some ideas of his own that he wishes incorporated in a new body or new top. We will make up a blueprint which he can approve. Then the specifications and measurements are followed exactly. Just like building a house from the architect's plans."

NEW CAR SEEMS TO BE BIG HIT.

CROWDS CONGREGATE WHENEVER THE CLASSY MODEL IS DRIVEN DOWNTOWN.

Seldom has the arrival of a new model automobile caused so much attention as that of the new Westcott that has been running on the streets of Los Angeles. The salesrooms of William C. Warmington have been full of prospects for the past week, and Sales Manager W. E. Alexander, Jr., states that one trip a day with this car up and down the main streets at a busy hour will bring at least three good prospects into the salesrooms the following day. "We have driven the car for one hour on the street and had an average of three owners of other makes of cars drive up to our salesrooms that same day for a trade in," said Alexander. "We have never been allowed to stop on the street by the traffic officers and once we had such a crowd around the car that we were requested to not lift the hood and block the sidewalks."

NEW MODELS REACH TOWN.

Enthusiasm reigned at the salesrooms of J. W. Leavitt & Co. yesterday, and plans were made for a big celebration in the way of receiving the general motoring public this coming week, for the new Oldsmobile models have arrived, and after a critical once over by everybody, from J. W. Leavitt down to the office boy, they were declared the smartest cars ever turned out by the Oldsmobile factory in all its twenty-one long years of motor-car building experience.

J. W. Leavitt pulled a little surprise all his own on the organization after it had given the cars a careful inspection by calmly stating that the new model was really a wonderful car. "It surely is a reliable, dependable automobile," said the Oldsmobile distributor, "and I ought to know, for it was one of the new models that I drove across the continent last month."

This was the first news that the organization had had of the fact that Leavitt's record-breaking trip last month over the almost impassable roads of the Middle West was made in the new car, and it at once had the desired effect on the salesmen and executives of the company by convincing them at once of the durability, sturdiness and dependability of the new car.

"Many refinements mark the new models," said Manager L. V. Starr yesterday in discussing the new models. "In appearance this Oldsmobile is a year, perhaps more, ahead of the times. Long, low body lines that merge perfectly with the clever windshield and rakish top, make it the smartest new car of the year.

"It combines an ultra-smart, advanced design, with a chassis that has long since proved its ability to give the utmost satisfaction, and it will undoubtedly meet with a reception that will amaze the motor car experts."

All Oldsmobile dealers throughout the State have been called to this city for a big sales conference beginning tomorrow and lasting through until Wednesday.

Important matters relative to the Oldsmobile will be discussed by executives of the big concern, including A. D. Plughoff, general manager of the company, who made a flying trip to the factory in order to secure first-hand information on the delivery problem

The new models, of course, will come in for a lot of examination and discussion, and it is expected that the Oldsmobile dealers will find in them new reasons for the coming year of prosperity which is today being looked forward to by all with much enthusiasm.

MOTORISTS WANT NEW SET OF TIRES.

Summer is beginning to have its effect upon the tire business. The heat of the summer sun is making short work of worn out and weakened tires. Thousands of motorists who are planning their vacation out among the mountains of California are equipping their cars with new tires for the trip. "The demand upon us for all sizes and all makes of tires has become so great," says R. O. Jackson, of the Rubber City Clearing House Company that we have been sending out urgent calls to our eastern representatives to hurry shipments along to us."

TRUCK BRANCHES WILL BE OPENED.

BAKERSFIELD, PHOENIX AND SAN DIEGO DISTRIBUTORS TO BE NAMED SOON.

As an indication of the tremendous amount of truck business that is being done in Southern California at the present time, comes an announcement from the Walter H. Bissell Company, distributors of Diamond T. trucks, that the company is opening branches in San Diego, Bakersfield and Phoenix, Ariz., which are to be followed by branches in other localities as soon as the proper organizations can be procured to handle them.

"We will handle our branches," said Mr. Bissell, "in the same manner that our Los Angeles establishment is maintained. Twenty-four-hour service will be given to Diamond T. owners, and service trucks will be maintained to properly care for these owners in case any work is necessary on their trucks."

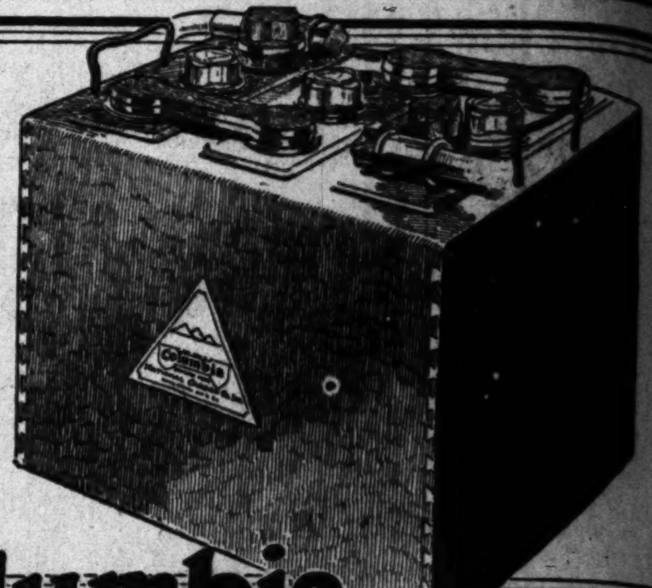
INSPECTION IS VERY IMPORTANT.

CAREFULLY-KEPT RECORD WILL SHOW HOW EACH BATTERY CELL TESTS.

There are many ways that a starting and lighting battery may be cared for, but the most certain way is to have it inspected regularly and to keep an exact record of how each cell tests. Such a record as this, according to C. H. Kay of Kay & Burbank, distributors for Exide batteries, is the only definite means that the motor car owner and the battery expert has of checking up the condition and efficiency of a battery.

"Seldom, if ever," continues Kay, "do all three cells in a starting and lighting battery test the same. This is due to various reasons, and unless the variation is great there is no occasion for alarm. Through keeping a careful record of how each cell tests any sudden change may be quickly noted and any serious disorder in the battery easily corrected."



Columbia
STORAGE BATTERY

A Money Pledge

of interest to every motorist

A Columbia Storage Battery is honestly, definitely and absolutely guaranteed in writing for one year.

This guarantee covers workmanship, materials and a definite electrical capacity of at least 80% of the original output for one year from date of purchase.

If at any time during the year your Columbia fails to deliver such output, we hereby agree to make good by replacing the battery without extra charge.

No other manufacturer of storage batteries ever guaranteed their battery like that.

We have a hundred thousand dollar stock of freshly charged "made in California" Columbia batteries, with which goes a new kind of super-service, which you will surely appreciate.

Come and let us explain the 18 distinctive essential Columbia improvements which are making history in the battery world.

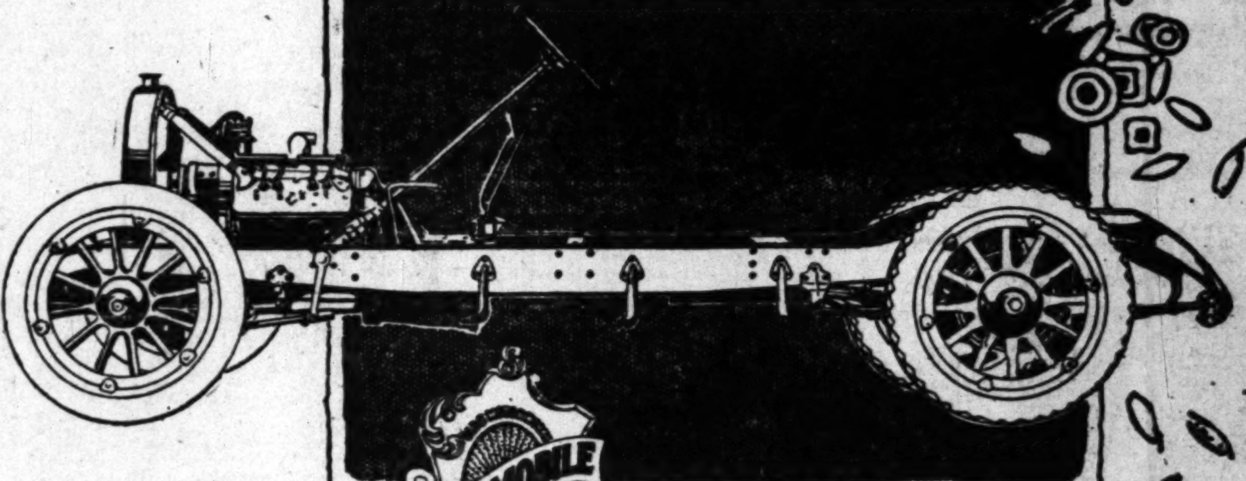
The Model 45B Oldsmobile Chassis
-a Quality Product from Radiator to Tail Light



HERE is a new improved 8-cylinder Oldsmobile assured a tremendous success even before its introduction—

—because it combines ultra smart, advanced design with a chassis that has long since proven its ability to give utmost satisfaction.

—because it gives new meaning to the term riding comfort.

—because it is the one light weight "eight" that affords all these essential and desirable qualities at a moderate price.

In appearance this Oldsmobile is a year, perhaps more, ahead of the times. Long, low body lines that merge perfectly with the cleverly designed windshield and rakish top, make it the smartest new car of the year. A wealth of other thoughtful touches add further to its distinction.

In all mechanical essentials the chassis adheres closely to the design and construction of the Oldsmobile that has proven so strikingly the supreme practicability and economy of the light weight "eight." But many refinements have been made. Added rigidity and strength have been given the frame. An unusual new method of suspending the very long, flexible, semi-elliptic rear springs has brought about unsurpassed riding quality.

By all means see this new Oldsmobile. Let us demonstrate the two-phase power feature that makes possible "an idling pace and a thrilling speed," the smooth motor operation and lightning-like acceleration, the ability to negotiate all roads with minimum effort. Let us show you why this, the smartest new car of 1919, is also the outstanding value of the season.

Charles Ray	Charles Ray	Lightning Special
Tom Mix	Tom Mix	Stutz Special
Henry King	Henry King	Hearne Special
William Hart	L. H. Hillyer	Hudson Special
Hal Roach	Hal Roach	Mercer Special

With practically every prominent motion-picture star and producer in the country on the programme, the automobile races to be held at Ascot Speedway next Sunday afternoon, July 20, promise to be some of the most sensational of their kind ever held in the United States. The speediest cars and the greatest drivers to be had in the motion-picture world will form the center of a programme that will afford the biggest dollar's worth of entertainment Los Angeles has ever known. In every studio and in every private garage of the motion-picture stars the big racing cars are being tuned up and gone over for the events that are to make motion-picture history. The class of the field is bound to make standing room at a premium and the big car line-up for the all-star sweepstakes which will decide the championship of the motion-picture world as well as the amateur championship of the entire Pacific Coast the most daring daredevils of the motion-picture world will be at the wheels, including such men as Marshall Neilan, Tom Mix, Charlie Ray, Henry King, Al St. John, Al Jennings, Hal Roach and many others.

The big events of the day have been arranged for the benefit of the Actors' Fund of America and Jesse L. Lasky has been designated by Daniel Frohman, president of the Actor's Fund of America, as Los Angeles representative for this event. Every producer, director and actor of importance in the motion-picture world is interested and will be present in one of the many events of the big day, or will enter their cars in these events. Such men as Jesse L. Lasky, D. W. Griffith, Cecil B. de Mille, Tom Ince and many others are working to make this big day a success.

There will be three big races during the day and the programme will begin at 2:30 o'clock. One race will be driven by stars themselves, in famous racing cars. Another big race will be driven by drivers and cars entered by the studios and practically every studio in Los Angeles will be represented. A third race will consist of cars and drivers entered personally by the big stars. The programme will be opened by a fashion parade in which the most famous stars and cars of Southern California will take part. There will also be numerous comedy races in which all of the comedy companies and prominent comedians of Southern California will participate. Among those interested in the events of the day and who will be participants in the big events include to date Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Marshall Neilan, Tom Ince, Fred Stone, Douglas Fairbanks, Frank Garbott, Charlie Ray, Geraldine Farrar, Roscoe Arbuckle, Bill Hart, Clara Kimball Young, Mack Sennett, Tom Mix, Lou-Tellegan, Bryant Washburn, Pauline Frederick, Louise Glaum, Hal Roach, Priscilla Dean, Robert Warwick, Harry Carey, Tom Moore, William Desmond, Dustin Farnum, William Farnum, Sessue Hayakawa, Al Christie, Polly Moran, Slim Summerville, Harold Lloyd, Enid Bennett, Viola Dana and many others.

George R. Bentel, president of the Ascot Speedway Association, announces that he has received the proper sanction for these races from the Automobile Association of America, and that the events of the day will be held under the rules of the A.A.A. The programme will begin at 2:30 o'clock and arrangements have been made for the accommodation of the biggest crowd in the history of the Ascot Speedway. Seats will go on sale tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the headquarters of the Ascot Speedway Association, 1015 South Grand avenue. The following arrangements have been made as to prices: General admission $1. There will be 10,003 seats in the field stand and parking space will be absolutely free. It will be a matter of first come, first served. Grand stand seats will be $2.50; box seats, $3.50, while they last.

The programme follows:

Fashion parade: Feminine film stars. Three handsome trophies.

Star entry race: Twenty-five miles. Cars and drivers entered by stars. Three big prizes.

Comedy race: Five miles. Cars and drivers from Comedy Studios. Three prizes.

Studio race: Ten miles. One car and driver entered from each studio.

Mystery race: Ten miles. Famous director in aeroplane to race over track against famous star in racing car.

Australian pursuit race. Four cars starting at quarters of course.

SAYS WOMEN TAKE GOOD CARE OF CAR.

"Leave it to a woman to take good care of a car," says A. J. Tobey of the Western Auto Electric Company, Willard representative. "I found out a long time ago that when the woman of the family drives and takes a real interest in a car it not only looks better, but runs better, too.

"Take the battery, for example. It is as hard to make the average man remember to put in distilled water every two weeks as it would be to make him remember to water plants. But when a woman once understands that a battery needs water, just as much as plants do, she's pretty sure to remember to put it in."

DEMAND IS QUITE HEAVY.

Returning yesterday from a trip which took him to the principal cities and towns in Southern California and a visit to automobile men that gave him an insight into the big demand that is going to be made for quality cars in the coming months, Walter H. Fisher, distributor for Haynes cars, expressed himself as more than optimistic as to the future.

The demand for cars is holding strong throughout the country districts as well as in the city and dealers in quality cars are clamoring for models to meet the fall demand, that many feel will be even greater than the heavy summer call for cars which is being felt now.

"We have really been surprised at the interest shown in the new model Haynes cars which arrived recently and which were put on display at our showrooms," said Fisher yesterday. "Curiosity as to how the country dealers would regard the new models and as to the demand for Haynes cars throughout the territory led me to take the trip. The results were satisfying in every way and I am wiring the factory for larger shipments than I had thought necessary before."

The recent arrival of shipments of both open and closed models has supplied enough of the new cars here to create additional demand for the Haynes and the showrooms of the local concern have been the scenes of much activity during the last few days.

Fisher declares that future shipments are on the way and that Fred Hauger, sales manager for the Haynes factory, will be in town shortly to consult with him on the need of more cars and to try to secure immediate shipments from the factory.

SAYS PRICE WILL STAY UP.

That there will be no downward trend to motor-car prices and if anything, these must be raised, is the view of Harry W. Anderson, general sales manager of the Templar Motors Corporation as expressed in a letter to Albert J. Russell of the Boulevard Motors Corporation of Hollywood, Southern California and Arizona distributor of the Templar.

"We cannot see how it is possible, without entailing a loss, to reduce automobile prices. In the light of the opinions of such people as Judge Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, Mr. Otto Kahn of Kuhn-Loeb & Co., Prof. Lindsay, the greatest economist that America has, and men of this character, it would seem that any action on the part of anyone who is foolish enough to put their expert opinion against men of the caliber named, is folly to say the least.

"The American people do not seem to recognize the fact that this country is going to be obliged not only to feed Europe for at least a couple of years, but is also going to be equally obliged to furnish a tremendous amount of material of all sorts and characters, and the sooner we come to a realization of the fact that there can, under no possibility, be a reduction in either labor or commodity prices, and get down to brass tacks and do business without fear of what is going to happen, the better off everybody is going to be," he writes in part.

The Templar is not an assembled unit, stated Russell, for with the exception of a few minor details, the car is entirely built at the Templar plant in Cleveland.

RED ROCK CANYON IS BEST.

Tourists who contemplate using the Lincoln highway route to Ely, Nev., and eastern points are advised by R. H. Pomeroy, of Ely, to take the Red Rock Canyon road is preference to the Jawbone Canyon road north of Mojave. There is no water in Jawbone Canyon now and an accident of any kind may make the lack of water a serious matter.

Mr. Pomeroy and family arrived a few days ago after making the drive from their home in a Chandler touring car. At the Dove Springs station on the Los Angeles aqueduct they were advised to take the Red Rock road by the man in charge, who related an incident that occurred a few days previous. An aged couple were driving through Jawbone Canyon when their car was rendered useless. They were not physically able to walk the remaining distance through the canyon for help and at the time when the aqueduct employee discovered them they were in a serious plight because of the need for water. Not only is Red Rock Canyon safer by having a stream in it but it is four miles shorter than Jawbone Canyon and a steep grade is avoided, Mr. Pomeroy reports.

With the exception of about fifteen miles in Railroad Valley the roads are in very good condition, according to the Chandler party. North of Niola they are what may be regarded as bad but the short time required to make this stretch is soon forgotten when better going is encountered. The desert road from Big Pine to Lancaster is in such condition that the Pomeroys found no difficulties in making it in one day with comfort.

"I would advise all tourists in that country to be sure and have an ample supply of water and spare oil and gasoline available," said Mr. Pomeroy to a representative of Earl V. Armstrong, Inc., the Chandler distributors. "Some of the stations that are denoted on the log of the highway as being provided with motorists' supplies have been abandoned. One has burned down and because of climatic conditions a little precaution in taking on supplies may prove of decided value in case of any mishap. We had no trouble of any kind, the Chandler performing beautifully."

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS A DAY.

LOCAL PLANT HAS TO KEEP BUSY ALL THE TIME TO KEEP UP WITH ORDERS.

"Busy, well I should say so," said Millard Casper of the Cambria Spring Company. "We are working night and day; we have just put on a night shift, and the working time of our plant is now twenty-four hours a day. We are shipping automobile and truck springs all over this country and doing some business with India, China, Austalia, the Hawaiian Islands and some of the South Amerian countries. We have to work night and day to keep up with our orders."

Mr. Casper said that in addition to their increased spring business, the demand for Cambria spring steel bumpers was taxing the capacity of their plant. Los Angeles products are gaining a nation-wide, and it might be said a world-wide reputation, and the Cambria Spring Company are evidently contributing liberally and gaining a just reward for turning out a product of merit.

HIGH QUALITY CARS ARE MUCH IN DEMAND.

WELL-KNOWN DEALER SAYS THEY ARE BEING ASKED FOR HERE ESPECIALLY.

Los Angeles and Southern California today are the best possible territory for high quality cars, and the demand from this section of the State is now greater than in any other part of the West, in the opinion of Al G. Faulkner, State Marmon distributor, and one of the best-known figures in Coast automobile circles.

During the last few months, the Faulkner branch in this city had set a high-water mark in Marmon deliveries, and enthusiasm over the prospects for the future is expressed by the company officials.

During a motor trip, which took him to the principal Marmon dealers in the State, Faulkner found the greatest enthusiasm over the prospects for the coming months.

ENDURANCE IS UNSURPASSED.

First Car Built by Factory is Still Running.

And Doing Daily Duty Back in Poughkeepsie.

Ten Years of Constant Work Aren't Enough.

From a mere handful in 1909, the family of dealers now comprising the Hudson sales organization has grown to approximately 2500 members covering every country of the globe. Hudson service has become famous the world over and what this far-flung service means cannot be overestimated by the automobile owner. A favorite saying of the Hudson is, that Hudson Super-six endurance has never been reached. The proof of that statement is to be found in the fact that the first Hudson ever built is still in daily service at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. It has been run more than 200,000 miles, an average of more than 20,000 miles a year. Its owner is Joseph P. Davis, who is just as proud of his car as the newest owner of the latest Hudson Super-six. Although lacking some of the later-day refinements, such as self-starter and electric lights, Hudson number one still looks hail and hearty and runs perfectly.

When its first car was built, the Hudson company had a little two-story half-acre plant, employing less than 500 men. Today the Hudson factory covers twenty-six acres of ground and the number of employees has steadily increased until now there are 5000 persons on Hudson pay roll.

According to Harold L. Arnold, Hudson Distributor for Southern California and Arizona, the super-six factory at Detroit is the largest plant in the world devoted exclusively to the production of fine cars. During the past decade more than 125,000 Hudsons have been built and sold and every one of these has increased Hudson prestige.

"We have been decidedly short on Hudson cars for the past two or three months, but now shipments are coming through quite satisfactorily and we hope soon to catch up with the many orders we have on hand, though they are coming in faster than ever from our dealers organization in Southern California and Arizona.

"For the past ten years every model of Hudson has marked an advancement in design. Each one has revealed refinements which come only from experience. Four years ago the announcement of the first super-six marked a new turning point. Since then the exclusive principle involved has been proved by the most terrific test to which any car has ever been subjected and by the experience of more than 60,000 owners. Now the new super-six reflects the productive development of those ten years of achievement, and while retaining all the many advantages of previous models these qualities have been refined to meet a long-cherished ideal. We are exceedingly proud of the new Hudson, for it will add luster to Hudson fame."

BIG SOLID TIRES CARRY PASSENGERS.

A service which emphasizes the economy and easy-riding qualities of large pneumatic cord tires is that operated by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron, between its factories and Goodyear Heights, a community development for Goodyear employees, a mile from the factories. In a single month, the four busses operated carry 125,000 passengers, at a fare of 2½ cents per passenger. The service has proved so satisfactory to both the Goodyear and its employees that two additional busses are being provided. Company officials take great pride in showing visitors over the line, to demonstrate the comfort derived from the superior cushioning of the big tires.

WORK NIGHT SHIFTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) July 12.—Several departments of the Franklin Automobile Company have added night shifts to the working force in an attempt to catch up with the heavy over-demand for Franklin cars.

Mr. Motorist:

When you need a reliner or a blow-out shoe, ask your dealer for

WADE FIT-TIGHT RELINERS

WADE RIM-LOCK BLOWOUT SHOES

Made of genuine automobile tire fabric, they are stronger than any others on the market.

They will enable you to get vastly increased mileage from your old tires. Ask your dealer about them. If he does not carry them, send us his name and we will see that you receive them.

WILL ANNOUNCE THEIR NEW LINE.

"If everything goes as planned we will be in a position to announce the line of cars we are to handle within the next week or so," says F. C. Davidson, of the firm Davidson, House and Meyer. "Our new home is rapidly nearing completion and with our sales organization ready to launch into an energetic sales campaign and our service department fully primed. We expect to get off to a whirlwind start. The factory has promised to take care of us nn the matter of deliveries and as this is the greatest problem that confronts the local dealer today, we indeed feel fortunate over the prospects of the business before us."

CLUTCH LUBRICATION.

One of the most commonly neglected parts of the car, so far as lubrication goes, is the clutch operating mechanism. In the case of disk clutches running in oil the lubrication of the thrust collar and the lever operating it is automatic. But with clutches that do not operate in a bath of oil the thrust collar and lever require oiling by hand. The service of these parts is exacting and frequent lubrication of the ball thrust bearing and of the end of the lever which actuates it is necessary. Furthermore, the bearing of the clutch pedal and the pins which secure the clutch operating linkage should be frequently lubricated.

PUMP PRECAUTION.

Motorists who use one of the hand pumps will do well to give the pump a few strokes before attaching it to the valve. This blows out any grit or other foreign matter that may be clinging to the pump valve, preventing their finding their way into the inner tube.

BRAND NEW LOCAL INDUSTRY.

When it became imperative last year to make tires deliver every possible mile they had in them the B. F. Wade Tire and Rubber Company turned manufacturers as well as retailers, and began to experiment with the making of reliners. They were successful in developing a reliner made of tire fabric such as is employed in the original manufacture of tires. When the public discovered that by the use of such reliners they could add five to ten thousand miles to the life of an old tire, a demand began to come in for them that simply swamped the Wade manufacturing facilities. Wade was forced to relinquish the retail tire business that he had developed in Los Angeles, in the handling of Canton Cord, Knight, Blackstone and Tyrian tires and to concentrate solely on the wholesale business in these lines and to the manufacture of the new reliners and blow-out shoes. At present Wade is building 400 blow-out shoes per day and 120 reliners, and plans to double even these figures within a very short time.

"In ten years of experience in the tire business, I had found that the average reliner was not a very satisfactory proposition because of the character of the material from which the reliners were made," said Mr. Wade last week. "Hose duck or other material of inferior grade was customarily used, and would not stand the strains to which the reliner was put.

"Regular automobile tire fabric would do the work, but was considered too high priced. We had a machine specially built for us, however, that prepares the tire fabric for us at a cost that permits us to produce a reliner of this high-grade material on a competitive price basis with the other materials used. The reliners made of this material showed such extraordinary results in usage that we were literally overwhelmed with orders for them.

"We developed at the same time a blow-out shoe made of the same material. They are an extremely valuable accessory to carry in any car, for they will permit you to get at least 500 miles additional mileage from a blow-out casing, and many instances have come to our notice where they have been used in excess of four or five thousand miles. Every car should carry one of these shoes for emergency purposes.

"At present we are receiving orders from all over the Pacific Coast for these Los Angeles-manufactured goods and the market for them is growing in a fashion that is surprising to us, for as yet we have conducted no advertising campaign to introduce them. We are having great difficulty to increase our manufacturing facilities fast enough to keep ahead of our orders. It is very apparent that automobile users at least, have not forgotten some of the benefits they received from war-time lessons of economy and still are anxious to get the utmost wear from their tires.

"We are fortunate in having as superintendent of our factory, Earnest Windle, who for sixteen years was connected with the tire department of the Tyrian Tire and Rubber Company of Andover, Mass. His long experience in tire building is of extreme value to us in the manufacture of the reliners and blow-out shoes."

HOWDY WILCOX BUYS HIMSELF A MACHINE.

Among the latest additions to the long list of prominent owners of Cole Aero-Eight motor cars is Howard (Howdy) Wilcox, of Indianapolis, winner of the 500-mine race held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 31. One of the greatest drivers of high powered cars in the world, Wilcox has been a thorough student of motors and motor car mechanisms for almost fifteen years, and his determination to possess an Aero-Eight for his personal use is regarded a significant tribute to the car.

GET A CITATION FROM GOVERNMENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) July 12.—The Franklin Automobile Company has just been awarded a government citation in recognition of its question all men and women who left their work with the company for war service. More than 800 policy of re-employing without returned service men have been given jobs since the signing of the armistice.

An Industry Born of the War.

The shortage of tires which threatened us during the war resulted in an increase in the business of making the old tire keep going. Here is a machine installed by the B. F. Wade Rubber Company and used in preparing fabric for relining. Ernest Windle, foreman, at the right.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

Why Is the Essex Bought By

Men In Remote Sections Where An Essex Has Not Been Seen Mail Their Orders. It Is An Unusual Mark Of Confidence.

Men Who Have Never Seen It?

There is a strange and strong interest in the Essex which we have not been able to fully explain.

You hear the most sincere endorsements for its qualities from men who have never even seen the car. We believe that more than half a million people now do intimately know the Essex, but that does not account for what is being said about it in remote communities where no Essex car has yet appeared.

Distributors report having received orders by mail from persons who say they have heard so much about the Essex that they know it is the car they want.

Perhaps you, too, are one who has not yet seen the Essex. Yet you cannot be a reader of these words and not have heard what people on every hand are saying about it.

Because of what you have heard others say, you approach the Essex with the most favorable impressions. With so many thousands making the Essex the standard of their automobile desires, there is some explanation for the confidence evidenced when men send their money for a car they have never seen.

Surely It Is Not Because Of What We Have Said

All that you have heard about the Essex is what others have said for it. We have made no claim for it. We have published no descriptions. We have not said it is a better car than any other. We have not even intimated that its performance excells the performance of other cars. But on all sides you hear it compared to cars you know favorably and in most cases to the advantage of the Essex. There can be but one explanation for that and that is the Essex must through sheer merit have won the admiration of those who have seen and ridden in it.

Then It Must Be What Others Are Saying

In every community some one car is recognized as leader. It is not just any car of a given make, but an individual car that holds the best record for speed or acceleration or hill climbing. You must know some car in that way. And haven't you heard men attempt to explain the Essex by comparison with that car?

That is the way in which its riding qualities are described. Its finish and beauty are likened to similar qualities in other cars that people know favorably and well.

In attempting to explain the reason for the way in which the Essex has been accepted we return always to the car itself. It must have qualities men have wanted. It was our aim to meet that demand. We wanted it to have the advantages in economy of cost and operation of the light cars and to also have the endurance and performance as well as the appeal to pride which have been exclusive to costly cars.

Its Sales Now Prove It

Essex sales have been in excess of deliveries from the very day the car was announced. The production now approximates 100 a day, but does not begin to meet the needs. Ask any Essex dealer. If what others are saying carries the same conviction to you as it does to others, then you must sooner or later want an Essex. It is best to decide early.

The Gasoline and Oil Service Station Business is now recognized everywhere as being in a class by itself—giving necessary and valuable service to the motoring public.

The time is past when the owner of a service station can be indifferent as to the appearance of his building—the accessibility of his grounds—or the class of his gasoline pumping equipment.

You cannot hope to have the exclusive sale of any one brand of gasoline, oil or accessories. The basis of hope for success rests solely on your ability to meet the requirements and standard of service expected by the motoring public.

What are some of these requirements the motorist demands? Speed is one. The important features of speed in service are prompt attention and instant recognition when the autoist drives in to your station.

The fact that you can leave the Boyle-Dayton Air-operated Five Gallon Pump, while it delivers to one customer; thus permitting you to make change, or serve oil to another customer, enables you to give PROMPT ATTENTION and instant recognition that spells success. With this air-operated pump you are giving the service only secured through additional help. They cannot come too fast for you, and don't you forget—the motoring public appreciates this class of service.

Can't you see how your station will be the choice of the best trade—think how your business would increase. Do not let another day pass without getting your Boyle-Dayton, Air-operated Five-Gallon Pump. No matter what pump you are now using, let us make you a proposition so attractive that you can't afford to refuse.

BUYS BIG BODY FACTORY.

Nationally Famous Local Plant Bought by Automobile Distributor.

When Don Lee, the Cadillac distributor for California, discovered, after a trip to the eastern factories, that the best custom-built bodies in the world were made right here in Los Angeles he returned to the Coast and purchased the entire plant of the Earl Automobile Works, the largest business of the kind west of Detroit.

Don Lee took over the building last week. J. W. Earl, who has been the head of the Earl company since 1889, will continue as manager of the Don Lee Coach and Body Company. Don Lee will conduct this business entirely separate from his Cadillac business and has immediately instituted plans to expand the coach and body-building departments. He aspires not only to continue to make the highest class bodies, but to place the new company among the first three in the United States. All of which is of the utmost importance to the motor industry on the Pacific Coast and the industrial interests of Southern California.

Two months ago Don Lee had no thought of purchasing the Earl plant. He went East on a six weeks' trip through all the leading factories and body plants. By the time he had seen the principal plants between here and New York, and had investigated their product, he came to the realization that right here in Los Angeles are being built the highest-grade bodies in the United States, which at this time means the entire world.

J. E. Brown, Los Angeles manager for Don Lee, was immediately sent West to open negotiations with Earl, and the consummation of the deal last week followed.

"The motorists of California know what the Earl Automobile Works has been too well for me to go into any explanation," said Lee, "and I might say also that Earl bodies have a reputation throughout the East of which Los Angeles should feel proud. There are no better custom-built bodies than those built in this plant, and it is not only our intention to maintain this high standard, but to continue to reach for even better things in coach building. We will create as well as build. I do not know whether Los Angeles appreciates J. W. Earl. From a small start he has grown until the plant, we have just taken over, ranks as one of the largest and highest grade in the entire automobile world. We aim to have the largest plant for the building of high-grade bodies in the United States."

The Don Lee Coach and Body Works is a complete plant for the building and equipping of motor cars. At the head of the body building department is Walter Meyer, a leader in the industry, who was brought from New York by Mr. Earl. The commercial body department is to be enlarged immediately to take care of the increasing demand for delivery bodies and trucks.

The coach and body designing will be in charge of Harley Earl, son of J. W. Earl, whose education has been along lines to fit him for this work. With an idea of learning the trend of the styles in enclosed cars for the fall and winter season, young Earl will leave for a tour of the eastern factories today, and when production is resumed abroad, will be sent to Europe in the interests of the local concern.

The trimming and painting departments formerly operated in the Don Lee building at Twelfth and Main streets will be combined with the similar departments in the new building.

Ed Gutsch will continue as head of the trimming department. Jack Frost, the man who has designed those unusual Don Lee tops that have attracted national attention, will be superintendent of the top and body-trimming department.

Carl Earl, who has grown up in the business, will be assistant manager, and Arthur Earl, assistant superintendent to E. B. White, who will continue as general superintendent of the plant. S. K. Miller will continue as foreman of the paint department, and E. W. Drew of the Don Lee paint department, will be in charge of paints and all repair work. Paul Raulin is head of the blacksmithing department.

TO HOLD KENNEL SHOW.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, July 12.—Entries for the forthcoming Santa Barbara dog show will close July 21. The show will be held August 1 and 2, in the Palm Ring on the Belvedere grounds. The applications received to date for entry blanks indicate that this will be one of the largest exhibits of its kind held on the Pacific Coast in recent years.

There is a renewed interest in dogs. This is accouneted for in a measure by reason of the excellent work done in the recent war by members of the canine species. They once more proved themselves more than mere pets by serving man in his direct needs. They succored him and ministered to his wants, while shot and shell were falling all around.

It is expected that some fine specimens of war dogs will be shown at Santa Barbara next month. Boston bulls will probably predominate, owing to their present popularity. However, setters and pointers should be well represented, owing to the renewed interest in hunting that is being manifested. An unusually fine display of toy dogs is also looked for.

A handsome trophy has been received from Kathleen Clifford, well-known stage and screen star. It will be given to the best Japanese spaniel shown, in the name of Lily-wee, Miss Clifford's champion of that breed. The little dog weighs just 2½ pounds, and is said to be one of the finest specimens in this country. Its owner is almost as tiny. Both will attend the Santa Barbara show.

Eighty trophies have been assembled. In addition, there will be a number of other prizes for winners of the various competitions. Several handsome gold medals, of a striking design originated by the local kennel club, are included in the list, which approximates in value $3000. The show is being held under the rules of the American Kennel Club.

One unique feature of the Santa Barbara display will be a special competition for dogs of the screen. This is in recognition of the fact that some of the finest dogs in America are owned by film folk. They have been invited to bring their famous hounds to the Mission City. Cups will be offered to the motion picture men and motion picture women exhibiting the best dog in any case. Aomng those expected to be represented are Douglas Fairbanks, "Fatty" Arbuckle, Bessie Barriscale, W. S. Hart, Dorothy Dalton, Tom Mix, Mary Thursman, Mack Sennett, Lew Cody, Mary Pickford, Sessue Hayakawa, Charles Ray, William Farnum, Marie Osborne, etc.

Entries are now being received by Secretary S. E. Kramer, at downshow headquarters, The Belvedere, Santa Barbara. John Bradshaw, who will be superintendent of the exhibit, is receiving entries at the Angelus Hotel, in Los Angeles, where he will be until July 18. Mr. Bradshaw expects to recruit a large entry from Southern California. The northern part of the State will also be well represented.

J. L. Frothingham, known to dog men everywhere as "Defender," will head the list of judges at Santa Barbara. C. H. Edmunds will judge setters, pointers and spaniels. Bulldogs go to James Ewins and F. W. Paget will handle the terriers.

SURF-BOARD RIDING SPORT

turning and as nobody is under the wave to see how you look, what do you care.

BIG BOARD.

A big board is much harder to handle and should only be used when you master the small one. It is very cumbersome to get through the surf. The best way to take it is on edge. You catch the wave in the same way.

Standing on the board is a late development in surf board work and can only be accomplished on a large board. The swimmer only squirms into an upright position on the board after it is on its course shoreward. The problem is one of balance and sooner or later results in the swimmer doing a flop. It is merely a question of how long you can balance yourself.

The breakers can be ridden without a board. The main thing is to catch the wave just as it starts to break and rush down with it. It helps greatly for the swimmer to kick his legs up and down to give himself speed. Some strike out boldly with both hands, only sticking them out straight when they feel themselves hurrying forward. The most necessary of all for this sport is a long breath for your head is under water. To come up out of the breaker, merely raise your head up seal fashion and unless you like salt water hold that breath until you see daylight, else you may see stars.

Ludy Langer introduced a new development in this sport. Instead of putting both his hands out straight, he extends his arms by his side, banking his hands by his hips. This keeps his head out of water and allows him to breath ozone at all times. That takes practice and results in a few flips for the beginner.

HISTORIC OLD MILL.

An old windmill at Lawrence, Kan., built in 1858, is mentioned in an article on picturesque and historic mills in the English Mechanic and World of Science. The mill, the author says, was erected by Swedish immigrants, and bore the characteristic Turk's head top of Swedish and Danish mills. The mill for years was a rendezvous for students at Kansas University and many an alumnus recalls gatherings there. The place where it stood, for the mill was demolished several years ago, still bears the name of "The Old Mill," although not a vestige of the structure remains standing today.

RELINING BRAKE BANDS IMPORTANT.

NEW TYPE OF MATERIAL THAT IS NOT LIKELY TO SLIP IS RECOMMENDED.

"To have the lining of the bands of the foot brake and low speed of the Ford car in first-class condition is of considerably more importance than the average owner realizes," declares E. M. Streeter of the Western Auto Supply Agency. "If the foot brake or low speed grabs and jerks when you depress the pedal, first try tightening them a little. If this does not make them take hold smoothly it is a sign that they need relining.

"One of the very best brake linings that has so far been placed on the market is what is known as the 'cork insert type.' It consists of a high-quality material with round pieces of cork inserted to take the wear. Cork has been used for years in the clutches of high-grade cars, but it has been comparatively recently that it has been adapted to the use of the Ford car."

EVERYBODY GOES CAMPING.

Concerns which have for sale camping outfits adapted to the needs of motorists report a business this season that is far in excess of that of any previous year. Last year business was light in this line because the government practically commandeered the entire canvas output of the entire country. Eliminating last year in seeking a basis for comparison and using preceding years, the business of this year in the matter of camping outfits shows a tremendous gain.

"Motorists are taking to camping as they never have before. They are coming to realize that the greatest part of their lives is passed in a business office or a dwelling and they demand a change for at least two weeks or more. Undoubtedly the movement in favor of free camping grounds has given considerable impetus to the camping idea," remarked "Billy" Williams, retail sales manager of the Hupmobile department of the Greer-Robbins Company.

"Scores of owners that we have heard of have gone on camping trips this year or are planning them. Many of Southern California's most picturesque spots are only accessible by means of the automobile, and motorists more than ever before are seeking them this summer. Again, so many motorists are touring this season that resorts are compelled from time to time to turn away guests. The motorist who has his camping outfit with him should worry about hotel accommodations. The Hupmobile with its ample room is particularly adapted to carrying camping outfits and at the same time allow comfortable space for the passengers."

CARING FOR HUB CAPS.

When putting the car in commission for the year and every month during the running season the hub caps should be thoroughly cleaned, all the grease and verdigris removed, after which the caps should be repacked with fresh grease. It is also well to clean out the hubs and [illegible] washing them thoroughly with gasoline, [illegible] dirt and grit will be dislodged. When this has been done the moving parts should be [illegible] cated, the hub caps put back in place, and the car can be driven without fear of improperly lubricated axles.

WIRING CHART.

It may not be out of order to suggest to the new car owner that one of the "tools" that should always be carried in the car is the chart of the wiring system. Without this he may find himself in difficulties with the electrical system that will be almost impossible to locate.

CHANGE OIL.

This is the season when the owner of a car should replenish oil in all compartments, motor, clutch, gearset and rear axle. The compartments should be flushed out with kerosene before the new oil is installed.

Velie Values are proven values

The vital parts of the Velie chassis are backed by a manufacturing experience of inestimable value.

What motor car manufacturer could hope to equal Timken's experience in building axles and bearings?

What investment of money and time would it require to duplicate the equipment and the skill of Continental as motor builders? of Remy as electrical experts, or Rayfield in carburetion problems?

The PROVEN ability of these specialists VELIE buys, and offers to you combined with their fifty-year record as manufacturers of honest products.

HEWITT TIRES

Cord and Fabric Types

EVERY Hewitt tire undergoes twelve tests while being made. These are the hardest tests the factory can devise.

This means a great deal to every Hewitt tire user, as it is the reason why it is not necessary to establish a mileage guarantee on Hewitt tires.

Every Hewitt tire, though, is guaranteed as to materials and quality of workmanship, which is the biggest guarantee that can be put on any tire.

We would appreciate the opportunity to put a Hewitt tire on your car and you can test it out under actual road conditions in comparison with any other tire, regardless of cost.

We Challenge You to Try Hewitts.

Do You Keep Your Machine in An Ice Box?

They have to keep 'em in a garage that is modeled along ice-box lines, up in Bear Valley, because it is mighty cold up their sometimes. This Columbia six has a radiator shutter controlled by a thermostat, and the picture shows how the radiator has been kept tightly closed to keep the heat in and make starting easy.

CONTROL THE MOTOR HEAT.

As a Fourth of July treat to the members of the Leach-Biltwell organization, M. A. Leach acted as host at a merry outing at Big Bear Lake. Motor car after motor car with its passengers and their "eats" and fishing tackle pulled out of the Grand-avenue factory of the company and streaked out across the valley just as the sun was peeping over Old Grayback away out beyond San Bernardino.

It was a twofold purpose. One to give the men and their wives a scenic outing; another to put the Columbia six to a real cooling test.

After the stiff climb up City Creek Canyon the thermostatically controlled radiator shutters on the Columbia were only partially open and the motometer failed to show any red streak in the circle.

The outing was replete with fun. While some of the party tried their luck at enveigling the finny sly trout into the creel, others took a fling at golf. Yes, sir, golf at an elevation of 8200 feet. Big Bear is to have the highest golf course in the world. Imagine "topping" a ball at 8200 feet elevation. If it wasn't for the trees and all the surrounding hills the little white pill would travel almost to San Diego.

The golf course is only one of the many improvements planned by the new manager of Knights Camp. Our old friend, Gus, has parted company with the pines and squirrels and now young blood is to transform this top of the world into a sportsman's paradise. With golf and tennis as pastimes and hunting and fishing as sports there's little to be desired by those who want to see outdoors as nature really intended it should be.

"This was my first trip into the Big Bear country," says Leach, "and let me say, it is some little trip. It's full of thrills for the passengers and a lot of hard work for the motor car. One thing that they have at Big Bear that stood out in contrast to the 'usual' in Southern California is a garage that is built like an ice box and in which cars are housed for the night to keep the water in the cooling system from freezing. The walls and roof are a foot in thickness and thoroughly insulated. The doors look like those on a butcher's ice box. That's one beauty of the Columbia. The shutters of the radiator keep the heat under the hood over night and the car is read to go on in the morning, no matter how cold the weather is."

AUXILIARY OIL TANK IS HANDY.

SMALL RESERVOIR ON TOP OF THE MOTOR CAN BE TAPPED AT A MOMENT'S NOTICE.

"An auxiliary oil reservoir, consisting of a small aluminum container firmly bolted to the top of the motor, is one of the many unusual features of the Nelson car," says Frank Nelson, Southern California distributor for the Nelson. The Nelson motor is phenomenally economical of oil, yet E. A. Nelson, realized the importance of keeping a sufficient supply in the crank case at all times. To make it handy for the motorist to carry an extra supply of oil for any emergency, he designed this aluminum container that fits on the top of the motor. If the oil gauge should at any time indicate that the oil supply is running low, it is only necessary for the Nelson user to open a valve to replenish the amount in the crank case.

"This reserve tank holds two quarts, and is sufficient to supply the motor for hundreds of miles, completely eliminating any possible chance of injury to the motor through an unexpected shortage of oil. For the motorist who is in the habit of taking long trips to the mountains or desert, this feature will appeal as particularly valuable."

OIL FOR SMALL PARTS.

The brake mechanism seldom gets the lubrication it deserves. Oil is required on the pins supporting the brake shoes, and upon the bearing points of the cams or toggle mechanism which actuates the brakes. These parts usually depend for lubrication on the hand oil can. Beginning at the operating lever, every joint in the brake rod needs occasional oiling, as do the bearings of the compensating shaft.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD CAR STILL GOING.

DISTINGUISHED PASSENGER AUTO NOW DOING DUTY AS A TWO-TON TRUCK.

E. G. Fields is a prosperous rancher of near Los Olivos. He is a modernized, up-to-date rancher and realizes that the best results are to be obtained from superior equipment. His farm is very much motorized as he depends upon gasoline not only for speed and certainty but economy, as well. Mr. Fields had a 1907 Pierce-Arrow passenger car that had served its time for pleasure purposes. Finally he came to the conclusion that the old car was ready for the discard.

When in this frame of mind, he happened to think of the converted motor truck. He got into communication with the Gates-Kelley Automotive Company, representatives of the Smith Form-a-Truck, All-American and Jumbo trucks, and learned that the engine of the twelve-year-old car could be put into as serviceable condition as it was the day it left the factory and that through the use of the Smith universal attachment a two-ton truck could be provided. Mr. Fields ordered the job done, and it was delivered to him a few days ago. He will use the truck for general utility purposes about the ranch.

SPEEDBOAT GIVES PASSENGER RIDES.

The motor boat formerly owned by Dustin Farnum and re-named the Spearmint since it passed into other hands, has become a familiar sight about the harbor of Avalon, Catalina Island, where it is now in public service. From early morning until well into the evening it may be seen darting through the water and giving passengers speedboat thrills. The boat when in the possession of Farnum was operated with an engine equipped with a Miller carburetor and this equipment has been retained by the present owner, according to Harry Miller.

DELIVER HUSKY TRACTORS.

Operating in direct competition with railroad transportation the business of the Stockton-Fresno Motor Freight Company has proved so successful that last week S. E. Statler, the vice-president came to Los Angeles to purchase additional equipment. He selected two three and one-half-ton Mack tractors and five trailers. This equipment will be put on the regular run between the two cities and the modern motor freight train will operate on a regular schedule, the same as do railroad trains.

The front wheels of the tractors were equipped with pneumatic tires 37x8 inches in dimension. These are the largest pneumatic tires that have been installed and the Macks are the first heavy-duty road tractors to be so equipped. It was Mr. Statler's idea in putting pneumatics on the front wheels to reduce the vibration to which the engines will be subjected when being driven at a sustained speed of fifteen miles an hour.

To the excellent paved highways of California may be attributed the success with which the motor freight lines are meeting. If it were not for the paved roads the trucks could not be run at a speed sufficient to meet the exactions of shippers. One of the advantages that is claimed for this sort of transportation is in the reduction of delivery charges. A shipper can notify the freight company to stop and pick up a load at the place of business and it will be delivered direct to the consignee without having to be subjected to repeated transfer.

The Stockton-Fresno Motor Freight Company, selected Mack tractors for motive power as they will not be required to carry any of the load, all of which will be borne on trailers. The Los Angeles trailer equipment consisted of three four-wheel trailers and two of the two-wheel type.

SPOTLIGHT IS HANDY AFFAIR.

IS LIKELY TO BE OF USE IN THE MOUNTAINS OR ALONG THE ROADSIDE.

"A good spot-light is one of the most useful accessories that a motorist can have on his car, particularly for a man who has much night driving to do or for one who plans a camping trip," declares Harry A. Ungar, manager of the local Stewart products service station.

"It is by no means an infrequent occurrence in meeting a car with brilliant headlights to find yourself completely blinded as far as seeing the edge of the road a few feet in front of you. A spot light will give you added illumination enough to over come this 'blind spot' and may perhaps save a serious accident. When camping in the mountains, a spot-light is frequently a very handy affair. In making camp after dark, or in locating some lost article, a spot-light is often a very much appreciated accessory."

COULD RUN NEARLY A YEAR ON ORDERS.

LOCAL DEALER SAYS PLANT COULD RUN NIGHT AND DAY FOR TEN MONTHS.

The factory of the Moon Motor Car Company at St. Louis with its great capacity has at this time enough orders on its books for the new Victory model Moon to keep that plant at maximum operation for the next ten months, according to information that has been received by the Hill Automobile Corporation, distributor of the Moon in Southern California and Arizona.

"Dealers who have never seen the Victory model, but who have heard of its qualities and its beauty through various channels, have written and wired the factory for territory and have requested cars in such numbers that the general sales manager is in a state bordering on nervous prostration, so I am told," said Joseph H. Hill. "There is hardly a week passes that requests to the factory for agency territory in this section are not forwarded to P. W. Wisdom, western sales manager with headquarters in this city.'"

DECLUTCHING AT CORNERS.

While it is a wise precaution to throw out the clutch when rounding a sharp corner, it also has a beneficial effect upon the tires. Whenever the car tends to skid, due to its deflection from a straight course, a cross-strain is brought to bear on the tire treads, which is directly proportional to the weight of the vehicle and the radius of the curve and proportion to the square of its velocity. If the power is applied in rounding a curve the tendency to rip off the tires is further aggravated by the backward drag due to traction. If the clutch is released, however, that factor is eliminated and the strain is thereby reduced.

CADILLAC

WE WOULD be a little less than human if we were not proud of the present status of the Cadillac.

The country's best citizenship frankly proclaims it the car of cars—the very best, and the most desirable, that human skill can build, or money can buy.

Men and women who are at the forefront of their communities, in culture, discrimination and ability to choose the best, have entrenched it in a position of leadership, which admits of no question.

Putting this national and international preference on its lowest plane—trying to estimate the worth of Cadillac reputation in money—the imagination can not measure its value.

As we would be a little less than human if we did not prize this precious preference—

So we would be a little less than sane if we did not protect it.

Every consideration of common sense, and business acumen, and sentiment, requires that the Cadillac shall be made better, and better, and better, in the future, as it has been in the past.

We pledge you that this is the only sense in which the Cadillac will ever change—in a steady pressing forward toward higher and higher standards.

The Cadillac, whose excellence the whole world celebrates today, is the same Cadillac as the first of its type—refined with infinite patience, and unremitting zeal.

We promise you that the Cadillac of tomorrow, or a thousand tomorrows hence, will still be the same splendid car, progressively improved—Cadillac in principle, Cadillac in high purpose, and Cadillac in performance.

SAMSON TIRES

Is It Worth While to Wait?

From time to time, in an endeavor to save you from possible disappointment, we have suggested that you anticipate your future requirements for Goodyear Tires.

We have recommended that you do so by placing a reservation order with your nearest Goodyear dealer, so that when your need appears he can meet it promptly.

Very probably you have asked yourself if even the slight trouble of this precaution were justified, in view of the many good tires that are now on the market.

Possibly you have questioned if Goodyear Tires do so far excel those tires that are plentiful, as to make it worth while for you to wait for them at all.

In answer we can only point to the situation in which we now find ourselves, and the goodness of Goodyear Tires as evidenced by their present unmatched position.

Our factories are delivering the largest daily volume ever attained by a tire manufacturer; their present output approximates 25,000 finished tires a day.

Despite the immensity of this figure, which we are striving constantly to expand, our production is still insufficient fully to satisfy all public demands.

Nothing in the history of the tire industry approaches the intensity of favor in which Goodyear Tires today are everywhere held.

It is significant that this enormous demand is made up of no other thing than the normal, widespread, and steadily growing preference for Goodyear Tires.

No fictitious discounts, no delusive definite mileage guarantee, no expedients of any sort have been employed to stimulate artificially the even march of sales.

On the intrinsic merit of the product, and the service it has year after year delivered, rests the unexampled leadership that Goodyear Tires enjoy.

Certainly nothing less than conspicuous superiority could thus win and hold the allegiance of a plurality of the sensible motorists of the world.

BIG ATHLETIC BOOM HERE.

BY JOSEPH A. PIPAL,
Coach of American inter-Allied track team.

athletics and athletic in the United States during twenty years would make reading, but making history is more interesting than reading.

since Uncle Sam decided to into the arena and stop the bulldozing of Kaiser Bill, approximately 4,000,000 young Americans from all walks of life have in- if they have not actually making athletic history.

The first effect of war on athletics registered when our military discovered that from per cent. of the recruits found wanting in the physical for them by Uncle Sam. so strikingly showed up the weaknesses of our physical system that we were with a shock from our complacence and athletic self-—for have we not been the world with our expert methods in specialized competition?

LACKING.

for us, however, we learned that the fault was not our methods of physical education and athletics, but in the lack organization and a system would bring our athletic into more general use. however, our recruits arrived at the home cantonments Sam's school of physical they found there an organization that surrounded them every opportunity for participation in athletic sports, recreational as the more intensely compart of every day's military drill devoted to recreational games. divisional athletic director, the Y.M.C.A. athletic expert, the regimental and brigade athletic officers, company, regimental, brigade and divisional teams. Baseball, football, basketball, volleyball horseshoe pitching leagues formed and track tournaments promoted. In addition to this Y.M.C.A. and other welfare organizations encouraged twilight impromptu and recreational sports, in connection with their huts. Thus, we had an organization that put our athletic methods to the of every recruit. Here in the same organization functioned under unusual difficulties, but great success.

RESULTS.

result of this "athletics for programme was that our doughboy, whether he came from the cac- of the western desert or district of our eastern or from the overfed, lazy, environment of the man's club, caught the spirit and vigorous competition, into the athletic contests recreational games with enjoyment. He saw his unlimber and develop from stoop-shouldered, hol- and meager or pussy- youth into a vigorous well well-developed, self-respecting man—raring to go.

when this young man did over the top, he did it in such way that the European is still marvelling at his ability for any emergency, of decision, fearlessness, team spirit and loyalty as a man. And the interesting about it is that our Allies so attribute a large share of military success as fighters to athletic programme that several of them have already asked for experts to introduce American and athletic methods into army and also their school next this Uncle Sam's his- athlete appears in own country, having in mind he derived from his ath- opportunity while in the army, demand the same opportunity in civilian life and especially for his progeny.

Thus the after effects of war on athletics will be a strenuous demand for a system and an organization in our schools, colleges, industrial centers and communities in general that will make it possible for the benefits of recreational and competitive athletics to be shared by all.

This does not mean, as some would have us believe, the elimination of specialized athletics and the high-priced professional coach. For this would be a case of cutting off our specialized athletics nose to spite our mass athletics face. But on the contrary, I believe it means a higher priced coach than ever for it will take a better calibred and a broader man to fill the position of an athletic director. He will need to be big enough to be able to see beyond his specialized athletics nose and championship victories; he will have to keep in mind the entire student body; he will need to be an organizer and have the ability to choose his assistants wisely, who will under his supervision promote general participation in athletics through intramural competition; and in order to attain the best results the head coach must demand a real teaching ability and intelligent direction of intra-mural competition. Too often such competition is simply a makeshift to induce participation in a few games hastily organized without any previous training and the only good gained is the questionable array of statistics on the number of participants and of games organized.

STRENGTHENING.'

The Y.M.C.A.'s clubs, play grounds and industrial athletic associations will need to strengthen and increase their personnel under the new conditions created by our military experience; and above all, they will need a big broad-gauged direction, one that will not forget the impartance of the system of athletics for all, and at the same time will insist that expert instruction on specialized athletics is always available. The Y.M.C.A. has for many years been the pioneer in promoting general particapation in all kinds of recreational sports, and certainly that organization should be credited with being the father of the mass athletics idea as introduced into our army. It, however, has failed as also has the playground and some athletics clubs, to always provide expert coaching for its pupils. The former it should have done but the latter it must no longer leave undone

INTERESTINGS.

The Inter-Allied games scheme has brought out some very interesting facts—incidentally I might say that this Inter-Allied Olympic idea which originated with Mr. Elwood S. Brown, of the Y.M.C.A. and is now being brought to successful fruition by Col. Wait C. Johnson, Maj. McDonald and all the army athletic staff assisted by several "Y" athletic experts, is the most audacious athletic effort ever staged.

The most interesting feature in connection with this inter-Allied classic, for which a special stadium has been constructed with a capacity of 30,000, is that the originators of the idea were big enough to conceive this with the thought of serving the entire A.E.F. and they organized the most elaborate athletic programme ever attempted in the history of army athletics. First the platoon, company, regimental, brigade and divisional meets and matches were held throughout our entire army, and it is estimated that in this free-for-all elimination programme over 1,000,000 men have actually been given an opportunity to participate in one or more of the fifteen different specialized sports.

COLLEGE MEN.

But perhaps the most interesting development in connection with our army athletics is the fact that 95 per cent. of all our men on the inter-Allied track team are college trained men. When it is estimated that only about 4 per cent. of the men in our army had college training it is readily seen that the rank and file of our young America has not had the advantages in athletics they deserve and it is only natural that they should keenly feel their lack when they match their prowess with their more fortunate brethern. These men are going to demand better opportunities in the future.

Thus the stimulation of play instinct through recreational or mass athletics, the very evident physical benefits the improved morale, and above all the intense interest, aroused in specialized sports through the inter-Allied games will all tend to create a powerful influence which will demand this all around programme in our physical educational system. And this demand, will extend not only to our schools and colleges but even to industrial centers, clubs, playgrounds, and Y. M.C.A.'s.

BOOM.

America will soon be in the throes of the greatest athletic boom in its history, and I will venture the prophecy that her fighting athlete when he returns will vote for compulsory physical training before he will for universal military training.

Thus the after effects of war will not be to make us a military nation but rather to make of us a nation of athletes; and this will beat down any military system any bunch of Von Hinderburgs can build up in a thousand years.

EDUCATED FISH IN MERCED RIVER.

W. E. Stratton has just returned from an extended trip through the Lake Tahoe country and is singing its praises to all he meets. In the Merced River, claims Stratton, the fish are certainly educated. A body might walk for ten or fifteen miles and not catch even one fish. Yes, they are wise. Stratton also says that the Bear Valley angling is really the best in California, despite remarks to the contrary. The water in the rivers up in and around Lake Tahoe are normal and good fishing is to be had, occasionally.

Here is a Record Mighty Hard to Beat.

Photographs of a Moreland truck which has seen six years of constant service with the Union Oil Company and has traveled over 30,000 miles. L. R. Labory, superintendent of delivery, says that these Firestone solid tires were applied over three years ago and have been running along every day ever since.

TRUCK HANDLES BIG JOB.

"As an example of what the motor truck can do, and proving that its scope of work is well-nigh unlimited, the daily routine cut out for a five-ton Moreland distillate-burning truck, which is owned by James Conners, a hauling contractor of Glendale, best proves the above statements and contentions," said Roy Heartz of the Moreland Motor Truck Company.

"Nearly a year ago Conners purchased his trucking equipment Since that time he has worked his truck continuously. The work of the truck has taken it on hauls ranging from twenty-five miles to 130, over roads that could be called too rough for expeditious traveling. His equipment has been overloaded, which is not advocated by the motor truck manufacturer, and it has labored with two overloaded trailers attached.

"At the present writing Conners's son is making daily trips from Tropico to Long Beach for the Pacific Mining and Chemical Company, hauling pipe. The big Moreland with its two trailers negotiates the round trip ever day and not once has it given any trouble whatsoever, according to Conners.

"The truck and trailers carry 500 pieces of pipe each trip. The burden placed on the truck weighs 28,500 pounds, one trailer carrying 3400 and the other transporting 1500 pounds, respectively. The total weight of the load, therefore, aggregates seventeen tons," he continued.

"Like all Morelands, Conners's five-ton truck burns distillate. The fuel cost per day for the trip was given by Conners's son at approximately $2.50 per day. Thus, it will be seen that motor transportation is performing duties that are absolutely practical and which cannot be duplicated from point of actual cost and time, by any other form of transportation known.

"The trip to Long Beach is made by the Moreland and trailers in high gear all the way, with the exception of the steep Bixby Hill. Other than this the long hard jaunt is executed without even retarding the spark throttle.

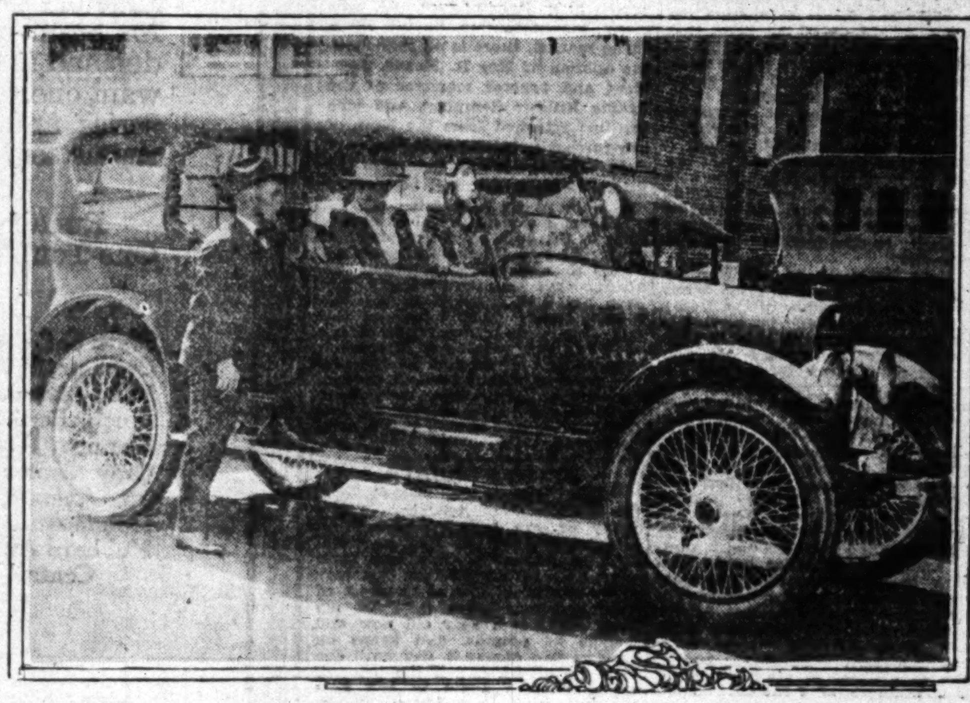
"According to young Conners's story, ever since the purchase of the truck it has not been placed in a repair shop once, and nearly every trip made was with an overload When he is not hauling pipe, Conners hauls lemons to Santa Barbara, the average load being twelve tons. Thus, it will be easily seen that motor transportation is one of the most important factors in the present period of construction, and that the predictions made years ago by truck manufacturers and expert writers on mechanics that motor transportation was absolutely practical and necessary have all come to pass. There are numerous other Moreland trucks that are performing the same feats," ended Mr Heartz.

EVERYBODY IS TOURING.

Here is a message from Frank L. Hall to the hundreds of motoring parties now figuring on a transcontinental trip, regarding the condition of the National Old Trails, just covered by himself and wife in their Hudson car, en route from this city to Buffalo, N. Y. The advice of Mr. Hall is worth while, because he had already covered 9000 miles of western roads in his trip to this city.

One of the most important features for cross-country motorists to look out for is accommodations en route. In one of his letters to Harold L. Arnold, Hudson dealer in Los Angeles, Mr. Hall says that they passed a touring party every ten minutes during the first week on the road. At Barstow they had to sleep on the roof of the Harvey House, not even being able to get a cot. Every hotel and lodging-house clear through to Albuquerque, N. M., was crowded to the limit. From Los Angeles to Needles, Mr. Hall reports, the road as in fair condition. From Needles to Kingman, 80 per cent. rough. Kingman to the Grand Canyon, 100 miles fine, but rough from Williams to El Tovar. Flagstaff to Springerville, excellent. Springerville to Albuquerque, most all good, including the transcontinental divide, which he crossed at 8214 feet. By the way, in all that mountain climbing, Hall reports that his Hudson never overheated once, and the self-compensating device for altitude, with which all Hudson cars are equipped, overcame the usual altitude difficulties which affect some other makes of cars. From Albuquerque to Santa Fe, N. M., the road is in fine shape, but north of Santa Fe. Oh, ye gods! Crossing the Rattoon Pass, Mr. Hall comments on the wonderful scenery and splendidly-built roads which the convict system of Colorado has produced.

Through Kansas the unusual dry weather of this year has resulted in miles of dusty roads, but Hall made fast time, even though the roads were rutted and rough. From Kansas City to Chicago was made in fast time, and from that point to their home in Buffalo, most of the road was paved, and they made never less than 300 miles a day.



Gives Us All the Dope on the National Old Trails.

Photograph of Frank L. Hall and wife in their Hudson supersix, taken just before their start from Los Angeles for Buffalo. Mr. Hall writes that there are so many tourists on the roads that half the time you have to sleep out unless you have arranged for accommodations well in advance.

MIKE MENTIONS CACTUS CRAVATH.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

"You can knock the props out from under a bad actor in high places, as witness the prostrate position of Mr. Hohenzollern, but you can't keep a good man down," philosophized Missoula Mike, the Marine, as he thumbed the sporting section.

"Why waste your breath of the yellowest of a litter of yellow pups, colonel?" I asked.

"I merely mentioned the Kaiser incidentally by way of leadin' up to the main point," replied the Marine, "What I was getting at is old Woodenshoes Cravath. Now that the Phillies have been wished on him, folks out this way ain't got nothin' except good wishes for him. Woodenshoes is one of us. As far as I can recollect he is the third who learned the game on the California sand lots to get the big boost into a major league managerial job, the others bein' Frank Chance an' Hal Chase.

"Now I ain't claimin' that being made boss of the Phils under present conditions can be ranked as the highest honor in baseball. In fact, the good wishes which I has heard expressed all along the line has been mingled with commiseration. Philadelphia now occupies that low level in the great national pastime held by Cincinnati until the Reds took it into their intellects to vacate.

"What I was gettin' at was how long it took Cravath to gain recognition of any kind. Old Woodenshoes has certainly clanked along over a mighty rocky road. His wasn't no path strewn with roses, nor even hollyhocks. After Jim Morley digs Cravath out of the peatlands down beyond Santa Ana, Woodenshoes bangs the ball around in a way to attract big league attention. Finally he is sent up to the Boston Red Sox with Walter Carlisle. Neither of 'em lasted long. Carlisle was shipped straight back to the minors, Kansas City bein' his jumpin' off place. Gavvy stuck in the big show some longer, seein' parts of the circuit by way of Washington an' Chicago. But after a brief trial he was relegated to Minneapolis, then the dumpin' ground of the White Sox. It was like buryin' him alive, as the Minneapolis club was sort of an institution for the aged an' infirm, conducted by the Cantillon boys. Some seemed to think that Cravath was kept there under some sort of a 'cover up' arrangement. But such hittin' as his couldn't be covered up permanently, no more than Thomas A. Edison could conceal all his assorted incandescents under a bushel basket.

"So, after years of minor leaguin' it in Minn., Woodenshoes at last gets a real trial in Philadelphia, and the fans know the rest. I don't think that no athlete kept pluggin' along under more discouragin' conditions. All of which explains my openin' remark about it bein' impossible to keep a good man down. Now, if he can make something out of the Phils along about next season or the next it will be a fittin' climax to the career of a game an' unassumin' guy."

"What do you hear regarding the aftermath of that Toledo affair?" I asked.

"Aftermath is too big for me to take at one mouthful," said the marine, "but I have heard a few postmortems on the fight. One was how Leo McCarey proved wiser than his dad, an' saved Tom a wad of dough by not lettin' him bet. An' Uncle Tom wasn't the only one of those who know the game from all four corners to the center of the ring who went wrong. There was Corbett, McCoy, Jeff, Eyton an' a raft of others. Gentleman Jim, though, made an eleventh-hour repentance an' got down on Dempsey. I saw a telegram from him to Mike Lyman sent the day of the fight tellin' Mike to hock the flivver and bet the proceeds on Jack.

"What upset so many of the experts about here was Willard's good physical appearance when he was in Los Angeles. But the only one of these, meanin' Corbett, who got a chance to see him in actual trainin' changed his mind. While here, Willard went down to Culver City an' had a long talk with McCarey about the battle an figurin' on the possible proceeds. Of course, Jess wasn't guaranteed no $100,000. Fights ain't promoted that way. A champ generally gets what he can draw, an' Jess wanted Tom to figure this out for him. As a result of this visit, Tom was pleasantly impressed with Willard's prospects and was on the verge of bettin' several months income when son Leo, who seems to be the dominatin' factor in the McCarey household, backed father into a corner and told him to lay off. Thus the family bankroll was kept intact.

"At that, Tom an' some of the other old-timers may not have been so far off as the results would make 'em appear. I have a hunch that down in his heart Uncle Tom still feels that Willard might have won if he'd taken his advice.

"On the mornin' of the fight, McCarey wired Willard. He advises Willard to rush right from the start. He figured that his prestige as champion back of that first rush might give Dempsey stage fright. A champion allus has the other fellow gussin' just because he is champion. Abe Attell was able to stay twenty rounds with Johnny Kilbane when he lost the title only because he was champion. Johnny couldn't get it out of his head that he was fightin' the title-holder. But Willard, bein' the last person in the world to do anything unexpected, didn't make any use of his championship prestige. Instead he walks over, the reports say, and smilin' as friendly as could be shakes hands in a soft an' gentlemanly manner. As a result Dempsey gets the idea that he has met a person with whom it is goin' to be a pleasure to mingle, an' at once begins to boil over with confidence. Jeffries generally had his man licked before he started, an' never was a bit backward about displayin' his general size an' bulk an' rough nature before the gong rang. If Willard had come into the ring scowlin', refused to shake hands, an' at the gong hurled his huge bulk across the ring at Dempsey whether he struck a blow or not on the first rush, it might have completely reversed the result. Anyway, big, lumbering, easy-goin', unimaginative Willard didn't use the only good bet which he lugged into the ring with him. It's best as it was as we now have a real champ, but I'm just citin' this as another incident as how Jess refused to imbibe any advice even from his friends which knew the game. As a result he lost everything except the boob championship, which probably never can be taken away from him."

SO 'TIS SAID.

Fred Barnes, Joe Bartlett, Charley Moore and A. Alexander all caught limits of fish Friday on the East Fork of the San Gabriel River, above Camp Bonita. The fishing is very good, so 'tis said.

MOTORBIKE ON TOP OF BALDY.

Famous Peak is Conquered by a Light Two-Wheeler.

Pedestrians and Burros Get a Little Competition.

Bike Loops the Loop Thrice on the up Voyage.

Riding a Harley-Davidson "Sport Model" motorcycle up an almost trackless and nearly perpendicular burro trail, Jack Fletcher and John Edwin Hogg, last Wednesday scaled the 10,080-foot summit of Mt. Baldy, the highest peak of the Sierra Madre Range. The ascent has never before been accomplished other than by mountaineers on foot and with burros.

Because of the heavy steel-spiked rear wheel which was used to give traction over the rocks and steep grades the little machine could not be driven over the paved highways on its own power. It was accordingly hauled to Camp Baldy on a motor truck.

The trail from Camp Baldy to the summit of the mountain is seven and a half miles long. The first two miles is a fairly good foot path, although very steep in places, and with numerous Z-turns where the machine had to be turned by being lifted. The good trail ends at Bear Flat, five and a half miles from the summit. Above this point there is no water on the mountain, the recent hot weather having taken all of the snow. Above Bear Flat the trail is miserably poor. In a single mile it ascends 2000 feet over a surface of loose rocks and crumbled granite.

This portion of the route is known as Hard Scramble Ridge, and even on foot the climb is exactly what the name signifies. Aside from turning over backwards three different times and frequently digging its rear wheel in the ground until it could move no more the little Harley-Davidson never once hesitated. The summit of the two-mile high peak was reached at 2 o'clock in the afternoon after the tiny motor had torn away at the rocks and steep grades for exactly three hours and forty-two minutes.

On the summit of the peak a party of six mountaineers were found, who had been craning their necks scanning the sky for an airplane. They had heard the sharp rhythmic barking of the Harley-Davidson's unmuffled motor, but the thought of a motorcycle ascending the trackless mountain never occured to them. The most remarkable feature of the gruelling climb is that it was accomplished without the slightest mechanical difficulty in spite of the awful abuse and punishment to which it was subjected.

NINETY-SIX MAPS FOR CALIFORNIA.

Some idea of the magnitude of the task in providing the motorists of Southern California with routes for business or pleasure trips will be gained by the statement issued yesterday from the Automobile Club of Southern California, in which it was stated that the organization now issues ninety-six strip maps alone for roads within the State.

Together with these, the club provides its members with twenty folder maps, showing the counties and sections of Southern California with all highways and connecting links.

In addition to this mass of information, which exceeds by scores the number issued by any other motoring club, the Southern California organization provides entire sets leading the motorist over the roads to Kansas City, to Salt Lake or into Arizona.

Mexico Expells Bolshevik Agent.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—Dimitri Nikitri, alleged to be an agent of the Russian Bolsheviki, was recently expelled from Mexico by order of President Carranza on a charge of being active in Bolshevik propaganda work in various industrial centers, particularly in Tampico where he is said to have been a leader in the unrest among the petroleum workers.

Competition for the Burros and the Pedestrians.

Here is the little Harley Davidson motorcycle which succeeded in climbing to the summit of Mt. Baldy last week, reaching a point which before had been visited only by burros and pedestrians. It was ridden by Jack Fletcher, who is shown in the photographs, and John Edwin Hogg.

DON'T POLISH CAR WHEN IT IS WARM.

"Under no circumstances should a motorist ever attempt to polish his car while the surface of the body is hot from standing in the sun," says Frank B. Webster of the International Sales Company, manufacturers and distributors of Duro-Lac polish. "Any sort of paint or varnish softens somewhat under heat. The warmth of a summer sun is ample to soften the varnish of a car to such an extent as to make rubbing it decidedly destructive to the varnish.

"Even standing in the sun will frequently result in heating the varnish to such an extent that as it cools again it will check and crack into thousands of tiny lines. When this occurs, the fine finish of your car is gone forever, and no polish will completely restore it.

AUTOMOBILE SHORTAGE.

Business is good throughout the entire West and the only trouble that any dealer has is the shortage of automobiles. "This is the news brought to this city by Frank C. Riggs, western district manager of the Willys-Overland Company, who has made a circuit of the Coast States since the first of June. Riggs has made a trip throughout his territory on the Coast going first into the Northwest. He then came back and toured the California branches and is now here for a short time.

"The demand for automobiles knows no limit, and dealers and distributors throughout the West are all besieging me with orders to ship them more cars," says Riggs.

The main reason for the shortage of automobiles throughout the nation is evidently the labor unrest at the manufacturing centers. This condition is so general that many of the largest plants are unable to produce to anywhere near their capacities and consequently there is a shortage of cars.

"Then there is a decided shortage of skilled laborers, men who can handle intricate machines of precision that require care and specialized knowledge. There is still a large-sized American army in Germany and with this army are thousands of skilled mechanics, some as privates or noncommissioned officers, in the combat units and others plying their trades for Uncle Sam.

"Then too there has been no immigration into this country for almost five years and this eliminates a great many skilled workers.

"The shortage of skilled men is a decided factor in keeping production down, and according to the men who know it will be a factor for some time to come.

"When all is said and done labor controls the price and output of every single thing connected with the automobile, or any other product for that matter.

"The automotive industry is expanding in spite of all these things and is rapidly assuming leadership in the industries of the world. It is now the third largest industry in this country and growing in leaps and bounds. There is no limit to the number of cars that can be built and sold because everyone wants an automobile. Then, too, consider that the average automobile lasts only five or six years, and you can readily see that there is no limit to the possibilities of the industry.

"These labor troubles are being straightened out, however, and gradually a better understanding is growing up between employer and employee. The factories will soon be producing on a capacity scale and the shortage of automobiles will be at an end.

"The demand from abroad, England, France, Germany and every other country will account for a huge number of cars and trucks in the near future, now that peace is signed.

GUESS HOW FAR TIRES HAVE RUN.

WELL-KNOWN ROAD MAN LIKES TO MAKE BETS ON RECORD OF HIS CASINGS.

Through the addition of Grove Hill to his organization, J. B. Wood of the J. B. Wood Tire Company, distributor for Hewitt tires and tubes, is said to have made a ten strike. Mr. Hill is one of the best-known "road men" connected with the motor tire business in Southern California. There are city salesmen and road men, as these merchandisers are classified, and Mr. Hill belongs to the group that travels about the territory getting the country dealers into line and keeping them there.

One of Mr. Hill's pet stunts is to make a wager, when trying to interest a dealer in Hewitt tires, that the dealer cannot approximate within 500 miles the distance the tires on his car have gone. The tires have the appearance of being almost new but naturally a dealer in guessing will be willing to extend his estimate a little in favor of the tires. Some of the guesses have been quite wild and none what might be termed close. The tires really look as if they could be put back into stock as new but have traveled—just make a bet with Hill on how far they have gone.

MUFFLER PAINT.

It is difficult to find a satisfactory paint for the exhaust pipe and muffler because of the heat of those parts. Here is a highly recommended muffler paint: Boiled linseed oil, 1-5 pound; Japan varnish, 1-5 pound; turpentine, 2-5 pound; lampblack, 1½ ounces; powdered graphite, 1½ nounces; powdered oxide of manganese, ⅝ ounce. Mix the linseed oil and Japan varnish well together, then add in order, stirring all the time, the lampblack, the graphite and the powdered manganese. As the mixture thickens thin it down with turpentine until the quantity mentioned has been used. This mixture should be used as soon as it is mixed, as it dries quickly. Everytime the brush is dipped in it should be stirred. It is will to paint the muffler while it is hot, after having cleaned it thoroughly.

EFFICIENCY AT FACTORY.

"It was for years the boast of the Chicago pork packers that they utilized everything but the squeal of the hogs which they prepared for market. This was certainly a degree of efficiency to take rightful pride in, but I found a manufacturing efficiency worthy of comparison to this when I went through the huge Dodge Bros.' plant at Detroit during my recent visit in that city," said Fred Albertson of the Albertson Motor Company.

"The methods used in the drop-forging department of the great plant furnished a good example of what I mean. There I found rows of huge steam hammers that forge the Dodge crankshafts and the many other Dodge parts that are made of the drop-forged steel. Close at hand beside these huge hammers were the furnaces and boilers that generated the steam to operate the hammers. Many of the parts that were being forged were heated to the proper temperature in the same furnaces that generated the steam to operate the hammers. This struck me as being an extremely efficient measure, but my surprise was further increased when I learned that the steam had not finished its work when it had operated the great hammers, but was led to a low-pressure turbine and spent its last ounce of energy in generating electricity to turn motors in the machine shop.

"Such instances of efficiency as this might be multiplied many times. Another feature of the Dodge plant which is equally impressive to the man who inspects it is the extent to which machinery has supplanted man power throughout the entire process of making the car. Long before Dodge Bros. commenced the manufacture of automobiles they had a nation-wide reputation as builders of special machinery. They have utilized this experience in developing their manufacturing methods to the highest possible point of perfection. When you watch a gigantic device machining eighteen cylinder blocks and a similar number of cylinder heads at a single operation you can appreciate what this means in both accuracy of workmanship and economy. Another machine attacks a cylinder block and bores fifty-six holes in it simultaneously. Enormous presses take in a sheet of steel, submit it to a pressure of 2,000,000 pounds and turn it out again almost instantly a completed fender.

"You will search in vain, however, in the Dodge factory for any hint of an economy in manufacturing methods that might possibly affect the quality of the car. Such efficiencies of manufacture as Dodge Bros. have developed are never at the cost of quality, but operate rather to increase value and reduce cost.

"There is a double advantage, too, to the purchaser in the fact that Dodge Bros. manufacture themselves practically every unit of the car. It not only means that every part is subjected to the rigid Dodge standards of manufacturing excellence, but that the purchaser is thus relieved of paying a double profit to the builders as the buyer of an assembled car must do."

SAYS TIRE PRICE MAY GO CLIMBING.

With crude rubber and fabric quoted at a higher figure and with many manufacturers buying on a rising market, there is no chance, in the opinion of Roy R. Meads, president and general manager of the Pacific Rubber Company, and who has just returned from the East, of any further reduction in the price of tires. If there is any change in the price, he believes it will be upward and perhaps by next fall.

Although uncertain labor conditions in the East have disrupted the programme of automobile manufacturers to a considerable extent, he asserts that the tire industry has been but little affected in this respect. Meads commented on the fact that a great many purchasers of Fords are requesting Horseshoe tires as part of original equipment, and to supply this demand several carloads of Horseshoes, both front and rear, are now on the way to Los Angeles and should reach here next week.

HELPING MOTHER.

"Good morning children," said the arithmetic teacher. "How many of you have prepared an orignial problem in multiplication, as I requested?" Only one hand went up. "Well, William, you may give your problem and the rest of the class may solve it." "If my baby sister is a year old now and weighs 20 pounds, and keeps on gaining two ounces a day until she is 16 years old, and if the price of living doubles again in the next ten years, how much will my sister's granduation outfit cost? Mother says she would like to know?"—[Exchange.

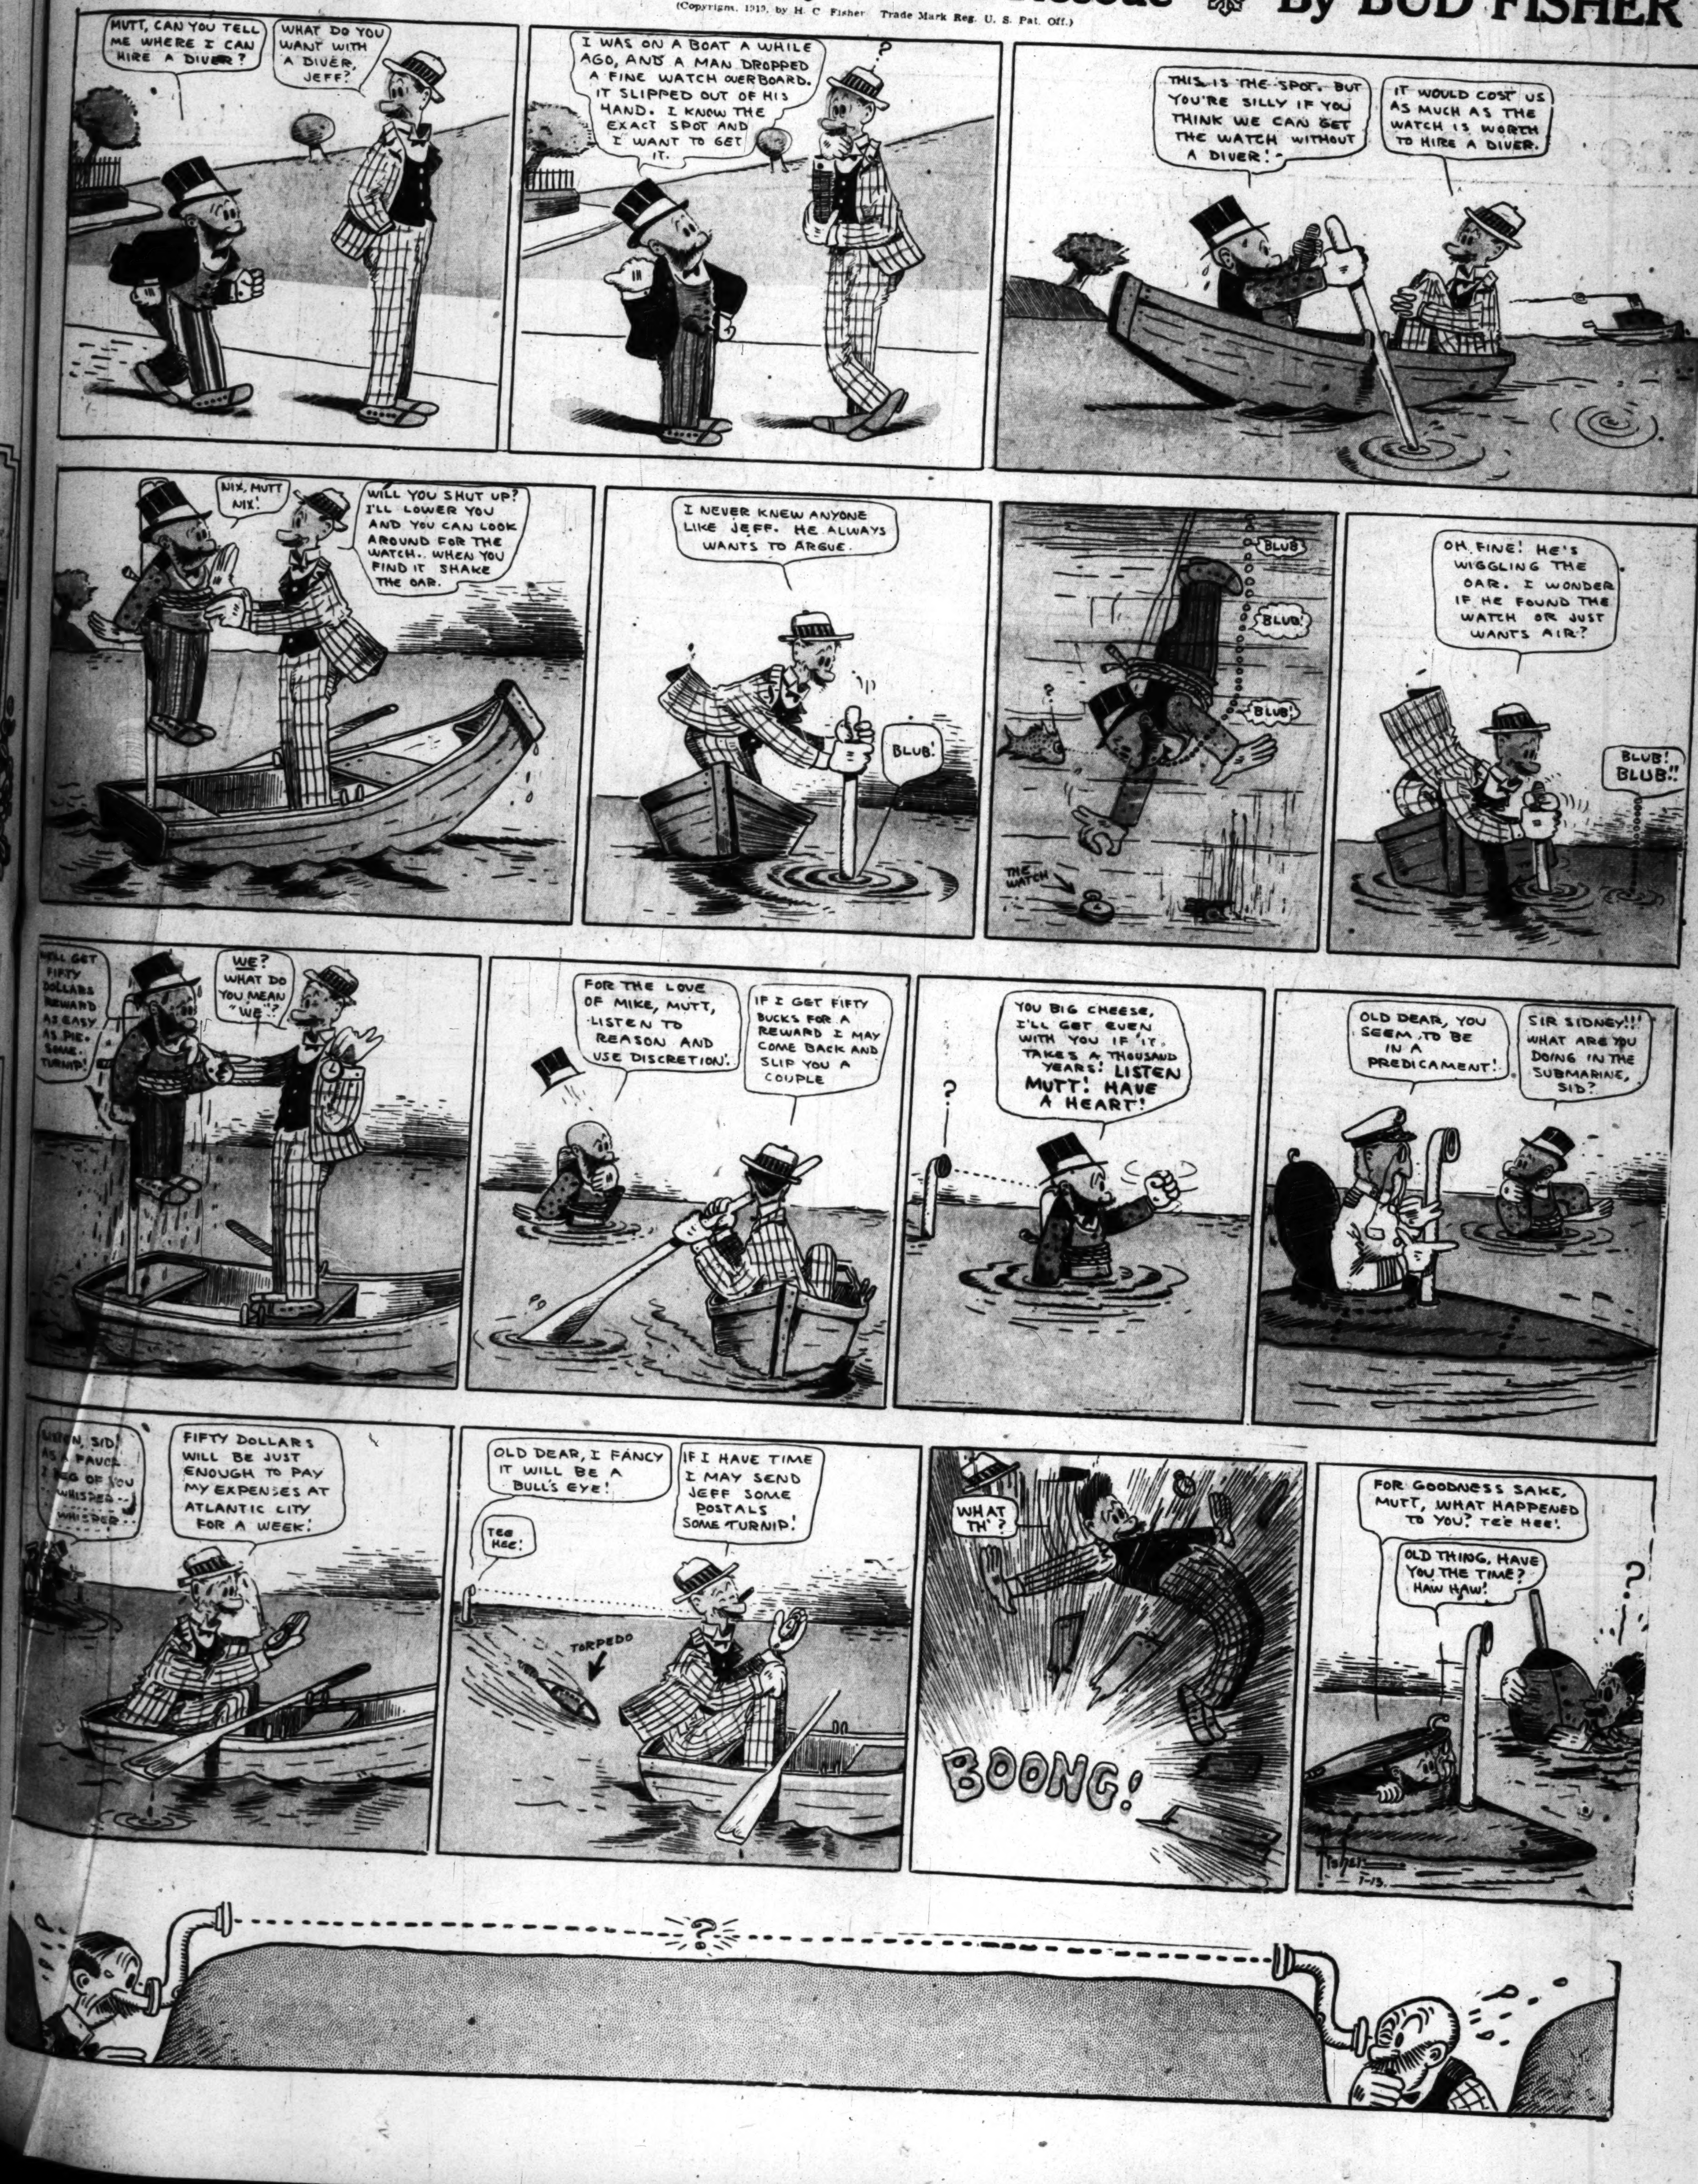
MUTT AND JEFF Sir Sidney to the Rescue ❁ By BUD FISHER

(Copyright, 1919, by H. C. Fisher Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)



MUTT, CAN YOU TELL ME WHERE I CAN HIRE A DIVER?
WHAT DO YOU WANT WITH A DIVER, JEFF?
I WAS ON A BOAT A WHILE AGO, AND A MAN DROPPED A FINE WATCH OVERBOARD. IT SLIPPED OUT OF HIS HAND. I KNOW THE EXACT SPOT AND I WANT TO GET IT.
THIS IS THE SPOT. BUT YOU'RE SILLY IF YOU THINK WE CAN GET THE WATCH WITHOUT A DIVER!
IT WOULD COST US AS MUCH AS THE WATCH IS WORTH TO HIRE A DIVER.
NIX, MUTT NIX!
WILL YOU SHUT UP? I'LL LOWER YOU AND YOU CAN LOOK AROUND FOR THE WATCH. WHEN YOU FIND IT SHAKE THE OAR.
I NEVER KNEW ANYONE LIKE JEFF. HE ALWAYS WANTS TO ARGUE.
BLUB!
BLUB
BLUB!
BLUB!
THE WATCH
OH FINE! HE'S WIGGLING THE OAR. I WONDER IF HE FOUND THE WATCH OR JUST WANTS AIR?
BLUB! BLUB!!
WE'LL GET FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD AS EASY AS PIE. SOME TURNIP!
WE? WHAT DO YOU MEAN "WE"?
FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE, MUTT, LISTEN TO REASON AND USE DISCRETION!
IF I GET FIFTY BUCKS FOR A REWARD I MAY COME BACK AND SLIP YOU A COUPLE
?
YOU BIG CHEESE, I'LL GET EVEN WITH YOU IF IT TAKES A THOUSAND YEARS! LISTEN MUTT! HAVE A HEART!
OLD DEAR, YOU SEEM TO BE IN A PREDICAMENT!
SIR SIDNEY!!! WHAT ARE YOU DOING IN THE SUBMARINE, SID?
LISTEN, SID! AS A FAVOR I BEG OF YOU -- WHISPER -- WHISPER --
FIFTY DOLLARS WILL BE JUST ENOUGH TO PAY MY EXPENSES AT ATLANTIC CITY FOR A WEEK!
OLD DEAR, I FANCY IT WILL BE A BULL'S EYE!
TEE HEE!
IF I HAVE TIME I MAY SEND JEFF SOME POSTALS SOME TURNIP!
TORPEDO
WHAT TH'?

FIRMOLA stimulates and revitalizes the relaxed tissues of the THROAT, NECK and BUST. It rejuvenates the skin of the neck, which usually becomes wrinkled, brown and leathery-looking early in life.
As soon as FIRMOLA is applied it begins to act. It revivifies and builds up the atrophied muscles and tissues, thus restoring the youthful contour. The wrinkles vanish under and back of the ears, while the skin becomes soft, white and velvety.

Plant Them Now

LOS ANGELES ROSES are ready for distribution. We urge that you order your plants early, as the demand this year will exceed our supply. Thrifty, two-year-old, balled plants, which will bloom this Fall, $1.50 each.

DELPHINIUM BELLADONNA—Unquestionably one of the best of all the various Delphiniums, producing an immense quantity of spikes, well filled with lovely, sky-blue flowers. Splendid for cutting purposes. Clumps, $2 per dozen.

COLUMBINES, in shades of pink and blue. These plants delight in a somewhat moist, shady position. We offer a number of novelties in 2½-inch pots, $1.50 per dozen.

ANEMONE JAPONICA—The Japanese Wind-Flowers are amongst the most beautiful of all our Fall flowering plants. As cut flowers they last exceedingly well, and there are few plants more attractive or graceful in herbaceous borders. Sturdy young plants in 3-inch pots, $1.50 and $2 a dozen.

HYDRANGEAS — Novelties of 1919. Excellent plants in 3-inch pots, 15c each. 8-inch pots, 75c each.

DAHLIAS—The last opportunity to obtain fine novelties at 25c each. We are offering a few varieties that will merit your investigation.

LANTANAS—Dwarf type, splendid for borders or hedge, obtaining a height of from 12 to 18 inches. We have them in pink, yellow - orange, buff - yellow, white and lemon. 2½-inch pot plants, $1 a dozen; $7.50 per 100.

KILS-ALL is a new, non-poisonous insecticide which is giving excellent results — especially adapted to uses for red spider, thrip, white fly and scale of all kinds—is an excellent specific for roses, as it does not mar the buds. Destroys the Argentine ant, one of our worst garden pests. One-half pound cans, 50c each. One-pound can, 85c.

GRANULATED PEAT, fine for Ferns, Begonias and for use in connection with shady beds. 85-lb. sack, $1.50.

We wish to call your attention to our cut flower department which is equipped to furnish flowers for all occasions. Floral designs our specialty.

ROMANY TO ROME.

Upon the road to Romany
It's stay, friend, stay!
There's lots o' love and lots o' time
To linger on the way;
Poppies for the twilight,
Roses for the noon
It's happy goes as lucky goes
To Romany in June.

But on the road to Rome—oh,
It's march, man, march!
The dust is on the chariot wheels,
The sere is on the larch,
Helmets and javelins
And bridles flecked with foam—
The flowers are dead, the world's ahead,
Upon the road to Rome.

Upon the road to Romany
It's sing, boys, sing!
Though rag and pack be on our back
We'll whistle to the King.
Wine is in the sunshine,
Madness in the moon,
And de'il may care the road we fare
To Romany in June.

Along the road to Rome, alas!
The glorious dust is whirled,
Strong hearts are fierce to see
The City of the World;
Yet footfall or bugle call
Or thunder as ye will,
Upon the road to Romany
The birds are calling still.

WALLACE IRWIN.

Work in Illness.

IF NO one attempted to work unless feeling well, there would be very little work done in this world. Now and then we meet some one who declares—and doubtless truthfully—that he or she has never known a sick day in life. But, it is only now and then that one meets a man or woman who can say that.

The great majority of us can count more gray days than the other kind. We are bundles of nerves that want to ache and our flesh is the very heir to many ills.

So, though there come so many days when we do not feel that we can work, we must be up and at it, just the same. Though the flesh be laggard the soul must not lag.

"Leave not, my soul, the unfoughten field,
Nor leave thy debts dishonored,
Nor thy place desert
Without due service rendered."

This must be our determination. And we have many great examples to spur us on.

When we remember that Milton wrote his great poems in his blindness, that Alexander Pope translated Homer while wracked upon a bed of pain, that Stevenson worked most of the time while propped up in bed, and that Junipero founded civilization and Christianity on the western shores of America though a constant sufferer from a chronic sore on his leg, we may well feel ashamed that we shirk the day's tasks on the flimsy excuse of merely "not feeling well."

Perhaps it is unfair to include women among shirkers of this class. It is inspiring to know that the average woman does not shirk although the average woman is a prey to much physical suffering.

The shirker is almost always a man—at least he is a male. Give him a half a headache, the least disturbance of his stomach, the suspicion of a tinge of rheumatism—he cannot work. Call men "the sterner sex?" Isn't that the most ridiculous statement ever invented?

If we could all make ourselves to know that work is really the best medicine, there would then surely be less shirking. Let anyone who does not feel well of a morning dig in to a hard day's work and he will be surprised to find that when the day is done he has completely forgotten his indisposition.

As a student of all religions, creeds and cults, and an admirer of them all, we have often thought a religion which glorifies work would be a wonderful thing, even though it had no other tenet.

Of course there are two ways of work: one with the brain and one with the hands. Both are good medicine. But, for bad stomachs and weak organs of the body generally, and perhaps more so for mental disorders, there can be no doubt that work with one's hands is the better prescription.

If only the American business man would make it his habit to work two hours every day in the earth with a hoe, he would not be a nervous wreck at forty years of life, nor would he be in his grave so many years before his time. The hoe is almost the greatest thing ever invented in this world.

Forget this thing about "not feeling well." The Christian Scientists are absolutely right about it. It is mostly "an error of the mind."

Too Many Bosses.

WE AGREE with the philosophic anarchists at least to this extent, that there is altogether too much government. There is too much bossing and a superfluity of bosses. We would all be far better off if we were to be let alone a good deal more.

Suppose a workman is hired to do a day's work about the house and that when he appears on the job he is told by the man of the house what he is to do, and he starts in to do it. Then suppose the woman of the house tells the hired man to do it another way, or to do something else. Then the man's mother-in-law and the grandmother and grandfather and the old maid sister each take a turn at telling the hired man what to do and how to do it, what will be the result?

The result will doubtless be that nothing really will be done, or, more likely that the hired man will have quit in disgust before the first half hour of the day is spent. No man can do good work if he has too many bosses.

Now it is the same with the government. If a business man is interfered with by every officer of the law that comes along—and there are so many officers of the law that there is one of them coming along all the time—why, he just simply can't do business, that's all.

It would certainly be a great blessing if this thing called political economy could be burned in a bonfire and that everybody could forget all about it. If the world were to be let alone it would get along fine. If the people of the world were to be let alone they would take care of themselves.

Politics is a silly thing anyway and sometimes it is a vicious thing. Every State in this Union would reap a vast blessing if it would abolish its Legislature for the next twenty years to come.

Imagination.

THE writer of this page—just one little page that goes to make up the greatest newspaper in the world every Sunday—has been designated a "conductor" by the editor. Witness the line at the bottom hereof.

Well, in our capacity as a conductor we receive hundreds of letters from our readers, and we are very glad, indeed, to receive and read them, and our only regret is that it is a physical impossibility to answer them. And there was one letter lately from a lady who said that she feared we sometimes "draw on our imagination."

Of course we do, not sometimes, but very many times. In fact we do it every time we can. More than that, we try to draw on the imagination of others. Imagination is the writing man's treasure house. Destroy it and he is as helpless as a hunter without a gun or a fisherman without hook or line.

Scientists tell us that we do not really see the moon; that it is only our imagination. And think of it, if we couldn't see the moon! Suppose they would take our imagination away from us; there wouldn't be moons then, at all.

Yankee Ingenuity.

WHAT a restless, tireless thing is the brain of the inventive Yankee. How much has been accomplished through it to make lighter and easier to bear the burdens of everyday life, not to speak of the grateful comforts and luxuries wrought by it. How many a weary a step it has saved us, and how many an ache it has taken out of our backs.

These inventors are a class by themslves, and they make us think of prospectors, explorers, poets and other folk who follow dreams. Once let the microbe of a new invention enter the brain of anyone of them from Edison down to the humblest of them all, and it will be as difficult to wean them away from it until it is accomplished as it would be to keep a sitting hen from an egg.

Inventions, it seems, are the results of inspirations, just as poems are and compositions in music. An inventor saw a man getting down from his wagon to open a gate, when, forthwith, he was seized with the idea of making a gate that could be opened by the wagon itself. And he made it work. In the same way we got the sewing machine, the tack hammer, the fountain pen, the clothespin and the roller shade for windows.

Nearly all these fumdiddles that help to make life pleasant and easy were the products of Yankee genius. The Yankee is the patron of little helps in life, although he is the biggest man in the world every other way. He is the kind of a man who feels sorry for a woman who has to sweep with a broom, and so gets to work with his brain and invents a carpet sweeper that it better than a broom and all you need do is to wheel it across the floor.

It was a great blessing that God conferred on the world when He made Yankees.

The Irish Question.

THERE has been so much discussion concerning the Irish question in our generation, and so much more discussion than ever before because of events during the past year, that the question appears to have become complicated and poorly understood by the vast majority of people in this country at least.

The Irish question, however—that is to say the question of Ireland—is a very simple matter, indeed.

Ireland, a country separated by the great waters of the seas from any other country, is and has been for ages occupied by a distinct race of people. Nearly a thousand years ago the country and its people were brought by force under the alien rule of another country and another people that still maintains sovereignty over it.

The Irish people never consented to this dominion. They were and are compelled to live under it because they are not able to overthrow it. If by any means they could overthrow it, they would certainly do so.

Consequently, Ireland is a country governed without the consent of the governed. It is a nation not permitted to self determine its own status, although other nations have been allowed to do so by the allied powers of the world.

Hence Ireland is the only nation left that is discriminated against in the enforcement of a principle that has cost millions of lives during the past four years.

The disinterested student of history and sociology can come to no other possible conclusion than that the League of Nations cannot consistently bar Ireland any more than it can bar Poland, Slavonia or any other nation.

Sinners.

WE HAVE been asked to say which in our opinion is the greatest passage in the New Testament, which is not a fair question to ask a mere newspaper man. It is a question that should be put to a biblical scholar. But we will presume to say this:

If you will turn to the fifteenth chapter of Luke and read from the beginning of the chapter down to the end of the seventh verse, you will find a lot to comfort you. This is what it says:

"Then drew near unto him all the publicans and sinners for to hear him.

"And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying. This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them.

"And he spake this parable unto them, saying,

"What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?

"And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing.

"And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbors, saying unto them, Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep which was lost.

"I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance."

It would look pretty black for a sinner if Luke hadn't reported the above passage. And, if not true, then God help us all.

A page conducted by John S. McGroarty.

Care of the Body.

had any kind of a foundation except pure empiricism. Inasmuch as food has such an intimate relation, not only to prophylaxis, but also to therapeutics, we need a series of cartoons or some similar form of instruction, illustrating the bringing up of the old doctor.

"Perhaps there is no point in medicine so confusing and conflicting as the dietetics prescribed by attending physician in cases of illness, likewise for children and grown persons as a preventive of disease. The very foods that have been most denatured, and therefore are least wholesome and assimilable, are constantly prescribed by physicians, for the well as for those ill. The functions of leaf vegetables, for instance, so important in dietetics, and carrying as they do the chief fat-soluble vitamins, are those that the physician too often neglects. On what scientific grounds can a physician recommend the most refined foods, those of least nutritive value?"

To this I add that thinking physicians would do well to take up the study of diet. If they would pay more attention to the building of the body by food, and less to the poisoning of the blood by drugs and serums, it would be well for the human race. As I said recently, I shall be glad to help them by suggesting a course of reading. I have already received several inquiries. Perhaps, some day, if I can find the time, I may start a post-graduate school in diet for physicians.

Strawberries.

"DOUBTLESS," said old Izaak Walton, "God could have made a better berry than the strawberry, but doubtless he did not."

Strawberries, like watermelons, are rich in iron.

The food value of this wholesome berry is destroyed by adding to it quantities of sugar, and especially by cooking, and mixing with sugar and starch, in the shape of shortcake.

If strawberries are too sour for your perverted taste, eat with them a little sweet fruit, as seedless raisins. You may add a little almond cream, or cow cream.

Cause and Effect.

L. J. RICE of Los Angeles writes: "I want to say in regard to your course of diet and exercise, that I count it the greatest system in the world. The change it has made in my condition is wonderful. I never felt better or had more 'pep.'

"It is interesting, though painful, to listen to the woes of some people, and then take note of what they eat. Not long ago a stranger sat at the same table with me in a public place. He butted into my conversation with a friend to say that he had spent fifteen years of his life and over $10,000 in money, trying to get rid of constipation and rheumatism. I immediately looked to see what he had around his plate. It was this: Boiled potatoes, roast beef with gravy, soup, bread and butter (white bread of course) a dish of sauce (from canned fruit) a big piece of chocolate cake, pie made with canned fruit, a couple of pieces of cheese, and a pot of coffee. This was for lunch, mind you. He probably had a 'full dinner' later.

"Strange that he should be constipated."

• • •

Blood Pressure.

TESTS for high blood pressure are medical camouflage.

High blood pressure is high gas pressure, from wrong eating, which produces fermentation, gas and alcohol.

Fast, and then eat right, and the gas pressure will go down.

Diagnosis.

A LOS ANGELES correspondent writes: "A little Mexican boy was accidentally shot in the abdomen. Great excitement prevailed. The leading physician and surgeon and his under-study were sent for, in a hurry. They came. It was nightfall, and from then until late at night they probed in that boy's abdomen for the bullet.

"After several hours of torture they decided to wait till morning and try again. They dressed the wound and left.

"After they had gone the mother picked up the boys trousers—which were a pair of 'Stronghold' or 'Never-rip' or something or other, brand—and feeling something hard in the waist band, started a probe on her own account, and found the bullet lodged there. It had never been in the boy's anatomy, but where it struck, had made a bruised spot in the skin, and the only hole was one made by the instruments.

"Evidently, in this instance, they were clean, for the boy recovered in spite of them.

"These doctors were the most prominent in the town, if not in the State, had a great practice, and one of them is now practicing in Los Angeles."

Wet Nurses.

IN EUROPE, when a mother cannot or will not perform the natural function of suckling her child, she employs a wet nurse. Here they use cow's milk, modified or manufactured infants' food. Wet nurses are more natural, and more satisfactory. A healthy wet nurse is preferable to an unhealthy mother.

In Madrid the wet nurses all come from the province of Asturia. In a book on Spain the writer says:

"The ladies in Madrid do not think it 'good style' to bring up their own children, and the Asturian wet nurse is as much a part of the ordinary household as the coachman or mayordomo. They are singularly handsome, well-grown women, and become great favorites in the houses of their employers; but like their menkind, they go back to spend their earnings among their beloved hills. Many of these young women come to Madrid on the chance of finding situations, leaving their own babies behind to be fed by hand, or heaven knows how. They bring with them a young puppy, to act as substitute, until the nurse child is found, and may be seen in the registry offices waiting to be hired, with their little canine foster-children. It is said that the Asturian women never part from the puppies that they have have fed from their own breasts."

It should be remembered that the mother, or foster mothers, through her milk influences to some extent the character of the child.

Finds Cure for Rheumatism After Suffering Fifty Years!

Now 83 Years Old

—Regains Strength and Laughs at "URIC ACID"

Goes Fishing; Back to Business, Feels Fine! How Others May Do it!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called cures, and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it, I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced him and legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints, by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

HOW OTHERS MAY BENEFIT FROM A GENEROUS GIFT.

These statements may seem strange to some folks, because nearly all sufferers have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," a remarkable book that is now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of the Times Magazine wishes a copy of this book that reveals startling facts overlooked by doctors and scentists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, 476 E street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Send now! You may never get this opportunity again. If not a sufferer yourself, hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

FOOT TROUBLES

Symptoms of fallen arches are many. Weakness on inside of foot; pain in foot, ankle, calf, knee, thigh, hips or back; sensitive heels, muscles are stiff and lose their elasticity; callouses on bottom of foot, etc.

The above can be relieved or cured by properly fitted arches made from casts taken of the feet. Our arch supporters have no equal. No charge for examination. Our references—your physician.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A PICTURE BRIDE.

BY CLARA V. WINLOW.

I WAS born in a very little mountain village in the southwestern part of Japan in the island of Kyushu. My name was given me when I was six days old, in order that I might be properly registered. It was Gin, which means silver or the silver one, and the girls who worked for my father picking tea, when I was older, called me O Gin San, which means Honorable Miss Silver One. When I was a little over a month old, I was taken to a Shinto temple to ask the god of the temple's protection of me.

I cannot remember much of my babyhood, but my elder sister Tomi must have carried me around strapped to her shoulders with a cloth, as all the older sisters in our village do. I lived most of the time out of doors, and whenever I sat down, it was on my knees, which is natural, for Japanese mothers and sisters bend a baby's knees under him whenever they place him on the floor.

When I was 7 years old I was taken to the temple again but I have a very faint recollection of what I had to do, but I do have a vivid picture that my mother took off the narrow ribbon I wore around my waist and put on my first obi or sash, and that I was very proud of being no longer a baby. About that time I started going to school.

How a Japanese is Trained For Her Life Duties.

I WAS taught to read, write and do arithmetic in the school, but I had also lessons at home. Before her marriage, my mother had expected to be a maid servant in Tokyo, and had gone to a school there, where she was taught manners more proper and pleasing than those in our village, and also how to bow to superiors, how to enter and leave a room, how to serve tea, and how to arrange flowers.

Although, being badly needed, she had come back to the farm without going into service, she had nicer ways and was stricter with us than the neighboring mothers.

Every day she impressed on me to be cheerful and smile when others were around. She herself did this even when she was in pain. It was not only that people would blame me if I showed what I felt in my face, but would also blame my mother.

I was never to refuse anything directly when asked to do it, but if it couldn't be done, I must find some excuse, so as not to offend. The very first duty of a girl, however, was to be obedient: first to her father on whom she was dependent, then when she married, to her husband and to her mother-in-law. Almost every night she would tell us some story to show how necessary these virtues really are.

What Happened When She, One Day, Lost Her Temper.

ONCE I lost my temper and was cross to my little brother, and she brought me a little mirror and held it before my face, asking me if I liked the way it looked. I was very much ashamed when I saw my face so different from every one's around me, and after that always tried to smother my feelings.

As most of the children were taught more or less of this by their mothers, and did not often say unpleasant things, I did not feel cross often. We played many games together, although we all had our duties, too. Then we had our feast days. The greatest of these is the New Year, lasting two weeks.

We used to go up into the mountains for pine branches, which we put on each side of the outer door, that we might all live long. Back of the pine we placed the bamboo, that our lives might be as upright as it is. Some of the village people made a grass chain which they swung from bamboo to bamboo across the top part of the doorway. This they believed would keep out evil spirits. We always wore our best kimonas and obis on New Year's and did much visiting.

There were other feast days, but when I had passed my 15th year I liked that of O Bon best, for all the village took part in it. There were bonfires and processions and it was the only time that the boys and girls danced together. O Bon is the Feast of the Dead and comes in July. We were allowed then to go to the temple court disguised in queer costumes and with towels across our faces. We danced almost all night to the sound of a drum and singing. It was for me and for my girl companions, very exciting.

Bandaged Her Hips to Appear to be More Slender.

I WAS now a young lady and knew how to sew and weave. I began to care more how I looked and spent much time with my hair. I also bandaged and bandaged my hips, so that they would not be so wide, for narrow hips are admired in Japan and besides the kimona fits better over them. I expected to marry, for it would be a disgrace not to do so, but I did not give much thought to young men, for I knew that my parents would arrange a marriage for me.

I also worked much out doors now and helped pick the bright green tea leaves off their round bushes in uncle's little tea plantation on the sunny hillside back of our house. Afterwards we sorted and cleaned these leaves.

Then one day a friend of my father's came to our house to see him, and I learned later that he had a letter from a young man of our district who had gone to the United States to live.

The writer stated that he had first leased a little farm near Los Angeles, but had left it to his partner and bought a small shop where he sold vegetables and some groceries. He wanted to marry only a Japanese wife, but he could not spend the money to go to Japan. He wanted his friend to pick out a good, willing bride for him. The friend had come to my parents for he said it would a very suitable marriage for me.

My parents gave it much consideration and asked many questions about the young man and particularly about his family, whether there was disease in it. Then one day the friend brought the young man's photograph and a statement from the Japanese Consul-General in San Francisco that he had good habits, had a place ready for his wife and could support her. My honorable father and mother decided that it would be good for me, and although I looked at the face of the young man in the picture, I thought only of my duty to them, and although my heart beat faster, I said that it would be as they thought best.

How the Picture Marriage Was Arranged.

MY PARENTS were pleased and arranged that I go to the nearest town and have my photograph taken to send him. This I did, and when he got the picture, he wrote my honorable father a letter saying that he was well satisfied and would I come as soon as possible. He inclosed money for which he asked they buy me a new obi which he couldn't give me himself as is custom.

My parents gave a feast and a few presents were exchanged between the young man's family and my own. It was a great time for me. Some of my friends said they would like to go to America, but some they pitied me. When my police registration was changed from my family to that of the young man—that was being married. I was now taken to his home where I put on a kimona which his family gave me and fixed my hair like the married women wear it.

My mother-in-law and my father-in-law lived in a wing of the house to which I came, for there was already an older son married and they had the right to be called Goikyo-sama, which means the Honorable Mr. and Mrs. Retired Ones. I stayed here for some time, for my mother-in-law wished me to learn her ways and besides, she had consulted a fortune teller as to the lucky day for my journey and I must wait for it. I did not have much time to think of my husband or going away, although on New Year's I got a cheap picture of the takara bune, which has on it the seven gods of riches. This is said to bring true dreams, so I put it under my head at night, but when I awoke, I did not remember what I had dreamed, so that it did me no good.

The Little Bride's Departure For the Land of Promise.

AT LAST came the time to go and I packed a few things to take with me. My older sister, when I paid my last visit to my parents' home, slipped into my hand a picture of the God of Luck on Waters, and my mother hung amulets around my neck. These came from temples to which she had gone, and were slips of paper or wood with something written on them. She told me to remember what she had taught me: to try to please my husband, and to do nothing to startle or irritate any of the people of the new country.

I hardly realized fully how far away I was going until I was on the ship at the port of Nagasaki. Then when the ship started and I saw the relatives who had come, grow smaller and smaller, I could not keep from crying however much I tried. This was so especially when I thought that I might never see my mother again.

I was very sick most of the way over and glad when told we were nearing San Francisco. I was afraid, too, afraid of the strangeness and of meeting my husband, for I feared he might not be pleased with me.

The first sight of the tall, tall buildings was very wonderful to me, I was so used to our one-story houses I shuddered to think what would happen if an earthquake came.

The Queer Experience of Being Introduced to Her Husband.

AT THE Immigration Office my husband met me. He was very kind and I did not fear so much any more. Another man was with him before whom we had to say we were husband and wife. Then my husband took me to a temple where a priest married us again.

I thought I was surely dreaming with those big houses everywhere and still more when my husband took me to a hotel kept by a Japanese but like American ho- before going in, but he said not to. I had never seen such things as there were in the room; there were so many things, but most I looked at a big looking-glass and at the funny bed standing so high up, all in white as if one were dead. Our beds, you know, are only thick quilts put on the soft matting on our floors, and we put them away in the daytime. Then there were chairs and I climbed into one and tucked my feet under me, but my husband again told me that was not the way, but that my feet must hang down. At night I could not sleep because there was so much noise, more than I thought could be in all the world put together, and besides the bed was so funny and soft.

The next day my husband took me to a very large park. We went in a car and saw many people, everybody so very big. The women being so big looked clumsy. They swung their arms when they walked and it made them seem to me like men. Such big steps! They talked louder than the noise made by the cars. I did not like them then, and especially not when I brushed against one and courtesied for her to pardon me; instead of bowing back, she laughed and all of her friends laughed and said something. I asked my husband what they said, and he told me that they called me a "funny little Jap." It is surely not good manners to be so rude to stranger guests! I did not like the looks of the women, either. They do not keep their hair smooth and the nose separates the eyes too much, making them look not kind. I trust they will pardon my saying these things.

White Women Made Goo-goo Eyes at Their Men.

NOW strang the men and women acted! The men were always doing something for the women and the women were always looking at them in a way I can't describe.

THINGS FOR EVERY HOUSEKEEPER.

BY RETTA BADGER.

[Any information regarding things illustrated or described on this page gladly given. Suggestions from readers are always welcome. Address all communications for this department to Retta Badger, The Times, Los Angeles.]

EVEN when only a small amount of money can be expended it is wonderful what a few draperies or a new picture or vase can do to brighten a home. Something cheery and bright is what we all want.

One of the first things to consider is the coloring of the walls. It is really very important that wall paper be carefully selected, as it can make or mar a home. It should always be unobstrusive, so as not to direct attention to itself but to bring out the good points in the pictures and draperies. Plain papers, generally speaking, are best. They are less conspicuous and one does not tire of them quickly if the color is well chosen.

Tapestry papers in soft tones are very good but they have a tendency to make a room darker and more somber than the lighter plain papers. If the room is very light and sunny it will need a paper to tone it down.

Dainty small figures in light colors and satin striped papers are often used for the boudoir and give a charming effect.

There are a few points about the effect of different colors that are well to know. Tans, buff, yellow, golden brown, etc., all reflect light, and generally speaking are always a good selection. If the room is not very light a warm toned paper is necessary. There are many lovely shades in the tans and browns to chose from. Never chose a greenish or bluish brown unless you want to tone down a room that is too light.

Gray, light grayish blues, and lavender all have a very peaceful and calming effect and are a happy choice. They also reflect light.

Green is a difficult color; dark green gives a gloomy, somber effect. If chosen at all get a light warm yellowish green, but not too bright so as to be harsh to the eye.

Blue is also a color that is difficult unless in the gray blue and Alice blue tones. Never use a harsh, bright or dark blue as in these shades it is very trying to the eye, blue being the coldest of all the colors.

White it is well to avoid unless the room is very small and you wish to give it a larger appearance. Ivory or cream is very effective and really beautiful if there are enough dark furnishings in the room to give contrast.

Red should never be used under any circumstances. It gives a very gloomy heavy effect and is very tiresome.

Mulberry shade in tapestry is very effective in a light room and pale pink is charming for boudoirs.

THE WISE HOUSEKEEPER.

Keeps a set of cleaning utensils and materials in the bathroom, as well as the kitchen. Such a set consists of cleaning cloths, powder and soap, and saves dozens of steps in the few minutes daily cleaning and polishing that every bathroom needs to look shining and immaculate.

Keeps all poisons carefully labeled and in a high place. A piece of sandpaper glued to bottles containing poison is a worthwhile precaution against getting the wrong bottle in the dark. She also keeps a list of antidotes tacked on the inside of the medicine closet.

Uses a separate dish cloth when washing dishes that have had fish in them.

Has several brushes within reach of the kitchen sink. These save the hands when cleaning, almost as much as rubber gloves. One brush is needed for scrubbing vegetables, a long handled one for milk bottles, baby bottles, lamp chimneys and tall vases and still another for general all around purposes. One of the newest brushes has a circular wire covered with bristles and a handle about five inches long. It is most convenient for all kinds of disagreeable dish washing. Such a brush to use at the sink is real economy in the long run.

Never pours lye down the drain pipe of the sink, thinking to "eat out the grease," for lye actually makes soap by combining with the grease and will clog the outlet seriously enough to cause a plumbing bill, sooner or later.

Sprinkles salt beneath the baking pan when roasting meat. This prevents burning.

Wraps a cloth wrung out of vinegar around her cheese to prevent molding.

Paints the inside of her galvanized iron garbage can with white enamel, which makes it last longer, and easier to inspect for cleanliness, and scalds and suns it each time the garbage is emptied from it.

Keeps a bit of lemon in the kitchen soap dish and removes any stain from her hands immediately.

Has a variety of seasoning, which does not cost any more in the end, and never uses the same kind twice in succession in her stews and thus her family never complains of monotony even though the same dish is frequently served for economy's sake.

Never lets her kitchen utensils become so stained that cleaning them is a tiresome task. Common soda applied with a piece of wet newspaper will keep tinware shining. Wood ashes will take soot stains from porcelain pans and tea stains from tea cups.

Never runs the risk of cooking in cracked or chipped dishes for fear of wasting food sooner or later.

Cleans her bread board thoroughly after rolling dough of any kind out upon it, for if she doesn't the little bits of dried dough particles will spoil her next cooking.

Doesn't buy second class foods and then spend a great deal in time, heat, and "trimmings" trying to make them appetizing.

UNKNEADED BREAD.

A new idea is that kneaded bread contains raw starch in great quantities and is therefore unwholesome. The following is a tested recipe for unkneaded bread: To two quarts of flour and a quart and a half of lukewarm water, add two cakes of yeast and two tablespoons of sugar. Add a pinch of salt and two more quarts of sifted flour. Stir the dough until stiff and shape into loaves with the tips of the fingers. Handle as little as possible, thus lessening the danger of concentrating the raw starch in the center. The loaves should stand until about half raised, and then should be baked in the usual way.

HOUSECLEANING HINTS.

Housecleaning can be made a pleasant and simple task if all the details are planned ahead and then are carried out by a schedule.

On the dull dark days that prevent one from taking out the rugs and draperies for cleaning and airing in the sunshine, one can sort out cupboards and closets. In the living-room, the bookcases can be dusted out and the books rearranged, the music dusted and sorted in the music cabinet, the library table drawer put in order and all of milady's desk set to rights. In the dining-room the buffet and china closets can be cleaned and all the dishes washed, and the silver polished. In the bedrooms are the dresser drawers and in the closets, the hat boxes, trunks and chests.

The linen closet should be cleaned on a sunshiny day when all the linen can be aired and whitened.

If one wishes to remove paint and grime from woodwork and floors preparatory to giving them a new coat of paint or varnish, sal soda—one tablespoon to a gallon of water—makes the task an easy one.

Hot vinegar makes a splendid polish for brass.

A good home made furniture polish consists of equal parts of turpentine, vinegar, linseed oil. This mixture should be thoroughly shaken until it is well blended. A few drops applied with a sponge should be rubbed into a small surface of wood and then polished at once with a piece of cheesecloth. The polish will give a smooth, hard finish and will not injure the finest woods.

When the rugs and carpets are taken out of doors to be cleaned, no better carpet beater can be found than a piece of ordinary garden hose. A piece about two feet long makes the most convenient length. It is light and easy to handle, does not injure the pile, and cleans the rugs most effectively.

ALL ABOUT CHERRIES.

CHERRY JUNKET. Stone one pint of cherries and mix well with one cupful of sugar, let stand for half an hour, then simmer until reduced to a pulp. Remove from the fire and when cold add one cupful of stiffly whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with rose. Heat one pint of milk to 100 deg., or lukewarm, add one teaspoonful of powdered sugar and five drops of almond flavoring and a dissolved junket tablet. Stir well and pour at once into sherbet glasses, filling them half full, and set directly on ice. When firm, fill up with cherry cream.

CHERRY SALAD. Select large red cherries, or part red and part white, they look pretty mixed, and carefully remove the stones without breaking the fruit. Stuff the centers with cream cheese, lay on crisp lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

CHERRY CONSERVE. Stone four pounds of ripe cherries, add one and one-half pounds of well washed seeded raisins, four pounds of sugar, and the strained juice of three oranges and one lemon. Mix all well together and let stand for twelve hours. Then bring slowly to the boiling point and cook it steadily for three or four hours, until thick and transparent. Pour into jars and seal.

CHERRY AND APPLE JAM. Either fresh or canned cherries may be used for this. Cook them slowly with a sliced orange, until all can be rubbed through a fine colander. Add an equal quantity of apples, previously stewed and strained. Add sugar to taste, and cook slowly and steadily until the jam has a smooth, shiny look when a spoonful is taken out to cool. Then pour into small jelly glasses and seal with melted paraffin.

SPICED CHERRIES. Wash, stem and stone seven pounds of cherries, put them into a preserving kettle and add five pounds of granulated sugar, one pint of cider vinegar and one ounce of stick cinnamon and one-half ounce of whole cloves tied in a piece of cheesecloth. Bring to the boiling point and simmer slowly for half an hour, pour into pint fruit jars, seal and when cold set away in a cool place.

MEAT WITH CABBAGE SWEDISH STYLE.

Soak a slice of stale bread in milk or water until soft. Mix with it a pound of Liberty steak, finely chopped onion, one egg and seasoning. Shape into balls. Separate some perfect leaves from the cabbage and boil five minutes or until partially tender. Wrap a leaf about each meat ball and fasten with tooth picks. Pour the water left from cooking the leaves into the frying pan and place balls in it. Cover and turning once in a while, allow to steam for a half hour or until almost done. Remove cover, add grease if necessary, and fry slowly until brown.

RICE PUDDING BUNS.

Boil one-half cup of rice until tender. Add one-quarter cup of milk, a few raisins, one well beaten egg, one tablespoon of sugar and vanilla flavoring.

Sift together one cup of flour and one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder. Add a heaping teaspoon of melted butter or other shortening and three-fourths cup of milk. Pour in the rice mixture and beat well. Drop in greased gem pans and bake in moderately hot oven.

One cup of sour milk may be used instead of the sweet, in which case one-fourth teaspoon of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of soda should be sifted with the flour.

PICKLED BEETS WITH EGGS.

Cook beets until tender. Clean, slice and reheat in water with salt, vinegar or lemon juice and little sugar added.

Boil eggs one-half hour to render easily digested. Remove shells and cover with hot beets and liquid and allow to stand, preferably over night.

Eggs colored in this way are very pretty used in salads and may also be sliced with good effect.

If other colors are desired to carry out a decorative scheme, perfectly harmless coloring liquids can now be bought. After boiling the eggs one-half hour, place them in hot water, containing the desired color, a little vinegar being added to make it more penetrating.

REAL ITALIAN SPAGHETTI.

Fry one pound beef (cooked leftovers will do) and put through food chopper with one half an onion. Add a scanty cup of cooked tomato and put to simmer; it should cook for at least half an hour. Put a pound of spaghetti to cook in boiling salted water; when tender drain, and add meat mixture. When well mixed together, add a cup of cheese, cut into small pieces and a little minced parsley. After the cheese is well melted into the spaghetti add a head of lettuce cut into shreds. Stir well and put over a slow fire for about three minutes. With a sweet pickle relish, this dish makes a well balanced meal.

ORANGE SIRUP.

A different and tasty sirup for hot cakes and rolls can be made from orange juice and brown sugar. Use one cup of juice to a cup of sugar or more if the oranges are somewhat sour. Boil until the mixture is about the consistency of corn sirup.

MAKE COFEE WITH TEA BALL.

If you have no percolator or if it is out of commission use your tea ball in the coffee pot. Fill the tea ball with coffee and when it has boiled lift it out. The coffee will be as clear as when percolated.

THE EROSMETER—

TRANSLATED FROM THE ITALIAN OF LUIGI CAPUANA.

BY EDITH JAMISON LOWE.

"MY OPINION about love? Ah signorina," said Dr. Maggioli. "You know well, that day before yesterday, I celebrated my eightieth birthday. I must thank you for the symbolic watercolor which you so kindly gave me—'a bouquet of everlasting flowers,'" he explained, turning to the assembled guests, "'designed and executed with admirable skill.' But, I have lost myself amidst the parentheses," he exclaimed, laughing.

"I wished to say that at 80 years, it is difficult to have an opinion about love, which is not the reflection of some distant recollection, almost obliterated by time. Then, if, according to the judgment of an illustrious woman, love is only an episode in the life of man, in my life, it has been scarcely more than a fugitive apparation. At the time when I should have thought of love, I was obliged to concentrate my mind upon more urgent things; and, afterwards, I had the good sense to renounce it, so as not to appear ridiculous. If, though, I cannot give you an opinion founded upon personal experience, I can relate to you the story of an intimate friend of mine, who had the good fortune to be able to contradict the sentence of Mme. De Stael, and to make of his life, one long love-poem, containing many delightful episodes. He was already upon the point of writing the last lines of his long love-poem, when he one day confessed to me that love is one of the many dogmas to which may be applied, perhaps more reasonably than to religion, the famous motto of a venerable father of the church: 'Believe in the Absurd.'"

"Oh, no!" exclaimed the Signorina Villotti.

"Do not protest, dear signorina," continued the doctor. "There is love and love, but it would embarrass me very much to try to explain this subtle difference. Without doubt, my friend spoke of love as it is understood by us today, people civilized and refined, as we now somewhat immodestly define ourselves. This sentiment, sublime or sophisticated, has come down through the centuries to us in such guise, that we now no longer know what sort of thing it may be, precisely. My friend had arrived at the conclusion that in modern love, there is no longer anything spontaneous, sincere or natural; and for this reason, he brutally called it 'Oleo-Margarine Love.' It seems to be love, and is not, just as oleo-margarine seems to be butter, and is not."

"Your friend was crazy!"

"No, baroness," replied the doctor. "On the contrary, he was a scientist."

"Oh, scientists are not men," exclaimed the Baroness Lanari, provoking an outburst of laughter, and laughing, herself.

"Let us admit, for your pleasure, that they may be different from other people. But my friend was only a scientist by accident, in the idle hours (and this was his great fault) when his intrigues of gallantry permitted him the time; I would almost say that he became a scientist by reason of his intrigues. He was marvellously ingenious; he had a divining imagination, the most precious and rare faculty which may be possessed by a scientist. And this, together with his great curiosity and his virile pride, which would not permit him the thought that he might be deceived by a woman, drove im to search for a material means by which to measure the grades and quality of love, something similar to the device by which Mosso, for example, has succeeded in measuring the transformation of psychological activity into heat and motion."

"He never loved at all, if he could reflect," interrupted the baroness.

"He loved in his own way, and with extraordinary intensity. 'I was about to lose my head,' he said to me one day. 'Indeed, I had absolutely lost it, since I was capable of committing the immense folly of inventing the Erosmeter. But from the day upon which I had the satisfaction ofg seeing my instrument operate with admirable precision, and I have had the stupid gratification of knowing in what way and to what point I have loved and have been loved in return, all my pleasure in loving has vanished. For me, there is no mystery in love. Maya, the divine illusion, has disappeared into the highest deeps of heaven.' He spoke in this way, giving vent to his poetical imagination."

"And what was this invention of his?"

"The Erosmeter? O golden toy, a species of bracelet which he, upon some polite pretext or the other applied to the arm of the women whom he loved, since he always loved several contemporaneously. He loved each one in a different way, according to their respective charm or virtues. Upon this subject, he was accustomed to say:

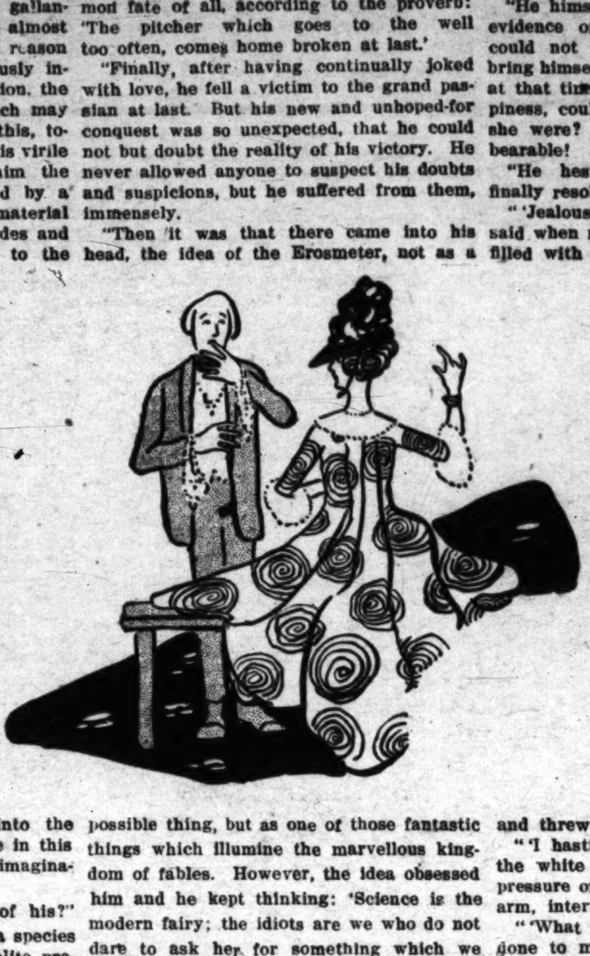
"'If my conviction should succeed in making headway in the feminine brain, the sentiment of jealousy would be immediately annihilated. Everyone would have the secure knowledge of giving to a loved one, something special, not possessed by another, and then, farewell rivalry. But feminine brains, are vessels too small to receive such a great truth; and jealousy will remain, eternally, one of the terrible scourges of this world.'

"The Erosmeter, alas, robbed him even of this illusion.

"There befell him that which is the common fate of all, according to the proverb: 'The pitcher which goes to the well too often, comes home broken at last.'

"Finally, after having continually joked with love, he fell a victim to the grand passian at last. But his new and unhoped-for conquest was so unexpected, that he could not but doubt the reality of his victory. He never allowed anyone to suspect his doubts and suspicions, but he suffered from them, immensely.

"Then it was that there came into his head, the idea of the Erosmeter, not as a possible thing, but as one of those fantastic things which illumine the marvellous kingdom of fables. However, the idea obsessed him and he kept thinking: 'Science is the modern fairy; the idiots are we who do not dare to ask her for something which we stupidly judge to be impossible. All those who have dared, have been amply repaid.' I cannot explain here, the positive principles which served as the base for the creation of that admirable instrument, nor can I describe it minutely. I am not sorry either, that my friend destroyed it, after having had bitter proof of its efficiency. It is well for us that certain illusions may survive, in order that we may be flattered into believing this life less miserable than it is.



"After having made several experiments, he was terrified by the accuracy of his own invention. The impassible revealer levelled all grades of pretended love, and reduced this sentiment to such wretched reality, that it could not but inspire disgust in any human creature. The most beautiful woman and the plainest one, the best and the worst were all tested by the same level; all the poetry of seeming romance was annihilated, all reduced into something subjective on the part of the lover, a mere illusion, the work of Maya, the grand deceiver.

"He himself, did not wish to believe the evidence of his intelligence, and yet he could not help believing. He could not bring himself to believe that the woman who at that time filled his life with proud happiness, could be like all the rest. And if she were? Ah, the very thought was unbearable!

"He hesitated several months, before finally resolving to make the experiment.

"'Jealousy has been my own undoing,' he said when relating the case to me, his eyes filled with tears. 'She had her bare arms around my neck, and she kissed me again and again. I made a supreme effort. I took the fatal bracelet from my pocket, and before she had timeto realize what I intended to do, I attached it to her forearm. To her, it seemed an elegant little bauble, copied from some antique, and a present fro mme; she looked at it proudly, her gratified vanity, sparkling fro mher eyes, beaming in her smile. I trembled, almost as though I had just committed a cowardly and tremendous sacrilege, and I mentally prayed that this time, the instrument might be deceived, or might lie.'

"'What's the matter with you?" she demanded, looking at me suspiciously.

"'As my eyes were fixed upon the bracelet, she placed her hand upon her arm, pressed the small spring by which it was clasped, and threw it away with instinctive horror.

"'I hastily picked it up. She looked at the white ring left upon her arm by the pressure of the bracelet, and she seized my arm, interrogating me, terrified.'

"'What is the matter? What have you done to me?'

. . . .

"He fled away like an assassin. He wished to see what the instrument had registered. And it was only then—Ah, but it was too late! Maya, the divine illusion, had vanished disdainfully away, far into the highest deeps of heaven.

"Well, after all, what did he see? What did he discover?" demanded the Signorina Villotti, impatiently.

"Nothing," replied the doctor, with an equivocal smile.

"Well then?"

"Instead of mine, I have wished to give you the opinion of another, about love. And if it pleases you, follow the advice of my friend and act according to the counsel of that wise father of the church: 'Believe in Love! Firmly! It may be an absurdity, but that does not matter: Believe in the absurd!'"

There were a great many babies and children in the park and almost all dressed in white. This seemed horrible at first to me, for it is our mourning color. We dress our little girls in red and yellow, and our little boys in blue and other duller colors.

Many of the children did not have the proper respect for their honorable parents and older persons, for they crowded into our car ahead of them and some took a seat when older persons were standing. I also heard a child say to its mother something that was translated to me as "I won't do it!"

When we got back to the hotel we went into the dining-room. Here I sat at my first table. At home we eat off of trays placed on the floor. Most of the food was Japanese and they brought me chop-sticks, of which I was glad for I did not know how to use the knife and fork. I asked my husband if we would use chop-sticks at home, and he said, yes!

I thought this hotel was the kind of house I was going to live in always, but I found out differently when the next day we took the train and came to Los Angeles. lese.

I was glad that I seemed to have found favor in my husban's eyes but I did not like my new home much. It did not seem as nice to me as my own home in Japan. And there was no garden. I felt lonesome, but some Japanese women came to see me and told me that I should soon get used to things.

The American Rocking Chairs Puzzled Her Greatly.

WE DID not have a Japanese bed, but the soft American kind. I was most puzzled though, at the stove. I had never seen anything like it. At home we have a kind of box filled with sand in which we put live charcoal. Over this kettles hang from the ceiling, one for tea, one for rice, one for radishes and bean cheese. It is so much simpler. But I am getting used to the new stove. Soon, my husand says, he will buy me a gas stove, but I am still afraid of that.

A Japanese woman who lives near has one, and she has another thing I think is very funny. It is a chair which when you sit on it, you go back and forth. I told her I didn't think she would like to have the feeling of exercising when all through her work but would want to be quiet and rest. She laughed and said that it was American, and that was the way that Americans rest. All the Japanese here look different to me from the Japanese at home. It is not because they wear American clothes, but because they squirm their faces more. Perhaps trying to talk English changes the face. In one thing they are like the women of Japan: they love their children. But they do not kiss them. It is an ugly custom, is it not?

It is harder here to have a bath than in Japan, for everybody is ashamed of it and won't let any one see him do it.

I am wearing American clothes and American shoes. These shoes one must wear with the clothes so that their bare legs don't show.

I am trying to learn English words, to better help my husband in store and so I go with my neighbor to a class for women where they teach English. It is very hard language and my head aches when I try to read, for I forget to begin at the wrong end and read from left to right instead of from top to bottom and from right to left as I learned at home.

I do not know whether I shall like it here, although I do not complain remembering my mother's teaching. My husband says that Americans do not like us much. I am puzzled why. I shall try to remember not to irritate them as I was counseled. A very nice Japanese lady, O Toyo San, say to my husband not to talk so, that this is true of some Americans but not all Americans. There are some good things here I see. We have more to eat than in Japan; we do not have to make so many bows; and I have only my husband to please for I have not here any mother-in-law.

To a Girl I Know.

Maybe you'll rise to a Lady of Rank—
Of power and fame and degree;
Maybe you'll sit on a throne of wealth,
And wonder where I can be.

Yet I shall be watching you, heart o' mine,
Although I may suffer distress;
I'll thank dear God that you're happy and free—
I'll be proud of your fine success!

But maybe you'll lose in the game of life,
And brood with a foul disease—
While the eyes of the world will scowl at you
As you beg on your bended knees.

It's then, dear girl, I would have you know,
That my love is staunch and true;
You have but to whisper my name again,
And I shall come down to you.

I shall come down, and I'll help you up—
No matter the filth and the slime;
For the spirit of love will urge me on,
And God's hand act in mine.

For I've been down and I've felt the scorn
Of friendship's fickle heart—
And none can know the sorrow and grief,
Until he has lived the part.

The song I sing is my creed, and true,
And whether you rise or fall—
I'm always ready to come to you—
Just waiting to hear you call!

JACK WOLF.

periments, and vivisection for students' benefit. The medical superintendent of a hospital for cancer, in England, declared that the use of the knife for cancer was cruel and useless, except in the first stage of the disease. Yet patients are hacked about every day by the doctors, who are paid big fees.

"In the year 1912, in England and Wales, there were 12,696 deaths of children from such a 'harmless ailment' as measles, although all of them were under the care of qualified' doctors, and in the same year 8250 little victims died of whooping cough. Consumption of the lungs, or pulmonary tuberculosis, still claims over 50,000 victims every year in the United Kingdom, and disables 150,000 more. The doctor's medicine or treatment clearly has failed. The only hope lies in informing the public how the disease is contracted and how avoided, and what means are to be taken to throw it off, and that means must be carried out by the patient himself."

The writer then goes on to make a strong plea for medical freedom—for the right of a person to select his own physician as he chooses his own priest.

Nature Cures.

AS HIPPOCRATES, the "Father of Medicine," said: "Nature, not the physician, cures."

The New York World published a page interview with Dr. Joseph A. Blake, who during the war had charge of one of the most important hospitals in Europe, and for several years had the superintendance of the hospitals in a large district. Before the war he had been famous as one of the greatest surgeons in America.

The reporter asked Mr. Blake what was the most extraordinary operation of the war. Whereupon he laughed, and replied:

"What will strike the average man as most extraordinary was this, though it was not an operation at all. A British Tommy had his thigh broken by a rifle bullet. He was unable to get back into the British lines and lay out in No Man's Land day and night, living on such food as he could find in the haversacks of the dead around him and drinking such water as was contained in their canteens. He crawled around at night in search of this. After six weeks out in No Man's Land—of course, without any attention to his wound except such improvised bandaging as he himself was able to give it—he managed to craw back into his own lines. His comrades scarcely knew what the filthy, hairy object coming to them was, and the man was half crazy. But his wound had healed and the bone had set."

Will the medical fraternity learn anything from such cases as this and from the millions of others that they may see around them, in the animal world? Will they some day realize that nature is always trying to cure and that the most they can do is to give her a chance, instead of interfering with her healing processes?

I fear not. It is difficult to get the truth into minds that have been filled with laboratory study, misleading bacteriology lore and worshipful veneration for "authorities."

• • •

Mercury.

A RECENT news item ran: "The despondent woman thought she took mercury pills, in an effort to die, but the doctor pumped up calomel."

Calomel is camouflaged mercury, as "Castoria" is camouflaged castor oil.

The deadly drug, mercury, has killed millions, and has made other millions chronic invalids. It has never cured anybody

What is called "tertiary syphilis" is wholly due to the ravages of mercury.

Yet many benighted physicians continue to prescribe this deadly drug.

"Health Boards."

THAT it is not in the public interest to vest exclusive control of boards of health in the hands of physicians is the substance of a finding made by a committee of the recent Florida Legislature which conducted an investigation into the administration of the State Board of Health. The report states:

"The committee believes that the health interests of the State would be better served if the law required that membership of the Board of Health be changed so as to provide that one member should be a physician, one an attorney at law and one a business man, and recommends that the law be changed to conform to this view at the next session of the Legislature, and in the meantime, should any vacancy occur, that appointments be made to comply with the above suggestion."

The committee is right. There is a growing sentiment among the people that "health boards"—which might more appropriately be called "disease boards"—composed of physicians belonging to one school of medicine, are assuming altogether too much autocratic power.

Legalized Manslaughter.

THE wife of a Montana man—she was a fine, buxom woman—was ailing. She went to a doctor. The doctor said she must go to a hospital, several hundred miles away, and have her tonsils cut out. She went, and the tonsils were cut out.

Then they discovered that another "minor operation" was needed. Incidentally, they also discovered that the husband had money.

The second operation was performed, and for good measure they did yet another.

The next thing on the programme was a telegram to the husband asking him to come and fetch home the corpse.

I call this legalized manslaughter.

Appetite.

A MAN said to me: "It may be true, as you say, that old men should eat less, because their digestive organs are weaker, but why then do I still have a good appetite?"

To which I replied: "Why do so many old men continue to run after women?"

• • •

Dogs.

REFERRING to the services rendered by dogs at the battle front, the Christian Science Monitor says:

"Never was there a time, so it would seem, when the place of the dog in the affections of the human race ought to have been more secure. And yet, side by side with all this recognition of what the dog is and deserves, there still stands, and apparently easily maintains itself, the system of the vivisectionist. It is a system which must, of course, ultimately fall, because among other reasons, of its simple depravity. But, for the present, this depravity is covered up for the multitude under the terrible plea of 'progress'; whilst the devastating charge of 'sentiment' is hurled at all and sundry who take exception to the practice. 'There are many things worse than sentiment,' said a famous English judge, not long ago, 'and one of them is cruelty.' Ingratitude is another."

Doctors and Diet.

AS I HAVE often said, answers given by physicians to patients, when the latter ask what they should eat, are due to ignorance. In medical colleges, students are taught nothing of the all-important subject of the building of the body by food, their studies being mainly confined to various methods of interfering with nature's efforts to cure. Consequently, when they say, "Eat what you please," or "Eat what seems to agree with you" they say it because they do not know how to give any more satisfactory answer. This explains much of the growing discontent of the people with those who should be their health advisers.

My statement is fully confirmed by no less an authority than Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, formerly chief chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture. In an article contributed to the American Journal of Clinical Medicine, Dr. Wiley writes:

"In the comic papers we have been regaled by the cartoon entitled 'Bringing Up Father.' A similar course of instruction is necessary for the medical profession, especially those of us of the older school. As I recall my own medical training, I cannot remember a single lecture on dietetics that

CAMPING ON THE DESERT'S RIM.

BY LENA B. HUNZICKER.

Laguna Mountains—Pine Trees.

IT WAS with great anticipation that Nora and I had long looked forward to a trip up into the Laguna Mountains; but each year, as the vacation time drew near some other spot was selected for the summer's outing and the Lagunas still remained unexplored. But Fortune favored us this year, and a delightful outing spent at the Hulburd Ranch near Descanso, Cal., resulted in the realization of our dream.

Up to this last summer, the Laguna Mountains have been practically inaccessible to the average vacationist, for the trip up and return meant a four-day ride on horseback over many rough roads and up steep mountain trails. Consequently the beauty of these mountains could only be enjoyed by the more vigorous trailers, whose love of nature and the out-of-doors knew no obstacles. Now a splendid auto road makes the trip a comparatively easy one.

On the grade to the Lagunas.

The Laguna Mountain range rises abruptly from the western side of the Colorado Desert to a height of over 6000 feet. Although on the desert slopes there is very little vegetation, except for here and there a few straggling pinon trees, and a scanty growth of desert shrubs, the top of the range, which is really a great plateau instead of a series of rugged peaks, is heavily timbered with Jeffrey pine, sugar pine, big cone spruce, Douglas fir, white and red fir and incense cedar. The mountains take their name from the two beautiful lakes on the top, set like jewels in the heart of the verdant forest.

The Laguna Mountains are a part of the Cleveland National Forest Reserve in Southern California, set aside, not so much for their timber as to preserve the watersheds which supply San Diego county with water. Aside from the purpose of conservation, Laguna National Park is destined to become one of the great playgrounds of Southern California; for no lovelier spot is to be found south of the Tehachepi Pass. Already the forest service has made provision for the leasing of three-quarter acre lots, which may be rented at a very low rate annually.

So it was in keen anticipation of a real treat that we anxiously waited for the day that was to take us to the "land of our heart's desire."

Brilliant, clear and crisp is the air that early July morning as the big seven-passenger car, with its eager occupants, leaves the Hulburd Ranch nestling in the oak grove, hidden away between protecting hills. Through more oak groves and out into a beautiful sunlit valley we wind. Presently, the road passes through the tiny village of Descanso, of no particular interest to us except for a number of stately poplar trees standing like sentinels where the road joins the main highway.

A sharp turn to the left and we are speeding through the grassy Descanso Valley, with here and there cattle grazing lazily. We cross a bridge, turn to the right, and are fairly on our way to the Lagunas. No heavy grades are encountered, but there is a continual climb as the road passes through more live oak groves; oaks grown old before ever these valleys were inhabited by white settlers.

Presently we reach Guatay. Guatay consists of a store and postoffice and several ranch houses. Here we stop to fill our canteen from the spring and taste of the deliciously cold mountain water. Here, too, at the ranch house, meals are served to the ever hungry parties that continually pass this way. But the memories of a hearty breakfast have not quite faded away, and besides we are all eager to be on our way again.

On Good Roads You Climb Over Mountain Tops.

UP, UP, UP, we gradually climb until suddenly we round a great curve and drop into beautiful Pine Valley. Here we see our first pine trees, for the valley lies just at the foot of the Laguna range. For the next twenty minutes or half hour, we speed through the valley, getting all the time a splendid panoramic view of the auto road as it winds up the face of the mountain, hundreds of feet above the floor of the valley. A fine new bridge has recently been built across Pine Creek. From here, the road winds around the edge of the valley, which is really an open cattle range. A mile or two from the bridge the road turns to the east, and we are actually beginning our ascent up the fourteen and a half mile grade.

The Laguna road, as it is officially known, is truly an achievement in road building. It was built by the United States forest service during the fiscal year of 1918 at a cost of $40,943 and was opened for travel during May, 1918. Although originally only eleven and a half feet wide, it is continually being widened and turnouts have been provided for passing machines. Hewn out of the side of the mountain, reinforced and well graded, the road, in spite of its heavy grades and hairpin turns, is truly an excellent highway.

Higher and higher we climb. We can feel and hear the car pull and throb as it worms its way up the steep mountain road. Now we can look down into the valley below with its surrounding wall of mountains. Yes, and then as we rise higher and higher, there are mountains and more mountains until it seems we must be reaching the very roof of the world.

Another hairpin turn and our driver tells us that the canyon, 1500 feet below, was named by him Calamity Gulch. And truly it was named in good western fashion; for it was here in Calamity Gulch one time, that the pack train of nine horses, with which he and his party was trailing to the Lagunas, suddenly became frightened, broke away, and scattered down the canyon, leaving a trail of bacon, soap, flour, matches and what not in their wake.

A half mile or so farther on, the roadj cuts into the mountains and follows up a canyon. The vegetation becomes thicker and trees begin to appear. A rustic bridge is crossed, and a short distance above this we see our first black oak tree. Above the 5000-foot altitude, pine trees begin to appear. The road here winds in and out through a pretty Alpine valley, thick with pine and fir trees.

Cabin built by the owners of Hulburd's Grove, in the Laguna Forest Reserve.

High in the Mountain Meadows Cattle Graze.

A MILE or two more of this, brings us at last to the top of the grade which opens out into a great grassy cattle range. Here and there, all over the mountain meadows, are white-faced, red cattle. Every little while our driver must slow down in order not to run into some of them as they lie peacefully basking in the sunny road. The road over the mountain continues to wind through a succession of open, unfenced cattle ranges, grassy valleys and over wooded hills. Truly, the Lagunas are a vast park and meant for a great playground.

Having reached the top of the range, the driver now tells us either to close our eyes or to look away to the right. Presently the machine is stopped at "Lot 90." A sudden "Oh," half of surprise and half of awe, startles us. We turn, and—at last we are really standing on the very rim of the desert, over 6000 feet above it and looking out across one of the most magnificent scenes in the world, the Colorado Desert.

To the east, shimmering and quivering with heat, and with life, though that seems impossible at this distance, is the great Imperial Valley, opalescent and enthralling. We gaze and gaze out across the silent, white expanse. Gradually distant mountain ranges are distinguished; Pinon Mountain, the Bull Pen (probably the huge crater of an extinct volcano,) Superstition Mountain and seventy miles away are the gleaming waters of the Salton Sea. Lost in the beauty and wonder of the scene, all sense of time seems to have disappeared.

Finally, to rest the eyes from the intense white gleam of the desert, we turn and follow south the long ranges of mountains, all green in their beautiful pine and fir forests, until they are lost beyond the borders of Mexico. But it is the desert that holds the attention and draws us to her like a sorceress, alluring, bewitching, and it is easy to understand her lure, for even now she seems to be tugging at our heart strings.

A fifteen minutes' walk around the edge of the mountain ends at Pinon Point. The short trail leads down the steep, rocky, mountainside and out into a projecting ledge on which is growing a single pinon tree. The pinon is peculiar to the desert slopes of these mountains. Here we again feast upon the scene, until our eyes grow weary of looking at the unaccustomed distances.

But now it is time to return to the car. Another ride through the forest to the opposite end of the mountain ends at the picturesque log cabin which our hosts of the Hulburd Ranch have built for the accommodation of their guests. Here we are to eat supper. All hands fall to, and in half an hour we sit down to a piping hot supper of steak, roasting ears, fried potatoes and plenty of homemade bread and fresh country butter. Needless to say, there is no lack of appetites after the day in the open.

Supper over and all the dishes washed and put away, we again get into the machine and drive to the foot of Monument Peak. The car is left under some pine trees and the party of seven strikes the trail to the top of the mountain, from where we hope to see the sun set over the Pacific and full moon rise over the desert. The guide leads the way through the forest and up a well-built trail. Presently a clearing is reached, and a halt made for a few minutes' rest. The rest of the way up, no more trees are to be seen and the only vegetation is a low, thick-growing shrub.

And what a glorious view to the west! The sky is all aflame with color, red and golden, while the dark forms of distant mountain ranges are silhouetted against the brilliant sky. A low line of fog obscures the most distant mountain ranges near the coast.

Finally the top is reached. Just as the last curve in the trail is rounded, a stiff breeze nearly takes away our breath. The

CARE OF THE BODY

CONDUCTED BY HARRY ELLINGTON BROOK, N. D.

Why You Get Sick.

HEALTH is normal, sickness is abnormal. Yet, we might be excused for believing the opposite. Animals in a wild state do not get sick, because they instinctively obey the laws of nature. How many civilized human beings die a natural death?

Few know what perfect health is. Men with large waists and florid faces are pointed out as "pictures of health." Then, when attacked by disease, they go off "like a shot," and all, except those who know, wonder.

If you have inherited and preserved a strong digestion, you may put on fat. Insurance actuaries recently admitted that their tables of weight are 10 per cent. too high. The surplus is stored-up waste matter—a potential danger, that should be eliminated. Or, if your digestion is weak, you may overeat, and yet be as thin as a rail, because the food is not digested and assimilated.

Among the first class are those who succumb to apoplexy and "heart failure." The second class includes chronic dyspeptics, with a grouch. They may live to be old, but they are not happy or efficient, and they make others miserable.

I do not exaggerate when I say that not one in a hundred of those who read this is thoroughly healthy. When you feel disinclined to rise in the morning, and when you feel heavy during the day, so that your mental or physical labor is a burden, when you occasionally have congestion here and there, you are sick—something is interfering with the perfect functioning of your body.

Disease is not a "mysterious dispensation of Providence." It is a natural result of the breaking of Nature's laws. If a man gets drunk from too much alcohol, we blame him. If he gets sick from too much food, we pity him. That is illogical. Each is intemperate, and he suffers the consequence of his folly.

Germs are not a cause, but an effect, of disease, as maggots are not a cause of rotting meat. Germs are scavengers.

Nor is a disease a bogie, always lying in wait to "get you." Disease is an effort of Nature to cast forth morbid matter from the system, and to restore normal conditions. These efforts should not be suppressed, but should be aided, by such natural methods as rest, sleep, warmth, fasting and water, internally and externally. "Medical science" proceeds to suppress the symptoms by drugs, and by food that becomes a poison, in a stomach unable to utilize it. Or, perhaps, a surgical operation, that does not remove the cause. Suppression of symptoms is like sitting on the safety valve of a boiler.

Then, in time, the acute disease becomes chronic, and the cause being continued, it breaks out in other forms, until there comes an unusually severe effort on the part of Nature to do the house cleaning, whereupon, the vitality of the patient having been lowered by repeated outrages, he dies, "in spite of all that medical science could do."

When atmospheric conditions are unfavorable, many whose vital resistance is thus lowered, simultaneously fall sick, just as those with disordered stomachs and livers get seasick, on a rough ocean. Then we have an "epidemic."

Club Women and Medicine.

AMONG instrumentalities used by political doctors to enlarge their power are women's clubs.

Women's clubs are being brought under the domination of the medical trust, and members who do not approve of this action are being ridden down.

You will find many wives of physicians among the officers of women's clubs, and they are active in what is miscalled "child welfare" work.

Naturopathy.

FOLLOWING is from a lecture delivered by Dr. Carl Schultz, at the Naturopathic Institute, Los Angeles:

"As naturopathic physicians, you should always bear in mind that Nature cures, not the physician. Also, that by doing your best for your patient you are doing the best for yourself. A physician who becomes a physician only for the sake of making money out of his patients never makes an ideal physician. A physician is not created in a medical college. A physician, like an artist, is born, not made. A physician should not only be a healer, but also a teacher. The time is not far away when a man who prevents disease will be more honored than a surgeon who carves, or a physician who gives drugs, and thereby makes invalids, drunkards and drug fiends.

"I hope the naturopaths will never forget they have been 'under dogs'—that they have been prosecuted and persecuted—and that they will never persecute honest work and honest efforts to do good.

"You may just as well try to stem the tide of the ocean as to try to hold down or kill off any method that is good and does good for humanity. The naturopathic physician will be the physician of the future, not by force of tyrannical laws and the persecution of honest people, but by and through his own work in aiding Nature."

Dr. Schultz is the pioneer naturopath of Los Angeles. He did valiant work in securing recognition for naturopathy from the California Legislature. He has recently opened a branch establishment at Santa Monica, Cal.

Alimentation and Elimination.

A NEWSPAPER syndicate writer, answering the inquiry: "Is a corpulent person necessarily a heavy eater?" replies: "Yes. The experts tell us that the person who carries too much flesh eats too much food. Flesh can no more be built without the materials that constitute it, than a house can be built without bricks or lumber. Therefore, by a proper restriction of the amount of food taken into the system, any person can reduce his weight to the proper figure."

To insure health there must be elimination as well as alimentation. That is to say, the skin, bowels, kidneys, liver and lungs must be in good working order.

The "experts" are not altogether right. In a great majority of cases corpulence is due to overeating, but sometimes elimination is so defective that even when a person eats but little, waste is stored up, and he becomes corpulent.

Medical Menace in Schools.

I HAVE received several letters commending a woman who wrote about "scab cards" in schools, the correspondents narrating similar experiences.

An Arizona woman tells how her little boy, eating green walnuts, got some pimples on his face. The child was sent back from school by the nurse, who is also a "medical superintendent" of a grammar school, although she has no medical knowledge whatever, and the child was told that he must get a medical certificate, although within twenty-four hours he was perfectly well.

Does the medical trust run our schools? And how long will the people endure this ever-growing aggression? And why do not the school authorities assert themselves?

Cooks.

A WRITER in the Saturday Evening Post told, in an amusing way, of the difficulty of getting and keeping household help, especially cooks. He found one man, a lawyer, who seemed to have solved the problem. This man had a will made, in favor of his Scandinavian cook, and had it read to her.

The writer suggested that the cook might possibly introduce in the food a little ground glass, or something of that kind.

To this the lawyer replied that he had provided for that. Every year the cook was to get $200 more. Therefore she tended him as if she were his mother, and would not let him overeat, or eat of harmful food.

Cooking is robbed of its drudgery—especially washing dishes coated with animal grease—to those who adopt a rational dietary. They save in money, in time—which some say is money—and in health.

In Australia.

IN ENGLAND and her colonies the medical trust is as active and aggressive as in the United States. Also, the people of those countries are beginning to awaken to the menace. Following is an extract from a letter in a Sydney (N. S. W.) paper:

"Your article on Medical Prescribers was about the ablest I have ever read on the subject, and shows a sense of fairness and breadth of thought that is unusual, and quite refreshing.

"A great wave of education during the past three-quarters of a century has broken down, once for all, the insuperable barriers which until that time separated the mere handful of the 'learned' from the myriads of the 'ignorant'; has scattered the clouds of mystery which enveloped all things relating to the treatment of sickness and disease. The average patient no longer looks on the doctor with awe and wonder as a potential worker of miracles. True, the doctor still glances 'learnedly' at his patient, feels his pulse, mumbles a few words of Latin, and writes out a prescription with many hieroglyphics, which are meaningless to the patient, but which are part of his stock in trade.

"A hospital is imagined to be 'a magnificent charity,' and, to a certain extent, it is; although frequently it is but a school of so-called medicine or surgery, in which the poor patients are the victims of all sorts of ex-occasional skipjack to give variety and additional excitement. The hold is a mass of leaping, squirming fish, knee-high.

EVERY DAY WORK OF A FISHERMAN.

The last fathom of net is hauled in and emptied. The skipper cranes his neck over the open hatchway and sizes up the catch with practiced eyes.

"Ten ton, maybe a little more," he sighs, regretfully, "I could have sworn we had the whole shebang corralled."

The engine is started and we head for port with the men washing down the deck and piling up the net in the stern ready for the next morning. We pull along side the wharf and unload the fish with the derrick and windlass in 200-pound boxes. If the day's work has averaged $7 or $8 per share after deducting the gas and oil bill, the crew is satisfied and jubilant. But much oftener the earnings for eight or ten hours' of superhuman labor nets each man only from $3 to $5.

Swimming around in the Santa Barbara Channel is food enough for an immense population.

We turn in, too weary to even eat, and sleep for four or five hours, after which we get up and eat ravenously again to store up energy for the following morning's trip.

In the Hush of Evening the Tired Men Rest.

AFTER the supper dishes have been cleared from the deck, pipes and cigarettes come forth and in the cool of the evening with the boats lying five and six abreast with nets and washing drying from the stays we grow reminiscent and mellow. Accordeons come forth from their cabin fastnesses and we visit and swap each other's morning's experiences on the sea, and our hopes for the possibilities of the following morning.

From somewhere comes a soft tenor voice singing "O Sole Mio" in Neapolitan accompanied by an accordeon. The notes drift plaintively across the placid bay. We are for the moment transported to Italy, when suddenly a shout of triumph brings us back to earth. Four men are playing cribbage on the main hatch. One of them, a sunburned son of Dalmatia, has just pegged fourteen fifteen and voices his triumph in a burst of hoarse delight.

They are simple folk these sons of the sea. Their wants are few and their joys and sorrows are very real. Their rough life has taught them the lesson of kindness, charity and courtesy. You may win their friendship easily but to hold it you must be big as their mother, the sea. They will not ask you for pedigree or for credentials. You personality is their only gauge. If you are found wanting, the credentials of dollar and caste would not buy you a toe-hold in the comradely circle of their decks. But if you have learned the lesson of the sea where all men that tread a deck are equal, if you have in your heart the true qualities of a gentleman, you will be their guest of honor and the fatted calf is yours for the taking.

The seeker for the picturesque will find much to delight in at the boat harbor, with its score of white, red and green painted craft, unloading and chugging in and out between the breakwater.

It was my good fortune to witness the launching of a new fishing boat at the boat-building wharf. The ceremony was attended by a score of dusky cannery girls, entertained by the proud owner and crew of the craft with trays of sandwiches and cases of soda water. The occasion was one of gaiety, good fellowship and wellwishing for the little enterprise that made one more unit in the great new industry of the port.

There is an air of bustle, progressiveness and optimism about these people that makes your heart go out in a prayer of success for these intrepid food gatherers of the nation. Certainly they deserve all the encouragement that we and our government can give them. Their hours are long, their labor arduous. When you and I are going to our office in the morning they have already put in a day's work gathering food for our table.

CAMPING ON THE DESERT'S RIM.

guide tells us that very rarely is this breeze absent, and that it is caused by the peculiar contour of the mountain ranges and desert below, producing unusually strong air currents. A roaring fire is built in the stone fireplace on the desert side of the peak which is sheltered from the strong wind.

Watching Night Fall Over the Great Desert.

WE ALL find as comfortable places as possible and sit down to watch night come over the desert. The mountain range, dropping suddenly here over 6000 feet, affords a wonderful and unobstructed view of the Colorado Desert. Gradually, as daylight fades away, the shadows deepen; rose, cerise, purple and blue, until only Pinon Mountain and the Bull Pen can be distinguished faintly. How mysterious the desert grows! Near the foot of the mountain, two tiny lights twinkle. The guide says they are the lights on two desert claims and that it would take at least a good day's travel over a steep and all but impassable trail to reach them.

Ten o'clock and we are waiting anxiously for the moon to appear. Suddenly, without any glow in the east to announce her coming, she appears, a great, yellow ball of fire, literally cutting her way up out of the sand. Higher and higher over the desert she rises, her light gradually bringing out the shadowy forms of distant hills. Here and there over the desert, tiny lights sparkle for a few minutes and then disappear. Are they the lights in the small towns, reflections of the moonlight on the white sand, or flashes from automobile headlights on the main highway leading to San Diego or to Los Angeles? But it is growing late and we must get down the rather dark mountain trail before the mountains cut off the light.

So the fire having died down and the coals having been covered, the party slowly winds its way down the moonlit trail into the forest. A few minutes later, we are riding again on the main road through the Lagunas and in a very short time start down the fourteen and a half mile grade.

Although most of the land in the Forest Reserve is owned by the United States government, no small part is owned by private individuals. The large cattle corral, passed at one place on the road, is indicative of the fact that this is a good cattle country. In fact, many Imperial Valley cattle men drive their stock up into these mountains every spring, to fatten for the fall market.

Indians at one time lived in these mountains. But now, only a few members of the Lagunas are left and these live in a secluded little valley practically unknown to the outside world. During the past year, four of the oldest members of the tribe have passed on to their "Happy Hunting Ground."

These Indians tell an interesting tale of the way in which some of the larger pines in these mountains came to be tapped. The tradition with them is, that many, many years ago white men came up into these mountains and tapped the larger pines for their turpentine. They did not stay long but left as suddenly and as mysteriously as they came. The supposition is, that they were Union civil engineers, who, when during the Civil War, the supply of turpentine for the North was running low, came up into the Lagunas to replenish their supply. We can not vouch of the truth of the story, but certain it is that the scars on the trees are very old and show that they were tapped many years ago. Certain, too, it is that the Indians were not given to doing things of that kind and besides there is no other record to account for the scars, so at least the story is plausible.

Certainly, there is no more interesting spot in all Southern California for the nature lover, not only because of its scenic beauty but because it is still one of the practically unknown by-ways.

Men will talk of little things and great things as if they knew what things were little and what things were gerat!—[Phillip Brooks.

Evenin' on th' Desert.

Slowly creeps th' darkness up,
Gently comes th' fragrant breeze,
Coolin' off th' burnin' sands,
'Touchin' light th' Joshua trees,
Evenin' on th' desert.

One by one th' stars come out,
All th' brighter viewed from here;
See 'em glisten, glint an' shine—
Seems like heaven drawin' near!
Evenin' on th' desert.

They say when God arranged th' earth,
He overlooked this silent land,
An' left it barren, empty, vague—
But I know better—I understand.
At evenin' on th' desert.

'Cause sometimes when I'm feeling blue,
An' want a kindly word o' cheer—
I stretch my arms up heavenward
An' peace comes to me, God is near,
At evenin' on th' desert.

Weary hearts may here find rest,
Wasted lives shall live anew,
Strength of body—strength of soul,
God, and love, is here for you!
Evenin' on th' desert.

Sometimes when I bow my head,
An' close my eyes—I seem to hear,
Children's voices, sweet and low—
Must be angels singin' near!
At evenin' on th' desert.

"Now I lay me down to sleep,"
Secure and safe from unclean hands,
Myriad stars my vigil keep,
God walks here upon the sands.
At evenin' on th' desert.

Wisdom of Willie.

IF THERE were one person with whom Mr. Coolidge wished to stand on good terms it was Charles Davidson, Esq., with whom he was trying to arrange some business matters of importance. So when he returned to his suburban home from the city and found his wife out and his 10-year-old son, William, entertaining Mr. Davidson, he was a trifle anxious.

He had discussed his hopes in regard to the business matter referred to before the boy with a freedom which he now regretted.

"William," said Mr. Coolidge, after the visitor had departed, "what did you say to Mr. Davidson before I came in?"

"Oh, lots of things," replied William. "Talked business with him mostly."

"Talked business? What business?"

"That business he and you are going to go into. I told him you had lots of better chances and I couldn't see why you wanted to go in with him."

"What better chances?" asked the surprised father.

"That's just what he asked, but I wouldn't tell him for fear he would get ahead of you."

"But what chance do you refer to?" again asked the father.

"Why, wasn't you reading the other night in the paper about a man's getting rich by having a corner in wheat?"

"Yes," said the puzzled father."

"Well," continued William, "don't you own the corner lot next to our house, and couldn't you plant wheat there if you wanted to and get rich just like the other man?"

"True," said the relieved father. "I had not thought of that."

"And I told him, too," said William, "that you were awful rich."

"Did you, indeed?"

"Yes. You told mamma yesterday she was worth her weight in gold, and ma's pretty heavy, you know."

Consistent.

"ARE you in favor of a League of Nations?"

"Of course," answered Senator Sorghum, "the same as I was in favor of the airplane and wireless telegraphy. But I made sure they had a piece of machinery that would work before I advised my friends to invest everything they possessed on earth in either of those great ideas."

* * *

Asking the Impossible.

REPRESENTATIVE CORDELL HULL of Tennessee was talking in Carthage about the wrangles of the Peace Conference.

"The reactionary elements at the conference," he said, "have been demanding the impossible. They want to take all Germany's trade away from her and at the same time make her pay the most gigantic indemnities. They'd beggar her and then compel her to hand over yearly billions of gold.

"These people have behaved like the squawking babe in the garden.

"'What is little Willie squawking about?' the mother asked.

"'He's dug a hole,' said the nurse, 'and now he insists on bringing it in the house.'"

Earned His Money.

NEZ IRWIN, the brilliant novelist, said in an address in New York on eugenics:

"Mercenary marriages are bad not only for the children, but for the contracting parties as well. The parties to a mercenary marriage fight like cat and dog.

"The poor young husband of one of these marriages had a terrific fight at breakfast on a spring morning with his rich and withered wife. That afternoon he drove home in a magnificent new touring car. He called his wife out to see it. His good humor was quite restored. She, however, said bitterly, for the breakfast quarrel still rankled in her breast.

"'It's a fine car, a very fine car, but if it hadn't been for my money it wouldn't be here.'

"'Well, my love,' said the young husband, 'if it hadn't been for your money you wouldn't be here, either.'"

Time Lost.

"THIS is an age of specialization," declares Charles M. Schwab. "The day of the Jack of all Trades is almost gone.

"And as for that Master of None, he does nothing but spoil his temper and waste his time.

"It calls to mind a devoted couple who married a short time ago and took up their abode in a dainty cottage in a suburban quarter. Everything in the house was of the latest and gave unmixed satisfaction.

"But one evening when the husband returned from business he found, to his disgust, that a water pipe had burst. The rooms were flooded and the carpets, which were the husband's special pride, were in danger of being spoiled.

"'Well, well,' said he, impatiently, to his wife, 'why on earth didn't you hammer the pipe up? Here, give me a hammer and I'll do it in a twinkling.'

"He got the hammer and pounded away at a pipe down in the cellar. When he had finished he paused to examine the result of his labor. Then, to his complete chagrin, he heard the sweetly chiding voice of his wife at the top of the stairs.

"'Howard!' said she, 'the gas has gone out, and the water is still running.'

"Then he sent for the plumber."

* * *

Wanted Water.

CHAIRMAN BARUCH of the War Industries Board said at a Washington banquet:

"I was brought up to consider that it was impossible for a soldier to carry an umbrella. A soldier with an umbrella seemed as absurd to me as a soldier with a fan.

"Well, the other day, in a deluge of rain, I beheld a soldier, a big umbrella over him, stepping along briskly. I stopped my car and said:

"'Young man, this is the first time I ever saw a soldier with an umbrella.'

"'Well, boss,' he answered, 'maybe it's the first time you ever saw a real, live, up-to-date soldier.'"

Wrong Again.

EX-PRESIDENT WILLIAM H. TAFT delights to tell of one of his maiden speeches, in which he was anything but a hero.

The speaker was on that easiest of easy tasks, attacking the government, when the heckler cried out:

"You're wrong, sir!"

A little nettled, Taft continued without heeding. Presently, in answer to another strong assertion, came again:

"You're wrong, sir!"

Taft looked angry, but continued on the warpath.

"You're wrong, sir!" again rang out.

Angrily addressing the persistent interrupter, Taft cried:

"Look here, I could tell this man something about the government that would make his hair stand on end."

"You're wrong again, sir!" came from the critic, as, amid the roars of the crowd, he stood up and removed his hat.

His head was as bald as a billiard ball!

What He Was.

UNCLE JOE CANNON, who used to be a great walker, was out enjoying his favorite recreation. After going a few miles he sat down to rest.

"Want a lift, mister?" asked a good natured farmer driving that way.

"Thank you," responded the politician. "I will avail myself of your offer."

The two rode on in silence for a while. Presently the farmer asked:

"Professional man?"

"Yes," answered the politician, who was thinking of a bill he had pending before the house. After another long pause the farmer observed:

"You ain't a lawyer, or you'd be talkin'; you ain't a doctor 'cause you ain't got a bag, and you ain't a preacher, from the looks of you. What is your profession?"

"I am a politician," was the reply.

The farmer gave a snort of disgust. "Politics ain't no profession; politics is a business," said he.

Outguessed Him.

PAULINE LORD went to call on William Harris, Jr., anent an engagement just before he set sail for Europe.

"What's your salary?" demanded Harris, after the other details had been discussed. Miss Lord told him.

"Ouch!" decried the manager, wincing at the sum.

"Why, don't you think I'm worth it?" Miss Lord asked.

"Yes," admitted Harris, "but I didn't think you did."

Just Plain Bluff.

"THE recent protest of Italy over the Fiume," declares Secretary of State Lansing, "was nothing but a bluff which she felt forced to make to insure her standing among the smaller surrounding countries. Indeed, Italy was in much the same position as Mrs. Subub, who having lost the key to the kitchen clock, went into town with her husband to get another.

Mr. Subub waited across the road while his wife went into the jeweler's. Presently she came out again.

"Got it?" asked Mr. Subub.

"No," said his wife.

"Why not?"

"Well, Mrs. Swaggerer was in there buying pearls, so I couldn't ask for a key for the kitchen clock!"

"What did you do, then?"

"Oh, I just inquired how long it would take to clean a diamond tiara!"

Playing Safe.

AN AMERICAN colonel in France was having difficulty with his safe, writes Ben B. Lindsey in the Metropolitan Magazine. It was the headquarters safe. Its locks had jammed and none of his staff could open it. While they were struggling with it a negro sergeant came up to them apologetically.

"Cul'n'l," he said, "if I ain't intrudin' into this heah difficutly, I believes sah, dat I might he'p you."

"Cul'n'l," said the sergeant. "I suggest Co'pl Hall."

"Corporal Hall? Why Corporal Hall?"

"Co'pl Hall," the sergeant explained under his voice, "was fo' foah years a buglah."

They sent for Corporal Hall and Corporal Hall opened the safe.

"Well, Sergeant," the colonel said. "I'm glad to know about Corporal Hall. I wish I'd known it sooner. It would have saved us a lot of time with that safe. And tell me, Sergeant—in case we may need to call on you some day—in what direction do your particular talents lie?"

"Cul'n'l," the sergeant answered. "Ah doan' want to tell no lies. Standin' as Ah does daily in de presence of mah Maker, mos' doubtless Ah doan' want to tell no lies. But if de time comes when Ah kin he'p yah, sah. Ah'll make a full an' free confession; a full an' free confession, sah."

Still the Same.

"IN MANY respects the sunburnt hero just back from France is a different chap from the youth who left his work to go to the front and fight for liberty," remarked Carrie Chapman Catt the other day, "but he is still the same timid rustic when it comes to proposing. Like Cuthbert, who was consumed with a passion for Flora. On his way home from the office he screwed up his courage sufficiently to enter a jeweler's shop and purchase a gift for his lady love.

"That night he called at her house and found her alone. Producing a small square box from his pocket he said nervously:

"'I have ventured to bring you a small perhaps it will not fit your finger. Will you perhaps it will not fit your finger. Will you try it on?'

"'Oh, dear!' whispered the girl, blushing. 'This is so unexpected. I never dreamed your really cared for me so much, dear.'

"And instead of grasping the opportunity, the shy young man blundered on and, opening the little box, produced a silver thimble!"

Real Praise.

WHEN Katherine MacDonald, the film star, had completed her first picture, she invited the studio janitor to witness the review and afterwards asked him what he thought of the story.

"Gosh," he ejaculated, "I was so interested watching you that I forgot all about the plot."

This heartfelt praise reminded her manager, Sam Rork, of a story.

Junior had not been in the best of health, and, when he seemed well on the way to recovery, his mother took extra precaution to guard him against possibilities of an influenza attack.

One evening the anxious mother was startled, when she entered Junior's room, to find the little chap in bed, sniffing, with eyes red and watery.

"Goodness gracious!" she cried, "do you feel sick, dearie?"

"No mamma," Junior replied.

"But you seem to have caught a dreadful cold."

"I haven't any cold."

"But your nose, and your eyes!"

From under the covers Junior produced a book.

"It is 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' mamma," he said, "and I have just been reading about poor little Eva."

World Topsy-turvy.

"THE late war has knocked all our customs and traditions topsy-turvy," remarked the new speaker of the House, Congressman Gillett, the other day. "Now it is the young folks who run things. Like the case of William. William was in love. He had declared his passion to the young lady and she had passed him along to father. Father listened to his tale patiently.

"'It's all right so far as I am concerned,' the old gentleman said, 'but I am afraid that Janie will not marry you.'

"'Oh, don't say that,' the young man pleaded. 'Has she said so?'

"'No,' said the old gentleman, 'but from what I know of Janie, if she had wanted you she would have taken you without referring you to me.'"

* * *

Still With Us.

"THERE is one thing that the war hasn't taken from us, and that is the sting of the feminine tongue," declares Mayor-elect Snyder. "Only the other day I chanced to overhear this fragment of conversation:

"'And then—' said Angelica, pausing.

"'Yes, and then,' said Caroline expectantly.

"'He asked me if I had ever been kissed before.'

"Caroline gave a gasp of compassion.

"'Oh, you poor darling,' she cried. 'How awkward! Of course, you said—er—"no?"'

"'Dear Caroline,' said Angelica, raising her soulful eyes to those of her friend, 'don't you know that truth is my one virtue, that I abhor a lie?'

"'Yes, dear, I know,' whispered Caroline. 'So what did you say?'

"'I said,' replied Angelica piously, pressing her friend's hand, '"Oh Raymond, how can you ask me such a question?"'"

In Practice.

"I see your wife has one of these hobble skirts."

"She was early in the game. I'm going to make some money this summer."

"How?"

"By taking her around the picnic circuit. She ought to win first coin in any sack race for ladies."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Resolve.

"It is better to do your losing early in the season."

"I know that axiom," said the baseball manager, "but if I happen to win a few games I'll endeavor to bear it with resignation."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Situation.

"Your husband is hitting up a fast pace at the punch bowl."

"Well?"

"If I were you I'd call him down immediately."

"That will have to wait until tomorrow. If I quarrel with him now, he won't unhook my dress for me and I can't sleep in a ball gown."—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

MARRIED LIFE OF HELEN AND WARREN

An amazing event follows Helen's indulgence of her love for antiques.

BY MABEL HERBERT URNER.

"DEAR, do you feel amiable? Are you in a nice purring mood?" laughed Helen, perching on the arm of his chair.

"Eh? What've you been up to now?" Warren refolded his paper.

"I want to show you something I bought today."

"More fool junk I suppose. Well, trot it out!"

Helen flew into her room and returned with a flat parcel. Sitting on the floor, a childish trick she had never outgrown, eagerly she unwrapped it.

A time-yellowed sampler in an old mahogany frame!

"How much?" demanded Warren as she proudly displayed it.

"You see the date? 1789! Dear, it's really a very fine one!"

"How much?"

"Look how beautifully it's done—what exquisite needlework. That tree and Adam and Eve! That quaint old verse—and the border's most unusual."

"How much?" inexorably.

"Thirty dollars," apologetically. "But with that date it's awfully cheap!"

"Thirty dollars for that piece of junk!"

"But, dear, it was my birthday check! You said I could spend it any—"

"Might've known you'd blow it in on some rubbish. But don't expect me to get lit up over it," as with a dismissing shrug he returned to his paper.

Her conscience free, for she was never happy in buying anything without telling him, Helen gave herself up to a jubilant inspection of her treasure.

It must be taken out, mended, pressed, the glass washed, and the frame rubbed up. A joyous task, for she loved to handle and work over old things.

"What in blazes you doing now?" demanded Warren, when with the scissors she began prying out the rusty tacks from the back of the frame.

"I'm going to take this out—press it and fix it up."

"Well, get the tack hammer and go at it right," for he always disapproved of her scissors or hairpin substitute for the correct tool.

The rotting dusty board removed, a square of stained, crumbling newspaper came next. Beneath this was a heavier paper on which the sampler was sewed.

Basted only around the edge, it was easily freed. Held up to the light several moth holes were exposed—but these could be mended. Then Helen noticed that the heavy paper on which it had been sewed was an old engraving.

"Look, dear, it was mounted on this!"

"Huh?" grunted Warren without glancing up.

"'A Prospective View of City Hall in New York taken from Wall Street,'" reading the lettering. "It's signed, too, 'C. Tiebout, Delienate and Sculpist'—whatever that means. Dear, do look! It might be a valuable old print!"

"It might be—but it isn't!" grumpily, after a hasty glance.

"Some of them are worth a lot," persisted Helen. "The Anderson Galleries had a sale this spring—I remember it because they had old china, too. The prints brought exorbitant prices—I think one sold for eight hundred."

"And I suppose that's the one?" scoffed Warren.

"No, of course not—but it might be worth something."

"Huh, these 'finds' of rare old prints and paintings that you read about—all very well for a story, but they don't happen! Everything's been gone over with a fine-tooth comb"

"Who can that be?" as the bell rang. "And Nora's out! Dear, you go!"

While she hurriedly gathered up the littering frame and papers, Warren ushered in Mr. Caldwell from the tenth floor.

"Pardon me for butting in like this, Mrs. Curtis, but I've come to ask a favor. Mrs. Caldwell's in the country, the maid went off sick this morning, and I'm going to Boston for the week-end. I wonder if you'd take the canary?"

"Oh, I'd love to! But how can I—with Pussy Purr-mew?"

"That's so, I forgot you had a cat," viewing the fluffy ball on a near-by chair.

"Yes, the bird would hardly enjoy a week-end here," grinned Warren.

"Why, what's this, Curtis?" Mr. Caldwell took up the old print Helen had laid on the desk. "I didn't know you collected prints?"

"I don't! Mrs. Curtis just found that in back of an old frame."

"Just found it!" in amazement. "You know what it is, don't you?"

"I know a little about books—but not a darn thing about engravings."

"Why, this is Tiebout's view of City Hall—the old Federal Hall!"

"Oh—oh!" breathed Helen. Then always practical, "Is it—is it worth anything?"

"Well, rather!" emphatically. "I can't say just how much offhand."

"About—just about?" insisted Helen, excitedly.

"Well, a couple of hundred—more if those margins weren't cut away."

"Two hundred!"

"That's only a rough guess. Wait, I'll call up Winchell—he's nutty on New York views—has a remarkable collection. We'll see if he's in."

Two hundred dollars! Helen could hardly repress her effervescent excitement while Mr. Caldwell was at the phone. Yet there might be some mistake! Warren was still gruntingly skeptical.

"Hello! Winchell? . . . This is Caldwell. What's Tiebout's Federal Hall worth? . . . Only three copies known? Well, there's four now—one's just turned up. . . . No, not in the best condition—a little foxed and the margins cut close. . . . Right here—in the house where I live. . . . Tonight? Just hold the wire?"

"Says he can't tell without seeing it. He's a real enthusiast—wants to come right over. Would you care to have him?"

"Oh, yes—yes," urged Helen, before Warren could protest.

"Hello! Yes, we'll be glad to have you look at it. . . . Ask for Mr. Curtis's apartment—I'll wait for you here."

"Haven't these old prints been copied?" Warren was now examining it with a magnifying glass. "I thought most of them weren't worth anything."

"You mean Valentine's Manuals? Yes, there were a number in that—but I'm pretty sure this is an original. Winchell can tell you in a moment—he's an authority."

"Oh, then there may be some doubt about it?" faltered Helen.

"No, I think this is all right—but I don't want to be too positive."

"Well, you'd better be positive if you tell Mrs. Curtis anything," frowned Warren, annoyed at her persistence. "She'll pin you down."

"That's all right, Mrs. Curtis. If I'd just turned up that old print, I'd want an expert opinion. And you'll have it—from Winchell."

While the men smoked and talked of other things, Helen fluttered about in feverish expectation. It was hardly half an hour before the bell rang.

"That's Winchell. I'll let him in!" offered Mr. Caldwell.

A moment later they were being introduced to a distinguished gray-haired man. Helen's heart beat in her throat as Mr. Caldwell handed him the print.

Adjusting his glasses, he stepped to the light and examined it. His face was inscrutable. It expressed neither satisfaction nor disappointment.

To Helen his silence was maddening. Was he never going to speak?

"That's a great pity," he announced finally.

Her air-castle expenditure of the two hundred tumbled sickeningly.

"You mean the margins?" returned Mr. Caldwell. "Yes, it was a sacrilege to cut them down to fit a frame."

"And you say it's just been found?"

"Yes, there's the sampler Mrs. Curtis was unframing—it was mounted on the print." Then abruptly, "Just what is it worth? I said about two hundred."

"More than that. I'd be glad to give three fifty if it's for sale. Of course, it would be worth considerably more if the margins were right."

Three hundred and fifty dollars! Again, Helen's castles loomed skyward.

"Do you care to sell it, Mrs. Curtis?" Mr. Winchell turned to her with flattering deference.

Care to sell it! She wanted that three hundred and fifty as quick as she could get it! Yet she was femininely evasive.

"Why I—I hardly know. What do you think dear?" turning to Warren.

"Go ahead and cash in," bluntly. "Looks like pretty easy money to me."

Helen felt that beneath his outward immobility, Mr. Winchell was anxiously awaiting her answer.

"Very well," she managed a well-feigned reluctance.

"How shall I make out the check?" drawing out his wallet. "To Mrs.—"

"Mrs. Warren E. Curtis," murmured Helen.

"I see you're interested in samplers," as he handed her the check. "Mrs. Winchell has a number of early Spanish ones. We must have Mr. Caldwell bring you and Mr. Curtis around some evening."

"Oh, I should love to see them," enthusiastically.

"Yes, Mrs. Curtis is dippy over samplers," laughed Warren, getting out a box of his best cigars. "I suppose after this she'll be worse than ever."

It was another half hour before they were alone, and Helen could give vent to her repressed, exultant excitement.

"Oh—oh!" dancing about ecstatically waving her check. "And you say I don't know how to buy!"

"What'd you have to do with it?" grumped Warren. "That was just dumb luck."

"But if I didn't love old things—if I'd spent the money on some ordinary modern thing—I wouldn't have had this check!" triumphantly. Then reflectively, "Yet, I wonder—I wonder if I should have sold it? It might have brought more if—"

"Great guns! They hand you three hundred and fifty on a silver platter—and you're not satisfied."

"Of course I'm satisfied! I was just wondering—"

But Warren cut her short with snorting impatience.

"Huh, you get the print for nothing, then Caldwell rounds up the one boob who's nutty enough to come across with such a figure. And now you're putting up a howl because you didn't soak him for a few dollars more! Jove, that's the limit!"

Numbers Nations "Prefer."

Some curious conclusions have been reached as the result of what are called the "preferred numbers" of the inhabitants of different countries. The basis of the investigations had to do with the various denominations of money, postage stamps and other mediums of value.

It appears that nearly all races evince a marked preference for the numbers two, three and five and their multiples. The Mohammedans, however, avoid the use of the number three. Among the French and other Latin peoples two and five are more popular than three, while the English prefer two and three and the Germans three and five.

The Chinese are said to resemble the Latins in their choice while the peoples of India have a strong liking for two. The number seven is most used in the Slavic countries. The higher numbers are not much used except in Spanish-speaking countries, as eleven in Salvador, seventeen in Mexico, nineteen in Spain. The people of Hawaii are said to be fond of thirteen.

EVERYDAY WORK OF A FISHERMAN.

BY CARL CLAUSEN.

NOWHERE in the world, not even along the Mediterranean, should the lot of a fisherman be better than off the coast of Southern California. The climatic conditions are ideal. Severe storms are rare, and the waters are teeming with fish in ten score varieties. The shoreline is dotted with populous cities. Great markets are right at the fisherman's door; yet, the Southern California fisherman is far from the prosperous individual that fiction has painted him.

Just why this is the case, is somewhat difficult to explain. The causes are many; but the chief cause is no doubt the lack of marketing facilities.

Mending the purse nets. These seines cost a small fortune.

Take for instance San Pedro as our working basis. This port has in the last three or four years grown into a fishing center of great commercial importance, the first in quantity of production in California. During the quarter of July, August and September, 1918, nearly twenty million pounds of fish were brought to this port; an average of over six million pounds per month.

Now there are something over a hundred boats engaged in this industry. The catch for these three months averaged then 60,000 pounds or thirty tons per boat. In the city of Los Angeles the price of fresh fish is from 15 to 25 cents a pound. It would seem most fair, then, that the fishermen should receive say at least 3 cents a pound for their fish. If they did they would be making money. A boat with a crew of eight (the large outfits carry that many men) would be earning from $1800 gross per month or about $200 per man after running expenses had been deducted.

Based on these statistics the fishing business should be a very lucrative one. But exactly the reverse is the case. Instead of getting 3 cents a pound for his fish, the fisherman sometimes gets as low as three-quarters of a cent, and very often he is unable to dispose of more than half of his catch at this figure and is forced to sell tons of perfectly good fish for fertilizer.

A Fishing Outfit Means a Big Investment.

MOST of us have an idea that a few hundred dollars will buy a fishing outfit. We still carry pleasant, inexpensive boyhood memories of the old fishing pole and worm can.

But let me give you a few statistics of the cost of a first-class Santa Barbara Channel fishing outfit.

First of all there is the boat, a forty to forty-five-foot schooner, costing somewhere around $6000, with a powerful engine that runs into $4000 or more.

As to nets. A 2000-foot tuna net costs somewhere in the neighborhood of $6000. A few of the items that go into this net are: One thousand pounds of lead for sinkers, 3000 cork floats at 12½c apiece, 6000 feet of half-inch rope, 4000 feet of three-inch rope, 300 feet of towline, seventy-five brass or galvanized iron rings at 75 cents apiece and about $20 worth of twine.

That is not all. The net must be tarred to give it as long life as possible. Ten barrels of tar, six of pine tar and four of coal tar at $22 and $16 per barrels, respectively, go into this process.

The labor cost of making the net is in the neighborhood of $5000!

A sardine net is not so expensive, but even the smallest of these run well over $1000.

By the foregoing you will see that the initial expense of a first-class outfit runs somewhat between $16,000 and $18,000 or about the same investment as a fair sized retail business on a busy city street, the owner of which certainly expects at least from $3000 to $4000 a year profit with his services as manager.

When you come to take into consideration that the life of a $6000 tuna net is at the very best only two years and that sometimes half of the net is lost by becoming snagged early in the season, you will get some idea of the troubles of a Santa Barbara Channel fisherman.

To Mr. Antone Zankich, owner of the schooner America, I am indebted for these figures

Pointing to his distillate tank and handing me a receipted bill for $81, he said: "I just had that tank filled this morning. It holds about 600 gallons, and lasts me about 100 running hours, or from five to seven trips."

From twenty to thirty trips are made every month. Autoists, figure out the monthly gas bill for yourself!

These large outfits have a crew of eight men including the cook and are worked on shares, the cook receiving an equal share with the rest. It is figured the following way. Twelve shares in all. Four shares for the boat and one share for each man.

Every member of the boat pays about $30 a month for board, the cook being no exception to this rule in spite of his control of the larder.

As a fisherman rarely succeeds in accumulating enough money to finance a first-class outfit, the canneries make a business of furnishing additional capital at 7 per cent. interest to the man who has from $3000 to $4000 saved up and wishes to go into business for himself. Sometimes as much as $12,000 in equipment is advanced to the fisherman, the canneries taking a mortgage for the deferred amount and of course have a marine insurance policy on the boat to protect themselves.

Sometimes the owner of such an outfit is paying 7 per cent. interest per year to his cannery on $10,000 to $12,000. It can readily be seen then that the fisherman's couch is far from a bed of roses. Of course there is the chances of two or three good seasons, when the owner of the outfit may succeed in paying off his indebtedness and become independent, but such cases are rare.

The fishermen usually remain in debt for years, reducing their indebtedness a little from time to time, always hoping for the great season to come and put them out of debt. This hope springs eternal in his breast. Every one of them feels that this day will surely come. His one big chance! The road to independence; for your fisherman is by nature a born gambler. He pits his experience and skill against the sea and the demand for his product, hoping—nay convinced that some day the winning cards will be dealt him.

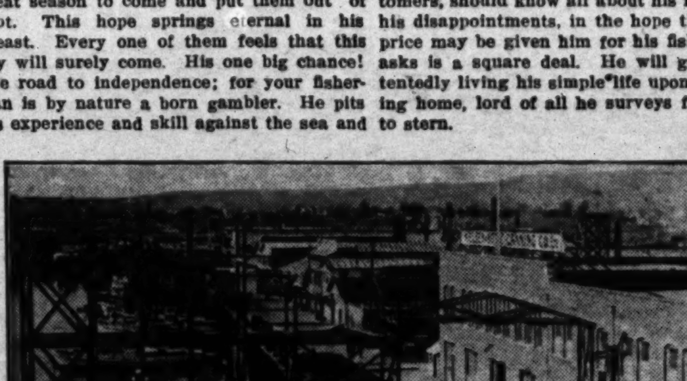
You would think then that there is little inducement for them to follow such an uncertain and arduous occupation. But when we remember thatthe spirit of independence, the optimistic spirit of the pioneer is theirs, we do not wonder. They have come from far away alien seas with the traditions of their home waters, their pride in their occupation, and once a fisherman, always one.

The Fisherman has the Quiet Strength of Spirit Bred by the Sea.

THERE is something about the sea that make these men loath to forsake their ancient trade. It is more than mere affection. The spirit of the wandering tides, the glowing sunsets, the misty dawns, the still nights with the myriad stars rocked in the cool cradle below, these things have bred in them a faith and tranquility of spirit that makes them patient in the face of the most discouraging reverses.

I found out many astonishing things during a three days' stay with these sons of the sea. There is a tendency on the part of us land dwellers to rate the men engaged in the fishing business as low in industrial caste. Nothing could be more erroneous. As a people these Pacific Coast fishermen are self-reliant, forceful, a bit primitive perhaps, but very, very conscious of the dignity of their labor. They are quiet, unassuming, easily drawn out and they love to discuss the virtues of their boats with a sympathetic listener.

Approach him on his own ground and you will find the fisherman delightfully courteous, eager to impart information and particularly eager that we land people, his customers, should know all about his hardships, his disappointments, in the hope that a fair price may be given him for his fish. All he asks is a square deal. He will go on contentedly living his simple life upon his floating home, lord of all he surveys from stem to stern.



The fishing village at San Pedro where $50,0 00 worth of fish are landed every day.

Many of us are under the impression that the fishing industry of the Pacific is entirely in the hands of the Japanese. This is far from being the case. Indeed nearly all of the big outfits are owned by Italians, Austrians and Scandinavians. For some reason the Japanese confine themselves mostly to the sardine fishing with its lesser initial expense and smaller boats. This may be due to the fact of the ever unsettled oriental labor question of the Pacific Coast, and more than likely it is; for to be the owner of a boat over a certain tonnage you must be an American citizen and the Japanese are of course denied this privilege.

A man, a Scandinavian, owner of one of the big outfits, told me thta there has been a gradual crowding out process of the Japanese in favor of Italians, Austrians and Scandinavians in the fishing industry of the Pacific Coast for the past few years, because of the legislation against Orientals. He said that it would not surprise him to see the Japanese abandon the industry altogether in the course of a few years.

To give you some idea, of the routine of a fisherman's life let me take you with me on a trip aboard one of the big boats. About 3 o'clock in the morning we were roused from our sleep by the skipper. The boat harbor was alive with the bustle and activity of the fleet rousing itself from the moorings along the wharf. Rubber-booted and oilskin-coated figures swarmed over the decks through the mist that hung thick and impenetrable over the harbor. Myriads of red and green lanterns, the port and starboard sidelights, lay in vague, colored blurs upon the still waters of the bay, and at the mastheads bobbed the white incandescents like jack'o'lanterns.

The gas engines sang in swift hoarse staccato. Men shouted to each other through the fog as boat after boat swung from its moorings. In the galley the cook was wrestling breakfast while the crew made ready for the expected catch as our boat swung out of the harbor between the twin lights of the breakwater. The big tarred tuna net lay coiled shipshape in the stern like a miniature mountain with the fog trailing astern.

Passing the lighthouse we headed straight out to sea into the misty dawn, with the ocean as placid as a mirror.

Breakfast of ham and eggs, bread and butter, fragrant coffee and hot rolls was served on deck. It was a breakfast that would make us cafeteria fiends green with envy. These sturdy bronzed men of the sea eat like harvest hands and work about twice as hard. If you don't believe me wait until we go to lifting the net with its tons of squirming, agitated denizens of the deep.

A sharp lookout is kept for schools of fish. They are easily located in these placid seas. The water is agitated for acres by the leaping, swarming host of the finny tribe and seagulls circle about screaming with excitement above the leaping fish.

We see a school half a mile to starboard. The skipper puts the wheel hard over, and off we go at full speed to head off the school. In five minutes we are in the midst of the fish. The net is paid out over the stern by four men working at top speed to keep it from tangling in the eight knot gait.

Our 2000 feet of net is out! We steam around the school in a circle to gather in as much of the fish as is possible with our 2000 feet of net. Thirty minutes pass, an hour. Still we are steaming around the circle, slowly. The word is given to haul in. The windlass starts groaning and slowly the great net with its tons of live, squirming inhabitants of the sea is pulled over the stern roller.

For the next two or three hours, the scene is a busy one. The men work like fiends emptying the fish into the hold, and clearing the net of kelp and tangles as it is pulled in.

It is mostly mackerel, but many other species are caught in the net. There are albicore, tuna, bass, cod, yellowtail, with an

WANTED VERY BADLY—A COOK.

BY WINIFRED MALLON.

THE war being over, a strange new peril has arisen to threaten the homes of the United States and England. Hard on the heels of war has followed a new horror, as devastating in effect as Bolshevism or the flu. For the coming of the world war was the passing of the servant girl.

She has been approaching the vanishing point for some time. She is now a lamented memory. Lizabuth Ann has followed the Raggedy Man and the Virginian into history.

To deal with this peace-time problem, compared to which the average householder is beginning to regard the winning of the war as a comparatively simple matter, American women are trying to work out a plan along the general lines of a movement already under way in England.

In England the answer is the legionary and the orderly. In this country, according to the United States Department of Labor, it is the "industrialization of domestic service."

What is really needed, and desperately needed, is a cook in every home, and cooks who helped to save their country as war workers in munition plants, factories, shops or offices, at wages far in excess of the salary paid before the war or since to many a college professor, are showing a disturbing reluctance to return to their pre-war status.

The Cook Doesn't Want to Go Back to Her Job.

WHETHER the cook in question was the mistress of the house, a highly-trained specialist in culinary affairs, or the more numerous maid-of-all-work, the result is the same. She is not, in any considerable numbers, doing any cooking now. Having, in her escape from the home, experienced not only financial independence but regular hours and complete freedom when off duty, she refuses to return to the kitchen on the old terms.

Money, in the case of domestic servants, appears to be no object, in this country at least, for cooks, if they will consent to cook, can earn war wages even in the kitchen.

The highest-paid cook so far reported to the United States Employment Service is in Port Huron, Mich., where she is receiving $105 per month. Another in Kankakee, Ill., is getting $25 per week. In Seattle, Wash., the wage scale runs from $50 to $70 per month, rising at other points in the State to $80, $85 and $100.

Los Angeles pays from $40 to $65 a month for domestic servants; Chicago, from $10 to $18 per week, and Detroit from $45 to $60 per month. In San Francisco, the wages range from $50 to $75 per month, and in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, from $50 to $100.

In spite of this, and of the fact that women are more in demand as domestic servants than in any other field of human activity, reports from all over the country to the employment service, agree that women are reverting to housework only when driven to it by sheer necessity, and then on the plain understanding that they will remain only until they can get something else to do.

It Is Making People Live in Hotels.

THE same situation exists in England. The home, therefore, both here and abroad, is transferring itself to hotels, or boarding houses, or, if not forced to this extreme, is being conducted by a sorely tried mistress with a domestic staff highly inadequate as to numbers and ability.

Under these painful circumstances, there has been created in London the Legionary and the Orderly, and in the United States there is in process of creation the "industrialized domestic."

Whether under these more alluring titles, cooks, housemaids, general house workers, laundresses and nurses can be beguiled into resuming their former occupations, remains to be seen.

The Legionary is the brain child of Lady Londonderry, president of the Women's Legion. It has been adopted with cordiality by Mrs. Burliegh Leach, Controller in Chief of the W.A.A.C. (Woman's Army Auxiliary Corps) and head of its cookery section, numbering 6000 women, and with hope if not with confidence, by American women from Maine to California, according to reports received by the employment service.

Lady Londonderry's plan is to organize, as women are demobilized, a household section in which those formerly in domestic service will be skilled members and others desiring to join will be accepted as probationers. For these, instruction will be provided. No uniform will be worn during hours of service, but when off duty the women will wear their badges and service stripes, and, if they please, the uniform of the Legion.

Domestic servants recruited and supplied by the household section will work under conditions and terms of service drawn up by the Legion, the idea being to render domestic work attractive by giving it a statue equal to that of similarly-paid work outside the home. Hours of work and of recreation and terms of service, including a minimum wage, are clearly defined.

Workers Must Agree to Co-operate With Others.

THE "legionaries," according to Lady Londonderry, "must be willing to co-operate with their employers and fellow workers as to interchange of duties in order that the shorter hours of work may not interfere with the necessary routine of the house. Legionaries failing to conform to this standard of service will have their names removed from the roll of the household service section. Probationers after working satisfactorily for three months will be admitted to full membership.

The principal attractions of the scheme (which considers the women from every point of view) consist in the hours of leave and the standard of wages, and also in the safeguards against wrongful dismissal or any possible imposition on the worker. The employer is equally protected; she is sure of skilled service and has the right to make legitimate complaints to headquarters.

"The hours of duty are to be arranged between employer and legionary. The standard of leave will be:

"Daily—Two hours daily within working hours on and off the premises, irrespective of time for meals.

"Weekly—A half day every week; four hours on Sundays. (In country districts weekly leave may be accumulated and taken consecutively if convenient to both parties.)

"Yearly—One week after the first six months' service with full wages, but without board wages, or fourteen days in every year with full wages and board wages, or a proportion of such leave for any broken period after the first six months' service.

"Recognition of the principle that in exceptional cases where these minimum hours of recreation cannot be given, there should be a corresponding increase in wages."

By comparison, the revolt of the "kitchen angel" in Germany has been a mild affair, judging from the final agreement recently made by the Central Committee of the Berlin Labor Bureaus with maid servants of Berlin.

German Servants Didn't Get So Much After All.

THE servants demanded, and won, thirteen-hour pay, of which two hours must be free for meals, and overtime pay at the rate of 12 cents per hour after 8 o'clock and 18 cents per hour after 10 o'clock in the evening in the event of additional work due to parties or visitors.

Other conditions of employment under the maid servants' Magna Charta, German model, are:

"Each servant's room must be provided with a key, and must not be used as a passage.

"Each servant must have her own clothes cupboard or chest of drawers, provided with a key, and each must have a separate bed.

"Servants must be off duty every second Sunday from 3 p.m. and one afternoon per week for at least four hours after 4 o'clock.

"No deductions may be made from servants' wages for breakages except in cases where they are proved to be deliberate."

London Wages Less Than Half Those of America.

THE scale devised by Lady Londonderry shows that the wages paid in London and vicinity are rather less than half the wages paid in Washington, and very much less than half the wage scale in New York and on the Pacific Coast. They are, however, according to the Woman's Advisory Committee of the British Ministry of Reconstruction, higher, including the cost of maintenance, than those of clerks, shop assistants and factory employees. In some English homes two meat meals are served daily and wine is added to the menu below stairs.

There has been much less difficulty in keeping servants on country estates in England than in obtaining them for city homes, where, lacking gardens, the food supply compared unfavorably both as to quantity and quality with the former establishments. There has been and still is in London a scarcity of food that it is difficult for Americans to realize.

Many more servants are employed in English than in American households, and many of the servants named in Lady Londonderry's list have no counterparts in this country.

A housekeeper is listed at $20 a month, and a working housekeeper at $12.50 a month, while in Washington the former receives from $50 to $75, and the latter from $40 to $60.

Housekeepers, however, are much less frequently employed in the United States than in England, and the black silk housekeeper who rustles through the pages of English novels, jingling her keys, is practically an unknown quantity in Washington. The wealthiest in the capital, many of whom are famous internationally for their hospitality, are given to superintending their own households, and the employment of a housekeeper is a rare exception to the prevailing custom.

Cooks are carefully graded by the Legion, a cook with kitchen and scullery maid receiving $18.75; with kitchen maid, $15.35; with between maid, $14.65 and a cook and cook-general, $11.67. In Washington a cook of any degree ranges from $30 to $50 a month, "and upward."

A head kitchen maid in London gets $12.50 a month. In Washington, $30. The comparative wages of the other maids listed are as follows:

	London	Washington
Kitchen maid	$ 8.34	$25.00
Second kitchen maid	8.34	22.50
Scullery maid	7.50	22.50
Upper housemaid of two ..	12.50	35.00 to $40
Second housemaid of three	10.00	30.00 to 35
Under housemaid of two ..	7.50	20.00 to 35
Housemaid	10.80	35.00 to 40
House parlormaid	12.50	40.00 to 45
Upper parlormaid of two ..	16.50	40.00 to 50
Under parlormaid of two ..	10.00	30.00 to 35
Parlormaid	12.50	40.00 to 50
Second parlormaid of three.	12.50	30.00 to 35
Lady's maid	12.50	40.00 to 50
Children's maid	10.80	25.00 to 35

A laundry maid in London gets $12; second laundry maid of three, $10; and under laundry maid of two, $8.34; while in Washington the average wage paid a laundress is $30 a month.

A head nurse is listed at $15; a nurse at $12.50; second nurse of three at $10.80, and under nurse of two at $8.34 in the London list. In Washington they would receive respectively, $50; from $25 to $45; from $25 to $35, and $20 per month.

a cook with kitchen and scullery maid receiving $18.75; with kitchen maid, $15.35; with between maid, $14.65, and a cook and cook-general, $11.67. In Washington a cook of any degree ranges from $30 to $50 a month, "and upward."

A head kitchen maid in London gets $12.50 a month. In Washington, $30. The comparative wages of the other maids listed are as follows:

Nursemaids Not Difficult to Obtain.

AND nurse maids, according to the United States Employment Service, are not difficult to get. Unlike cooks, in the case of nursemaids, the supply is about equal to the demand. Whether this is due to love of children or to the fact that a nursemaid's duties take her frequently to the parks, which are sociable places on pleasant days, what with other babies and their nurses, to say nothing of the park policemen, it is a comforting fact in an otherwise cheerless domestic prospect that nurses are still to be had.

Among the English servants unfamiliar by their titles, at least in American households, are the between maid at $6.65 per month; useful maid, $11.67; general, $10.80; schoolroom maid, $9.16; head stillroom maid, $12.50; under stillroom maid of two, $9.16; stillroom maid, single-handed, $10, and dairymaid, $11.67.

"Rates of pay for legionaries," Lady Londonderry explains, "must vary in different localities and in respect to classes of employment. They will be subject to revision as and when occasion arises, and in relation to peace conditions."

Another plan suggested is to do away with "servants" and substitute "orderlies," who will wear a uniform and have, in theory at least a social status superior to that of the pre-war domestic.

So many plans have been suggested to make domestic service attractive in England and to elevate the condition of the domestic worker, that some housewives are protesting openly that while adoption of all the recommendations of the Women's Advisory Committee would doubtless result in providing more efficient servants than English households have ever had, it would also result in putting it quite beyond the power of the middle class or professional families to employ any servants at all. Such highly-trained and exacting domestics, the critics point out, would be a luxury to be afforded only by the very rich, whereas, the shortage of domestic help is most acute in the small household of limited income.

Washington women are openly skeptical of the success of any similar schemes in the United States. The plan, they say, may work in England, and they hope it will, but, so far as Washington is concerned, "you can't," they assert with conviction, "get servants at any price on any plan."

The Garden Beautiful in Southern California.

INFORMATION BOTH PRACTICAL AND SCIENTIFIC. BY ERNEST BRAUNTON.

THE town of Orson in Sweden is a taxless town. There is also no charge for telephone service or any other public utility, including the use of the street railway. It is safe to say that everybody rides in Orson and the ting-a-ling of the phone is constant. The town has fine schools, libraries and everything needed for the comfort, enjoyment and general welfare of its people, yet not a cent of taxes is paid by them or for them.

All will be curious to learn the cause of this relief and we hope all will be pleased to know that trees, and trees alone, are responsible. A half-century ago trees were planted on all the lands belonging to the town, with the result that during the past thirty years over $5,000,000 worth of timber and young trees for planting have been sold by the town authorities. The outlook is still brighter, for as fast as a piece of ground is cleared it is replanted, a guarantee for taxless future generations. This is not an isolated or even rare case, for its record is eclipsed by many other European towns. Mourmalon, France, is not only taxless, but the communal lands yield such an income from trees that every resident receives a small annual income. Can you beat it?

A few years ago attention was called to the great amount of land owned by the city of Los Angeles along the aqueduct route and a wild-eyed, impractical promoter who was looking for a job, advocated that all be planted with eucalypts, a far better scheme than to leave them bare. There is no question but it would be profitable to plant every acre to these trees, but it is a question if all lands, as well as the climate, is suited to eucalypts. The demand for other woods at present should also be considered. It is not the aim of the writer to discuss the best trees for this planting, but to call attention to a fact none will deny—that it would prove an extremely profitable investment. Sweden is a heavily-wooded country compared to our meager timber supply and lumber of all descriptions is here worth several times the prices ruling in Sweden. The annual increase in our tax rate could soon be offset by a judicious forestry department, and in a few more years a large revenue could be derived. Every reader of this department who considers the question seriously knows this statement is true. Why do we not avail ourselves of this golden opportunity? Simply because the next and not the present generation would be the benefactors. We seek to load everything onto those who follow. Vote forty-year bonds for public enterprises? "Sure thing! We won't have to pay for them. We will be dead." A little study of statistics will prove that this country is rapidly becoming treeless. Let us not be alarmed, it may not seriously affect us. Why should we care? "We will be dead" before the shortage is serious. We should worry. "On with the dance! Let joy be unconfined!"

Beautifying School Grounds.

Strange, is it not, that of all pieces of property, that one in every community is most neglected in which all have common interest. The only property in which all are (?) interested—the school grounds. If these yards were properly planned and planted, the pupils attending would soon learn how much pleasure and comfort may be derived from such surroundings. As they grew up they would take an interest and pride in seeing the home grounds made attractive. If they could induce parents to act they would at least carry the impression with them in later years and have their own new homes attractive to no small degree. Children from poor homes are often heard to exclaim, "I wish we had some flowers (or trees) like that at home." The lesson is not lost; the seed sown will bear fruit and many home grounds will be made beautiful. How are your neighborhood school grounds?

The Weeping Hinoki Cypress.

Purposeful Gardening.

In making a new garden have a purpose in all that you do. The writer does not like straight lines, but if a garden is small and a path is needed to lead from one to another, it may be better to have it straight that it may be short. If the path have no purpose it should not be. Have no paths unless needed. If you have a showy garden of size, where much is to be seen, and a dry passage is needed, there may justly be winding walks. But winding walks are for pleasure, not business. A walk to the woodshed from the house should be straight, nearly so. On a dark and stormy night this narrow path of rectitude or conducive to rectitude, is indeed a joy and the only safe one to follow. So let us be purposeful in the garden; do nothing without good reason therefor. We shall then build a garden that will appeal to all, for none of it is in vain.

"Overcoming Nature."

We read much about overcoming nature or the forces of nature, in gardens as elsewhere. Do not try it; you cannot do it. You may have your own way for a time, but nature is ever assertive. He who forces water through a pipe to a great height has not oversome the forces of nature, as he will find if he withdraws his forces. If one shall succeed in making water run up hill in an open ditch and we know he will not, then indeed will the forces of nature be overcome and we will "take to the woods." But in the garden study how best to assist nature, for you will not greatly progress if you do not. If your soil is adobe do not attempt to grow plants requiring sand and if sand, grow those things only known to thrive in sand. The garden is for pleasure and none can be derived from a lot of sickly plants. The rich man may convert his soil to suit the requirements of the plants he wishes to grow, but the same money spent on suitable plants would make his garden a joy.

Wild or Natural Gardens.

If one will have a wild garden, it is better to depend upon native plants unless he is well posted on plant life. Choose only those plants native to climes much like ours and even then avoid plants such as grow in swamps or damp lands except you have damp soil in which to plant. When planning for a wild garden let us also make it a California garden. Be proud of having no plants therein not native to the Golden State. Then will you be in a golden state of mind when the garden is established. For no country of like size in the world contains more horticultural glories in her native vegetation than does California. Many wild California gardens have been built in local territory during the past few years. Not one has been abandoned and no owners express dissatisfaction.

Garden Harmony.

No plants are by nature ugly, though many are made ugly through base uses. All nature is beautiful, even the rock-ribbed mountain or the desert waste. No more beautiful flowers are found than those upon the desert floor, where anything at all will grow. The writer has stood on the desert at sunrise, alone, with no animal life within many miles, and all was beautiful. At noonday a sandstorm had destroyed every vestige of a flower and the place had become a horror. Out there, on the desert sides, the flowers of the many kinds of cactus are most beautiful, as are the plants that bear them. They evidence so much more of life and beauty than aught else in the landscape that they are strangely attractive. Except for their presence the traveler might well imagine himself on another planet. There is as much harmony needed in the garden as in colors in dressmaking.

Flowers of a Day.

Moreas are flowers closely allied to iris, but last on the plant, in full bloom, but two days; frequently but one. But they are beautiful. Morea iridioides blooms nearly throughout the year, a score of days for every day any iris will blossom. The field of the petals is white and on this base is built parts or markings of orange, chocolate brown and pale lavender, surely a sufficient variety. Flowering for the first time in the writer's garden this year is Morea bicolor, a pure yellow with a large black spot on the base of the three major petals. The Moreas are properly waterside plants and need considerable soil moisture.

Japanese Evergreen Oak.

There are at least two species of evergreen oak in Japan and they grow so slowly in local gardens as to suggest their being dwarfs. The one we illustrate is a Querus acuta, growing in the spacious grounds of Arthur Letts at Hollywood. This is the largest one of the species known to the writer and seems to be of unusual vigor.

The Weeping Redwood.

Horticulturists have, by noting slight differences in a large number of plants of one species, coaxed some away from the normal type. This is sometimes done through seeds and in each generation those strongest in the departure are saved for seed plants. A weeping branched redwood, quite a freak, has been perpetuated by cuttings, the cuttings being always taken from those plants and those parts of plants that show the strongest weeping habit.

The Portuguese Cypress.

We have a cypress from Portugal naturalized in that country, known as Cupressus Lusitanica, the latter word being derived from the ancient name of Portugal. This cypress is a very graceful one, being of a more weeping habit than our native Monterey cypress. It is believed to be native to India.

The Hinoki Cypress.

This weeping variety of the Hinoki cypress from Japan rejoices in the scientific name of Chamaecyparis obtusa variety filiformis, in spite of which it grows fairly well in local gardens. To call it beautiful is hardly descriptive. To say that it is a curious form would more closely match facts. In collections of all horticultural forms it deserves a place, for this Japanese cypress or retinosporas has many curious departures from normal type.

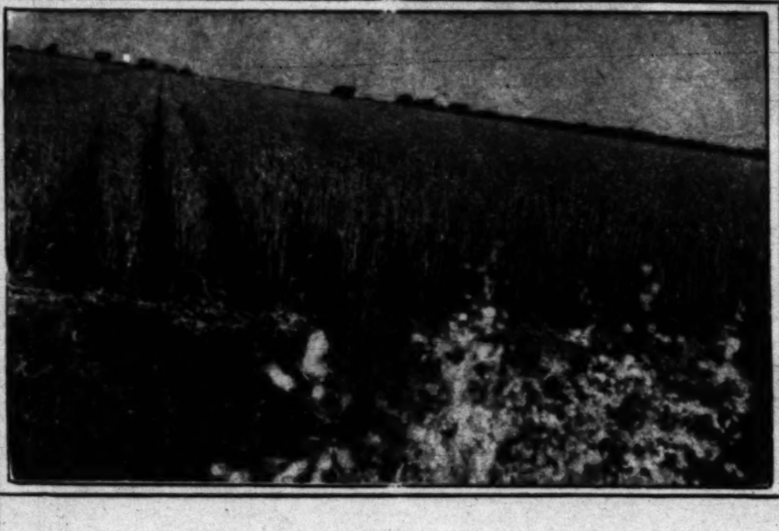
The Weepless Desert Onions of Coachella Valley.

In the Coachella Valley onions are pulled and topped by hand, this work being done chiefly by Indians from neighboring reservations and Mexicans. The crop this year, according to reports from the valley, averaged better than 750 crates to the acre from 700 acres planted to Bermuda and White Wax onions.

A Mexican family filling forty-pound crates with onions from piles in the field. This work is usually done in temperatures ranging from 95 to 115 degrees in the shade—with no shade—but the dark-skinned workers do not appear to mind the heat in the least.



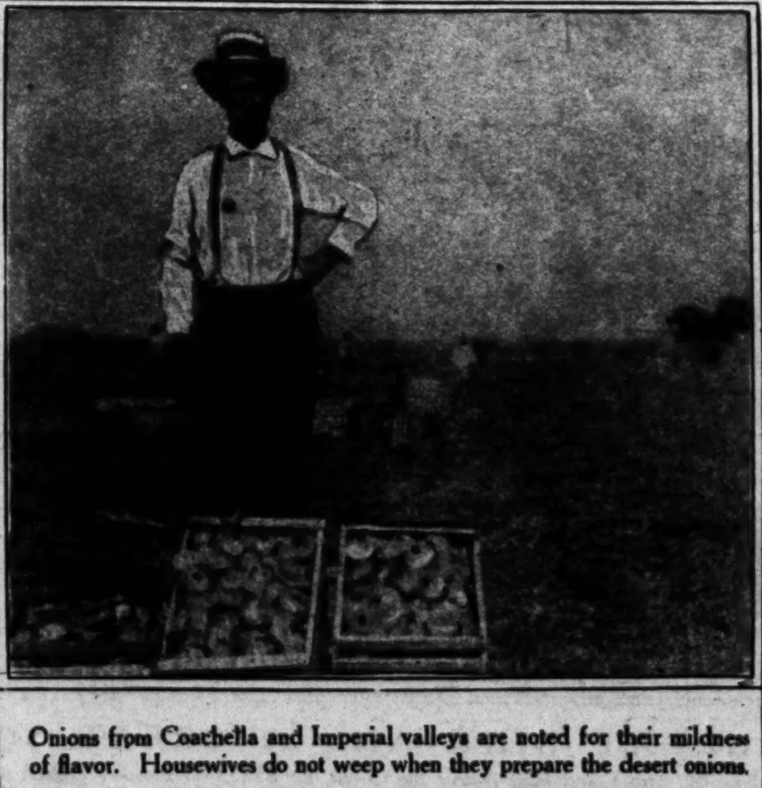
A forty-acre field of Bermuda onions grown for seed. Mature onions of the previous year's crop are planted to produce seed. The warm, dry atmosphere is conducive to good onion seed production.

A field of Crystal Wax onions grown for seed. (Date orchard in background.) An average of 450 pounds of seed to the acre is produced in the valley, according to recently published statistics.

NOW that the last of a large and most profitable crop is moving to the market, the early onion growers of Coachella Valley are counting the benefits of organized marketing. Coachella Valley leads all other sections of the United States in the production of early Bermuda and crystal wax onions, the acreage this year being 1400, and the production about 380,000 crates, valued at over $1,000,000. Bermuda onions grown in the Coachella and Imperial valleys lack some of the biting taste and tear-bringing propensities of onions grown in other sections, and the buying public has appreciated this fact this year more than before.

Although their product was of the best, the growers of the Coachella region actually received less for their crop prior to this season than did the growers of inferior onions in the San Joaquin Valley and Texas, because the latter were organized and the former were not. Under the leadership of J. W. Newman of Thermal, the growers last year formed an organization called the Thermal Growers' Association. This organization is not incorporated, the members, largely onion growers, agreeing merely to co-operate in packing and marketing the crop. Advances are made to the growers by the association, and loans on stored onions to tide the growers over a price slump period have been ready, but unnecessary, as the onion men received from $3 to $6 per crate for their crop this year. The growers of Imperial Valley early onions are yet without organization, except for membership of a few Japanese growers in the Japanese Farmers' Association of Southern California.

Approximately one-sixth of the Coachella Valley onion crop is devoted to the production of seed. The desert soil and climate seems to produce seed of superior quality and most of the seed growers are under contract to large seed houses of the Coast.



Onions from Coachella and Imperial valleys are noted for their mildness of flavor. Housewives do not weep when they prepare the desert onions.

Coachella growers of commercial onions plant their seed in September and transplant to the field from the seed bed six weeks later, the first onions moving to market east and west, chiefly in the former direction, in late February, when the world is surfeited with stored onions of last year's crop and welcomes the fresh, mild desert variety.

If the quantity used for local consumption, shipment, storage and seed production is considered, California leads the country in the production of onions. The acreage in 1918 was: Bermuda, 1412; intermediate type, 1300; late type (San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, 9400; total, 12,112 acres. The shipments from the State last year were 4800 cars, but the local consumption was greater than this figure. The yield averages 350 crates to the acre.

USES FOR YUCCA.

The stately yucca, so common on the plains of California and Arizona, now is finding double utilization. At several points have been established portable plants to extract the fiber which has the same uses as sisal, so much utilized in the manufacture of cordage. Practically all varieties of the desert aloe can be used in this. At least one Arizona cattle company has hit upon a profitable method for utilizing the yucca as forage for stock. The plant is run through a machine that cuts and grinds the stalk and "leaves," and it is said that the product is readily eaten. By cutting level with the ground, the plants will be left in condition to reproduce their former growth, something said to be accomplished within two years.

Summer Precautions in the Poultry Yard.

HOT WEATHER HINTS. BY HENRY W. KRUCKEBERG.

FOWL in confinement suffer more from the effects of warm weather than do those that are accorded free range, but in either case shade is of more than passing moment; it not only is soothing and comforting, but adds to the physical prosperity of all live stock. With the growing flocks it means better and more cheaply matured pullets in the fall, and better production by the hens that do lay more or less during the hot days of summer. Shade provided by trees, shrubs and vines is the best because more cooling, which will explain the presence of tree growth on nearly all commercial poultry farms. If this, however, is not in evidence then shade must be provided artificially. This is not over-difficult, nor need it be expensive. Any contrivance that will break the direct rays of the sun will be found serviceable. An ordinary skeleton frame covered with the leaves of our fan palms will be found quite as good as anything. A lean-to frame against the hen house covered with ordinary sacking is equally serviceable. The one thing essential is to provide shade. Chicks may be well born, robust and vigorous, intelligently brooded, but unless they are made physically comfortable during hot weather, their development will be more or less retarded.

Another precautionary measure is to keep the flock free from lice and mites. To do this literally is almost impossible, but the presence of vermin can be kept below the danger line. To accomplish this a good lice powder should be dusted into the plumage of the birds, the roosts swabbed with a good liquid lice killer, and the houses disinfected with crude petroleum, to which has been added a pinch of carbolic acid. Insect powders and liquid lice killers are factors of commerce and may be had of dealers quite generally.

Sodium fluorid is a material that comes recommended by the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Until its recent use against cockroaches, and still more recently against poultry, this substance had not been employed as an insecticide. The demand for it, therefore, has been somewhat limited, hence it is not ordinarily found in the stock of the small drug store. Druggists, however, can obtain it readily from manufacturing chemists, and with demand, it likely will be carried by local dealers. The finely powdered commercial form is cheaper and more easily applied by the dusting method than the fine, crystallized sodium fluorid. To apply the material in dust form, place it in an open vessel on a table and with one hand hold the fowl by the legs or wings. With the other hand place small pinches of the chemical among the feathers next to the skin, according to what is known as the "pinch" method, which proceeds as follows: One pinch on the head, one on the neck, two on the back, one on the breast, one below the vent, one on the tail, one on either thigh, and one scattered on the underside of each wing when spread. Each pinch can be distributed by pushing the thumb and fingers among the feathers as the material is released. If the chicken is held over the vessel, the material which falls from the fowl during the operation is recovered. The material may also be applied by means of a shaker, but this has some disadvantages. When used the amount of sodium fluorid may be reduced by adding four parts of finely powdered material, (road dust or flour) to each part of fluorid. The dust while not poisonous, is somewhat irritating to the nose and throat. If allowed to remain on the skin in any quantity for any great length of time, it may cause slight local irritation. For these reasons, cover nose and mouth of fowl with a dust guard or damp cloth, and wash the hand occasionally.

The dipping method is more economical but among some poultry raisers there is a prejudice against dipping fowls, largely because most of the dips contain materials which discolor the feathers. The sodium fluorid dip, however, is harmless and as compared with dusting is more easily done. For lice on young chickens, young turkeys, and in fact all newly hatched or sick fowls, the application of sodium fluorid in the dust form is recommended. This is the way the dip is prepared: In a tub of tepid water dissolve the poison at the rate of three-quarters to one ounce of the commercial powder, or two-thirds of an ounce of the chemically pure material, to each gallon of water. The fowls should be held by the wings over the back with the left hand and quickly submerged in the solution, keeping the head out, while the feathers are ruffled with the other hand to allow the dip to penetrate to the skin. The head then should be dipped once or twice and the bird lifted and allowed to drain a few seconds. A fowl may be treated in thirty to forty-five seconds. The sodium fluorid solution should not be allowed to remain long in galvanized vessels as its action on this metal is injurious. In experiments conducted by the government specialists more than 800 fowls have been dipped at one time, using on the average 52 ounces of sodium fluorid to 100 birds, at a cost of 13 cents. Labor is also reduced by dipping.

To the experienced breeder the advice to keep a bountiful supply of pure water before the fowl at all times sounds somewhat hackneyed, yet it is an important essential that is sadly overlooked by many people, and especially by those having only a few hens on a city lot. The drip system insures this almost automatically, but where water has to be supplied in vessels or drinking fountains, it should be replenished often, and placed in a cool and shady situation.

Fowl seem to have a greater craving for green food in hot weather than during the winter months, and should be given liberal supplies. Being succulent it in large measure slakes thirst, while the mineral salt it supplies stand for the prosperity of the birds.

Cleanliness in the houses and yards should be given extra attention during warm weather. Bits of vegetable matter, leavings of wet mash, etc., soon become a nuisance in the runs and a menace to health. See to it that the feeding troughs are always clean and sanitary. This applies particularly to flocks subject to small quarters. The contented bird is invariably the paying bird, and contentment is the result of a good body functioning as it should and an environment that insures health and a sturdy development.

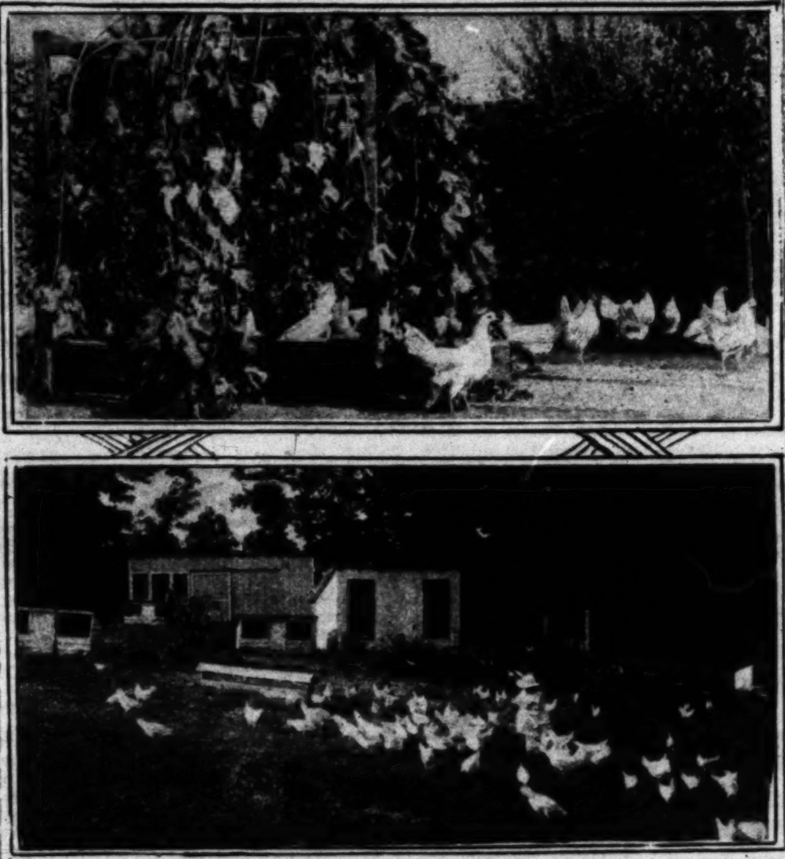
Shading Fowls for Exhibition.

The late Robert A. Rowan practiced placing his exhibition White-Faced Black Spanish in shady situations away from the direct rays of the sun, a practice that is more or less observed by fanciers. In the case of black plumage, constant sunshine tends to dull the feathers, and in place of a lustrous green-black sheen, there is a sooty appearance; in the case of a white plumage, the direct rays of the sun produces a "brassiness" to the feathers that is anything but desirable in the showroom; with parti-colored birds, like the Barred Rocks and Silver Wyandottes, the plumage is much dulled by an existence during working hours in the sun. The usual plan is to keep the selected birds for exhibition confined until say about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the fierce glare has subsided. As a matter of fact, we have known fanciers to keep their showroom specimens in darkened basements for a couple of weeks before show dates. It prevents fading or "weathering" of the new plumage.

A New Canadian Breed.

While American fanciers have evolved three great breeds of chickens (embracing something like twenty varieties) during the past fifty years, it is indeed singular that for the same decade our Canadian poultrymen have done little or nothing in the way of developing a strictly Canadian breed of fowl. Allowing for the fact that Englishmen are "long" on the outdoor life and intense lovers of all classes of live stock, this is all the more singular. All the recognized breeds of poultry are handled in Canada, so that it is not due for a want of interest in poultry culture.

However, recent advices from Eastern Canada tell us that the "new one" has arrived, and is known by the somewhat indistinctive name of "Le Chanticler," being the creation of Rev. Brother Wilfred of La Trappe in the Province of Quebec. At an exhibition held recently in Montreal over 300 specimens were shown, of which 82 per cent. were of the standard type. What are the component breeds going to make this one is not stated, but from the illustrations it would seem as if the head follows the Cornish fowl, the comb and wattles being very small. The fowls are snow-white in color, are said to be strong, healthy, and heavy winter layers. It is a matter of regret that the new breed does not enjoy a name distinctively Canadian, which would certainly afford geographical recognition. Possibly as it becomes better known and is more widely disseminated, it will attain a place in the Poultry Temple of Fame in keeping with its place of origin and environment.



Fowls require special care in hot weather.

Plenty of shade is essential to the comfort of the birds and where it is possible they should be given an opportunity to range.

FARM AND TRACTOR SECTION.

Devoted to the multiform agricultural interests of the great Southwest and issued every week with the world's biggest Sunday newspaper.

EDITED BY HAROLD M. FINLEY.

Communications from practical farmers, ranchers, stock raisers, poultrymen, gardeners and others engaged either in a large or small way in the vital work of food production are gladly received.

Good clear photographs of interesting farm and garden activities are always welcomed. The Los Angeles Times Farm and Tractor Section is the only farm journal in the west printing illustrations in the incomparable rotogravure process.

Secretary Impressed.

DAVID F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture, on his recent trip to Southern California, left for the North with one particularly strong impression—that the lands in the great Salton basin, including Imperial and Coachella Valleys, comprise potentially, if not actually, the greatest agricultural region in the world, as far as agricultural versatility and production per acre is concerned. Mr. Houston will carry back with him to Washington a more comprehensive idea of the water needs of this great area and will be prepared to help in the plan for conservation by storage of Colorado River waters in order that the irrigated district in the fertile basin may be more than doubled in the next ten years. Mr. Houston was much impressed with the beginnings of a great live-stock-raising industry, not only in the Imperial Valley, but all over the State. The abundance of feed for stock in the interior valleys, the favorable climatic conditions and the market available were pronounced unusual.

In the face of increasing production of foodstuffs in the United States, he said, demand from prostrated Europe, South and Central America and the Orient has kept up the prices of staple crops. Europe will require 21,000,000 tons of bread grains this year, he declared, and 11,000,000 tons must come from the United States, which will this year produce 1,300,000,000 bushels of wheat, or 210,000,000 more busheds than ever raised before in one season. And Europe will be largely dependent upon America for the rehabilitation of its live-stock industry. Never has opportunity so beckoned to the American agriculturist.

Beginning to Crowd.

MARKETING of this year's tremendous crop of cantaloupes and other melons has provoked a serious discussion among horticulturists of the State regarding consumption and marketing relations of this crop and that of citrus fruits. At a recent meeting of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange it was declared that 70 per cent. more cantaloupes and melons will be marketed this year than ever before and that these vine fruits had become a real rival of citrus products in the markets of the United States, reducing the consumption of oranges, grapefruit and lemons to a remarkable extent and forcing the citrus exchanges of Southern California to discontinue picking Valencia oranges.

More than one hundred carloads of cantaloupes per day are still being shipped out of the Imperial Valley, and it appears that at least a thousand more cars of cantaloupes will be shipped from the great valley this year than ever before. In the Turlock district the melon acreage is almost double what it was last year, and the set of fruit is excellent. In the Salt River Valley a tremendous acreage of melons is moving to market. Georgia, Louisiana and other cantaloupe-producing States have increased acreages. The United States Bureau of Markets is assisting in the proper distribution and marketing of the immense crops of cantaloupes and melons through market reports by special agents in all the large centers. America is this year more partial to the lucious cantaloupe than usual. But what of the effect of this cantaloupe appetite on the citrus-raising industry?

One feature of the situation which heartens both cantaloupe and orange producer is that, with J. Barleycorn down and out, an increased demand for both products will now be felt. Hundreds of thousands who wore out shoe leather on the foot rails will now find solace in California fruits and California cantaloupes.

The New Solidarity.

AMERICAN agriculture has long been known as the greatest single industry in the world. It was not until the farmers of this country began to see the benefits of organization for growing and marketing, however, that the tillers of the soil realized what a big item they were in world economics. Farmers have been combining to sell oranges and potatoes; to make butter and cheese; to discuss problems of horticulture; to place their interests before legislative bodies; to maintain fraternal relationships; to enforce political programmes; to extend their export trade. Never before has the farmer been in such a favorable position.

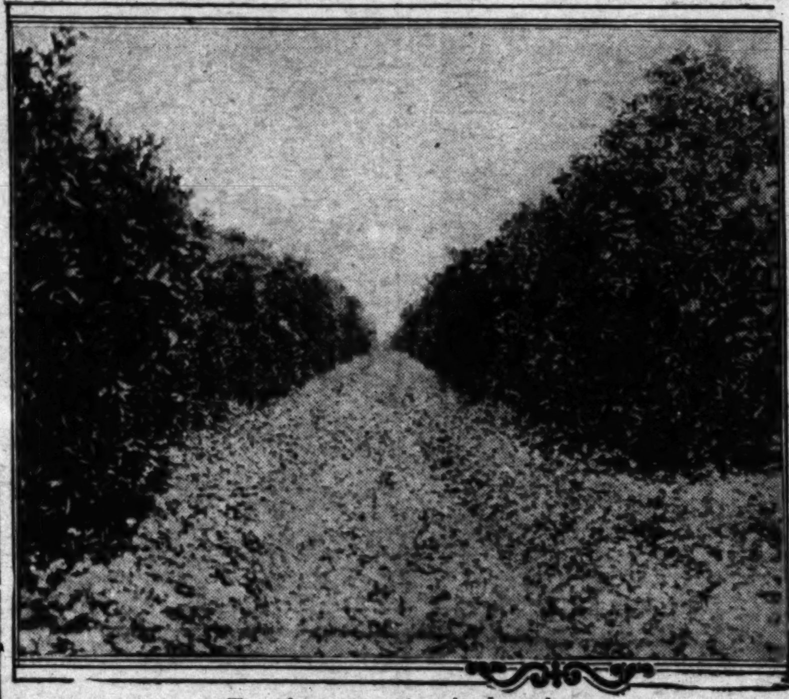
The related farming occupations now greatly predominate over any other class of occupations, trades or manufactures in the United States. More than one-third of all the persons who have occupations are engaged in agriculture.

American agriculture has taken huge strides since the last census in 1910. However, the figures assembled then are valuable for comparison. The agricultural occupation then contained 32.5 per cent. of all persons reported as having occupations, and the women of the farmers' family were not usually included.

Compare this figure with those of other occupations. Wholesale, retail and other trade occupations, 11.4 per cent.; domestic and personal service, 9.5 per cent.; building and hand trades, 8.9 per cent.; transportation by rail or water, 8.4 per cent.; professions, 4.5 per cent.; mining, 2.4 per cent.; textile industries, 2.3 per cent.; lumber and furniture, 2.1 per cent. The total number of persons having occupations was 38,000,000 in 1910, of which 12,350,000 were engaged in agriculture. The proportion has greatly increased in favor of farming in the last nine years, and organization to secure the full fruits of his toil has still further emphasized the importance of the great American farmer and the great American farm.

BEET SEED SHORTAGE.

There is already a shortage of from 25,000 to 40,000 bags of sugar beet seed for the 1920 planting in the United States, and the increased activity in sugar beet growing in Europe has caused a strong demand for the limited stocks now held over there. Every effort is to be made by growers on this side to raise a large part of the 1921 seed requirements. The chief problem in growing seed is to secure a large number of chemists for testing beets for seed.



To aid in preventing the June drop.

JUNE DROP AGAIN TAKES HEAVY TOLL IN NAVEL ORANGE GROVES.

BY ROBERT W. HODGSON.

UNTIL the first day of June, prospects for this year's navel orange crop were counted at between 95 and 100 per cent. of normal in most parts of the State. At the present time San Joaquin Valley districts report a possible yield of 50 per cent. and crop estimates in most of the southern counties have dropped materially. And what is the reason? The June drop has again exacted its toll from the navel orange grower. And a most exasperating toll it is.

The June drop continues to be one of the most important problems facing the grower of navel oranges, even in the more favored coast counties, and there is no gainsaying the fact that at the present time it does constitute the most serious difficulty standing between the interior valley navel orange grower and prosperity. For the June drop comes year after year with more or less regularity in those localities in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys suited to the growing of navel oranges. Here may be found areas of splendid soil, comparatively frost free, with an abundance of cheap water, few or no pests, and climatic conditions conducive to the highest quality fruit, but on account of the June drop they are not commercially profitable for navel orange culture. Were a simple and practicable remedy for this exasperating shedding of the immature fruits worked out, these areas would at once assume great importance as citrus producing sections. As it is, but rarely is a commercially profitable crop carried to maturity.

AFFECTS NAVEL ORANGES.

The June drop is primarily a navel orange problem. The Valencia orange and the lemon are comparatively little affected by the conditions which act to produce an excessive shedding in the navel orange. But what are some of the conditions acting this season to cause a heavy June drop?

In the first place, in most sections, the bloom was excessively heavy, a condition not generally held to be favorable for a good set of fruit. Some recent work done by Heinicke on apples in New York is interesting in this regard. He found that trees which carried a very heavy bloom set and matured only 14.1 per cent. of the blossoms while trees carrying only a normal bloom matured 73.8 per cent. of the flowers. It stands to reason that a tree bearing many times the number of blossoms it can possibly mature is under a much heavier strain than one carrying but few more than it can successfully mature. And under such a strain it would only be natural to expect a much heavier shedding of the blossoms. And not only is a heavier fall of blossoms to be expected, but also a generally weakened condition among even the more vigorous flowers, a condition which cannot but be conducive to a light set of fruit. And the fact remains that the set itself was comparatively light this season, in most districts.

Then, again, we have experienced a spring very similar indeed to that of 1917, when the great heat wave reduced the crop fully four-fifths. All spring, weather conditions have been cool and equable and ideal in every way for our navel trees. They therefore did not have reason to become accustomed to, or acclimated to, hot weather, since none occurred. Suddenly, with the first two or three days in June, there came a heat wave, with temperatures of 100 or better.

BEGINS EARLY IN JUNE.

The result was just as was to be expected, and as was predicted by the writer—a heavy shedding commencing about the 7th of the month. Had we experienced a heat wave of the magnitude of the famous 1917 "sizzler," nearly everything would have gone, just as it did then. The only thing that saved the crop was the comparatively low temperatures.

Of course, it is not reasonable to expect weak or sickly trees to bear satisfactory crops. Trees permitted to suffer for lack of water, trees underirrigated, trees not given adequate fertilization, and trees neglected in any way cannot reasonably be expected to bear satisfactory crops. Still there are growers who practice all these sins of omission and then kick about the June drop!

There is, however, a June drop which has occurred on the healthiest trees, trees given every possible care, and that is the phenomenon we are discussing. This is the true June drop, all others being a natural thinning down to the normal crop the tree can successfully carry.

June drop in the Washington navel orange groves is occasioned by two very distinct causes: (1) abnormal water relations set up between the leaves and young fruits under severe weather conditions, and (2) the attacks of a very weak parasitic fungus, Alternaria citri, which also causes a navel end rot of navel oranges.

PLANT WATER BALANCE.

There is a delicate water balance or equilibrium existing in all plants, any severe disturbance to which is bound to react more or less detrimentally to the plants' general well being. Water is being absorbed by the roots and being given off as water vapor through the leaves. In order for growth to occur and a healthy thrifty condition to obtain absorption must more than equal evaporation. If for any reason evaporation exceeds absorption, a water deficit occurs in the plant, which, if carried far enough, results in wilting and ultimate death from dessication. The ability of a plant to maintain a satisfactory water balance against more or less adverse conditions, largely determines its zone of distribution. Thus we find desert plants provided with various devices, structural and otherwise, to reduce evaporation, and in addition with special powers of extracting moisture from relatively dry soils. Plants indigenous to the tropics, however, are not found to be adapted to withstand harsh climatic conditions. In the course of their evolution they have never experienced any such need.

When a scarcity of moisture occurs, certain plants parts, by virtue of their structure and function, have a decided advantage over other parts. Thus the leaves, being subject to a strong atmospheric pull, continue to take the larger part of the water supply, to the marked detriment of young fruits, if such happen to be developing at that period. Under certain conditions the leaves may actually withdraw moisture from the fruits, resulting in their desiccation. When this occurs, many plants initiate a process called abcission, and throw off or shed the fruit, and if the necessity be severe enough even drop the leaves.

LEAVES DRAW MOISTURE.

The June drop of the navel orange has been found to be the direct result of an abnormal water relation of the kind above described. During hot, dry weather, the leaves actually draw moisture from the young developing fruits, so that there is a periodical swelling and drying out, which, when continued for several days, results in shedding within a week or ten days. This is only what would be expected when we remember that citrus trees originated in the tropics, where they are still to be found, growing wild in the shade of immense

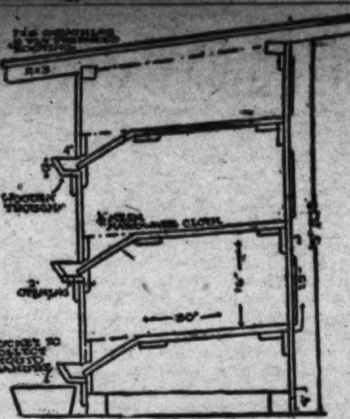
MELON PICKERS TO AID IN HARVEST.

The decline of the cantaloupe shipping season in Imperial Valley will furnish hundreds of farm workers to help in the apricot and peach harvesting in Southern California, according to E. J. Bernatche, in charge of the Los Angeles office of the United States Employment Service. Mr. Bernatche, however, warns employers that a labor shortage threatens, and says that orders for workers should be placed with him early.

Anent the farm labor situation, Mr. Bernatche says:

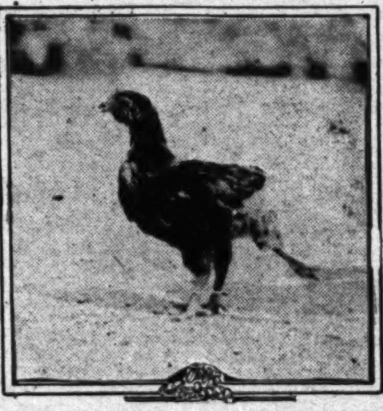
"The handling of the deciduous fruit crop of this season will be a big problem for the farmers to work out, and with the canneries gradually being placed in operation to take care of these crops, the demand for labor will be extremely heavy. A special effort will be made by the United States Employment Srvice to insure ample farm labor for the present season, and we look to the farmers to assist us in this work by listing their opportunities early. While we have experienced some difficulty in supplying dairy hands, we have been able to meet demands for general ranch hands and teamsters, the former being paid an average wage of $60 per month and board, and the latter $2.25 to $2.75 per day and board. Frequently we find that a great obstacle in the way of sending men to work on the farms is the lack of transportation. In the majority of cases, the applicants don't have the money with which to pay their railroad fare, and I would suggest that wherever possible, farmers advance transportation.

"Taken as a whole, crop prospects in this section were never more favorable, according to statements of farmers who apply daily at our office for ranch hands. Fruit crop prospects are excellent, indications pointing to one of the heaviest apricot crops in several years. The peach crop outlook is favorable and a heavy yield of walnuts is looked for this season. The sugar beet crop in the Oxnard District is quite encouraging, and a fairly large crop is anticipated. In Orange county, the beet crop, due to the dry weather this year, is not quite so favorable, and there is some possibility of one of the sugar beet factories in that county not operating this year."



Model rabbit hutch.

The plan is from a set prepared by the Farm Engineering Division of the California University Farm at Davis, and which may be borrowed upon application to the Extension Division, University College of Agriculture, Berkeley.



An extra drumstick.

Three-legged chickens would just suit the small boy. This fowl, hatched on a San Bernardino county ranch, has a third leg which, although superfluous, is quite well developed.

FOWL HAS EXTRA LEG.

SAN BERNARDINO.—A chicken with three legs has been recently hatched on one of the ranches near San Bernardino. The fowl is a Rhode Island Red, is now some two months old, and will apparently live to "grow up," as it appears healthy and normal in its habits. The third leg has six large toes and one small toe upon the foot, which does not touch the ground and is not used by the chicken. Whether hatched from a double yolked egg or the result of close inbreeding is a matter not yet determined by the poultrymen here. For some time the chick has been on exhibition in the window of a local commission firm.

POULTRY OFFICE CLOSED.

Upon orders from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, the Southern California office of the Poultry Division, at 1101 Central Building, Los Angeles, has been closed, and the office force demobilized. A. A. Peters, in charge, has had temporary quarters at 504 Federal Building, Los Angeles, since July 1. The future of the poultry extension work in this section is in doubt, owing to the failure of Congress to appropriate funds for the work.

One rat will eat or spoil four bushels of grain a year. It costs $2 or $3 a year to feed a rat on your place.

BUILD HENS' NESTS AWAY FROM LIGHT.

Nests for hens should be situated in a more or less dark place, for then the fowls will be less apt to eat the eggs. A good place is directly beneath the roost platform, with the nests so arranged that the hen enters from the side toward the wall. Each nest should be from twelve to fourteen inches square, and high enough to be convenient for the hen to enter. The partitions between the nests should be high enough to prevent the hens from rolling the eggs from one nest to another, and low enough to permit the hens going from nest to nest, otherwise they will fight and eggs will be broken.

FANCIERS' EGG-LAYING CONTEST.

The Poultry Club of Great Britain is about to inaugurate a laying contest to be composed exclusively of exhibition specimens. That is an experiment we should like to see tried out in this State. Will it not be possible to have our foremost breeders and fanciers to inaugurate such an enterprise? To be of service, it will not be sufficient that the contestants come from an exhibition strain, as a breder could easily enough select his best layers. An easy way to get at it would be to score the birds by a competent authority and eliminate all specimens that were unable to score 90 points. And if such birds averaged low in production, there certainly would be opened up a new angle for future poultry operations. In any event we are of the opinion that the standard specimens would give a good account of themselves, but nevertheless, there would be many an anxious breeder asking himself "what will the harvest be?" Here is an opportunity for the specialty clubs to show what fine feathers can do in the atmosphere of economic facts.

RABBIT RAISING POPULAR.

BRYN MAWR.—With rabbits selling in the retail market for 40 cents a pound and bringing in the market 30 and 35 cents undressed, there has been a field opened up for the small scale farmer that will prove to be well worth while, it is believed. The Belgian hares that are raised for the market in Southern California are running the pound to pound-and-a-half broiler a close race for popularity. Several of the chicken growers of this section are taking on rabbits now and are finding that they pay well. In fact the raising of rabbits has become so much more popular than it formerly was that the best bucks are bringing high prices. The main thing, according to those who have tested it out thoroughly, is to keep the hutches clean, and this is done easily if they are carefully built. Most of the farmers who are raising rabbits on a large scale are growing good sized patches of clover and alfalfa to provide a feed for the animals, as well as for their chickens. There is a strong demand for young rabbits almost all the year, two or three months in the summer being the only time when the demand drops to any appreciable degree.

LIMBERNECK IN FOWLS.

Indigestion or the eating of moldy foods by fowls often causes the condition known as limberneck, which makes it impossible for the bird to lift its head from the ground. This is due to the absorption of poisons from the intestines, which act on the nervous system and cause paralysis of the muscles of the neck. Treatment; give a full dose of purgative medicine, three or four teaspoonfuls of castor oil for a grown fowl or fifty grains of Epsom salt. If the birds are not cured within three or four days it is inadvisable to keep them.

Fowls for breeding purposes should be strong, healthy, vigorous birds. The comb, face and wattles should be of a bright-red color, eyes bright and fairly prominent, head comparatively broad and short and not long or crow-shaped, legs set well apart and straight, plumage clean and smooth.

INVEST OR LOCATE IN LAMANDA PARK

There are great opportunities and possibilities in Lamanda Park now. Why? Because it is near Los Angeles and Pasadena; close in and permament all-the-year residential suburb. The beach is good July and August; here it is good all the year.

SECOND REASON WHY: Los Angeles is becoming Industrial and people are looking toward the Foothills of the San Gabriel valley for residence. Raise up your children here; good churches and schools.

THIRD REASON: Real estate is comparatively low priced; lots for bungalows and business lots can be bought for a song—now. Lamanda Park is now in the making. Large territory—5 boulevards.

FOURTH REASON: The fine climate here—ocean breeze from Long Beach in the daytime and Mt. Wilson breezes at night—not too far inland to be hot except occasionally; not too close to the ocean to be damp and windy. Elevation 750 feet.

FIFTH REASON: Fine soil and tropical vegetation and lay of the land. Fine large live oaks, citrus and vineyards; a beautiful foothill section.

SIXTH REASON: If we could get low carfare to Los Angeles thousands more families would locate here from Los Angeles, where there is more room, fresher air, soft mountain water and suburban life.

SEVENTH REASON: Look at Hollywood's growth and high price of property. Lamanda Park is almost as close to Los Angeles, with greater mountain scenery; has Pasadena in addition to draw from for advantages. Another great suburb will rise here, only greater than any heretofore.

EIGHTH REASON: Some of the most notable people in California have chosen this vicinity for their country estates—showing the excellent climate and location.

NINTH REASON: Industries are now learning that the conditions here for living of the workers is ideal. Other reasons too numerous to mention.

DOWN-TO-DATE REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.

IMPERIAL.—Imperial Valley's cantaloupe season is almost spent. Most of the inspectors and loaders have already gone to Arizona and Fresno and Turlock in this State, where shipments are beginning. I. T. Sparks, commercial agent for the Southern Pacific, estimates that the value of the cantaloupe and watermelon crops, in round figures, will be $9,500,000. Of this sum $9,000,000 represents the value of the "cants" and the smaller figure the watermelons. This is approximately 50 per cent. of an increase over the returns of last year's crops, due to the increased production and increased market price.

Comparative figures follow: Value of last year's crop, $5,000,000; value this year, $9,500,000; shipments last year, 4422 cars; shipments this year (estimated) 7000 cars; acreage last year, 10,000; acreage this year, 16,000.

The market price has been from 25 to 30 per cent. higher than that of last year, while the production has been about 45 per cent. greater. The great success of this year's crop, both from production and monetary return, has already brought assurances of a large increase in acreage for next year. It is believed that 20,000 acres at least will be planted in cantaloupes.

EL CENTRO.—The farm bureau and the various water companies in Imperial Valley have declared war on the gopher. These rodents are not accused of doing material damage to crops, but they are convicted of burrowing into the canals and irrigating ditches, causing the water to break through, flooding the roads and fields, and thus doing much damage. The offer of 5 cents bounty for pelts has interested the small boys and with traps and guns they are playing havoc with the pests. During the last four months one water company alone paid for 15,000 pelts.

HEAVY HAY YIELD.

YUCAIPA.—The harvesting of the hay and grain crop in this section has about been finished and in most cases the crop has run heavier than expected. There was an especially fine crop of oat hay and of alfalfa hay and despite the fact that the crop was heavy, the farmers have been getting a good price for their product. The Roy Cook ranch here had one of the heaviest stands of hay and the entire 800 tons cut was sold to Allen Wheaton of Redlands for a price said to have been well up in five figures. The ranch is one of the best known in Yucaipa and the crop of hay taken off it this year demonstrated that the dry farmer can depend on his crop in California just about as well as he can back East. The hay and grain ranches of this valley and of the San Timoteo Canyon, which lies south of Redlands, are not as large or as numerous as they were a few years ago. The deciduous fruit growers have taken a large acreage and are taking more all the time now that there are half a dozen big canneries so close that the fruit can be disposed of in a very short time. A few years ago the entire Yucaipa Valley was given over to hay and grain growing; now there are thousands of acres of apples, cherries, peaches and pears. And yet there are hundreds of acres on the hillsides that can not profitably be furnished water where big crops of hay and grain are grown.

STOCK ON SHIPBOARD.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR.—A marked increase in the demand for live hogs, calves and sheep on the part of skippers of ships entering the harbor is a result of the favorable experience of masters in feeding a number of live stock on refuse from the ship's table, the animals being slaughtered when the supply of fresh meat gave out at sea. One Hawaiian liner recently brought on board, in individual crates, eighteen hogs, six sheep and three calves.

REVENUE IS LARGE.

PHOENIX (Ariz.)—The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce has figured that Maricopa county has about 300,000 acres in cultivation, with 24,000 acres double-cropped, and with a gross revenue for the current season of $28,579,000. The cotton crop is valued at only $12,600,000, considered very much of an underestimate, for the 90,000 acreage. Alfalfa is valued at about $8,000,000, more than half of it fed to live stock at home, though with at least $2,000,000 worth of hay baled and sold. From live stock comes a total annual revenue of about $10,000,000. More than half the last item comes from the dairy industry, including 35,000,000 pounds of milk for the retail trade, 47,000,000 pounds for condensing and 71,000,000 pounds for butter and cheese. The live stock increase is valued at $1,680,000. Annually fed are 50,000 head of cattle, 50,000 head of sheep and 20,000 head of swine.

MARKET UNCERTAIN.

PORTERVILLE.—At no time in the past several years has there been such an uncertain tone in the cattle market. As a result of the stagnated demand and the low prices which are being offered by the packers, no stock is being moved. June and July usually see the surplus from the ranges cleaned up. This year feeders who have adequate pasturage are not offering their beef for sale. Late sales reported here have been made on the basis of 10 cents, but these were made by cattlemen who were compelled to sell because of the scarcity of feed. It is being charged by some of the growers that the big buyers expect this condition to become general over California, and that for this reason they are not bidding. It is generally predicted that few, if any, cattle will go from the Tulare county ranges during the present month unless there is a radical change in the price.

KADOTA CROP HEAVY.

DINUBA.—Packing of Kadota figs is now well under way in this section, reports from all the gardens of the Alta district being to the effect the crop is heavy and the fruit of a high quality. This is the first season that Kadotas have figured in any large commercial quantity from this district. It is reported that packers and canners are paying 9 cents at the gardens for figs to be handled in baskets and processed into various forms of preserves. Fruit dealers of the East who are handling some of the fruit have asked for more. The prices to green fruit dealers in the East have been upwards from 18 cents.

"Can we grow alfalfa?" he asks.

Harry H. Clark of Calipatria, holding up an alfalfa plant, representing a growth of fifty-eight days from seeding. Mr. Clark's farm, the Rancho Pomelo, is one of the finest in the northern part of Imperial Valley.

CANNERY EXPANDS.

TERRA BELLA.—Equipment is being added to the Terra Balla cannery for handling a capacity pack of tomatoes. This is one of the few canneries of the San Joaquin Valley in which this pack is to be made. Fruit from this immediate district, from Porterville and from Lindsay is to be handled. The cannery management state that reports indicate a material decrease in the tomato acreage of the State, indicating that in spite of the present low prices and uncertain conditions, the market promises to be strong this fall.

LAND FOR SOLDIERS.

YUMA (Ariz.)—A fact little understood is that the project for damming the Gila near Agua Caliente has the backing of the Interior Department, Secretary Lane having indicated his wish that the lands of the Gila Valley below the damsite might be held for soldier settlement. Most of the acreage has been sold by the State, but somewhat less than half remains for governmental reclamation. Purchasers of the State lands, represented by J. R. Loftus, have stated their willingness to turn back to the nation half their holdings, if needed for returning soldiers. Possibly 200,000 acres thus could be secured within Yuma county, all of excellent character and lying under the lines of surveyed canal systems.

THE COIT LECTURES.

Dr. J. Eliot Coit, Professor of Citriculture at the University of California, will discuss the following subjects in lectures to be given this week at the summer session of the university being held at the Los Angeles State Normal: Monday, July 14—Irrigation of Citrus; Olive Varieties. Tuesday—Pruning of Orange and Lemon Trees; Date Culture. Wednesday—Jack Frost and His Defeat; Date Palm Geography. Thursday—Picking and Handling Oranges and Lemons in Relation to Fruit Decays; Soils for Dates. Friday—Stereopticon lecture illustrating citrus subjects; stereopticon lecture illustrating date culture.

Ordinarily, the dry hot climate of Arizona saves that State from the usual run of insect pests. But the past season in the Upper Gila Valley, around Safford, has been notable for an incursion of the chinch bug, coming for the second time in sixteen years, doing large damage in wheat and barley fields.

BUYERS THRONG THE PURE BRED CENTERS OF THE MIDDLE WEST.

BY F. H. SCRIBNER.

[Assistant Farm Adviser Scribner of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau was commissioned early in the summer to go East to buy high-grade young dairy stock for Southern California herds. The following fresh, first hand report by him of his experiences in bidding in a market besieged with buyers from all parts of the United States and from foreign countries gives an idea of the demand for pure bred animals and of the growing importance of the pure bred livestock industry.—Ed.]

THE much discussed co-operative purchasing under my direction of young dairy cattle for Riverside, San Bernardino, and Los Angeles county buyers was completed on Monday, June 20. Representatives from the four leading breeds were purchased: Holsteins, Jerseys, Guernseys and Ayrshire. The Jerseys, two carloads, were found in Texas and purchased from the celbrated herd of J. O. Terrell & Son, San Antonio, Tex., and a bunch of pure bred heifers of better breeding would be hard to find. These heifers arrived in fine condition, due in a large masure to the careful attention of Mr. Hulbert, the herdsman of J. E. Wherrel of Riverside, who made the trip to San Antonio to accompany the cattle back to Riverside.

The rest of the orders for cattle being for Holsteins and Guernseys, it was necessary to go to the Middle West, where they are making more of a specialty of these breeds, and Wisconsin seemed to be the proper objective point.

The trip from San Antonio to Wisconsin was made without incident except that the weather man seemed to be strictly in touch with the spirit of the times, and was forcing water on everybody and everything in superabundance, and the fields and crops in many places were showing the effects of too much rain. The same condition existed in Wisconsin, as it rained about every day for the first two weeks I was there. This was a great hindrance to corn cultivation and hay making, to say nothing of my work.

Two events in which I was particularly interesttd were the big Fond du Lac County and Waukesha County Guernesy Sales. I thought I might be able to fill my orders fo rthis breed of cattle at these places, but in this I was disappointed as there were buyers from as far as Mexico and British Columbia as well as from nearly every State in the Union, and in most cases these were not limited in the amount they could pay, as was I, so I had to sit humbly by and see them knocked off to the other fellow. I was disappointed because a little community out in the desert near Barstow had unanimously decided the Guernsey should be their breed of cattle and some of the animals I coveted would have laid the foundation for a community proposition which in years to come would have meant to them what Waukesha county, Wisconsin, now means to the Guernsey world. I understand they are still to hang to their pet plan and expect later to try and carry it out. I had to drop the purchasing of individuals of this breed, although I did purchase two well bred Guernsey heifers for Mr. Main of Riverside.

The Holstein orders, which, by the way, were the most numerous, also had their reverses because of the competitive demand. Prices within the last two months have advanced from $100 to $150 per head, and heifers that had sold for $250 had jumped up to $350 and $500 and were extremely hard to find even at these prices when I entered the market. One Mexican concern had placed an order for $1,500,000 worth of dairy cattle to be filled as soon as possible, and with these handicaps I found it exeremely difficult to fill my orders. I was fortunate, however, in one instance where a prominent breeder who had considerable difficulty in securing milkers, and had his own hand disabled through an injury, had decided to part with a portion of his herd to lighten the work.

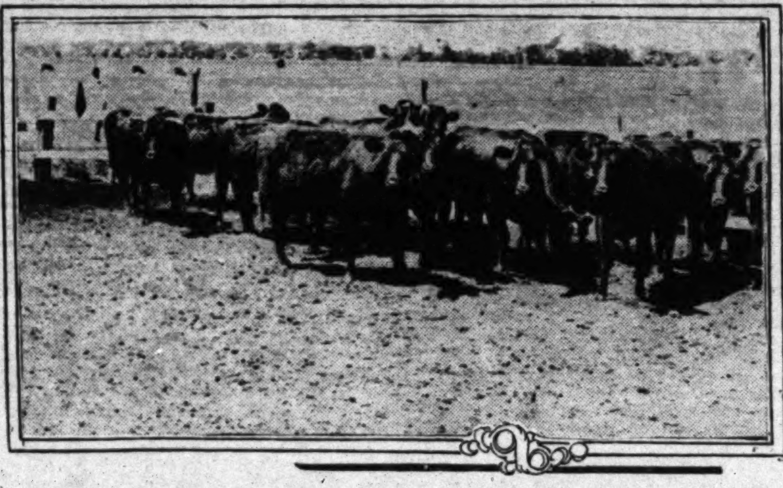
Here I secured ten head of his splendidly bred heifers, making a starting point in the pucrhasing. I could have taken an advanced price of $1400 for this bunch of ten head in a few hours after the deal was made. With this start, I soon completed a carload bought in Waukesha county, which, incidentally, is about as much a Holstein center as it is a Guernsey. Another carload was purchased at Fox Lake, Wis., and while in most cases the orders called for bred heifers, I had to be content to bring home something younger, although animals equally as well bred.

I had orders for another carload of bred heifers but on account of high prices, and scarcity of cattle for sale, decided to discontinue the purchasing. The cattle were shipped on June 19th from Milwaukee and the trip required ten days. The animals arrived at Riverside and Chino in excellent condition.

One Ayrshire bull calf was purchased for Mr. Cook of Riverside from the famous Adam Seitz herd, Waukesha, Wis. Mr. Cook expects to show a young herd this fall and I feel sure this young fellow will make a favorable impression, as Mr. Seitz expected to show him at the National this fall. A young Jersey bull was also purchased for Mr. McKersie of San Jacinto. The sire of this animal came from the famous Hood farm herd in Massachusetts. This fellow also is a splendid individual and if he is shown in the ring this fall, it will take a good one to beat him.

While we fell down partly on what we intended to do, yet something was accomplished, and the seventy head of pure breds, scattered to about twenty-five different individuals will form the nucleus of pure-bred, registered herds, which will not only be of great value to their owners but to the dairy interests in general.

On the return trip through Kansas they seemed to be having that same wet condition with miles and hundreds of miles of wheat already yellow and ripe for the harvest. The work was handicapped because of the weather and also for a lack of help. Much of the beautiful grain was laid as flat as if a roller had been over it, and a great loss will be experienced in securing it. I thought when I struck this country that "California is good enough for me."



Fine animals for Orange county breeders.

Carload of pure bred Durham heifers, recently purchased by Irvine Ranch, Tustin.

RANCH BUYS DURHAMS.

A carload of pure bred Durham heifers were recently purchased by the Irvine ranch at Tustin from C. B. Harris of Los Angeles. The shipment consisted of twenty fine animals, all safe in calf to Lord Avon, a $2500 bull bred by Dean Curtiss of Ames, Iowa. This is the third carload sold by Mr. Harris to the Irvine ranch in the past twelve months. Mr. Harris also reports the sale of a carload of registered Hereford bulls to S. P. Calef and others in the vicinity of Santa Barbara and Los Olivos.

NEW FEEDS PUT OUT.

As an outgrowth of the rapidly developing hog raising industry of Southern California, there has been established at San Bernardino a plant for the manufacture of stock feeds. I. S. Chapman & Co., Inc., the manufacturers, are now putting out a new concentrated fed under the name of "Quick Fat." The concern is also making a special hog feed and an alfalfa meal, each combined with the "Quick Fat" preparation.

ACQUIRE HEREFORDS.

A carload of pure bred Hereford cattle was reecntly received by the Conejo Ranch in entura county, marking another step upon the part of the owners of this property toward concentrating on pure bred livestock to the exclusion of grades. Prior to the arrival of the shipment, several hundred range cattle on the holding were disposed of. The new animals trace their ancestry to the Meridian Anxiety bulls. With them as a nucleus, the owners of the ranch hope to win as high a place in Hereford circles as they now hold among Duroc-Jersey and Hampshire hog breeders.

KEEP HERD DISEASE FREE.

Experience covering a period of several years has proved beyond a doubt that a herd of cattle can be freed of tuberculosis, and kept free, and that the procedure is entirely practical and within the power of a large percentage of owners.

Ordinarily, California distillate works better in tractors specifying kerosene, and the cost is but a trifle more.

BEAN MEN COMPLETE THEIR ORGANIZATION.

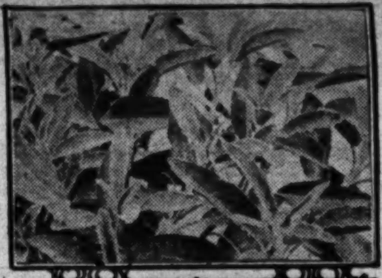
Lima bean growers of the Sawtelle-Palms-Inglewood district formed a temporary organization at Sawtelle July 2, and a permanent organization at Inglewood July 7, as part of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association. Farmers representing 4500 acres signed the association contract. Officials of the central body declare that the gathering into the fold of the big Los Angeles county growers completes the chain throughout the lima-bean fields.

After last season's disastrous marketing experiences the bean growers and large brokers are a little more than willing to join in a nonprofit co-operative organization this year. Last year the selling firm of J. M. Waterman and the bean brokerage firm of A. H. Levy & Co., leading buyers in the Ventura and Santa Barbara county fields, engaged in a commercial combat with each other and with growers outside their markets, with the result that beans went to $5.75 in November. But now the growers in the association are signing contracts with the Waterman and Levy firms whereby the brokers are to get 5 per cent. on a five-year contract, of which about 3 per cent. is said to be net profit. But growers felt that it was best to engage in this sort of enterprise with the brokers in order to save the industry from going on the rocks again this year. Waterman and Levy are not to handle any but the association's beans.

It now appears that unirrigated beans in the Lima districts as a whole will show 55 per cent. of an average crop at harvest time. Those who have water available have found that even the use of highest-priced water is economical, as fields which have been irrigated even once show up remarkably in contrast to those which have to depend upon the depleted supply of ground moisture.

HERBS EASILY GROWN NEAR KITCHEN DOOR.

Californians interested in agriculture are so busy producing the large commercial fruit crops and the homely table vegetables that they lose sight of the fact that herbs for flavoring are more easily grown, in this State, especially in the South, than in eastern localities more noted for commercial production of sage, thyme, mints, dill, caraway, etc. Because of killing frosts, most of the kitchen herbs are annuals in the East, but they are biennials and perennials in the Southwest. The herbs delight in a warm, sandy loam and plenty of water.



Save a place in the garden for herbs.

A convenient corner in the vegetable plot makes the best location for these flavoring plants, which can easily be cared for by the children. Above is a plant of the common sage.

Locate herbs gardens at a convenient corner or at one side of the vegetable garden. They can be planted this and next month, and many of the varieties can be planted the year around. It is better to spade in stable or chicken manure—be sure the latter is well rotted—before planting. The average family needs but two or three herb plants of a variety. Peppermint, spearmint and sage may be propagated from seed, but are easily grown by taking offshoots of the parent plant. Be careful to keep the spearmint within bounds, else it will become a nuisance in the garden. It should be dug up and replanted every two years. Anise plants grow to a height of two feet. The seeds are borne in heads which should be cut from the plants when the seeds are nearly ripe, and the heads tied in bunches and hung up to dry. Always dry herb leaves or seeds in the shade, spread out on a cloth or paper.

Thin caraway plants fifteen to eighteen inches in the row, saving the seeds the same way as in harvesting anise seed. The culture and uses of dill are very much the same as those for caraway. The leaves are used for flavoring soups and in making dill pickles. The true taragon does not produce seed, and must be started from roots or offshoots. The tender leaves of the taragon are used for flavoring cider vinegar. Other savory herbs which are desirable for home use or marketing are, sweet basil, coriander, summer savory, balm, thyme, horehound, sweet fennel and sweet marjoram.

WALNUT GROWERS OF CHINO ORGANIZED.

POMONA.—With the return of papers of incorporation now en route to the office of the Secretary of State, the rich section to the southeast of Pomona will boast a new and promising co-operative industry, the Chino Walnut Growers' Association. Officers and directors have been selected, by-laws are being prepared and plans are already under way to make this new organization a complete success. The growers in and around Chino have long believed in co-operation and they have only awaited the development of a sufficient acreage of bearing trees before taking steps to form a local association. More than fifty enthusiastic growers met recently at the Chino high school and heard the report of a committee previously appointed to draft the recommendations and by a unanimous vote, decided that the time had come to carry out their long deferred plans.

It was at first proposed to appoint a building committee and push the erection of a modern walnut house in time to handle the 1919 crop. However, the directors of the Walnut Fruit Growers' Association of Walnut, with which organization many of the local growers at actual cost this season out the difficulties attending this plan and generously offered to handle the nuts of loval growers at actual cost this season. This allows the Chino growers to perfect their plans and erect a suitable building by 1920. This plan met with general favor and was accepted. Representatives of the California Walnut Growers' Association were present by request, and they promised the good will and generous co-operation of the central body. Mr. Warper, director of membership, has promised to spend some days in and around Chino, co-operating with local enthusiasts in their canvass to secure 100 per cent. membership with the new body.

H. S. White, F. D. Adams, Sam Howell, W. O. Prindell and J. W. McCrosky were chosen as the first directors of the Chino Walnut Growers' Association The association plans to embrace all the walnut growing territory from Pomona east to Archibald avenue. Much of the acreage included has not yet come into bearing, but the directors are looking ahead.

MANURE CROP EXPERIMENTS.

Data presented in Exeriment Station Record, Vol. 39, relative to experimental work in the corn belt with corn and green manure crops such as cowpeas, alfalfa, sweet clover and oats, shows that the humus content of the soil was doubled by the oats, and was increased to a less extent by sweet clover, cowpeas and alfalfa in the order named. Alfgalfa produced very little humus. Results began to appear after the first two months. Rolling under the green manures seemed to be better for corn than discing in or drying. The greatest corn yield was obtained after oats, with alfalfa next. Acidity of the soil was increased in each case where green manure was used, excepting when the crop was dried before mixing with the soil. Following the manuring by liming in each case resulted in a greater corn yield.

POISON MASH GETS THEM.

Farmers in sections afflicted by grasshoppers are pinning their faith to poisoned bran mash as a medium of control because of the success which this method seems to have attained. In some of the counties of Iowa which were badly infested last year, the mash was used, and this year very few eggs were found.

It's never too late to plant in Los Angeles.

DYNAMITE

I do any work where dynamite is used in farm and orchard improvement. I blast out stumps, break boulders, blast good ditches through land too boggy, heavy and sticky to ditch successfully otherwise. I shoot near growing trees to encourage water and air penetration and root growth, also tree-planting shots. But, best of all, I put all of the brains, energy, interest and experience into my work that I possess, whether it is day or contract.

OWNERS OF GOATS FORM ORGANIZATION.

SAN DIEGO.—Every person in San Diego county who has his own goat, in the literal sense of the phrase, is eligible to be a member of a newly formed organization, to be known as the San Diego County Goat Owners' Association, which has officially affiliated itself with the County Farm Bureau. The organization of the county goat raisers followed a mass meeting recently called by Prof. Edwin C. Voorhies of the University of California Agricultural College. Prof. Voorhies, who is the author of a government bulletin on the subject of the milch goat, stated that he believes all of Southern California is destined to become the distributing point for practically the entire world, in this important and rapidly growing industry.

In the new San Diego county organization, both city and country goat owners are co-operating with the Farm Bureau in furthering the interests of the goat. A goat barbecue, as well as a goat luncheon, featuring this versatile food provider in a large variety of edible phases, were included in the programme for the coming months. Also a live exhibit at San Diego's County Fair in September is on the list of early demonstrations of what the goat is and can do.

FINE HAMPSHIRES TO GO UNDER HAMMER.

E. C. Stone, secretary of the American Hampshire Swine Record Association, is to manage the sale of sixty-five bred Hampshire sows at the Francis T. Underhill ranch at Montecito, Cal., August 6. This sale promises to be an important Hampshire event, as the sows are daughters and grand-daughters of prize winning boars headed by the outstanding grand champion General Tipton's Masterpiece, valued at $3000. Two other good sires are in use—General Allen's Counterpart and Exalted Ruler.

On the day of sale prominent Hampshire breeders of the State will meet at Santa Barbara for the purpose of organizing a California Hampshire Breeders' Association. Mr. Stone will preside at this meeting.

has been the aim of Staldar Brothers of Riverside. That they have succeeded is proven by the records which they have recently been making with the daughters of their senior herd sire, King Pontiac Netherland Segis 3d. Three of his daughters have made better than twenty-one pounds of butter in seven days at an average age of two years and two months. There are two cows in this herd with records over thirty pounds of butter in seven days. Gerben Abbekirk Maid gave 642 pounds of milk and made 34.45 pounds of butter in seven days. In thirty days she gave 3037 pounds of milk and made 138.19 pounds of butter. Stanislaus Princess Cleopatra gave 525 pounds of milk and made 32.7 pounds of butter in seven days. In thirty days she gave 1994 pounds of milk and made 124 pounds of butter. The senior herd sire is a son of Gerben Abbekirk Maid and the junior herd sire, Rosamaines Pontiac Netherland, is a son of Stanislaus Princess Cleopatra.

The W. F. Mitchell herd of registered Holsteins at Visalia was established eighten years ago, which makes it one of the oldest herds still intact in the State. There were a number of herds established in California previous to this, but all of these, or at deast most of them, have been dispersed.

The two sires in service on the Mitchell place are Prince Hiske Walker and Johanna Abbekerk Johanna Segis. Prince Hiske Walker is a full-bred animal of fine type and his twenty-five daughters in Mr. Mitchell's herd are proof of his ability to transmit his excellent type to his offspring. The six nearest dams of his sire, Prince Geische Walker, average over thirty pounds of butter in seven days and he himself has twenty-seven advance registered daughters, one with a record of 36.81 pounds of butter in seven days. The dam of Prince Hiske Walker was Hiske of Riverside, who made 26.68 pounds of butter in seven days. Her daughter, Lady Hiske Walker, made 34.75 pounds of butter in seven days. It is evident, therefore, that Prince Hiske Walker comes from heavy producing blood lines on both his sire's and dam's sides. Not only were his sire's dam and his own dam heavy producers of both milk and butter, but they were also animals of fine conformation. His dam is a sister to the sensational cow, Aaggie Acme of Riverside, now on test, and who,

a year. She is also a sister to Queen Juliana Dirkje, who when but 3½ years old made 1021.73 pounds of butter in a year. She is a sister also of Aralia DeKol 3rd, who made 1100 pounds of butter in a year. This is evidence that she comes not only from a heavy producing family, but one whose production ability is persistent throughout the entire year.

The junior herd sire, King Abbekerk Johanna Segis, is one of the finest bulls on the Pacific Coast. His dam, Adirondack Wieshe Dairy Maid, recently completed a record of 41.01 pounds of butter in seven days, making her the highest record cow on the coast, exceeding both Tilly Alcartra and May Echo Sylvia. In seven days she gave 831.70 pounds of milk, which is an average of 118.81 pounds a day or about fifty-nine and a half quarts.

Among the heavy producing cows in this herd are Black Patti, who has given as high as ninety-nine pounds of milk in one day and made 26.01 pounds of butter in seven days and 106.43 pounds in thirty days.

Segis Pontiac DeKol Burke Clyde, the Holstein bull at the head of the Frampton Brothers' herd at Artesia is proving himself worthy of his great ancestors. He is a prize winner himself and his first daughters to freshen are proving heavy producers. He has won first as a junior yearling, Junior Champion and Reserve Grand Champion honors at the 1916 California State Fair, and first prize mature bull, senior champion and grand champion at the Liberty Fair. He is of very much the same breeding as the young bull that sold for $11,000 at Philadelphia two weeks ago. This bull was out of a sister to Segis Pontiac DeKol Burke. His first daughters which have freshened have exceptionally large udders, which are well balanced, attached well both front and rear and with teats well placed. They are a practical demonstration of what can be accomplished by using an outstanding bull.

The foundation for a very promising herd of Holsteins has recently been established at Burbank by Charles Anderson. This herd consists of sixty heifers purchased at Phoenix, Ariz. They are mostly daughters of the noted bull, Roderick Lincoln, who has thirty-eight A.R.O. daughters, two of his daughters having records of over thirty pounds of butter in seven days. One of these, Janie Roderick Meyers, gave 601.50 pounds of milk and made 33.97 pounds of butter in seven days. Another recently made a record of over thirty pounds in the Pottenger Sanatorium herd at Monrovia. The heifers owned by Mr. Anderson are out of high producing cows, most of which have A.R.O. records, ranging as high as thirty-four pounds of butter in seven days. The heifers themselves are of excellent dairy conformation. Some of them have recently had their first calves, and show large well-shaped udders. Semi-official testing has already been started and some very creditable yearly records are looked for.

Fred Hartsook, Los Angeles photographer, is developing on his ranch at Lankershim a fine herd of registered Holsteins. One of his heifers, Miss Geische Walker, recently made a record of over thirty pounds of butter in seven days. She is an exceptionally fine individual, with a large square udder, and well-developed milk veins. Official testing is being done and some very creditable records are expected from the herd when this testing is resumed this fall.

The boys at the California George Junior Republic at Chino are greatly interested in the herd of registered Holsteins which has been established at that institution. There are six cows on yearly test and the fine care which the boys are giving these animals to make them produce large records is worthy of commendation. However, high pressure methods of feeding are not allowed, as the authorities do not wish to injure the breeding qualities of the animals. It is the aim of the school to keep only cows that will give at least 10,000 pounds of milk and make 800 pounds of butter fat as three-year-olds.

HOW INVESTIGATION HELPS THE GROWERS.

The relation of experiment station work to practical fruit growing was discussed in an interesting way by J. C. Whitten of the Division of Pomology of the University of California, at the recent convention of the Fruit Growers and Farmers at Riverside. Following is a portion of Dr. Whitten's address:

Progress in fruit-growing depends upon three primary factors, which must go hand in hand: (1) the effort of the fruit grower; (2) economic development, and (3) scientific investigation.

There are many problems which only the fruit grower can work out for himself. In the main, he should be guided by the best local practices employed by the more prosperous fruit growers in producing, handling and marketing the fruit crop. The very fact that a community has developed a prosperous fruit growing industry is evidence that it has been based upon sound practice and years of organized effort in building up the industry. One should not lightly discard established practice to adopt, indiscriminately, new methods, new varieties or alleged "short cuts" to success. Innovations should be tested only on a small scale, until their superior worth has been proven and they can be adapted to the local need.

Economic development is constantly bringing about better markets and marketing, better legislation, improved machinery and apparatus, and better conditions which influence the growth of the fruit growing industry.

With the rapid development of fruit growing, problems of a scientific nature arise, the solution of which requires laboratories, apparatus, experimental grounds and men trained for investigation. The solution of this type of problem falls within the province of the experiment station. The success of experiment station work and its application to commercial fruit production depend upon intimate association and cooperation between the experiment station worker and the fruit grower.

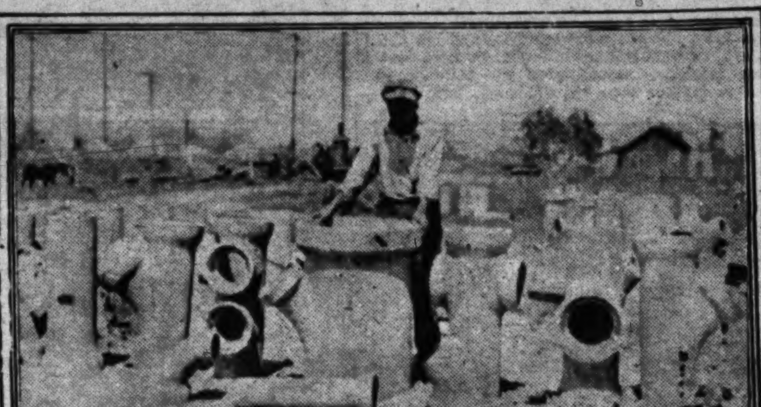
Spraying for insect and fungous diseases is a specific problem which illustrates how experiment station investigation and the progressive work of the orchardist have gone hand in hand in revolutionizing the fruit growing industry in recent years.

The first step was to find a poison or a fungicide which, when applied to the tree, would kill the pest. To know when to apply it, required the patient working out of the life history of the insect or the fungus. It is obvious that the preventative must be applied when the pest is in a susceptible stage, and just before it attacks the tissues of the tree. Often it was found that the spray which successfully destroyed the insect or the fungus also burned the tissues of the plant. It became necessary to find correctives which would neutralize this burning without destroying the efficacy of the spray.

What has been accomplished has required years of effort on the part of entomologists, pathologists, chemists and pomologists who have had to devise working methods and overcome obstacles which were difficult and often baffling. It has likewise called for patience, industry, bold progressive confidence, and even forebearance on the part of the fruit grower. Often the latter has experienced failure because the exact time or method of applying the spray, under his local conditions, was not fully known. More discouraging yet was the fact that sometimes fruit or foliage has been seriously injured before it was known that difference in local conditions, such as atmospheric moisture, succulence of foliage, or peculiarities of a variety of fruit may result in loss or failure in one locality when the same treatment results in success in another. The writer has vividly in mind instances where the fashion of spraying would have suffered ignominious death in a neighborhood, had a few courageous fruit growers not quietly ignored temporary failure and tried again, with a revised spray, finally achieving success.

The work of the fruit grower and of the experiment station has been accompanied by that of the manufacturer of spray mixtures, spray machinery and other apparatus and supplies, the evolution and perfection of which has been essential to efficient control of insects and fungi.

Work along the above lines is still making rapid progress. The fact that a majority of the more destructive orchard troubles may now be prevented, assures us that those which are not yet being successfully met may yet be brought under practical control.



Various styles of concrete pipe.

Left to right (back row)—eight-inch plain bell joint; eight-inch V; double T joint; fourteen-inch pipe with six-inch Y; eight-inch pipe with opposed double T; eight-inch T joint; eight-inch Y joint. Front row—four-inch elbow; four-inch plain; six-inch elbow.

MAKING CONCRETE PIPE ON THE FARM.

The use of machines for the making of concrete pipe for farm purposes is becoming more general among farmers of the Southwest. Machines costing from $4000 to $10,000 have been tested out by the University of Arizona and have been found to be successful and profitable where enough pipe is to be made to justify the first cost. The making of cement concrete pipe by hand in molds has been successfully done for many years for small jobs, and in localities distant from the railroad.

Good cement pipe requires good materials, cement, sand and small broken rock. It requires thorough mixing, expert handling and careful drying, protected from the sun and drying winds. Tamping alone does not produce the smooth exterior desired. The pipe should be washed inside with neat cement. Greater strength can be secured by increasing the thickness of the pipe wall and by using a wet consistency of the mortar.

The bell and spigot joint is used largely in the east, but the tongue and grooved joint seems best adapted to western conditions.

This pipe should not be laid in hot weather, except in the early part of the day, before the pipe becomes heated, as otherwise contraction cracks may appear. All concrete work of similiar nature should be done in the shade. Pipe should be laid with straight alignment and even grades, and should be covered to a depth of at least one foot. Mortar with one or two proportions with 8 per cent. hydrated lime is best for the joints.

The ordinary causes of failure of cement pipe are: external pressure, great depth of backfill, contraction while curing, unequal settlement and "water hammer" in pipe lines in which air is trapped.

Concrete pipe gains in strength for at least one month, and probably for three months after its manufacture. It is equally adapted for irrigation pipe lines and effects a great saving of water, land and labor; ditch cleaning and burrowing animals are avoided. Cement pipe is the logical conduit to replace small ditches. This pipe should have the preference for farm and road culverts. It is more durable, has a greater carrying capacity, and is much cheaper than corrugated iron. Cement pipe can also be used for ditch gates and around farm buildings. It is likely to replace iron pipe to some extent as a conduit for domestic water supplies that are under a low head.

Many Southern California farmers prefer the bell and spigot joint over the straight-end kind of pipe. The first is easily laid and has a tighter joint which is more easily sealed than the latter. The bell joint pipe, too, is self-centering. The spigot feeds into the bell so that the circumference of one pipe notches up with that of the other, giving a smooth flow line and increasing the carrying capacity of the pipe. No cement wash is required with this kind of pipe. In laying pipe around a curve or turn, too, the bell and spigot joint is more easily perfected.

HOPPERS ARE FASTIDIOUS.

SANTA BARBARA.—Discovery that the grasshoppers which have been lunching successively on wheat in the Cuyama district, beans in Faxen Canyon, and fruit in Paso Robles, are fastidious in their tastes, has enabled ranchers to exterminate the pests. At first a poison mixture of molasses bran and Paris Green was fairly effective, but this was succeeded by an orange juice combination that the hoppers liked even better. Then a Santa Barbara man mixed his poison with lemon juice and the insects fairly flocked to it. The State Horticultural Commissioner has issued a bulletin urging the use of lemon juice for poison, and the hoppers are completely under control.

FOR STEM-END ROT.

If you buy a watermelon with the stem end covered with a bluish substance, it does not necessarily follow that the melon is infected with disease. Many melon growers are this year painting the freshly-cut stem ends with a paste made of bluestone mixed with starch and water to keep out stem-end rot.

Inspect the tractor every day or so, being sure that all bolts are tight and each part is being properly lubricated.

RECORD PRICES FOR HOLSTEIN BULLS.

The front cover of this issue shows two wonderful Holstein bulls, Rag Apple Korndyke 8th and his son, Rag Apple Korndyke the Great. At the dispersion sale of the Oliver Cabana herd at Elma, N. Y., Rag Apple Korndyke 8th sold for $60,000 to A. W. Green, who owns two large herds of registered Holsteins in Ohio and Wisconsin. At the same sale Rag Apple Korndyke the Great was purchased by Robert R. Pointer of Deerborn, Mich., at the stupendous figure of $125,000. He is therefore the highest priced bull in the world of any age or of any breed.

Before the close of the Cabana sale, Mr. A. W. Green sold a half interest in Rag Apple Korndyke 8th for $50,000 to E. M. Detweiler of Polo, Ills., and E. J. Countryman of Dixon, Ills. Oliver Cabana, the owner of Pine Grove herd, one of the most spectacular breeders of Holsteins the breed has known, advertised Rag Apple Korndyke as the "Greatest Bull in the World." He sold the bull and his offspring for more money than had ever been received for any other sire and son before.

STOCK IN FAVOR.

Arizona stock has been in greater favor of late in the Kansas City market. Exceptionally high prices are secured for fat steers from the Salt River Valley, topped on cottonseed and grain. Rather remarkable are considered the returns on fourteen carloads of light stock lately received from Holbrook. Yearling steers and heifers, averaging 600 pounds, sold from $14 to $14.85. For 709 head, the average price was $88.10, compared with about $36 received for similar stock a couple of years ago. There was a gross return of $69,606 for the fourteen cars, which had been shipped by the Burnt Ranch Company.

The world's record for yearly production for 2-year-old Holstein heifers has just been broken by Pontiac Irene owned by the Pontiac State Hospital at Pontiac, Mich. This heifer as a senior 2-year-old produced 1102.68 pounds of butter and 25,324.6 pounds of milk in one year. This is the herd in which the great Pontiac family originated.

The American Beet Sugar Company is stocking its large ranch at Chino with registered Holsteins.

The fourth month after freshening she made 100 lbs. of butter—a very heavy and persistent producer. Sire: PRINCE HISKE WALKER, 176950, a son of PRINCE GELSCHE WALKER, from 26.68 lb. daughter of JULIANA KING OF RIVERSIDE.

Send for extended pedigree and picture.

WALTER F. MITCHELL. Visalia, California.

Blanche DeKol 3d is a daughter of a 30.54 pound cow. The dam of Hollywood Bessie Canary made 29.41 pounds of butter in seven days. The six nearest dams of It Segis Clorinda have averaged 32.48 pounds of butter in seven days. She is sired by a son of a 37.21 pound cow and out of a daughter of a thirty-seven pound cow. Clothilde Walker Sadie Vale is out of a 26.60 pound three-year-old, who won first in her class at Riverside. There are four daughters of Sir Dorina Jewel, that are outstanding individuals. They are sisters of Boweda the 37.62 pound cow that sold for $2400 at the March Guarantee sale in Sacramento. The bull at the head of the Burr Farm herd is Sir Veeman Korndyke Pontiac, a thirty pound son of the noted bull Sir Veeman Korndyke. His daughters are just beginning to come into milk and show promise of producing some high records.

The Pottenger Sanatorium at Monrovia is the home of one of the finest small herds of Holsteins in California. This foundation herd of about twenty animals is the nucleus of a great herd for the near future, if future developments are conducted along the same lines as have been started. Official testing has been carried on the past few months and some remarkable records made. Mercedes Roderick Mechthelde in seven days gave 571 pounds of milk and made 30.74 pounds of butter. She kept up this clip and in fourteen days gave 1091.2 pounds of milk and made 59.28 pounds of butter. Her daughter, Mechthilde Spoffard Korndyke, as a three-year-old, made over 23 pounds of butter in seven days. There are also two more of her daughters in the herd, one soon to come into milk and one just a calf. This cow and her three daughters are fine animals. She is a daughter of the bull Roderick Lincoln, who has thirty-seven A.R.O. daughters, thirteen of which have made from 20 to 33.97 pounds of butter in seven days. There are several other daughters and grand-daughters of Roderick Lincoln in the herd. There are also several daughters of Dichter Spoffard Korndyke Lad in the herd. He is out of the cow Lienwkje Lynfeld Pleasant Valley Kate, who made 36.15 pounds of butter in seven days and 131 pounds in thirty days. She tested 4.38 per cent. fat, her dam tested 4.74 per cent fat and his sire's dam tested 4.11 per cent. fat, making an average of 4.41 per cent. butter fat for his three nearest dams. His sire, Pledge Spoffard Calamity Paul, has thirty-five A.R.O. daughters, eighteen with records from 20 to 36.02 pounds of butter in seven days. The bull at the head of the Pottenger Sanatorium herd is Lienwkje Korndyke Duchess Lad. His dam, Arndyke Duchess Korndyke, gave over 100 pounds of milk per day for thirty days and made 112.96 pounds of butter in thirty days. His sire's dam gave 2864.80 pounds of milk in thirty days and made 126.05 pounds of butter. The first daughter of this bull has just freshened at one year and eleven months and made over sixteen pounds of butter in seven days.

Carnation King Sylvia,
Holstein-Friesian bull for which Carnation Milk Stock Farms at Seattle paid $106.000.

M. O. Pulliam of Ethenac, has gradually sold out his grade Holsteins and replaced them with registered Holsteins. He was one of the heaviest buyers at the dispersion sale of the McAlister herd at Chino. He now has a large number of fine animals. which are high record prospects. J. L. Morris of Arlington was also one of the heavy buyers at the McAlister sale, and took a number of heavy producers.

P. H. Krick of Anaheim has a small but select herd of registered Holsteins. It is not his aim to keep a large herd, as he keeps them on his orange grove, and buys all of his feed. As he says, "My aim is to keep about thirty milking animals and their young stuff. I want thirty high-class cows, and am breeding to that end." That he is attaining his ideal is shown by the cows in the herd. One of these is K. P. Idyl Segis, one of the heaviest producing three-year-old daughters of King of the Pontiacs. In seven days she produced 36.65 pounds of butter. There are in the herd also two daughters of the twenty-nine-pound cow Homestead Rowena. The herd is headed by the bull King Pontiac Netherland, a son of the great transmitting bull, King of the Pontiacs, who has 241 Advance Registry daughters, two of which made over forty pounds of butter in seven days. King Pontiac Netherland has not only inherited heavy producing blood from his sire and dam, but has transmitted it to his daughters, thereby proving himself to be a great animal. One of his daughters recently made over thirty pounds of butter in seven days, and others have made very creditable records at their various ages. Mr. Krick has ten of King Pontiac Netherland's daughters in his herd, one of which is a full sister to the thirty-pound cow. All of these daughters will be tested next fall.

The true measure of successful and constructive breeding of cattle is to produce animals that are of better type and better production ability than their dams. This

HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN ASSOCIATION MEETS.

St. Paul, Minn., was selected as the 1920 meeting place of the Holstein-Frisian Association of America, at the close of its interesting annual session at Philadelphia, June 4. Other important actions taken included the vote to change the number of directors from nine to sixteen; to request every member to send in a list of all registered animals in his possession, and the passing of a resolution barring from credit for record in the 305-day class any cow not producing a calf within fourteen months after the previous calfing.

There were 347 members present, but these had proxies from 3684 more members.

CALIFORNIA COTTON ACREAGE REDUCED.

A reduction in the acreage planted to cotton in California this year is shown by a report issued by E. E. Kaufman, field agent, United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Crop Estimates. The acreage planted and standing July 1 was estimated to be 169,000, having a condition of 99 per cent. of normal and at the present time indicating a probable production of about 114,000 bales. The acreage last year was 192,000, of which 173,000 was picked and produced, according to the revised estimate, 97,700 bales.

Of the total acreage in 1919 there are about 142,000 acres in the Imperial Valley, with a condition indicating at the present time a probable production of 93,000 bales. At Blythe, on the Colorado River, there has been an increase of about 5000 acres over the cotton planted in 1918, with a most excellent condition indicating a production of about 18,000 bales. In 1918 about 2500 acres of cotton were planted in the San Joaquin Valley, one-half of which was picked, producing nearly 500 bales. This year about 8000 acres were planted in the San Joaquin, of which over 5000 acres are in Fresno county. Quite a large percentage of this acreage was planted late and does not show a very good condition at this time. As cotton is a new crop in the San Joaquin Valley it is rather hard to estimate the probable production, as there is no data that would indicate what might be called a normal crop. From a recent inspection of this acreage it does not seem possible that it can all be brought to maturity, and the production will very likely be in the neighborhood of 3000 bales.

For the United States there has been a decrease of nearly 9 per cent. in the acreage planted to cotton, compared with 1918. This year the preliminary estimate is for 33,960,000 acres. The condition is only 70 per cent. of a normal, compared to 85.5 last year and a ten-year average of 80.3. The indicated production is for 10,986,000 bales, or more than 1,000,000 less than the revised figures on production for 1918. The decrease in acreage the present year is largely owing to concerted action on the part of cotton planters throughout the South, but at the same ttime weather conditions during the planting season were very unfavorable and doubtless had some effect in reducing the acreage.

ALFALFA FARMERS TO GET GOOD PRICE.

After perusing the late weather and crop reports of the Pacific Coast, alfalfa raisers of the Southwest feel that they will be much sought by the buyers this year. The most recent report states that rains are needed in almost every section of the coast to revive drying pastures, but rains, generally speaking, would do more harm than good in California at this season. There is an acute shortage of irrigation water in the San Joaquin Valley, a condition which will cause a shrinkage in yields of many crops, including alfalfa, and in Utah the depletion of irrigation water has made necessary the abandonment of considerable spring wheat, the report states.

Barley and oat harvesting is nearly completed; barley is disappointing, oats good. The wheat harvest is well along, the crop being uneven. Mountain ranges of stock are in good condition, but bottom and foothill pastures are drying rapidly. Good third crop of alfalfa is being secured. Potato digging is general, the crop being fair to good. Corn, cotton, rice, sugar beets and grapes are making good progress. Beans need less sunshine and more moisture. Harvesting peaches, apricots and plums is general, the crop being excellent. In many places navel oranges and lemons are dropping badly.

June Drop Takes Toll.

forest trees. Here climatic conditions obtaining during the blooming and critical period before the fruit is set are about as different as possible from those occurring in California during the same period. The atmospheric humidity is high and the temperature not excessive. The atmospheric pull on the leaves for water is comparatively low. With our hardy temperate-zoned fruits, and even our desert shrubs, experiencing abnormal water relations during periods of intense dry atmospheric conditions, what could be reasonably be expected of citrus trees, so poorly adapted to withstanding a high atmospheric pull for moisture? The wonder is that it was never thought of before.

Citrus trees, on investigation, have been found to exercise absolutely no control over their water loss. Unable to control water loss during hot dry periods they are absolutely at the mercy of the elements, and react by shedding those parts of the least importance in the economy of the tree, the fruits.

Since the drop is largely due to climatic conditions, obviously measures of control must be largely in the nature of ameliorating climatic extremes which may occur during the critical period lasting between April and July 1. The most effective method of accomplishing this to date has been the use of a rank growing early summer cover crop which carpets the ground in the orchard during this period. Plantings at Bakersfield last year, where properly managed, showed phenomenal results in increasing the crop matured. A 600-acre grove planted to a summer cover crop this season, recently inspected by the writer, showed rather satisfactory results on the whole.

Of all the cover crops used to date, Melilotus alba, alfalfa, and buckwheat have given the most promising results. The writer knows of no good reason why Melilotus indica should not prove more satisfactory than any of these. Cow peas and beans apparently must be abandoned as crops for prevention of the June drop. Where planted early enough and adequate water has been supplied and suitable varieties used, the summer cover crop for prevention of the June drop still holds out the greatest promise of successful control.

Protection of the soil in any way from our intense summer heat has shown beneficial results in preventing June drop. Mulching with almost any material was found to be a decided aid in 1917.

Providing a plentiful supply of available nitrogen for the trees during the critical period has been shown to result in a decidedly better crop of fruit.

A certain part of the shedding is due to a fungus Alternaria citri, which infects the young fruits through the cracks and imperfections in the navel end. The amount of infection and consequent dropping due to this fungus varies greatly from season to season. Some of the affected fruits persist to maturity and show up on packing as heart rot, or navel end rot fruits. These fruits, however, represent the few which are able to resist the attacks of the fungus and persist to maturity. The greater part of the affected fruits fall from the tree before reaching two inches in diameter. These fruits, if cut open, will exhibit a dark discoloration under the navel end, which, if cultured, usually readily give the Alternaria.

On account of the nature of infection, occuring as it does in the navel end, and the universal presence of the fungus spores, this fungus being found practically everywhere, there seems to be no hope of controlling the fungus drop by spraying. Co-operative spraying experiments have so far failed to show any results whatever.

Apparently the best hope for the successful control of the June drop lies along the lines of the use of the summer cover crop or in the finding of heat resistant sports which are satisfactory in other respects.

WATER AND FEED

The question of water and feed is the farmer's greatest worry. Stock must have both. A hot day in summer without water, or a scarcity of feed for a few days in winter can easily wreck your dairy profits for the entire year.

Dairy cows will not give milk unless properly fed. The surest way to feed is from a silo. By putting your green crops into ensilage you have a feed that is more nourishing, goes farther, and is an insurance against shortage during the winter. It is the one logical way to feed a dairy and is the secret of dairy success.

The Pacific is built to meet every requirement, give maximum service and yet be sold at a reasonable price. It is strong, serviceable, convenient, and will last a lifetime.

Pacific Silos are built of well-seasoned 2-inch Redwood staves with strong fir door frames. Heavy steel hoops with cold upset threads and malleable iron lugs. Other Pacific features are self-supporting cover; hinged ventilators; hingeless doors and iron-tongue splicing. Foundation plans are furnished with every silo.

"BLACK AND WHITE" DEVELOPMENT IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

BY H. S. HOARD.

THE development of Holstein cattle in California has taken a great stride in the past five years.

Registered Holsteins have been bred in California since the early seventies. One of the first breeders in the State was Peter Coutts of Mayfield. Gov. Leland Stanford of San Francisco became greatly interested in Holsteins, established a large herd and did much toward popularizing and developing the breed. Hotaling, a wealthy San Francisco wine merchant, brought into the State some of the best bulls obtainable in the East. The great Riverside herd was also one of the foundation herds of the State.

From these and other smaller herds of the early days good males and females were scattered throughout the State, additions being made from time to time by purchases in New York, Wisconsin and other Eastern States.

It was not until ten years ago, however, that registered Holsteins began to come into general demand in California. The past five years has seen a development unequalled probably in any other part of the United States.

There are today in California probably fifty herds of from 100 to 300 registered animals, together with great numbers of herds ranging from ten to 100 head each.

The greatest increase in herds of registered Holsteins at the present time is probably in the southern part of the State. Several large herds have recently been established in the Imperial Valley and San Bernardino and Riverside counties, with their great stretches of alfalfa land, are also adding a large number of Holsteins to their live-stock population.

Holsteins have not only been increasing numerically, but have been showing a constantly higher production ability, as well as commanding higher prices.

SOME RECORD BREAKERS.

California has produced several world's record cows. Probably the best known of these is the great cow, Tilly Alcartra. She holds the world's record for milk production from one to six years. In one year she has produced 33,425 pounds of milk and in six years, 156,776 pounds of milk. This wonderful cow is owned by A. W. Morris & Sons, Woodland.

The world's record junior three-year-old. Johanna Princess Moore 2d, is also a California cow, being owned by the Palo Alto Stock Farms at Palo Alto. She has given 25,625 pounds of milk and made 1175 pounds of butter in one year.

Nattaline Walker, a junior three-year-old owned by the Bridgeford Company of Knightsen, holds the world's record for thirty and sixty days, for her age. In seven days she gave 818 pounds of milk, making 34.31 pounds of butter. In thirty days she gave 3319.8 pounds of milk, making 134.76 pounds of butter. Another cow in the same herd named Adriondac Wietske Dairy Maid gave 831.7 pounds of milk and made 41.03 pounds of butter in seven days. In thirty days she gave 3584 pounds of milk and 158.3 pounds of butter and in sixty days, 7200 pounds of milk and 305 pounds of butter. Her thirty and sixty day records are the highest in the United States for both milk and butter.

SOME THIRTY POUNDERS.

California has produced a goodly number of cows which have made over thirty pounds of butter in seven days. W. J. Higdon, Tulare, has developed nine cows with records running from thirty to thirty-five pounds of butter in seven days, and all in eighteen months' time.

A. J. Stalder, Riverside, has developed two fine thirty-pound cows.

The Millbrae Dairy at Millbrae has three cows with records of over thirty pounds.

P. H. Krich, Anaheim, has a cow with thirty-six pounds of butter in seven days to her credit.

A. G. Vogel of Fresno has several cows with records from thirty to thirty-five pounds.

The Holstein breeders of the State as a whole are a wide-awake, progressive lot of men, and are developing cattle which stand second to none. Already California cattle are commanding high prices in the East.

A. W. Morris & Sons recently sold four head at the association sale in Philadelphia for a total of $26,050. The bull Sir Aaggie Meade DeKol sold for $11,000. Tilly Alcartra 2d, a daughter of the great cow, Tilly Alcartra, sold for $11,200.

California breeders are also paying high prices to get the right kind of breeding stock.

A GREAT SALE.

The California breeders' sale held in April of this year obtained the highest average ever obtained at a one-day sale. Over a hundred head sold at an average of $1045 a head. The bull King Abbeherd Johanna Segis, consigned by the Bridgeford Company, was sold for $5000 to Walter Mitchell of Visalia.

W. J. Higdon of Tulare purchased King Korndyke Pontiac 20th for $6500 from Mrs. Anita Baldwin at private treaty.

Among the high-priced cows in the State are Boweda 159706, sold by the Bridgeford Company for $4000. K. P. Tola, purchased by R. F. Guerin of Visalia for $3950.

California probably has greater natural advantages for raising good dairy cattle, than any other State in the Union. The climate is ideal for developing large growth, and heavy production on a minimum of feed and is conducive to good health in cattle. Green feed is available in California the year 'round.

Mexico, South America and the Orient are looking to America for good Holsteins and California breeders should get in a position to supply the demand which is coming.

MILK PRODUCERS NAMED IN ACTION.

EL CENTRO.—What is declared to be the opening gun of a fight on the Associated Dairymen of California was begun in the Superior Court here a few days ago, when A. Voorting, a member of the Imperial Valley Milk Producers' Association, filed suit to cancel his membership in the association, recover his notes, and be awarded $45 alleged damages. Voorting also asks an injunction to prevent J. M. Henderson, president of the Associated Dairymen, from negotiating, assigning or transferring his, Voorting's notes. Dist.-Atty. C. R. Simon is attorney for Voorting. Mr. Simon declares that other dairymen will follow Voorting and file similar suits.

Some strong language is used in the complaint. Voorting declares in this document that "Henderson, by reason of his control of the said Associated Darlymen of California and of the various local milk producers' associations organized by him throughout the State, is enabled to control in a large measure the banking and financial affairs of the dairymen and to otherwise control the milk producers.

More than 80 per cent. of the dairymen of Imperial Valley are members of the association, which was organized over a year ago, each member signing a contract to pay $5 per cow owned, one-tenth of which was paid in cash, and notes given for the remainder. The association has two creameries in the valley, one at Holtville and one at Imperial, and plans to build a third. The $175,000 plant of the California Central Creameries here is nearly idle for lack of cream. The Imperial Valley Milk Producers' Association, of which J. H. Holland is the head, has not made answer, but will among other things allege that the fears of the plaintiff regarding his notes is unfounded and unjustified by the conduct and past history of the association.

The Casa Grande Valley of Arizona has entered into a new industry, that of melon growing, and this season will ship 400 carloads of canteloupes to Chicago, as well as many to southwestern points. In this section about 800 acres are in melons, almost wholly irrigated by pumping from the underflow of the Santa Cruz river. Much added development is expected from the diversion of the Gila River's waters by a dam to be constructed by the Indian Bureau above Florence.

LIVE-STOCK BULLETIN.

BY H. S. HOARD.

The rapid development of Holstein breeding in California has been given national recognition through the election to the directorate of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America of Frank L. Morris of the A. W. Morris & Sons Corporation. He is the first California Holstein breeder to be so honored.

James Jeffries, former world champion in the prize ring, is developing a herd of Holsteins on his ranch at Burbank which show promise of producing some great milk and butter producers. His herd sire, King Segis Pontiac Jannek, is one of the fine Holstein bulls on the Pacific Coast. His sire, King Segis Pontiac, is now a century sire, having 103 A. R. O. daughters, four of which have records over thirty pounds of butter in seven days. The dam of King Segis Pontiac was Pontiac Clothilde De Kol 2d, who made 37.21 pounds of butter in seven days, 145.29 pounds of butter in thirty days and 1271.60 pounds of butter in a year. His sire was the noted bull, King Segis, who although he died when but six years of age, has left a wonderful lot of high producing progeny. He has eighty-seven A.R.O. daughters, eleven of which have records of over thirty pounds, and three of his grand-daughters have records of from forty to fifty pounds of butter in seven days. The dam of King Segis Pontiac Jannek is Jannek Albina DeKol, who gave 605.30 pounds of milk in seven days and made 29.71 pounds of butter. Official testing is being done in the Jeffries herd, and several records ranging from twenty-six to thirty-one pounds have been made. A notable feature of this herd is the large size of the animals and the well-developed milk organs.

The fame of Orange county's bumper crops of oranges, beans and sugar beets has placed this county high in the ranks of the leading agricultural counties in the State. She is now adding to her laurels in the establishment of several fine herds of Holstein cattle. F. H. Krick of Santa Ana has a small but promising herd headed by the thirty-four pound bull, Duke Cornucopia Sarcastic. His dam, Alba Sadie Cornucopia Creetia, made 34.14 pounds of butter in seven days and 126.67 pounds in thirty days. M. Babylon, near Tustin, also has a very promising herd. His herd sire is Prince Gelsche Korndyke Segis, a richly-bred bull, backed by heavy producing cows for many generations. His seven nearest dams average 31.87 pounds of butter in seven days, five of them having records from 30.54 to 37.21 pounds. His sire was Prince Gelsche Walker, one of the greatest transmitting and reproducing sires ever brought to the Pacific Coast.

San Bernardino county Holstein herds are increasing both in numbers and size. Two of the best are those of R. F. Bradley at San Bernardino and E. D. Barry, Jr., at Daggett. Bradley's herd is headed by Prince Aralia whose dam Stanislaus Princess Cleopatra made 32.18 pounds of butter in seven days, and whose sire is a son of the great bull Prince Gelsche Walker. The females in the Bradley herd are of equally high quality. One is a daughter of the $25,000 bull, Johanna McKinley Segis, owned by the Carnation Milk Products Company. The Barry herd at Daggett consists largely of animals bred by A. W. Morris & Sons, including the cow, King Hengerveld Honriette for which $4000 was paid at the Breeders' Guaranty sale at Sacramento in March.

The Burr Farms of Los Angeles have assembled a remarkable herd of registered Holsteins in the past two years. To assemble 100 head of well-bred heavy-producing animals of good type is a task, and requires constant searching. Among the animals in the herd are Iowana Witte, who as a senior two-year-old gave 443 pounds of milk and made twenty-four pounds of butter. In 120 days she made 450 pounds of butter, and was tenth highest cow for her age in the United States in the ten months' division, although she milked only 186 days instead of 300 days. Iowana Witte is not only a heavy producer, but is a show animal as well, and her two sons in service in this herd are also of show ring quality. They won second as the produce of dam at the Liberty Fair, and one of them was first as senior calf, and the other first in the yearling class and junior champion. Another animal in this herd is Duchess Ormsby Sadie Vale, first as senior calf at the Riverside Fair. Another heifer, It Changeling Wildwood, was first junior calf at the same fair. Hazelwood Ormsby Korndyke was first in her class and junior champion female at the Liberty Fair, and was in the group that won first as get of sire. Among the well-bred heifers which have recently been added to the herd is Carnation Rag Apple DeKol. Her two grandsires are valued at $125,000. One of her grandsires, Johanna McKinley Segis, was sold for $25,000 and a half interest in her other grandsire, Ray Apple Korndyke 8th, was sold for $50,000. Stratford Segis

MAKING OVER FARMS TO SUIT POWER FARMING REQUIREMENTS.

BY H. A. CRAFTS.

ONE of the most difficult things to comprehend about the farm tractor is its tremendous capabilities when compared with horse power. Another unknown quantity is its possibilities of development. And in this latter consideration there are two factors to be observed.

One of these is the adaptation of the farm tractor to the farm, the individual farm as well as the general farm, and the other the adaptation of the farm to the tractor.

The last named is susceptible of a greater development than is the first, because the farm tractor, by continuous improvements has been brought to a point where it is doing efficiently and well the work for which it was intended. But in the process of adapting the farm to the tractor we have this truth to encounter—that our farms have all been planned to be operated by horse power.

Naturally farms that have been planned and operated upon the basis of an inferior power must undergo important modifications when they come to be operated by a superior power. The general tendency in this transformation must be towards larger farms, or larger fields at least.

MORE LARGE FARMS.

In this connection it is interesting to know something about the number and comparative size of the farms in California. The latest statistics are for 1910. Of course there have been many changes since that date, with a probable increase in small farms. Here are the figures:

Farms under three acres in area, 1269; over three and under nine acres, 9324; ten acres to nineteen, 11,932; twenty to forty-nine, 20,614; fifty to ninety-nine acres, 10,680; 100 to 174 acres, 12,015; 175 to 259 acres, 4689; 260 to 499 acres, 7862; 500 to 999 acres, 5119; 1000 acres and over, 4693.

Putting under a barley cover crop.

The photograph taken in the walnut orchard on the Reese Ranch at Anaheim shows an International 8-16 tractor pulling a six-foot International leverless disc harrow.

In the ten years previous there had been increases in the farms from three to 100 acres, while there had been a small decrease in the big farms. But this was before the big era of the farm tractor, and from now on we may confidently look for an increase in the number of farms of tractor-power size.

It is possible, too, that the farm tractor is destined to, in time, put small farming out of business. The very fact of machinery replacing horse power on the farm is to force farming more and more to a business basis.

We may possibly see our farming drift into the hands of large corporations, backed by ample capital and equipped with a great array of improved farm machinery. Under such conditions the small farm could not successfully compete with its big neighbor.

As a matter of survival, the small farmers may possibly be compelled to pool their lands within certain prescribed boundaries and carry on their farming under the cooperative system. And this view brings up again the proposition embodied in our opening paragraph.

TRACTOR PERFORMANCE.

When we consider the fact that one man with a forty-horse-power farm tractor in a ten hour day can plow thirty-five acres, while one man with a walking plow and a pair of farm horses working the same number of hours can plow but two acres, the tremendous superiority of the tractor over the horse becomes startlingly apparent.

Another instance; a forty-horse-power tractor will easily pull a 100-foot front of spike-tooth harrows, and by this means one man working a single tractor can harrow 240 acres in a ten-hour day.

It is only by visualizing instances of this kind that one can obtain any adequate idea of the capabilities of the farm tractor.

TRACTOR ROW JOTTINGS.

On August 1, the firm of Dixon and Griswold, agents for the P. & O. line of implements before the line was acquired by the I. H. C. Company, will retire from the implement selling field. Their plans for the future have not matured enough for an announcement.

C. G. Hansen, former manager for E. P. Bosbyshell & Co., who, rumor has it, has acquired a majority interest in the firm, is on an eastern trip, during which he will visit the Heider tractor factory and Rock Island Plow Works.

Motion pictures of the start of the Wheat tractor on its transcontinental trip from the Atlantic Coast to Los Angeles arrived in Southern California early this month and were shown by Manager Sullivan of the Hession Sales Company. The tractor is expected to arrive here early next month.

An association of motor truck owners has been formed at Sacramento for the purpose of systematizing the rural motor trucking business.

BROAD TEXAS ACRES CALL FOR TRACTORS.

Believing that one tractor to every 30,000 acres of land in Texas is not enough, the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign for the use of more tractors, which will mean greater production in the Lone Star State. A census showed the chamber that there were only 4114 tractors in the State, or an average of one machine to every 102 farms, sixty-seven counties being without a single tractor. In a manifesto the Fort Worth business men state that no other State in the Union is better adapted to tractor cultivation than Texas. More than 60,000,000 acres of tillable land in Texas has never seen a plow, it was stated, only lacking adequate and modern methods of cultivation to produce good crops.

HOW THE TRACTOR IS REPLACING BOTH HORSE AND MAN POWER.

BY ARTHUR L. DAHL.

THE tractor will help the farmer to solve his labor problems this year and the next. The war is over, but the duty of providing all the food we can remains the same, for foreign demands will be great for some years to come. The tractor, the modern farm hired hand, will fill the breach and help the American farmer produce banner crops whether a labor shortage exists or not, for it takes the place of both man and animal.

The sole object and purpose of a tractor is to supply power. The function of the horse on the farm is the same, but in proportion to its bulk a horse is a less effective power plant. Hay as fuel for making power cannot equal gasoline. A tractor no larger than a horse, and weighing but little more, will supply many times the power of that horse, and do it continuously hour after hour for days at a stretch, never getting tired or losing its pulling power. One man can direct the operations of a tractor possessing the power of seventy horses as easily as he can drive a single team, and accordingly he can multiply by thirty-five the work which can be accomplished in a day through the use of the mechanical horse.

The average operating unit on an American farm is a two-horse team, capable of pulling but a single plow, and requiring the entire time and attention of a man to direct them. The average tractor unit used in farm work, has a rating of about twenty horse power and is capable of pulling at one time two or three plows of wider dimensions than the moldboard plow used for teams. One man can likewise operate this outfit, which is capable of plowing an acre of land every hour, as against an average of an acre and a half a day for the animal team. The tractor owner, therefore, in doing the same work in a day that would take a team and man ten days to do, is getting the benefit of ten men's work a day at a cost of only one man's wages. Disregarding entirely the superiority of the machine over horses from the standpoint of power the average farmer who operates a tractor is able to solve his labor problem, even if it is not possible to get hired laborers. The young son or daughter or wife can operate a tractor in emergency, once they get the hang of it.

DEPENDABLE POWER.

The tractor is coming to be to the farmer what the automobile or truck is to the business man. With it he can accomplish many times the amount of work formerly accomplished, and do it with less expenditure of time and effort. He has a dependable source of power not affected by climatic conditions. If it is necesary to continue plowing through the day and night, or for several days in succession, the tractor will respond to full capacity, and hot, sunny days that would incapacitate horses have no effect upon the insensible machine. Mud that will mire animals, will not stop the tractor, for it is equipped with self-laying tracks or broad wheels that distribute the weight over a large surface.

Farming is a seasonal vocation, with a specified time for doing certain things if best results are to be obtained. Often the best made plans of the farmer are interfered with by excessive rains, or prolonged droughts, or some other natural cause beyond his control. Where he has allowed himself several weeks to do a particular job of plowing, he may find he must do it in as many days, and with horse power alone the task would be impossible. A horse can work for only a few hours without rest, and when the animals are idle, the men are idle too. With a tractor, the work could and would be continued until it was finished, whether the clock struck twelve noonday or midnight. Night farming is quite a common practice throughout the country, and many farmers, in plowing their lands, run their machines continuously for days, changing operators, and using lights for night plowing. Many manufacturers furnish lighting systems to be used with their machines, which supply ample light to carry on operations at night. At the National Tractor Show held recently at Salina, Kan., a Parrett tractor was operated continuously for four and a half days, and plowed seventy-seven acres of gumbo soil, in spite of a heavy rain that fell part of the time.

The modern tractor is capable of doing practically all the various kinds of work performed by horses, and in addition it can do a lot of things not possible with animals. For instance, the motor of the tractor can be belted to many machines and supply power for sawing wood, grinding lime, pumping water, cutting silage or feed, and a dozen other things. To properly fill these silos some sort of a power plant is required. The tractor motor will run the silage cutter, hoist the crop to the top of the silo, and pump the water required for wetting it down. In the winter time when work is slack, the tractor can be used for pulling stumps, sawing up dead trees for fuel or fence posts, or for grinding up limestone to sweeten soils. Possessing the ability to operate, at a fair rate of speed, over rough and uneven ground, the tractor can be used for hauling fertilizer or straw for spreading on the fields.

A GOOD PULLER.

At certain stages of the year, as at harvest time, a farmer often finds that it is necessary to haul large quantities of supplies or crops to town, or a warehouse or to market, and here the ability of the tractor to pull heavy loads will save him many trips. The average twenty-horse-power machine will pull a load of ten tons or more and in rural communities it is common to see a tractor come chugging along the road pulling from four to six heavily loaded wagons. One man can operate the outfit, thus saving the time of man and beast in making several trips to haul the same quantity.

So diverse are the uses of the farm tractor that it can be kept busy at all stages of the season. When the plowing is over, it can be used to cultivate the soil in the orchard, or on road scraping. When the crops are ready for harvesting, the tractor will pull the cutter and binder, and furnish power to operate the threshing machine. The power from a tractor motor is steady and sustained, and it is ideal for threshing, where fluctuations in power means the loss of grain. The use of this form of power also eliminates the great danger from fire, or dust explosions, so common when steam engines are used and many owners of threshing outfits, who move from one farm to another doing custom work, rely upon tractors for all their power, pulling their outfits from one job to another and using the tractor motor to run the threshing machine.

LIGHTENS LABOR.

A tractor, in addition to supplanting or supplementing the work of horses, lightens the work of the farmer, because it enables him to get it done quicker and with less personal physical effort than before. It is no easy task to drive a fractious team, guiding a plow along dusty furrows in a broiling sun, and keeping it up hour after hour. It is not nearly as tiresome to sit on a tractor seat, under a canvas shade, and turn a wheel that guides the machine along the proper course. A farmer can work for longer hours on a tractor without tiring than he could with animals, and during the same period he can accomplish many times the amount of work possible with horses.

Tractors consume food, or fuel, only when actually at work, and when the slack season comes, the farmer can cover his machine with a tarpaulin or run it in the barn and forget it until he needs its power. With horses, they must be fed and cared for regularly, whether they loll in the barn or are engaged in actual work. When the work of a tractor stops the expense stops.

WATCH YOUR POTATOES.

Keep watch at digging time for potatoes with warty outgrowths which are light brown when young, black and decayed when old. Report promptly all such to the County Farm Adviser, or to the nearest agricultural experiment station.

Too late to plant? No!

TRACTOR and TRUCK for the PRICE of ONE

Power is of the first importance in any tractor. The WHEAT 12-24 has plenty of reserve over its rating to handle three 14-inch plow bottoms or their equivalent. On the belt it will operate a 22 or 24-inch separator with wind stacker or other farm machinery requiring equal power.
The WHEAT tractor will haul your crops to market with the exclusive interchangeable road wheel attachment. It can be quickly converted into a rubber tired ROAD TRUCK that will do anything with trailers that a 3500-pound truck can do on any road available for trucks or automobiles at a speed up to 12 miles an hour.
We ask your careful consideration of the WHEAT tractor in making your choice.

Power, Durability, Economy, Almost Beyond Belief

It would require considerable ingenuity to provide farm or road work for a tractor equal to the tasks performed by the "Caterpillar" Tractor on the fighting front.

Yet it is a matter of historical record that in the war the "Caterpillar" Tractor demonstrated a pulling power, durability, dependability and economy of operation almost beyond belief.

This is not surprising to "Caterpillar" Tractor owners. They have for years been proving the soundness of Holt design, Holt methods of combining materials, and Holt workmanship.

It is these, plus the wonderful Holt motor, that give the "Caterpillar" Tractor its great drawbar pull and durability for all sorts of farm and road work. And you can get Holt design, materials and workmanship only in the "Caterpillar" Tractor—the only tractor of the track-type used by the Allies in the great war—chosen and proved by severe and prolonged tests.

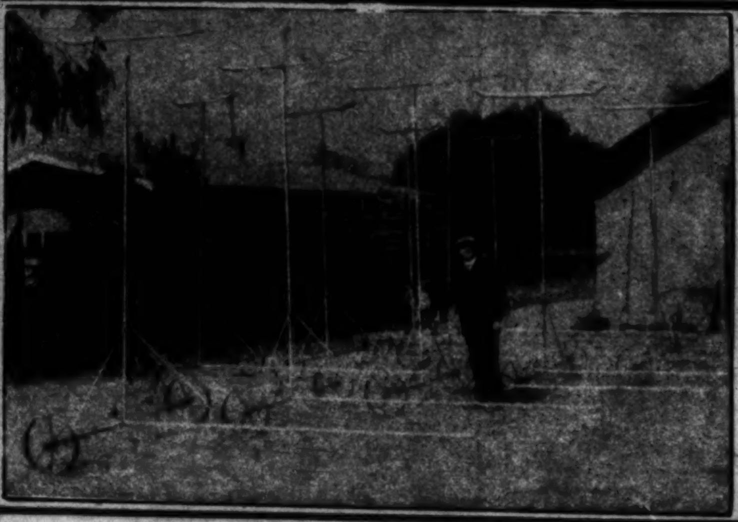
Made-to-Order Showers for the Thirsty Citrus Grove.

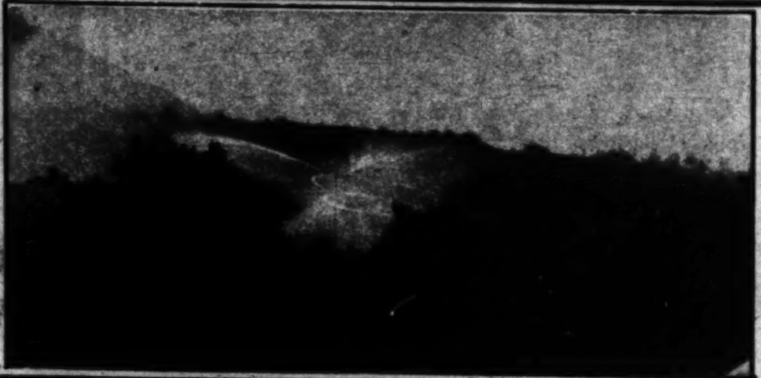
CITRUS growers in the vicinity of Lamanda Park are becoming actively interested in the use of overhead sprinklers for irrigating their groves. Innes Kinney, manager of the Kinneloa Ranch, two miles north of that place, is a pioneer in this movement, having become a thorough convert after intensive study and long experimentation. He now has a complete sprinkling system installed and working on more than fifty acres of citrus trees and says he is greatly pleased with results secured to date. This is believed to be the largest overhead sprinkling plant in the world for the irrigation of oranges and lemons and promises to be the model for all growers who are possessed of that prime requisite, irrigating water under pressure.

Mr. Kinney has devised a truck to carry the sprinklers, the foundation of which is a "T" shaped frame made of small water pipe. The cross bar forms the axle of the truck, having a wheel at either end, and the long stem serves as a tongue with which the truck may be moved from place to place and as a brace to steady the entire frame when at work. From the point where these two join a third pipe extends straight up to the height which will make the water the most effective. On top of his pipe is a cross arm of smaller pipe with curved ends and on each of these ends is a sprinkling nozzle. The water pressure causes these arms to revolve and the sprinklers are so made as to distribute the water equally and in large drops over a circle about 100 feet in diameter. It will be readily seen that a long hose connecting this stand with a hydrant will enable each sprinkler to serve a large area and a few of them can be made to irrigate a large grove. The main advantages of this method of irrigation, says Mr. Kinney, are (1) equal distribution of water in nature's way over the entire ground surface; (2) work done with very little oversight and no expense for furrows or basins; (3) all the water made effective; (4) no loss by run-off or evaporation.



Trucks devised by Mr. Kinney for carrying overhead sprinklers over the Kinneloa ranch grove.

Sprinklers in place, hoses attached and everything set for a "shower." A twist of the wrist and the "rain" commences.



A gentle "summer rain," Mr. Kinney says, reproduces the conditions under which citrus fruits are grown in their native home, the tropics.

"WORKS IN ANY SOIL."

In speaking of the merits of this system of irrigation as compared with the old methods Mr. Kinney says: "It is a well known fact that in heavy soils the orange tree feeds in the first fourteen inches and in light soils in the first three or four feet. The food is made available to the tree by bacterial action. When the bacteria die they release the food in a soluble form so the tree can absorb it. Experiments have proven that the fine hair roots of the tree gather most of its food close to the surface. From this it will be seen that a heavy application of water is of no good to the tree save as it returns through capillary attraction. It is also apparent that a light application of water to the entire surface of the ground would carry available food to these hair roots. The overhead sprinkler distributes the water in the way of nature's rain, bringing it to the roots in a better and more efficient way than any other method.

"Another advantage lies in the fact that in this way all the water becomes at once available to the tree as it penetrates the ground no more than from three to six feet. There is also very little loss of water from evaporation. The particular type of sprinkler used covers a large area of ground and the nozzle causes the water to be distributed in large drops. Few people realize that while being sprinkled the tree is not using up the water already available in the ground and that there is little evaporation as the tree is cool and evaporation is caused by heat. These sprinklers can be used in both heavy and light soils with practically the same advantage, as the soil penetration of the water will be practically the same as that of the tree roots.

THE "NATURAL METHOD."

Citrus trees are natives of the tropics and are there subject to frequent showers. Thus they are enabled to withstand without damage such showering as is made by the sprinklers.

The entire root system of the tree is absorbing moisture at the same time and storing it in its multitude of root clusters. The overhead system feeds water to all the ground while the furrows feed less than half and with basins still less of the ground is served. Here the advantage of the sprinklers is very apparent. This method is especially effective in bringing to life old and wornout trees, as much of the water which falls on the branches is carried down the trunk and into the ground where it encourages the growth of new roots, which are imperatively needed for renewing the root system. My observation teaches me that many of those farmers who have failed in the use of this system have been ignorant of a science to water your trees right as it of the secrets of fertility. It is as much is to feed them right. Most farmers know the need for feeding their poultry and other live stock not only at the right time, but with a balanced ration. The same rule applies here.

"HELPS ROUT PESTS."

"The equipment of more than fifty acres of citrus trees has not cost us more than $15 an acre under the conditions prevailing on the Kinneloa Ranch. This method does away with the need for making ditches and watching and regulating the water flow, which experience has shown to be very costly, especially on hillsides. The application of water in this way carries the plant food on the surface of the ground in solution directly to the root mouths, thus saving by increasing the food supply without increasing the cost.

It is also my opinion that the use of this system would be of material assistance in controlling the red spider and other destructive citrus insects and parasites. In the investigations I have made leading up to these conclusions I have been greatly assisted by Dr. Webber of the Riverside Citrus Experiment Station and Dr. I. E. Colt, formerly of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau."

A close-up of one of Mr. Kinney's "water wagons."

WHAT TO EXPECT OF TRACTOR-DRAWN PLOW.

Tractor operators may more or less accurately gauge the amount of work an outfit will do in one day if they know the speed of their machine and the depth of their plows. Some time, however, must be allowed for turning, depending on the shape of the field and how it is plowed. Generally, 6 per cent. of the plowing time is consumed in turning.

Ordinarily, however, a fourteen-inch two-bottom plow, in a ten-hour day, exclusive of turning, will plow five and three-fifths acres at two and one-eighth miles per hour; six and one-third acres at two and three-eighths miles per hour, and six and three-fifths acres at two and one-half miles per hour. A fourteen-inch three-bottom plow, tractor drawn, will plow eight and one-half acres at two and one-eight miles per hour; eight and nine-tenths acres at two and one-quarter miles per hour, and nine and nine-tenths acres at two and one-half miles per hour.

PLANT WINDBREAKS.

There are many advantages of windbreaks, and farmers throughout California are being urged to plant them this year as memorials to the soldiers and sailors of the State who lost their lives in the great war. Windbreaks shelter live stock from the heat, prevent soil erosion by wind, protect early crops, stop the dropping of immature fruit caused by wind, conserve the soil moisture, promote humus formation and supply firewood.

THE PHENOMENAL PROGRESS OF THE HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN BREED.

THE Holstein-Friesian breed of cattle has made a rapid and unprecedented progress in America. It stands today the strongest as to numbers and probably the most popular of the dairy breeds, if the number of persons breeding them can be taken as a basis for comparison.

The first Holsteins imported into America of which a record was kept were brought in by Winthrop W. Chenery of Middlesex county, Massachusetts, in the early sixties. Holstein cattle are prolific and sure breeders, as is shown by the number of animals now registered in America. The records show that only 7752 animals have been imported from Holland. There have been 876,400 descendents registered from these, to say nothing of the hundred of thousands of grade animals and pure bred bull calves of which no record has been kept.

In the past fifteen years large numbers of Holsteins have been exported from the United States to Japan, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Mexico and Central America. European countries are now looking to America to supply their depleted herds. A shipment of 106 head was recently purchased by the French High Commission in the United States and sent to France.

WONDERFUL MILKERS.

The Holstein breed is characterized by the heavy flow of milk. Even in the early history of the breed in America there were occasional cows who gave eighty to 100 pounds of milk per day. The average of the breed for percentage of butterfat is not as high as that for some other breeds, but although the percentage may not be so high, the total production of butter fat per animal undoubtedly, exceeds the average total of any other breed.

Great progress has been made in breeding Holsteins in America since their introduction, the greatest progress having been made since the development of the Babcock test by Dr. Babcock of the University of Wisconsin.

California has the destinction of having the world's greatest milk producing cow, Tilly Alcarta. During the past year she has produced 33,425 pounds of milk. In six years she has produced 156,776 pounds of milk.

Minnesota is the home of the world's record butter producing cow for a one year test, Duchess Skylark Ormsby. This great cow made 1506 pounds of butter in one year.

Norwich, Ontario, Canada, is the home of the world's record seven and thirty-day butter producing cow, Rolo Mercena DeKol. In seven days she has produced 31.93 pounds of butter and in thirty days, 200.34 pounds of butter.

day milk cow, May Echo Sylvia. She produced 156 pounds of milk in one day, and over 1006 pounds in seven days an average of nearly 145 pounds a day.

These records from one day to six years have never been equaled nor even approached by any cow of any other breed.

BRING HIGH PRICES.

As the breeding and developing of Holsteins has been progressing in America, more and more people have begun to realize their value, and prices have accordingly been advancing and Holsteins hold the world's records for prices paid for both males and females.

A year ago the Carnation Condensed Milk Company paid $106,000 for the bull Carnation King Sylvia. A few weeks ago Robert Pointer of Dearborn, Mich., paid $125,000 for the bull Rag Apple the Great. At the same sale A. W. Green, with farms in Ohio and Wisconsin, paid $60,000 for the bull, Rag Apple Korndyke 8th and within two days sold a half interest in him for $50,000. Charles Dodd of Buffalo, N. Y., paid $40,000 for the female, Segis Hengerveld Fayne Johanna. J. T. Shannan of Buffalo, N. Y., paid $35,000 for the female, Fairview Korndyke Mata.

The prices are almost beyond comprehension to the average layman, and of course are far above the average price received either in public or private sales.

However, the average price received in public sales during the past two years has been in the neighborhood of $300 per head.

MANY BREEDERS

The number of men breeding Holstein cattle has increased very rapidly. There are now 15,000 members in the Holstein-Fresian Association, and probably 5000 to 10,000 other breeders of registered Holsteins in the United States. As evidence of the rapidly increasing number of Holstein breeders in the United States, it may be pointed out that the Holstein-Friesian Association of America received 3000 new members last year.

American bred Holsteins are attracting the attention of the whole world by their achievements, and a great demand for them is coming from foreign countries.

A large ranching corporation in Central Mexico recently placed $1,000,000 on deposit in banks in Wisconsin for the purchase of 10,000 head of registered and high grade dairy cows. This is only one instance of what breeders of good cattle may expect in the near future.

Farmers are being warned to be on the lookout for the army worm, a species of traveling cut worm which is causing great damage near Forth Worth and Houston, Texas, and which has been reported in Southern California. Trenches are used with success in the control of this pest.

PREDICTS LOWER PRICES.

NEW LONDON (Ct.)—W. D. Huntington, president of the National Association of Fertilizer Manufacturers, in an address at the recent convention of that body here, announced that within the last six months the industry had committed itself to the policy of manufacturing only high analysis grades of fertilizers, eliminating the so-called fractional grades, and that the result of this action "must ultimately be reflected in lower cost of food production." Standardization of only the best, Mr. Huntington said, would materially reduce factory and selling costs, a saving in which the farmer and consumer were bound to share.

PRAISES CITRUS FRUIT.

P. A. Campbell, Assistant Horticultural Director of the New Zealand Department of Agriculture, is visiting California. In a recent statement to the board of directors of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, he paid a very high compliment to the quality and packing of California citrus fruits, and said California was setting the pace in standardization and quality of oranges and lemons in the Antipodes.

BEE BUSINESS BETTER.

The winter losses of bee colonies were 9.4 per cent., compared with 18.7 per cent. in 1917-1918, and 11.4 per cent, as the average for the preceding years. The number of working colonies in the United States this spring was almost 9 per cent. above the number last spring and their condition is the best of the last four years.

COTTON FOR RED CROSS.

During the late ginning season the generous cotton growers of the Yuma Valley threw a few handfuls of cotton into a Red Cross bin placed at each of the valley gins. These casual donations have been consolidated and ginned and the product, found to be three bales of short-staple, sold for $545.60.

BEET SEED SCARCE.

Prof. E. S. G. Titus, United States Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington D. C., was in conference with State officials on June 12 regarding possibilities for extension of sugar beet seed growing in California. Prof. Titus reports that there is very little of the seed in Europe, and American growers many as well decide to grow all their own seed now.

CROP ABOVE AVERAGE.

PHOENIX.—Arizona is now headquarters for an inspector of the National Hay Association, especially to secure a better grading than heretofore of the immense Salt River Valley shipments of alfalfa. Heretofore there have been only two classes; hereafter there will be five. This year's crop is considered much above the average in quality. Much grain hay has been harvested and the third alfalfa cutting is in progress in the region.

A GREAT FIELD FOR THE "GREEK CURRANT."

Experiments which have been conducted for a period of years under direction of Federal and State horticulturists has led to the definite announcement by them that there is a great field in the San Joaquin Valley grape district for the production of the Panariti grape—the so-called Greek currant of commerce.

Properly started with resistant roots of any one of several congenial varieties, it has been found that the Panariti produces abundant crops with correct cultural conditions. Vine incision is the secret of heavy bearing, and it was on this feature that extensive experimenting was necessary. These tests have shown that during the bloom period two parallel cuts must be made as close together as possible, through the bark and cambium and that then the strip of material between the cuts must be removed. This incising has the effect of acting as a barrier to the downward flow of the sap, but does not retard the upward flow. This appears to have the effect of retaining and maturing the blossoms.

The Panariti berries which have been produced in the raisin sections of this State apparently are fully equal to the imported. It is believed the conditions under which they will be cured and marketed will make them greatly superior to the fruit which heretofore has been imported.

Market statistics indicate that prior to the war the annual imports of Zante currants were about 30,000,000 pounds or the equivalent of 100,000,000 pounds of fresh fruits. To that extent, therefore, the domestic market has already been established. There is awaiting the grower a market for the fresh fruit, the Panariti being a very delicious fruit, and coming on early at a time when no other table grapes are on the market.

In view of the early maturity of the Zante grape, it can be dried at a time when there is practically no risk of damage from rain. This, added to the heat resistant qualities of the vine, the simplicity of its care and the practical certainty with which the vines will mature a crop under proper cultural conditions, make it a very attractive new variety to California. Already a number of commercial plantings have been made and State experts are confident these will be materially increased as soon as the value of this variety has been brought more generally to the attention of the growers.

Another important new variety on which definite reports are available now is the Almerian, cultural practice for which has been completely worked out. The Almerian has proven to be a free fruiting variety, but its chief value lies in the fact that it has a wonderful keeping quality and can be shipped and stored indefinitely when properly packed in redwood sawdust. Several Almerian vineyards have been set and one or two small ones are already producing.

Heavy Production Ability the Result of Breeding.

A NOTABLE example of a bull whose family has been bred for production is SIR VEEMAN KORNDYKE PONTIAC 156051. This bull was bred and raised by W. D. ROBENS of Poland, N. Y. He was brought to California by R. F. GUERIN of VISALIA, and used in this good herd for two years.

Last year Mr. Guerin's three sons went in to the government service and it became necessary for Mr. Guerin to dispose of some of his herd.

He had, however, become so thoroughly convinced of the value of this great bull that he refused to sell any of his daughters, although he sold every other animal he had.

As he could not breed this bull to his own daughters he sold the bull to FRANK HELM of FRESNO to head his great registered Holstein herd.

Recently the BURR FARM of Los Angeles acquired this bull by purchasing him and fifty head of females from Mr. Helm.

SIR VEEMAN KORNDYKE PONTIAC is backed by some of the heaviest producing cows in America.

THE SIRE AND HIS INFLUENCE.

His sire is SIR VEEMAN HENGERVELD, who though he is now fifteen years old is still in active service in the herd of W. D. Robens which is evidence of his great constitution and vigor. Starting in this herd when there were but eight cows to breed to him, he now has 110 ARO daughters, seventeen of which have records above thirty pounds of butter in seven days, the most of any living sire.

Three of his daughters have records over 1100 pounds of butter and 24,000 pounds of milk in one year.

It is said that his daughters stand first in the production of butter for any bull with more than sixty daughters.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE DAM.

The dam of SIR VEEMAN KORNDYKE PONTIAC is BEATRICE KORNDYKE PONTIAC VEEMAN 124503—seven day record 439 pounds of milk—30.13 butter and thirty day record 2118 pounds of milk, 116.14 pounds of butter, being well over 4 per cent. in fat.

Her sire, SIR KORNDYKE PONTIAC ARTIS 46301, who has fifty-eight ARO DAUGHTERS—seven above thirty pounds.

Her dam, COUNTESS VEEMAN BERLY WAYNE 99282, has a record of 616 pounds of milk and 29.88 pounds of butter and 115 pounds of butter in thirty days. She in turn is sired by SIR VEEMAN HENGERVELD, thereby giving this bull a double cross of that wonderful old sire.

PROOF OF HIGH PRODUCTION ABILITY.

S. V. H. IDA, a full sister of SIR VEEMAN KORNDYKE PONTIAC, has made a seven-day record of 32.17 pounds of butter as a four-year-old.

It is evident, therefore, from the records which his full sister and half-sisters have made that his generation have inherited an ability to produce large quantities of milk.

The real test of a bull is the type and performances of his daughters. That he has transmitted to his daughters the ability to produce large quantities of milk is evident as his first daughters are just coming into milk and are making a good showing. In speaking of his daughters in the herd of R. F. GUERIN, a leading dairy authority recently said: "These heifers are noticeable for their good straight backs and exceptional udders, which are well developed, being well attached both front and rear with teats of good length and well placed."

One of his daughters was recently sold in public sale for $1000 and was only a young heifer.

His daughters will have a wonderful opportunity for development, as they are found in twelve of the good herds of the State, and all of them will undoubtedly be given records.

The Burr Farm is indeed fortunate to be able to place a bull of such high quality at the head of their herd.—[Advertisement.
